GOOD GOODS

Over 34 years of successful merchandising in Salem.

Watch our window displays. Very newest styles and unusual values always to be found at Salem's big store.

It has been reported to the police that a horse, becoming entangled in some barbed wire along the Turner road at 25th street, received cuts so serious as will necessitate it being shot. The poor beast was frantic when it became caught in the wire, and in its struggles it sustained deep gashes in its legs and neck. An effort was made this morning to find the owner of the animal, but he could not be located, and the officers will shoot the horse today.

Visit Gilson's attractive new barber shop in Bligh building, State street.

William Addison, a rancher who lives eight miles east of Silverton, was in the city today and while here discussed with several of his friends the problem of ridding the community around Silverton of the "varmints" which are now said to be killing stock and performing other depredations. Mr. Addison states that since his territory has been placed in the "game preserve," cougars, bob cats, bear and about every other sheep-killing varmint known in Oregon are flocking to his ranch and that his men are compelled to keep continually on the watch in order to prevent the stock from being killed.

Dr. Mendelsohn fits eyes correctly. U. S. Bank building.

That wild rumors are somewhat embarrassing to people is attested by J. F. Goode, the well-known North Salem man. Mr. Goode was walking down State street last Wednesday when a friend walked up to him and grabbed him by the hand and said: "By cracker, Goode, I'm glad you're not dead." It seemed that a rumor got circulated about Salem to the effect that Mr. Goode had died suddenly, and for a few hours telephones between the Goode residence and the city were burning up with questions. Mr. Goode was down town when the rumor finally reached his daughter, who was at home, and thinking perhaps her father had dropped dead on the street, she was frantic until she located Mr. Goode. Just how the rumor got started is unknown, but he emphatically denies being dead.

It is said upon good authority that Jack Unruh, the custodian of the United States National Bank building, is about to go on the sick list on account of being compelled to stand by and watch the rain spoil the good fishing which should ordinarily prevail in this vicinity. Mr. Unruh is what his friends call a "hum-dinger" when it comes to trout angling, and, unless the weather clears pretty soon, it is possible that he may go to bed and remain there until the trout start to barking.

Postal Photos, $1.00 per dozen; evenings only. Trover-Weigel Studio, opposite Bligh theater.

Eugene Guard: The case of G. Arnold Howe against Belle Howe was tried behind closed doors in the circuit court before Judge Percy Kelly in this city yesterday. Howe charges that his wife has been guilty of a statutory offense, which she admits, but she says that her husband condoned her acts. The decree has not yet been rendered.

See the Tom Thumb wedding at the Grand theatre tonight.

The Children's Carnival at the opera house tonight will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. Late comers will not be admitted until after the wedding ceremony. Don't miss this. Come early.

You are invited to attend the Tom Thumb wedding at the Grand theatre tonight.

Eugene Guard: The "Oregon," the popular confectionery at Eleventh and Alder streets, has been sold to Messrs. Fields and Burris. Mr. Burris, one of the new owners is late of the Bell freemason parlor of Salem where he was employed as a candy maker. Mr. Fields has been a student in the University since September.

Children's carnival of pageantry, beautiful music, entrancing dances, Grand theatre tonight.

Let Shafer show you the latest ideas in saddles. They'll interest you. The leading leather goods store, for years at 187 South Commercial street.

Ronald Jones, of Labish Meadows, who is attending high school in this city, suffered a fall at his home this week, necessitating a few days' absence from school.

Inspect our large list of sheet music. We have almost anything you can ask for, or can get it on short notice. The Wiley B. Allen Co., 521 Court street.

Tashmo--Remember the name, for it is the best 12 1/2c cigar that you can put between your lips. Made in Salem and for sale by all dealers.

A new shipment of dress hats, also Panamas for misses and ladies in all the new shapes, at "The Maples," one block north Meyers' store.

COMPANY COMMANDERS OF THIRD BATTALION TO MEET

Selection of the jury in the case of L. C. Eastman against the Salem Falls City and Western railway company, an action brought in the circuit court for Marion county for damages for alleged carelessness on the part of the railway company in causing an accident at Dallas, occupied the attention of the court this morning. Shortly before noon the jury panel was completed and the taking of testimony began. This afternoon the jury went to Dallas to investigate and view the scene of the accident in which Eastman says he was hurt.
