SPANISH WAR VETS GIVE BANQUET TO W. R. C.

Members of Hal Hibbard camp, Spanish American war veterans, met in the armory last night and banqueted the Woman's Relief Corps. There were about 100 members of both organizations present to enjoy the banquet and hear the program. After singing "America", the following program was rendered:

Address of welcome, Carle Abrams; reply for W. R. C., Mrs. Dunlap; reading, Miss Ione Fischer; xylophone solo, Mr. Huddleston; vocal solos, George C. L. Snyder; instrumental solos, Mrs. R. Gilbert; speech, Reminiscences of the Battle of Marilao, E. B. Millard. Out of town guests who enjoyed the hospitality of the local men were J. H. Upton, department commander, and John Y. Richardson, department adjutant, of Portland.

Benjamin S. Via, representing the Spanish Veterans, brought a fine cake over to the journal office this morning with the compliments of the veterans.

Some egg and chicken stories exceeded the most audacious fish stories in improbability.

If the fly count was correct, there are a great number of flies less than there would have been except for the children's swatting contest.

THIRTY MEN ENLIST IN PORTLAND MILITIA COMPANIES

Thirty men are reported to have enlisted in the national guard companies of Portland yesterday. Captain Max Gehlar received orders this morning from headquarters to keep the recruiting station in the Salem Armory open each night this week. He was ordered to recruit the company to full war strength as quickly as possible. Adjutant General Finzer and Colonel Martin, commander of the Third regiment, held a conference with Captain Gehlar this morning relative to recruiting the guard.

PORTLAND MAN MIXED UP IN SHOOTING AFFRAY

San Francisco, April 21.—John Perry, who says he is connected with the Straubing-Perry jewelry company, of Portland, Or., was held in detainee at the city prison today with Blanch Delmont, pending an investigation by the police into the manner in which Perry received a bullet wound in the shoulder in a room in the New Western hotel here early today. Perry claims that the shooting was accidental, but the hotel clerk said he heard sounds of a quarrel issuing from the room occupied by the couple shortly before the shot was fired. Perry's injury is not serious.

Happy Hits by Merry Wits

A Hint.
 Hazel (sweetly)—These opera glasses were given to me a year ago.
 Frank—Aren't they beautiful?
 Hazel—Yes, but I discovered this afternoon that they're beginning to rust for lack of use.

Resourceful.
 The Mistress—Here's a hole in my new tablecloth.
 The Maid—Yes'm, I've seen it. I'm goin' to turn the tablecloth over so the hole will be on the underside.

An Unfinished Job.
 Deacon Whitewash—Fo' hebbens's sake, Mistah Brown, what's de mattach wid yo' mewl?
 Mr. Brown—De ole woman an' me tried ter clip him wid er pair ob shears, an' we broke de shears. Now I's gwine take him down an' hab him finished off by m'cheenty.

An Important Achievement.
 "Men say that your husband is not a success."
 "I want you to understand that if he had done nothing in this world but to get me he would be a success."

A Diplomat.
 Mrs. Asker—You told Mrs. Jones that she didn't look a day older than she did at eighteen! She looks ten years older!
 Asker—Well, ten years isn't a day, is it?

You'll Crow Over "GETS-IT" for Corns!

TRIMMED STOCKINGS.
 To be ultra smart your evening stockings must be elaborately trimmed. You may do it in several ways. Either sew on the stripes of narrow satin ribbon so that it shall form a latticed or a laced effect or wind it spirally about the calf, starting from the heel and ending under a single small tassel at the outer side of the knee.

If you don't care for ribbon trimmings or stockings use lace. The narrow bands of lace insertion may be perpendicularly down the legs to make them look more slender, or they may run in diagonal rows from front to back and end under a frill of narrow lace that covers the seam of the heel to the undersides of the knee.

Trimmed stockings are known as tangos and are designed for wear with split skirts.

An Old Favorite
There Is a Garden

There is a garden in her face,
 Where roses and white lilies blow;
 A heavenly paradise is that place,
 Wherein all pleasant fruits do grow.
 There cherries grow that none may buy
 Till cherry ripe themselves do cry.

These cherries fairly do inclose
 Of orient pearls a double row,
 Which when her lovely laughter shows,
 They look like rosebuds filled with snow.
 Yet them no peer nor prince may buy
 Till cherry ripe themselves do cry.

Her eyes like angels watch them still;
 Her brows like banded bows do stand,
 Threatening with piercing frowns to kill
 All that approach with eye or hand.
 These sacred cherries to come nigh
 Till cherry ripe themselves do cry.

BY ELLA McMUNN.

Miss Emily Branson spent Sunday visiting friends in Dallas, her former home.

Mrs. A. M. Dalrymple and daughter Helene left Portland on Friday for a visit to relatives in San Francisco, going down on the Rose City.

Miss Alta Jones entertained Thursday with an enjoyable "500" party in honor of her house guests, Miss June Sampson of Portland, Miss Evaline Nutting of Silverton, Miss Lucile McCully of Joseph, and Miss Pauline Pennebaker of Albany. Seven tables were played, card honors going to Miss Anna Yantis and Miss Maud Durbin. Others asked were: Miss Alice Bingham, Miss Blanche White, Miss Esther Ferguson, Miss Zoe Olmstead, Miss Mary Eckerlen, Miss Velma Hoover, Miss Tessa McLaughlin, Miss Lola DeLong, Miss Eunaine Craig, Miss Anna Yantis, Miss Berdie Yantis, Miss Mary Gertrude Falk, Miss Eugenia Belle, Miss Edna Josse, Miss Nancy Skafte, Miss Maudie Durbin, Miss Hazelle Erixon, Miss Emmaline Klein and Miss Hazelle Downing.

Miss Goldia Witzel entertained a party of Capital Business College students and a few additional friends Friday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Witzel, 314 North Cottage street. Those present were: The Misses Carmen Swanson, Jennie Dornberger, Mignon Swanson, Ethel McDonald, Louise Dornberger, Katie Lynch, Bertha Kemp, Hallie Doty, Greta Witzel, Edith Witzel of Stayton, and Messrs. Olesby, Yleron Russell, Carl Miller of McKay, Or.; Oren La Course, Dennis Donovan, Elmer McKee and Carl Mason.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Fontaine, formerly of this city, but now of Jefferson, were recent guests at the W. T. Higdon home.

Mrs. C. L. McNary and Mrs. George F. Rodgers have returned from a week end visit in Portland, where they attended a matinee performance of "Peg O' My Heart."

At the final organization of the Young Women's Christian association the election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. W. E. Kirk; first vice president, Mrs. C. A. Parks; second vice president, Mrs. J. H. Albert; secretary, Mrs. J. H. Lewis; treasurer, Miss Mattie Bently.

Miss Mary Schultz, the clever violinist of this city, was presented last evening in recital in Portland by William Wallace Graham, receiving much applause for her splendid work. On Monday evening she gave practically the same program at the First Baptist church, with Miss Carmel Sullivan as accompanist.

The Peerless orchestra went to Albany Friday evening, where they played for the annual ball given by the Sons of Veterans.

The woman's alliance of the Unitarian church met Friday afternoon with Mrs. Carl Smith on Marion street. An enjoyable number on the program was the paper read by Mrs. R. Cartwright on "Transcendentalism." After the program a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served.

Up until Monday evening County Clerk Gehlar found that there were 10,828 voters registered throughout Marion county. Of this number 4054 were registered from Salem. There are only nine days left in which voters may register before the primaries.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

How the Pig Saved the Old Woman

The Pig Began to Squeal.

EVELYN had seen some very cunning little pink baby pigs that day, and she thought it would be lovely to have a little pig as a pet. Jack didn't think it would be so nice.

When daddy came home Evelyn's first question was, "Daddy, don't you think it would be lovely to own a little pig?"

"I think," Jack added, almost before Evelyn had finished asking her question, "that pigs aren't nice pets at all. They grow up too soon, and they lose their cunning baby looks. Don't they, daddy?"

"Yes," said daddy, "pigs are niceest on a farm. A farm wouldn't be complete without pigs, and the little ones are certainly very cunning."

"But just think how very lovely a little pig would be all by himself! And what would be more annoying, just think how he would squeal!"

"I don't believe," said Evelyn, "that I do want a pig, after all. Not as a pet anyway."

"Now that we've decided that we won't have a pig as a pet, I think I will have to tell you the story of the old woman who did have a pig as a pet."

"This story shows how a pig's squealing, by the way, did once do a great deal of good."

"Once there lived an old woman all alone with her pig, and she had one great fault. She was very careless about fire and never cared where she threw her matches after she had lighted her fire."

"She made all manner of fun of the people who thought she was careless. But one time she learned a very good lesson, and she realized then that one cannot be too careful with fire."

"She was on her way to bed and before getting into bed lighted a fire in a little stove. Instead of throwing her match into the fire she threw it in the waste paper basket."

"The waste paper basket was full of scraps of paper, and shortly the match began to smoulder. The old woman meantime went sound asleep."

"Now, the pig had a basket to sleep in by the old woman's bed. He smelt the smoke and thought it was a very queer smell. But as the old woman seemed to be sleeping so quietly he thought he would not disturb her just to find out what the queer burning smell meant."

"Suddenly it burst into flames. Then the pig set up the loudest, most constant squealing you ever heard. The neighbors were all awakened by it, and seeing what the trouble was, the fire department was called right out."

"The old woman was saved, but if it had not been for the pig's squealing, which was so easily heard, she would have burned to death. After that she was pretty careful where she threw her matches, and she was more devoted to her pet pig than ever before."

$450,781.95 IN SEWER REFUND CLAIMS PAID

Sewer refund claims to the amount of $450,781.95, out of a total of $480,000 received as a result of the bond issue were reported paid at the meeting of the Salem council Monday night. This sum is divided among 2355 claims. There have been 2345 claims filed altogether. Of this number 119 are still held up on account of defects. Several claims have been withdrawn or canceled. Of the 119 claims, 20 have been filed by parties who do not have title to the property on which they claim refund, 63 cover refunds for which there are two or more claimants, who held the legal title to the land December 2, 1912, but who have sold since, and who have failed to obtain release from those to whom they sold.

It has been found by the committee on accounts and current expenses, after giving careful consideration to the cost of checking up the claims on the county records, that it has cost the city slightly less than 10 cents per claim. It was proposed at the time the checking began to put the matter in the hands of the abstract companies of the city, who agreed to do the work for $1 per claim. The committee decided, however, to do the work on its own account, with the result that 90 cents on each claim were saved to the city. Exclusive of the services of Jos. N. Smith, the expenses for labor, books, blanks, stationery and other materials amounts to $902.35.

TO HOLD STOCK PARADE.

Arrangements are being made by the promotion department of the Salem Commercial club for a big stock parade at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning in which the blooded horses and cattle on exhibition will be shown. The show is at present in its beginnings but it is expected to develop into something bigger as the seasons go by.

FOREIGN PARENTS SHOULD FAVOR AMERICAN SHIPPING

County Clerk Gehlar received a communication from the Bureau of Naturalization, U. S. Department of Labor, this morning regarding the citizenship status of J. Colvin, who was born at sea during the emigration of his parents to this country. The communication states that if Mr. Colvin was born on a foreign vessel, the department did not believe he is an American citizen. If he was born on an American vessel, the question of whether he thereby acquired citizenship in one which may only be authoritatively determined by the courts. The letter went on to state that an amendment to the constitution declares that all persons born or naturalized in this country and subject to the jurisdiction thereof to be citizens. It was advised that naturalization papers be taken out in the usual manner.

TWO BOYS DROWNED.

Buckley, Wash., April 21.—Two boys, George Dockstader, 18 years old, and Milo Payne, aged 15 years, are said to have been drowned in Wickersham basin, near the Stone Webster power plant. The boys' clothing was found on the bank of the basin, and an overturned boat was a short distance away. The two had been missing since Monday.

SCHOONER GOES ASHORE.

Newport, Or., April 21.—The gas schooner Mirene, of Astoria, 34 tons register, went on the beach at the mouth of the Alsea river this morning. The beach is sandy, and it is thought the cargo will be saved, and possibly the vessel may be pulled off at high water. There is no great danger to the Mirene's hull.

To the Officers and Members of Seaside Post No. 10 G. A. R.—

Your committee to whom was referred the matter of the proposed change in the American Flag, have had the matter under advisement; and respectfully report as follows:

Whereas, Certain persons are proposing that the design of our National Flag—The Stars and Stripes—The Flag we have followed on land and sea—to Victory—be changed in such way that the new design shall embody features of the flag of the slaveholders rebellion, and

Whereas, There is no occasion for any change in design—and least of all for a change that would in any manner, or in any way, excuse the wickedness of the rebellion—and even though we do not fear that the public can be so moved as to make any such change; yet—remembering that "Eternal Vigilance is the price of Liberty", therefore,

Be it resolved, We abominate the suggestion of such change of the design of our Flag; and hereby put ourselves on record as to this matter; and we request our Commander to communicate this action to others, as occasion may arise.
