The Eastern Oregon Light and Power company, which has taken possession of eastern Oregon, has applied to the railroad commission, asking it to compel the Eagle River Electric Power company to raise its rates, claiming they are too low and that it cannot compete with them. The Eagle River company is a Baker City organization, and although small it seems to be able to supply light and power at much lower rates than its big competitor. It would now be in order for the consumers to ask the railroad commission to compel the larger company to reduce its rates to meet those of the little local company.

Night Officer White and Special Officer Phillips last Saturday night arrested Sam Chung on the charge of allowing minors to loaf in his noodle joint on Ferry street between Liberty and High after nine o'clock. Chung put up $10 as security to appear before Judge Elgin at 8 o'clock this morning, but the Chinaman failed to put in an appearance. According to several men who were in the noodle joint before the arrest was made, two young men entered the place and the proprietor asked them if they were 21 years of age. They said they were but Chung did not believe them and told the boys to go out. Then, declare witnesses, the young men began turning over tables and making a great fuss. A short time afterward the officers arrested Chung.

Mary Lewis, the 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lewis, who reside at 12th and Lee streets, was run down and painfully injured by a delivery auto belonging to the Yokohama Tea company yesterday afternoon. The child, in company with two other children, had been at a motion picture show in the city, and had taken the Yew Park car for home. She stepped from the car on the right hand side of the street, and, passing around to the end of the car, she failed to observe the approaching auto. Before Miss Lewis could dodge back the auto struck her. The girl was thrown to the pavement, and for a time it was thought that she was seriously injured, but an examination made by Dr. W. H. Byrd proved that the injuries merely consisted of bruises about the body. She is getting along nicely, according to reports this morning.

POLICE MATRON AIDS YOUNG PEOPLE TO WED

To make a hasty trip from one state to another, to search through the hotels of this city in search of a sweetheart, and then through the kind offices of a close friend to find her and be happily reunited is the romance of Mary Dutton, known here as Mary Aufrance, and Orson Stillman, son of Rev. O. A. Stillman, former pastor of the Salem Central Congregational church, that culminated this morning in the marriage of the two at the parsonage of Rev. A. F. Winter on Winter street.

Mary Dutton is an orphan and was born and raised on the Garden road. Orson Stillman is a logger and timberman of Clear Lake, Washington. Saturday he received a note from Mary stating that she was at a certain hotel in this city. They had corresponded for some time, but without waiting to answer he took a train for this city. He arrived Sunday and started to look for her but could not find her. He sought the city over in vain, and, he thought, turned to Police Matron Lynch, who is a friend of his.

There is a little connecting incident in the acquaintance of Mrs. Lynch and Orson Stillman that has a bearing on this romance. About a year and a half ago Mrs. Lynch was driving a fine horse that was inclined to run away on the least provocation. She was driving down a certain street when the horse started and a line broke, leaving the horse unmanageable. It started to run. But just then Stillman stepped in front of the animal and stopped it. From that day until Sunday Mrs. Lynch never saw him again.

So when he came to ask her to help him find his sweetheart she readily consented, and together they made a search of the town and finally got trace of the girl. A note was left at the White House restaurant for Mary stating that there was a message for her at the police matron's office. Mrs. Lynch had young Stillman write a message for Mary.

Sunday afternoon she arrived at Mrs. Lynch's office. Just then Mrs. Lynch heard heavy footsteps coming down the hall and a moment later Stillman burst in upon her and Mary. Mr. Lynch was present, and suddenly he declared that he did not think he was needed in the room at that moment.

Rev. Winter married the couple at 11 o'clock this morning, and they left this afternoon on the 2 o'clock Oregon Electric for Clear Lake, Washington, where they will make their home.

Mary Dutton's mother was Miss Aufrance before she married. Later her husband died and she married another man by the name of Aufrance. Two years ago she died, leaving Mary an orphan. Mary is a niece of County Recorder Eugene Aufrance.

After the case of H. S. Gile against Louis Lachmund was cleared from the circuit court room today the action brought by D. A. Madison against Sheldon H. Cornell for the collection of money alleged to be due on notes was considered. Statesman for $100 and assigned to the plaintiff; the third cause of action alleged is that from January 18, 1912, to July 20, 1912, G. M. Statesman loaned defendant $250, no part of which is paid.

An action in Justice Webster's court Saturday afternoon for the collection of $30 rent, brought by L. B. Goodrich against B. Dykeman, resulted in the judge holding in favor of the plaintiff. It was clearly shown that the $30 were due and owing and the court ordered it paid.

$50,000 DAMAGE SUIT SCHEDULED TO BEGIN

R. C. Freeman, a Logger, Values Eye and Use of Limbs at Large Sum.

COMPANY SAYS PASSENGERS MUST ALIGHT AT DEPOT

Other Cases Cleared From Docket in Circuit Court and New Cases Filed.

Trial of the suit for $50,000 damages for the loss of an eye and the partial paralysis of the left arm, side, and leg, brought in the circuit court for Marion county by R. C. Freeman against the Hammond Lumber company, was scheduled to begin this afternoon. Freeman was employed as a timber feller and logger and entered a shack belonging to the company in which saws were set and filed. As he entered the door a piece of saw-tooth broke and struck him in the right eye, destroying the sight.

Freeman alleges that the accident was the result of carelessness on the part of the company in not providing a safe place in which to work. He asks general damages of $50,000 and special damages for hospital fees, etc., in the sum of $579.

Allegations to the effect that the plaintiff in the case of George L. Rose against the Oregon Electric Railway company, an action in the circuit court for Marion county for damages, was careless and negligent in alighting from the train when in motion, the defendant company this morning filed an answer to the complaint. The answer goes on to state that the train stopped at the corner of State and High streets because of an intersecting car line and not to allow passengers to alight. The injuries of the plaintiff were caused by his own negligence, the company alleged. It admits that a ticket was bought for passage from Portland to Salem and that Rose was received as a passenger. A reply to the answer, denying the allegations made, was also filed by the plaintiff.
