WIDOW AIDED GRIFFITHS

WEALTHY PORTLAND WOMAN A FIRM FRIEND OF DISGRACED ARMY OFFICER

Portland, Or., April 20.--The name Mrs. Virginia Bramhall, a wealthy widow, who is highly connected here and in the east, plays an important role in the financial dealings and difficulties of Captain Joseph Griffiths, United States army, alleged embezzler of government funds from the quartermaster's office of the Puget Sound district, who was arrested in Oakland early today.

Mrs. Bramhall, who resides at one of the exclusive family hotels of Portland, is now absent from the city, and is supposed to be in San Francisco, where it is rumored she went to see the captain.

Mrs. Bramhall is a woman about 60 years old and for three years has been a firm friend of Griffiths. It is said that she advanced him $17,000 to aid in financing his Colonial Timber company scheme by which he hoped to profit handsomely, and after his arrest in Seattle early in March for embezzling $90,000 of the government funds, she went to Seattle, took apartments in the Hotel Perry, where he was confined bound only by his honor not to escape. While there she raised several thousand dollars, it is said, in an effort to settle his alleged delinquencies and free him from prosecution.

At the time she was informed by army officers of high authority that her efforts would come to naught, and she gave up the attempt and returned to Portland.

When he was under arrest in his apartments at the Hotel Perry, Griffiths was supposed to be without funds. However, when he made his getaway he apparently was well supplied with money.

Shortly before he left he penned a note to his wife, who resides here, and who has loyally stood by him. At the same time it is said he notified Mrs. Bramhall here that he was preparing to take his departure.

Since then Mrs. Griffiths, no rumor has it, has heard no word from him. She is still in Portland and continues her attitude of loyalty.

Mrs. Bramhall left her apartments in Portland Friday afternoon, a few minutes before the Sunset Limited started for California. The day before, it is said, she received a long-distance telephone call from Captain Griffiths, presumably from California.

Efforts to learn the identity of the woman Griffiths was reported to have lingered in San Francisco to see proved unsuccessful.

Asked pointblank if the woman was Mrs. Virginia Bramhall, who was reported to have given the captain financial aid in his difficulties, Lieutenant Colonel Yates, who is familiar with the case and made the arrest, said:

"If it is true that Griffiths was here to see a woman, it certainly was not Mrs. Bramhall, for she has not been here."

Mr. Williams has been visiting in this city for the past three months coming here from Billings, Mont., for his health. He leaves a wide circle of friends in Salem who will wish him the best of good luck when he gets to handling the business end of one of the speedy passenger trains in the east.

Jim Wilson, real estate dealer and capitalist, has made considerable improvements in his place of business on High street, across from the court house. Mr. Wilson has converted the large room formerly occupied by the Oregon Electric into neat and convenient offices and states that he is going to sell the earth within a few days.

Begrimed with dirt and oil, Everett Fischer, a former Salem boy but now a resident of Portland, arrived in this city this morning on a motorcycle which he drove from the Rose City. He states that the roads are "punk" between this place and Portland and that he was nearly frozen in a chunk while speeding through the Tualatin valley early this morning.

P. L. Frazer, who was formerly secretary of the state purchasing board, was in the city today on business. Mr. Frazer is now traveling for the Stayton Woolen Mills Co., in which institution he has an interest.

Miss Bertha Dunningan, of Portland, is visiting at the home of her aunt,

"EXPERTS" TESTIFY IN SILVERTON LIQUOR CASE

Juror Says There Is a Difference in "Dry" Whiskey and Other Brands

JOHNSON CASE GOES TO JURY AT NOON

Wife Says Husband Slept in the Mornings and Let Him Sleep at Noon.

Closing testimony in the case of the State of Oregon against Lewis Johnson, druggist of Silverton, who is charged with selling liquor contrary to the provisions of the local option law, was taken at noon today and the cause submitted to the jury early this afternoon. After the witnesses had completed their testimony, additional testimony was taken from two of the jurors who sat on the trial of the City of Silverton against Lewis Johnson, in which case the facts were almost identical.

Bottles containing various golden colored liquors were offered in evidence as to what Johnson compounded and sold. One juror who testified that he had tasted the same to exhibit at the trial was asked whether he could tell the difference between "Prohibition" whiskey, or whiskey sold in "dry" territory, and other brands of whiskeys. He replied that he could not tell the difference. Another juror who had tasted the sample at the previous trial was called to testify as to its contents. He said it might be medicine, or whiskey, but that in his opinion it was "dope."

Judge William Galloway was busy this morning with the divorce case of Punzel against Punzel. Mrs. Punzel testified that her husband laid in bed in the mornings until 10 or 11 o'clock, and that she had to get up in the morning, chop her own wood, make her own fire. On her own account she admitted that she took no special pains to call Mr. Punzel to dinner, but announced the fact that the meal was ready and let him come when he got ready.

Mrs. Punzel stated that she and her husband had practically lived apart for the past eight or ten years, and that he scarcely spoke to her. She was asked whether he supplied the family with provisions and she replied that he did occasionally. She denied emphatically the charge that she was night-riding or that she had any improper relations with two men named by her husband. The case was continued this afternoon.

An action for the collection of a promissory note given by J. E. Humphreys to J. S. Brown, now deceased, was begun yesterday by Nettie N. Brown, as administratrix of the estate. The note was given, so the complaint states, at Silverton on May 31, 1912, for the sum of $100. It is alleged the plaintiff is the holder, that payment has been demanded but refused. It is stated that Brown died intestate at Silverton, August 12, 1913. Judgment is asked of the court.

Suit to quiet the title to a certain piece of land in this county was begun yesterday by John H. Smith against Andrew L. Nelson, et al. The plaintiff alleges that the defendants claim to have some interest in the property adverse to him. He avers the claim of the defendants is without any right in law and asks the court to restrain them from ever asserting any right or title to the property.

Argument on objections to cost bills was heard yesterday evening by Judge Kelly in the case of Fred Sheeler against Maryett and Clarence Bunce, in which a verdict for the plaintiff was rendered in court on April 17. The defendant's objections to the plaintiff's cost bills were overruled while Sheeler's objections to the Bunces' cost bills were sustained.

The action brought by Carson and Brown, attorneys, against Conrad Krebs for the collection of money alleged to be due for services rendered was settled and dismissed this morning.

When the circuit court is through with the case of the State of Oregon against Lewis Johnson, court will be adjourned until May 25. On that date the adjourned term will begin.

Mrs. Fred C. Sharpe on East State street, this week. Miss Dunningan was a student at Willamette university several years ago and is now teacher in a Portland school.

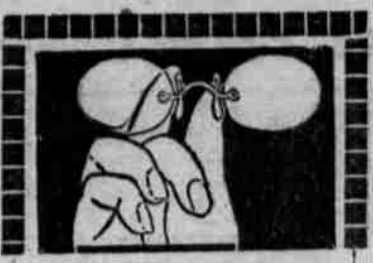

Mark Savage, the well known ex-fire chief of Salem, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Salem hospital yesterday morning. Mr. Savage has been suffering for some time from the ailment, and although not compelled to go to bed, decided yesterday to have the cause of the trouble removed. The hospital authorities state this afternoon that Mr. Savage is getting along nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Deckebach have returned from a trip through Southern California. They visited many of the principal points of interest in the southern state.

It is reported here today that Tommy Canfield, farmer and expert stock raiser, is grooming up some A. I. cattle which he will exhibit at the fair this year. Mr. Canfield is well known in this city, having been in business here for a number of years.

The many friends of Mrs. Josephine Hoeckert are glad to learn that she is rapidly improving from her recent illness and will probably be able to fill her pulpit at the Highland Friends' church next Sunday.
