PIONEER OF 1843 IS STILL JUST A "GIRL"

One of the most charming of the visitors who have adorned the governor's office in many days was there this morning, and the Capital Journal representative had the pleasure, and it was indeed that of a few innocent's conversation with her. "A girl," you say! Yes, a delightful girl, one who crossed the plains with the first wagon train that came to Oregon in 1843. She was a little girl then, only five years old, and now, despite the passing of 70 years, just a girl still, of charming presence, a delightful conversationalist, graceful as a child, nimble of foot, with a smile that makes you smile in spite of yourself, and a sunny disposition that shines in eyes as bright as when she was just a sweetheart in the long ago. Yes, it was "just a girl." A girl that with the others who led the way has endured the hardships of the earlier days, has seen Oregon grow from a wilderness six months distant from the whole world to a great state with nearly a million population, and next door neighbor to everybody. The girl in this case is Mrs. C. M. Kirkwood, of Portland, and her youngest daughter is the wife of that hunting young Oregonian, C. C. Chapman. He brought her here this morning, they coming by auto and making the trip at a much better speed than that at which she came to the state.

As she said good-bye and passed out of the governor's room on the arm of her proud son-in-law, she was just a sweet, happy girl, one who will always be a girl, for it is not, after all, the years that make us old.

MRS. GILE'S FUNERAL SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Funeral services over the body of Mrs. H. S. Gile, wife of H. S. Gile of this city, who died in France April 9, will be held from the Bigdon and Richardson undertaking parlors some time Sunday afternoon. The body of Mrs. Gile, accompanied by Mr. Gile, is due here from Portland this evening on its return journey from France. Rev. H. E. Marshall, who will conduct the services, left Salem this morning at 10 o'clock for Portland to meet Mr. Gile and confer with him. Although no definite announcements can be made at present it is expected that the body will arrive here tomorrow afternoon. As soon as the wishes of Mr. Gile are ascertained the undertakers will be advised by wire.

Mr. Gile left this city several months ago with the intention of attending a business meeting in New York city, but surprised his friends by marrying. The couple went to Europe on the honeymoon and visited several of the large watering places of the continent. But the wedding trip was cut short on April 9 by the death of the bride.

W. U. TURNS OUT FOR GAME IN BRAND NEW "UNIES"

The Willamette university baseball team turned out for the game with Oregon this afternoon in splendid new baseball uniforms. The new suits are a white with navy stripes and cardinal trimming. They are of the very best material and are right up to the minute in every particular. They were made by Spaulding brothers, being procured through Trauser brothers, their local representatives.

PORTLAND NEWSPAPER MAN MAY OWN SAN JOSE TIMES

San Jose, Cal., May 2--An editorial published in the San Jose Times-Star this afternoon said that newspaper had been purchased by a stock company, headed by Richard D. Cannon, formerly with the Portland (Ore.) Evening Telegram. Cannon, it was said, will take over the Times-Star Monday.

Mr. Clara Moulton, who has been connected with the locating and creation of the mausoleum here, leaves Monday morning for Chicago and her old home, Lincoln, Illinois. She is an excellent business woman and made many friends here during her stay of several months. She expects to return to the east.

Several "I-Won't-Work" men are in Salem, but owing to the fact that they have a kopeck or two with which to buy coffee and snuff and go outside of the city limits to snuff, the police have not found it necessary to run them in jail or escort them out of town. Twelve of these "tired" gentlemen were driven out of Salem last Thursday because they insisted upon asking citizens for money and last night they were reported to have been trying to get on the good side of the Albany people.

Dick Williams, hog man and hog raiser of Polk county, was here this morning on business and incidentally shaking hands with his old cronies. Mr. Williams declares that the weather at present could not be more favorable for the beer berries, while his flock of hogs, some 40 odd in number, are getting along nicely and will soon have some of them ready for the market. Mr. Williams is an old exhibitor at the state fair and hopes to bring in a few samples of his stock this season.

The Waite fountain is being cleaned up and put in shape for the summer, and the colored fountain will soon be again a feature of the pleasure side of Salem life.

William Jones, better known as plain "Bill," of Jefferson, was in Salem yesterday. Mr. Jones was seen on the street talking in a very suspicious manner with Frank T. Wrightman, candidate for state senator from Marion county. Politics was not the subject of discussion, it was learned afterward, the two well-known characters being merely hatching up a scheme to steal away into the wilds for a few days on a fishing trip. Harry Minto, sheriff of this county, has also been nosing around the sporting goods establishments of late and inspecting the various makes of phony baits, fishing poles, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Templar of Wasco, Idaho, arrived in the city this afternoon and are visiting at the home of Mrs. Temple's sister, Mrs. Fred Capper, at 253 South Cottage street. Mr. and Mrs. Templar hope to locate in Salem before long and are taking advantage of their present visit by looking for a suitable location.
