SALEM HEIGHTS HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Berger, of Chicago, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wiggins.

Mr. Berger is a member of the firm of Berger-Hansen Co., wholesale and manufacturers of shirts, waists and neckwear, and may conclude to open a sample room in Salem.

The boy scouts have been busy putting a new floor in their cabin.

Those failing to hear Professor Schaefer, at the hall Friday evening, certainly missed a splendid talk.

Mr. Carr and family have moved to this neighborhood from Bay City, Ore.

Little Miss Verna McClain, of Albany, is visiting her grandparents, J. A. McClain.

Mr. S. Sowler, whose wife is visiting in Michigan, is looking for a house-keeper. Anyone wishing the job please apply.

Miss Gail Smith was pleasantly surprised by a number of her old schoolmates the evening of her birthday. Games were played on the lawn until a late hour. A delightful lunch was served. Miss Smith received many beautiful gifts.

The Ladies' Aid meets with Mrs. Will Sawyer, Wednesday, May 13, MAULON RIVERS.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The track team of the Salem high school left at 4 o'clock for Eugene.

LOCAL DRUGGIST MAKES MANY FRIENDS

J. C. Perry reports they are making many friends through the QUICK benefit which Salem people receive from the simple mixture of buckhorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler's. This remedy became famous by curing appendicitis and it is the most thorough bowel cleanser known, acting on BOTH the lower and upper bowels. JUST ONE DOSE of Adler's relieves constipation and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY.

LECTURE AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Friday evening, May 8, is the time for the next library lecture. The subject will be "Mountains to the Third and Fourth Generation," and it is largely about the grand canyon of the Colorado and glacier national park. Mr. Stafford, of the University of Oregon, will deliver the lecture, which will be illustrated by lantern slides. Mr. Stafford says that most of the pictures have been furnished by the railroad companies and are very beautiful. The lecture will be at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the library, and is free. Mr. G. B. Lockart will introduce the speaker.

Mr. Stafford will loan the library his slides and the pictures will be

Those who compose the team are Ivan Fruit, Marie Fruit, Jos Minton, Roy Williams, Charles Low, Alonzo Patchin and Bert Ford.

The Clarion, the high school paper, was issued yesterday afternoon at 3:30. This edition was edited by Helen Wood and managed by Richard Avison. Vivian Hargrove edited the Lemon Tree, which is the joke column.

The agriculture classes under Prof. R. L. Davidson have completed the planting of dallas in the east bed of the parking on Marion street. About 600 dallas were used in the bed.

The annual student body election will be held in the assembly hall at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Marion Gould, Donald Bryd and Loyd Lee are in charge of the election.

The algebra class under Livin Ferrin went on a class picnic Wednesday evening. About 25 boys and girls were present. Peter Bross and Miss Ferrin acted as chaperones.

The invitations and cards which the members of the senior class ordered several weeks ago have come and are now being distributed to the various owners.

A meeting of the sophomore and freshmen classes was called by Lyth Bartholomew, president of the sophomore class. The purpose of this meeting was to plan for a joint picnic to be held in the near future.

The regular monthly meeting of the faculty was held yesterday morning. The business for the last month of school was talked over.

MEDICAL MEN HOLD CONFERENCE AT W. U.

Medical men from Independence, Mouth, Dallas and Amity, besides the doctors of Salem and Marion county, were present at the regular monthly meeting of the Medical society of Polk, Yamhill and Marion counties held last night in the old college of medicine on the campus of Willamette university. About 20 physicians were present. The next meeting of the society will be held in Dallas the first Tuesday in June. Several papers of interest to doctors were read.

WOULD PERMIT PRESIDENT TO IGNORE 100,000 LIMIT

Washington, May 7.—A law authorizing the president to ignore the law restricting the federal army to 200,000 men was introduced in the senate this afternoon by Senator Chamberlain. The resolution was the first move in plans to recruit the army to war footing, according to reports.

PRATUM HOLDS HUGE GOOD ROADS MEETING

Sentiment of Farmers is Decidedly Against Proposed $850,000 Bond Issue

J. H. ALBERT GIVES THE BOOSTERS SIDE OF CASE

Mrs. Waldo Says that Agitation Will Result in Farmers Taxing Themselves.

Pratum, May 7, 1914.—There was a mass meeting last night in protest against the road bonds, and everyone was given an opportunity to express their views either for or against the bonds.

W. L. Simerall, of Maclesy, opened the meeting and announced that it had been falsely stated that few farmers were against the bonds, so this meeting was called to allow those interested to refute the statement.

W. A. Jones then took charge of the meeting and Mr. R. W. Sefton, of Salem, acted as secretary and took the minutes.

Mr. Taylor was the first speaker called and stated that those interested in the bonds gave that side in glowing phrases and said nothing anything that might be construed as arguments against them.

Mr. Taylor went on to say that any bond issue that taxed all for the immediate benefit of a few was unjust, unfair and little short of stealing. He said that the present bond issue was planned this way and that a large number of those paying taxes on these roads would seldom if ever travel on them.

Mr. Victor Krenzts agreed with Mr. Taylor and went on to advocate the idea of dividing the money equally between all districts as the only just and equitable mode of disbursing the funds.

Mr. Emery, of Waldo Hills, spoke, opposing a bond issue of any kind, and stated that a man that would knowingly saddle debt onto his children was a poor specimen of man. He said that a large per cent of the voters present would not live to see the bonds paid, but their children must take up the yoke of bondage forced upon them by their fathers and pay it out.

He said the new roads proposed were to be placed where the best roads of Marion county were situated, and that these roads would represent thousands of dollars of hard earned money of the farmers must be turned up. He advocated spending a little money at a time and paying in full as they went and that in ten years time the roads would be in first-class condition without a bond issue.

Mrs. C. H. Waldo, of Maclesy and Portland, spoke opposing the bonds and said that a speaker that shows last Tuesday night had stated that there was not a foot of good roads in Oregon outside of incorporated cities. She asked what these booster called good roads, as she had recently traveled over the good roads of Europe and found that some roads here compared favorably to them.

She graphically depicted the deplorable aspect of a farmer with a family deeply in debt and how he would be sympathized with by his neighbors and friends and scoffed at by some, and then she said how much worse was it to see a whole county of families in the same condition.

She referred to the fact that the county court would have control of this money, and called attention to the fact that every four years there would be a scramble by politicians to get a chance at the money, and she predicted there would be many a hot fight—over fist fights—about it.

She said the $12,000 interest, if divided among the road districts, would go a long way to fix up the roads that now exist.

There is one element of good overlooked by many people, she said, and that was the fact that this proposed bond issue was arousing interest among the farmers in good roads, and that now they would go on and tax themselves and fix the roads and pay for them as fixed.

She called attention to the fact that everywhere along the good roads of Europe could be seen little piles of lime rock and occasionally an old man with a wheelbarrow, whose only duty was to transport lime and forth along the roads putting a quart here, a peck here and maybe a bushel there, as the wear on the surface needed it. He is constantly repairing it. And then she stated there was absolutely no provision made for repairing these bond-issue roads.

She said that in Europe farmers were guaranteed a ready and profitable market for all they can raise, and can afford good roads. Here the farmer never knows whether his potatoes will pay to dig or his apples find a profitable market, so cannot attempt the yoke of a bond issue until he has a better market for his produce. She was interrupted constantly by applause.

The Pratum male quartet sang several amusing songs which were greatly appreciated by the audience. The applause accorded them.

Dan Miller was asked to speak to those assembled, and stated that so much insult had been heaped onto the farmer in this campaign in the way of foul epithets and slurring remarks as to his brain capacity that that one thing should be enough to drive any farmer to vote against the bond issue to show he could not be driven to the polls like a dog by a few disinterested (!) parties.

He said the city of Salem is in debt head over heels and that the old bridge is about to fall down and not yet paid for. That the city owed a per capita debt of $85.00 for every man, woman and child in the city.

He referred to the brotherly love shown by those working for the bond issue, and said they were working absolutely gratis, and then stated every road supervisor in the county had received a request that they donate $50 to the fund to carry on the work of working up interest among the farmers by these gratis workers, and he said the call said to send the money quick.

Mr. Albert then spoke, giving the bond issue advocates' side, and attempted to refute the statements made by the different speakers, but was met on every hand by such a deluge of questions and ready replies that he was soon content to sit down and listen. However, later he did rise and thank the assembly for their kind attention to his remarks.

Mr. Clark then took the floor and ably discussed the road question pro and con, but as his remarks were mostly a summary of what had already been stated it is hardly necessary to give them here. However, his discourse was certainly a convincing anti-bond lecture.

The chairman announced a bond boosters' meeting at Pratum on Friday, May 8, and an anti-bond meeting at the same place Monday, May 11, and requested that a large attendance be present at both meetings.

Mr. Taylor then spoke briefly about Marion county's duty at the Panama-Pacific exposition, and referred to the magnitude and possibilities of the log-garry industry, and freely gave all present a sample of the loggarry juice in the finished market product. The meeting then adjourned.

BRIDGE TENDER REPORTS BODY FLOATING IN RIVER

The tender on the Salem Falls City & Eastern railroad bridge spanning the Willamette river at this point, stated yesterday that he saw the body of a woman floating down the river. The brigadier advised a train crew which passed over the river shortly afterward and the crew informed the agent at the S. P. passenger depot, who in turn telephoned the news to Sheriff Esch. The sheriff called Coroner Clough, and a search was made of the waters below the bridge about an hour after the bridge tender spread the information.

The caretaker of the bridge states that he first noticed an object in the river, which appeared to be the body of a human being. He used a marine south, east and west. Everyone will believe. He says that it was the body of a young woman, fully dressed, with the exception she had on no shoes or stockings, and that she was floating face upward. He watched the body, he declares, until it went out of sight in the rough waters about three hundred yards below the bridge, and then informed a passing train crew of his find.

The river was searched carefully by the coroner and several assistants in boats, but the remains could not be found. The coroner states that if the bridge tender really saw a body floating face up, it was the first time he (Mr. Clough) ever heard of such a thing, saying that dead bodies generally floated face downward. The coroner is unable to find any trace of any persons drowning in the river of late and, after making several searches about the stream, gave up the work for the time being at least. The captain of a down-going steamer was also advised of the discovery, but no report has been heard from him so far.

BORDER DUTY ORDERED HOME NATIONAL GUARDSMEN ON

Calexico, Cal., May 7.—National guardsmen on board duty here will return to their homes tomorrow, unless a cavalry detachment due tonight fails to arrive. The men were called here two weeks ago to protect the irrigation system of the Imperial Valley from threatening Mexicans.

JURYMEN FOR BECKER TRIAL BEING CHOSEN

New York, May 7.—The jury which is to consider the evidence in the second trial of former Justice Lieutenant Charles F. Becker, charged with slaying Hermann Rosenthal, probably will be finished before night and the opening statements start tomorrow. A new panel of 100 men was in court when the trial was resumed today.

WEST SCORES OREGONIAN

WEST SCORES OREGONIAN

GOVERNOR MAKES SOME CAUSTIC REMARKS ABOUT EDITORIAL IN MORNING PAPER.

WEST SCORES OREGONIAN—Governor West commenting on the following editorial from the Oregonian and also on its attack on his editorial by today, made some caustic remarks.

He suggested that "the Oregonian had better devote some of its talent and space to gaining respectability for one of its favorite candidates for governor and not rush to the defense of Mr. Wilbur, whose reputation would show up black even though placed alongside the Oregonian." He added: "The Oregonian's candidate for United States senator must feel embarrassed to have his picture on one page of the Oregonian while another is devoted to the defense of the Milwaukee tavern and still another to the beer that made the other Milwaukee famous." The governor said some biting things about the state's big paper that would keep the Oregonian busy to equal. But as they are the unofficial opinion of the governor, we shall not quote them.

The editorial follows: They say the Oregonian is soon to jump onto the famous Milwaukee Tavern and endeavor to close up this noted resort that has for years run despite almost everybody and every official. The Oregonian will be several years late, but the people will endorse its efforts, even if the real object is merely to get West from the tavern—Oregon City Courier.

The Oregonian has no militia at its beck and call and has not yet undertaken the herculean task of closing the notorious Milwaukee tavern. Why didn't the governor leave his militia on the job? What has become of the officials of Clackamas county? Why doesn't Uren abolish the Milwaukee of his home county? What has become of the great temperance and prohibition crusader, George Brownell?

The Oregonian is surprised at the news from Clackamas about the tavern that will not stay suppressed. We really thought Clackamas county, seat of empire for both Brownell and Uren, twin sons of reform, had long ago been purified.

NEW BALLOT BOXES REQUIRED

Forty-one new metal ballot boxes, together with innumerable other election supplies, are ready for shipment to the precincts of Marion county for the coming primary election. These boxes are in addition to the old ones that have seen service for several years. The out-of-date condition of the women is the cause.

If you have any cutaneous blemish, don't use paint, powder or anything else to cover it up. Too often this only emphasizes the defect. Besides, it's much easier to remove the disfigurement with ordinary mercolized wax.

Applied nightly, the wax will gradually remove freckles, pimples, blackheads, moth-patches, sallowness, red or yellow blotches, or any surface eruptions. The affected cuticle is absorbed, a little each day, until the clear, soft, youthful and beautiful skin beneath is brought wholly to view. Ask the druggist for an ounce of mercolized wax and use this like you use cold cream. Remove in morning with soap and water. Many who have tried this simple and harmless treatment report astonishing results.

MISS WILSON WEDS

at Sea Girl to confer with the then Democratic presidential candidate.

Have Much in Common.

Both Miss Wilson and McAdoo had much in common. Both were fond of tennis. They enjoyed dancing the new style dances. Their acquaintanceship at Sea Girl ripened here in Washington when McAdoo became one of the president's advisers. The two were constantly together. Miss Yoma McAdoo, one of the secretary's daughters who is a year or so younger than Miss Wilson, was her constant companion. They took long automobile drives and walks together and McAdoo was Miss Wilson's favored dancing partner.

True to the Wilson tradition that "good luck" numeral, the engagement of Miss Wilson and the secretary was announced on March 13. That day was also Friday and friends of the Wilson family laughingly observed that an especially fortunate date had been selected for the announcement, from the Wilson standpoint.

Miss Wilson began the preparation of her trousseau immediately following the announcement of her engagement. She shopped in New York for several days. Secretary McAdoo accompanying her several times.

An expert needlewoman herself, she did a lot of work in fixing the trousseau herself, aided by Miss Margaret Wilson. Mrs. Wilson, who suffered a nervous shock from a fall a month or more ago, has been to ill to assist. It was partly because of her indisposition that the private wedding was held. Miss Eleanor, it is understood, had hoped to have a wedding with "all the
