M. S. HUGHES TO DELIVER GRADUATING ADDRESS

Schedule of Exercises for Commencement Days at Willamette University Is Out.

FULTON WILL DELIVER LAW COLLEGE ORATION

Diplomas will be Presented at First Methodist Church on Friday, June 12.

Although the arrangements for the different Willamette University commencement exercises are far from being completed, they have been worked out to a sufficient extent to be fairly well settled upon.

The first commencement exercises will be held by the college of law on the evening of May 29. Honorable Charles W. Fulton will deliver the commencement address.

The commencement exercises for the college of theology and the college of liberal arts have not yet been fully arranged. Those parts of the program which have been tentatively agreed upon are given.

The baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of the college of theology will be delivered by Dean Kimball on Sunday, June 7.

Youngson Delivers Address. The commencement address and presentation of diplomas will take place at the First Methodist church on the evening of Friday, June 12.

Youngson, pastor of the Rose City Park Methodist church, will deliver the commencement address.

The commencement of the college of music will probably be held in connection with that of the college of liberal arts, according to tentative plans.

On Sunday morning, June 14, President Homan will preach the commencement sermon in the First Methodist church, before the senior class of the College of Liberal Arts.

Sunday afternoon will occur the farewell meeting of the Christian associations. The meeting will be held in the university chapel and will probably be led by the president of the university.

In the evening the farewell sermon to the Christian associations will be delivered in the First Methodist church. The speaker for the evening has not been definitely chosen as yet.

Breakfast Leads Off. Monday of commencement week will open with a "Senior breakfast." The breakfast will be very original, but also quite dignified, only wearers of the caps and gowns being present.

After breakfast will come a morning baseball game. The team who will invade the campus on that date has not been definitely selected, but the manager has negotiations under way.

In the afternoon "The Girls' Willamette Club" will hold exercises both in the chapel and at the grave of Jason Lee, in memory of the founder of our university. In the evening will occur the inter-society oratorical contest.

Tuesday will be class day proper. The morning will open with a soccer game and probably a class skit or play. Following the opening numbers a pictorial history of the class will be presented. This is planned as one of the most elaborate numbers of the program.

Eat Last Meal. At noon the annual senior lunch will take place, all members of the student body sitting down together for the last meal that this particular Willamette family will take together.

In the afternoon will come the stunts by the three other college classes. The intense rivalry between each of the classes insures that they will exert themselves to the limit in providing the entertainment for the afternoon.

In the evening, if the tentative plans are carried out, will occur the most spectacular event of commencement week. The entire campus will be brilliantly lighted and a series of novel stunts will be presented on different portions of the grounds.

Wednesday will be alumni day, being the date on which the seniors will cease to be connected with the undergraduate activities and will become a part of the alumni.

The commencement exercises will be held in the First Methodist church at 10 o'clock, preceded by an academic procession which will form in Eaton hall and march to the church.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. M. S. Hughes, of Pasadena, Calif., a brother of Bishop Edwin Hughes. He is rated as one of the most masterful and powerful speakers on the coast and the class are congratulating themselves on being able to secure his services.

In the afternoon will come the annual alumni business meeting, and in the evening the alumni banquet will take place at the Hotel Marion.

ROAD BOND BOOSTER MEETING HAS ANTI-BOND SENTIMENT

Macley, Or., May 13.—The Road meeting at Macley was well attended, about 250 being present and although it was supposed to be a booster meeting it was turned into an anti-bond meeting.

W. A. Taylor of Macley called the meeting to order and introduced Mr. Seymour Jones as the first speaker. Mr. Jones said in part—

That the bonds represent only 2 per cent of the actual assessed valuation of Marion county, or really 1 per cent of the time value and as such is a mere bagatelle. The bonds will draw 5 per cent interest and he asserted no individual could get money at that rate no individual would care to lend at that rate.

He said it has been falsely asserted that bankers will get half which is false on the face of it.

He took considerable time explaining the bond issue and finally said that the bond issue only represented $2.00 on the $1,000, or a very slight encumbrance and there is not a man who doesn't spend five times that amount and yet they say the tax is high.

He said this scheme is the only feasible way to get roads as the old way has proved a failure as a few built good roads under the old regime, and others do nothing, so we have an irregular mass without system. The people of Macley get a road and should be for the bond issue and he can't understand why any of them should oppose.

He said some oppose bonds because the road does not pass their home but that is not fair, as while they may not derive as much benefit as the man on the road still they will be benefited. He said Macley had done practically nothing in the way of building roads and the people were traveling good roads built by some one else every time they went to Salem.

He said there never had been a perfect system of taxation derived and all could not be suited; that all through life we must compromise and every law is a compromise and as the county court had laid out a plan of roads we should accept it as the best obtainable and give in for common good.

He said it had been falsely stated that the roads, if built, would be gone in inside the two ty years. This is not true as there are many roads existing today built years ago and these roads will be kept up.

He said if Marion county grows on at the same rate of gain it has made that in five years we can issue more bonds and still be proportionately no more in debt than she will be when these bonds are issued.

He referred to the sentiment against the debt and said the coming generation will be saddled with the debt and he said that the debt would amount to nothing and as it could not be more than 1 per cent of actual valuation he would gladly take any obligation on those terms.

He said in closing that only one man can have his own way absolutely and he must be on a desert island and he would try continually to get away to mingle with his kind, so we had best all try to yield for common good.

He offered to answer questions and there followed a volley of questions and it is only just to say he answered ably and well so far as he had knowledge, and when at one time some one asked him to rise and assert he was getting paid for what he said, he became angry and retorted in a way that squelched the party and yet was careful what he said so as not to offend ladies, that all present were convinced that he at least is working for the bonds gratis.

There was considerable talk about what would be done with present good roads along the routes to be improved and no one could answer.

It was asserted that it cost $15,000 per mile to build the fair ground road, and it is only macadam at that.

Some one asked if some of this fund would not have to go for extra clerk hire and extra specials and thus cut down the amount available to build roads. He did not know.

The brief was expressed time and again that the roads can't be built at the figures stated if they have to tear up present roads to lay new ones.

They asked the cost of macadam road eight feet wide and he said he didn't know, but believed the roads could be built inside the estimate as the county court had said they could.

Some of the questioners resorted to personalities and only turned remarks and there was much applause to the latter that it was hard to get all that was said.

Some one said the ayllum road cost $1,500 and it is good enough so why spend all the money on a few roads. He replied that the county court had made the estimate and apportioned the money and so it must be right.

There was quite a demonstration asking for Mrs. Waldo so she arose amid applause and was introduced by the chairman.

She asserted she has made 100 road talks and all of them gratis and while this road through Macley goes one mile through the Waldo farm she is opposed to it because the building of it necessitates incurring a debt and she is opposed to debt on principal, at least avoidable debt.

She said Mr. Jones tried to make it appear it is better to be in debt and have a few good roads than be free from debt and have roads that can't be traveled. We should pay as we go as we can only afford what we can pay for.

She called attention to the French families and said they are prosperous because they have good markets and have a financial standing clear of encumbrances and a ready market for all produce grown and can afford fine roads. We here in Marion county have only seven people to the square mile and there they have 400 people to square mile, so we had best go slow and watch our sister counties and see how they come out before Macley road district has voted to buy a rock crusher for its own use if the bonds fail and will fix its own roads and pay for them as built.

One is led to believe, she said, that after this election in the event that the bonds pass that the county court is to be connected by wireless with the heavenly forces and will thus get divine inspiration how to handle funds from the great promises made as to its future acts, but it is only human of the common kind as it is placed in power through the wire of politics.

The county court has full power in change any plan it may decide on, and the voters will have no say whatever how money will be spent.

She referred to paving conditions in Portland where she has owned a lot 34 years and has paid for seven permanent pavements in that time and has received no direct benefit either in improvement or increase in value but has had to foot each bill.

She concluded her remarks with a good story. The chairman introduced Mr. J. Alberts of Salem and his remarks were a summary of what both Mr. Jones and Mrs. Waldo had said and he as a banker admitted that the money market was falling somewhat.

He asserted there was a demand for all staple articles in Salem at all times and especially when the country roads are bad.

He tried to allay the unrest manifested about what kind of roads are to be made by saying that they will be the best obtainable for the money and that the best engineers available had figured out plans for roads so we must leave the real building to them.

He asserted that the theory that warrants would be issued instead of bonds was wrong as no one would want to take them because from an investor's standpoint they are undesirable.

He said Liberty road was a good road but autos tore it up, and that no road without concrete foundation would stand.

In answer to questions regarding Salem streets he said the city of Salem was victimized in the State and Commercial streets paving.

Mr. Taylor opened the meeting to all present and asked for a full discussion of the question.

Mr. McKinney, of near Burnsville, was introduced as the best macadam road builder in Oregon.

He stated he had been surprised by uprising that road bonds have caused and he is put in a peculiar position in that he is a good roads booster for years is forced to oppose this bond issue on principal. He was in favor of bonds for a long time and once changed his views after reading and thinking the matter over carefully and is now convinced there is something behind the affair that is not right.

One reason he gave for opposing the bonds was because of the way the roads are selected and the funds apportioned. The road from Turner to Jefferson is 12 miles and it gets $40,000 while from Turner to Stayton is only 9 miles with one mile of completed road already down, leaving 8 miles, and it gets $65,000, so that on the face of it is unfair. Then the Macley road is 12 miles long and it gets $45,000, while the Gratun road with over three miles finished is only 8 miles, and it gets $45,000, another case of unfairness.

Then the road from Aurora to Salem, finished is only 5 miles, and it gets $300,000, or $10,000 per mile, so that to his mind the whole scheme is to force the country of Marion to build the Pacific highway through it.

Miss Katharine Pooler was introduced and stated the good road she is after is a good ball one to the county treasurer's office.

The Markets

Slackness of demand for wheat has caused a slump in prices, and club was quoted yesterday at 88 cents and even below that. The barley and oat markets are quiet, with prices tending downward. Butter was given a 2 1/2 cent lift this morning, which is due in a measure to the large amount of cream used in the ice cream business. Cheese prices will, it is expected, be again reduced shortly and a 15-cent price is looked for. The strawberry market is overstocked. Four hundred crates of Oregon were received at Portland yesterday, and this means there will be no more from California. There's little doing in hops, but the sale of the McKay lot at St. Paul, to Harris, at 15 cents was reported yesterday. A few inquiries for new crop contracts at 15 cents are being made.

EATING RELIEVES STOMACH TROUBLE

"Eat good foods and plenty of them. Dieting, in many cases, is almost criminal. Get back to normal. To do so you must have the proper quantity of nourishment. You need it for brain and physical work. Probably there is nothing the matter with your stomach except acidity. That is merely an abnormal secretion of acid in the stomach. Neutralize that acid and your stomach trouble will end at once. Neglect may mean ulcers of the stomach. Do not take patent medicines or pepsin tablets for dyspepsia. Simply take a neutralizer of acid. Decidedly the best neutralizer is bisurated magnesia. It is inexpensive and you can get it at any drug store. Take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water after each meal. The relief will be immediate."
