OREGON UNIVERSITY CLOSES GREAT YEAR IN ATHLETIC AFFAIRS

University of Oregon, Eugene, Ore., June 8.—This has been a year of achievement for the University of Oregon in athletics, as well as in education. Of the five northwest intercollegiate championships, Oregon has won two and tied for a third. The University of Washington has won two and tied with Oregon for the third. No other college in the northwest has won a championship this school year. With a freshman team, "Bill" Hayward again won the conference track championship for Oregon. Four of the seven Oregon point winners at the conference met at Pullman May 29 were men who are spending their first year at Oregon—Loneck, Nelson, Payne and Tolford. Hayward was touring the state for the extension department three weeks after the opening of the track season, and took one trip after the Columbia indoor meet. So remarkable is Hayward's judgment of track athletes in the northwest that he "doped" the Pullman meet almost to a point. With a team that was "in and out," Coach Bozdek won the baseball championship for Oregon by defeating O. A. C. and Washington for the western division championship, and by taking two straight games from Washington State, the eastern champions, for the conference title. Captain Irwin Brooks, Herman Oberbauer and Louis Bond formed the tennis team that won the recent singles championship of the northwest colleges from Washington. Washington State and O. A. C. lost the double championship to the Washington school in the elimination tournament held at Eugene this spring. For a coach new to the men, and a squad new to the coach, a team with no pre-season training and a short, but furious, schedule of games, Oregon is satisfied with the result from football. O. A. C. was tied for the state championship, and six days after this struggle Oregon went down to Portland and played the University of Washington, 10 to 7. Not very many people who saw the game at Portland realized that Coach Bozdek had changed every signal and play that the team had used at Albany November 8. There can be only one explanation of the failure of Oregon's basketball quintet this year. Four men from last year's team were back, and Oregon should have stood well in the conference list. The only thing that did keep the team away from near the top was the lack of a natural basket shooter. There wasn't a man on the team, nor one in college, apparently who could locate the hoops regularly, and Oregon didn't win games. Oregon will lose by graduation this year six men from the football team, four from the basketball quintet, three from the baseball team and one from the track team. With Bozdek again in charge of football, basketball and baseball, and a knowledge of the men gained from this year, and with Hayward at the helm of the 1915 track team, athletics at Oregon, beginning next September, should be successful. CHRISTIAN CHURCHES TO HOLD CONVENTION The Christian churches of Oregon will hold their twenty-fourth annual convention at Turner, Ore., July 8-16. The convention owns 10 acres of beautifully shaded ground there, with a tabernacle seating 2000 people. There are about 120 Christian churches in the state and about 18,000 members. A delegate from every church is desired. The convention consists of six separate sessions in the following order: Ministerial, Educational, Christian Endeavor, state missions, women's work, and Bible school. An excellent program led by Professor Bilhorn will be given. His voice has a range of three octaves and last Sunday at Trinity church his vocal numbers attracted a great deal of attention. He is the author of both sacred and sentimental songs. Dwight L. Moody, the evangelist, referred to Professor Bilhorn as "Sweet Peace Bilhorn." He is a master in the art of drilling large choruses and his work with junior choruses has been equally successful. At the World's Christian Endeavor convention in the Crystal Palace at London, Professor Bilhorn had charge of a chorus of 4000 voices. He frequently has a chorus of 1000 men in the Auditorium at Chicago, where he makes his headquarters. When a man gets blind drunk he sees a lot of things that are not there.
