A Salem Woman's Opinion of Fisher's Blend Flour

 "Your slogan, 'Cost more per sack, less per loaf,' is certainly true, for I made from five to seven more loaves of bread from a sack of FISHER'S BLEND than from a sack of ordinary flour.

OREGON BANKERS FAVOR TRUST COMBINES GENERALLY

Medford, Ore., June 17.—Condemning the Wilson Administration trust measures and urging Oregon Representatives in Washington to work for the retention of the Sherman law and the abandonment of further agitation in Washington, the ninth annual convention of the Oregon State Bankers' Association came to a close tonight after a motor trip to Ashland and ride through the Rogue River Valley.

The resolutions adopted unanimously declared that further legislation along anti-trust lines would needlessly disturb business conditions, no crisis existing demanding such action, and the association prayed the President to desist.

The association also went on record favoring Seattle as the meeting place of the National bankers' convention in 1915; resolved to send S. D. Sargent, State Superintendent of Banks, to the Oil City convention; recommended penny postage for first-class letters; a continuation of co-operative effort with O. A. C. looking toward intelligent development of the agricultural resources of Oregon, and uniform taxes for banking institutions through proper legislation.

It was resolved to communicate with the Oregon Representatives in Congress in an effort to amend the Federal reserve act allowing state banks to receive savings deposits.

TOWN OF TURNER SAVED BY NEW AUTO PUMPER

Flouring Mills Catch Fire and Burn to Ground Early This Morning—Salem Department Responds to Call.

ENTIRE COMMUNITY IS IN DANGER WHEN FIREMEN ARRIVE

Business Men of Turner Thankful for Quick and Efficient Service in Preventing Conflagration.

Six members of the Salem fire department and the big new auto pumper last night without doubt saved the little town of Turner from devastation by fire. The large flouring mills located directly south of the town caught fire about 12 o'clock and within 15 minutes after the local department was asked to aid the auto pumper was throwing water over the Southern Pacific depot near the mills and other buildings which were smoking dangerously.

The mills were burned to the ground, the fire having got such a start that saving them was out of the question.

Machine Works Well.

The distance between the central station here and Turner is a little over nine and a half miles. With Driver Cooper at the wheel, the auto pumper sped over the rough country roads and was soon throwing three big streams of water on the scorching buildings of the town.

The Southern Pacific buildings are located but a few steps from the flour mills and the principal business structures are not over 300 steps from the mill buildings. When the Salem department men arrived on the scene great pieces of burning material were flying all over the city, the south wind carrying them broadcast. Men were on top of their heads stamping out the showering sparks and a brave effort was made to keep the sides of the nearest buildings wet.

A flat car had been drawn up past the mills on the Southern Pacific track, and preparations were being made to come to this city for fire-fighting machines when the auto pumper arrived in Turner.

Three Steamers.

Mill creek being near the mills, the auto pumper was throwing three streams when the mill buildings began crumpling up and sending up millions of burning embers. Chief Phillips declared today that the pumper threw the water with such force that it required four men to hold the hose, so that the firemen could handle the nozzle.

The Turner people were more than thankful to the Salem firemen, the leading business men of the town saying that had the auto pumper not arrived when it did the whole town would have been wiped out.

It was estimated that about 10,000 bushels of grain was ruined and that the damage will approximate $15,000. It is not known definitely how the fire started. It was discovered about 11:45 at the extreme top of the elevator near the ventilator. The building belonged formerly to the Balfour-Guthrie company but at present is owned by McCaleb and Thesen.

WOMEN WILL SIT IN REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

About 25 Representatives of the Gentler Sex Will Be Present When Meeting Is Called to Order.

Tacoma, June 17.—Women will sit tomorrow for the first time in a Republican convention in Washington according to State Chairman Rupp, whose reports today were that about 25 of the gentler sex would be in seats when the convention is called to order at 10 o'clock. Chairman Rupp pointed to the names of men formerly prominent in Bull Moose circles who will be delegates as proof of his assertion that "nothing can stop the reuniting of the party." From the best information available, the temporary chairman of the first state republican gathering in two years probably will be John H. Powell of Seattle, and the permanent chairman, Charles P. Lund of Spokane.

Much speculation is being indulged in as to what platform the convention will adopt. Chairman Rupp had before him today the platforms adopted by all the county conventions and they run the gamut of republicanism from the ultra-conservative to the most radical. It appears that Chehalis county adopted the most conservative platform and King county the one the most marked in the opposite direction.

The only known plank that will go into the platform are those upon which all of the county conventions were agreed. Denationalization of the Panama canal tolls exemption, repeal, protests against the democratic tariff measure and grilling for the Wilson-Bryan foreign policy are almost sure to be included.

RICH LOGANBERRY CROP HARVESTED AT BROOKS

Brooks, Ore., June 17.—With all fruits maturing weeks in advance of former years, loganberry picking began here yesterday, and the roads are filled with moving vans equalled only during the huckleberry season, when scores of families move to the hop-yards. With the strawberry harvest practically ended, and schools dismissed in the country for the year, the exodus to the berry yards exceeds travel in all other directions, and while the crop suffered some injury by late frosts, the output will be large. The Salem Fruit Union, securing supplies largely from the Brooks yards, plans to put up five barrels of loganberry juice daily throughout the season, from eight to nine barrels of fruit being required to make a single barrel of the juice. The dried loganberry will form, as usual, the bulk of the crop, since a single carload of the fruit sold in the East recently brought $12,148, a high price than that paid for an equal amount of other Oregon fruit. The demand for the fresh fruit is holding good, but growers are not selling to the canneries heavily, owing to the low price offered, which is 2 1/2 to 3 cents for the same quality as that sold at retail at 20 and 25 cents.

SITUATION IS QUIET

Butte, Mont., June 17.—Although efforts to reconcile the warring factions of the miners' union here so far have failed, the situation today was outwardly quiet, but tense. A referendum vote was being taken by the seeders to decide whether they should agree to show Western Federation of Miners cards before being allowed to go to work. The polls opened at 10 o'clock and balloting was expected to continue until midnight tonight. About 3,000 men were expected to cast ballots.

No union cards were required to entitle a man to vote, a joint committee passing on the eligibility of each voter. All saloons in Butte remained closed today by order of the mayor. None will be allowed to reopen until tomorrow at the earliest. The sale of firearms and ammunition has been prohibited for an indefinite period.

SENIORS HOLD THEIR CLOSING EXERCISES

Graduates Offer Up Sacrifices on Altar for the Sins Committed During the Past Year—Dances Are Given.

The exercises at Willamette university yesterday afternoon and evening attracted large crowds and the many interesting events on the program all received their full share of appreciation. In the afternoon the class stunts took place, the members of the junior class presenting a very entertaining program illustrating what takes place in a student's mind at different times. At four o'clock stereopticon views of college life were thrown on the screen in the university chapel. Many very amusing situations were presented and several interesting occurrences were portrayed to the public for the first time.

Last evening the seniors offered exercises appropriate to their departure from the institution. Preceding these exercises a monster telescope, through which the planet Venus was plainly visible, was on the campus, and all who so desired were permitted to gaze at the wonders of the heavens.

The first number, on the seniors' program was the Greeting offering scene. Each member of the class ascended the altar and laid upon it some article indicative of a sin the class had committed while in the university. The list included a very amusing array, among the number being a tight skirt, a pipe, and a deck of cards. All these were destroyed by the consuming elements while the class knelt and did penance to Mercury for their many misdeeds.

Give Weaving Dance.

Following this part of the program a group of the members of the women's gym classes gave a beautiful weaving dance. The dance, although very complex, was executed cleverly and showed faithful training on the part of the dancers.

The next part of the program was the smoking of the pipe of peace by members of the junior and senior classes. Paul Homan, one of the chiefs of the tribe of 1914, made a long speech to the tribe of 1915, explaining how it had become necessary for the fourteen-ers to change their hunting grounds and that conflict which had existed between the two tribes would now end and the tribe of 1914 would depart forever. An interesting part of this ceremony was the difficulty encountered by some of the maidens in their endeavors to smoke the monster pipe of peace.

Minuet Is Climax.

The climax of the evening's entertainment was the dancing of the minuet by six of the college girls. The dance was especially well executed, the young ladies winning many plaudits by their graceful steps and bows.

During the evening the Ladies' club and the Glee club rendered several Willamette songs, taking them all from the new university song book.

The names of the dancers follow:
 Minuet girls—Stella Graham, Marie Sneed, Eleanor Ruby, Lucile Kuntz, Margaret Poisel, Irma Botsford, Keith Van Winkle, Kate Barton.

FEDERAL TROOPS NOT NEEDED

Washington, June 17.—United States Senator Myers and Representatives Evans and Stout of Montana called at the White House today and told President Wilson that federal troops were not needed in Butte to preserve order between the warring factions of the miners' union there. Governor Stewart, they said, now has the situation well in hand.

"To obtain the best results, we use and recommend for use Royal Baking Powder. We find it superior to all others."

GRADUATES IN FORESTRY HAVE SECURED POSITIONS

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Ore., June 17.—All six members of the school of forestry in this year's graduating class at the Oregon Agricultural college have secured good positions in forest work. Following is a list of the men and the work and places to which they have been assigned:

L. F. Cronmiller, of Lakeview, ranger on Fremont National Forest, Portland; James C. Evenden, of Warrenton, ranger on Oregon National Forest, Portland; Paul Freydyg, Sutherlin, assistant logging engineer of Portland Lumber company, Rainier; M. C. Hayes, Pasadena, field assistant land inspection, Siuslaw, Eugene; and Carl N. Miller, Indianapolis, federal survey work in Oregon and Washington, or land classification in Oregon, undecided.

The utilization of this highly trained talent is but one of several indications that the people of the country have decided to maintain their rich national forests while making extensive use of forest products. The early appointments these men received indicate a strong demand for practical foresters and show their ability to meet it.
