FEDERAL TROOPS MAY BE REQUIRED TO KEEP THE PEACE IN MONTANA MINING DISTRICT--DYNAMITE USED

One Man Is Killed and Five Are Wounded When Miners' Union Hall Is Blown Up as Result of Riots Last Night--Crowd of 5,000 Is Present

FURTHER CONTEMPLATED DYNAMITINGS ARE REPORTED AND SITUATION IS TENSE

Seceding Miners Surround Hall, and Open Fire--President Moyer, of W. F. of M., With Other Officers, Leap Into Automobiles and Flee from City

Butte, Mont., June 24.—With one man dead, five wounded, one fatally, Governor S. C. Stewart was expected today to ask for federal troops to keep order in this district as a result of last night's riots when the miners union hall was dynamited in the presence of a crowd of 5,000 persons.

The dead man was a bystander named Edward L. Noye, a freight clerk in the Great Northern railroad office.

Peter Bruno, 51 years old, a miner affiliated with the Moyer faction, was fatally wounded.

Outwardly Quiet.

The situation today was outwardly quiet, but there was tense feeling and rumors were current of further contemplated dynamitings. All the saloons remained closed and the sale of firearms and ammunition was strictly prohibited.

The riot started last night when seceding miners threatened to break up a meeting called by President Charles H. Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners in an effort to reconcile the two warring factions of miners.

The seceders surrounded the hall, threatening to blow it up, but they were kept at a safe distance for a long time by eighty deputies, who swept the streets with their fire. Finally from the roofs of nearby buildings the miners poured a steady fire into the hall. Moyer hurried out with the other officers of the local union, leaped into automobiles and rushed out of the city. They are reported to be at the Gagnon mine today. Threats of lynching against Moyer if he returns were freely uttered.

Secure the Dynamite.

After gaining possession of the miners' union hall, the seceders sent a band of men to the Stewart mine who compelled the hoisting engineer to lower them into the workings. Securing several boxes of dynamite, the rioters returned to the hall and under cover of a fusillade of shots by their comrades, set off a charge of dynamite against the side of the hall. This was at 10 o'clock and the dynamiting continued until two this morning. Twenty charges of dynamite were exploded against the walls of the historic Union Hall, and the building was almost entirely reduced to ruins.

Desultory firing continued all night. President McDonald of the new independent union distributed 5,000 handbills during the night urging the miners to disperse. The excited rioters tore these to bits and completely ignored their leader's plea and continued to set off charges of dynamite against the Union Hall until the building collapsed.

DAMAGE IS GREAT.

Manchester, N. H., June 24.—The fire in the business district here, which for a time threatened the sections destruction, were brought under control this afternoon with $400,000 damages.

Villa Reported Hurrying To the Front--Is Hampered by the Lack of Heavy Artillery

Juarez, Mex., June 24.—Skirmishing between General Villa's advance guard and federal outposts at Pimentia, a suburb of Zacatecas, was reported here today. Thus far, it was stated, there had not been many casualties.

Villa was hurrying to the front from Fresnillo. He was still hampered by lack of artillery, which his men were having great difficulty in bringing forward over the soggy, washed-out roads. It was believed, however, the general's assault on Zacatecas would begin tomorrow.

No Love Is Lost.

Whether or not General Natera would aid in the attack was not known, but it was increasingly evident that between Villa and General Carranza and the latter's supporters, among whom is Natera, no love is lost.

Villa plainly was planning his campaign regardless of Carranzista co-operation. Roberto Pesquera, Carranza's confidential agent here, received a telegram from him today, saying he expected Zacatecas would be in his hands by next week and adding, without asking for orders, that from there he expected to push on at once to Mexico City.

Pesquera has been urging Villa to avoid an open clash with Carranza but to work with him for the constitutional cause. Villa, however, has seemed to refer to the constitutionalist leaders as "my chief" and mentions him only as "Senor Carranza." A report was current that Carranza had ordered General Gonzales, commander of the rebels' northeast division, to forestall Villa by capturing San Luis Potosi before the latter can reach there.

City Reported Captured.

Washington, June 24.—A Tampico report, resting on high authority, was to the effect today that the Mexican rebels took Zacatecas June 19 after a hard fight. It was stated that San Luis Potosi was expected to fall soon and that a battle was imminent at Queretaro.

On the theory that the federals would soon be driven from San Luis Potosi, according to the same Tampico source, the rebels at Tampico were repairing the railroad westward from there to facilitate their movement to a point between the threatened city and the capital, with the purpose of cutting off the Huertistas' retreat.

With a similar object in view, it was said General Natera was trying to reach Aguas Calientes.

Many trainloads of rebels, it was added, were hurrying to Monterey to join in the pursuit of the federals.

FREE PORT IS URGED THE PLAN IS SUCCESSFUL

Publicly Owned and Operated Port Is Believed Best in General Way and Would Increase and Develop Trade.

Seattle, Wash., June 24.—The discussion by the port authorities of the Pacific coast, in conference here, to establish a uniform port administration with uniform charges, was continued today. The noon recess was featured by a luncheon given by the Seattle commercial club in honor of the visitors.

A feature of yesterday's program was the reading of a paper from Robert Dollar, the steamship man, in which he advocated a free port, and pointed to Manila and Hongkong as examples of success under this policy.

General H. M. Crittenden, chairman of the Seattle port commission, was doubtful whether a uniform system of charges in all ports would effect the producer and consumer.

John H. McCallum, of the state board of harbor commissioners, California, was chosen president of the conference, and Hamilton Higday, of Seattle, secretary.

McCallum said he thought a publicly owned and operated port was best in a general way. All the surplus finances, he said, should be turned back for further development.

Alexander Baillie, of Balfour, Guthrie & Co., advocated the appointment of a superintendent of the port of Seattle, as a buffer between the merchants and the port commission.

Robert Bridges, of the Seattle port commission, declared the only way to eradicate the baneful influence of the privately owned docks, side by side with public docks, was to enlarge the public docks.

The development of public docks will benefit the railroads, according to a paper read by Hamilton Higday, from G. B. Hegardt, engineer of the Portland dock commission, because it would increase commerce.

G. E. Gordon, Los Angeles harbor commissioner, advocated a traffic department in the port organization.

assertion, state department officials here were inclined to doubt, no rebel force having ever been reported near Puerto Mexico.

The Tampico dispatch concluded that Zapatistas were again menacing Mexico City.

Attack Within Hour.

Juarez, Mex., June 24.—Lazaro De La Garza, General Villa's confidential agent here, announced at 1 p. m. that Villa had telegraphed him from Pimentia:

"I will start a general assault on Zacatecas within one hour. I am confident of victory."

Pimentia is five miles directly north of Zacatecas or nine miles by rail.

Carries Settlement Proposals.

New Orleans, La., June 24.—Juan Urquidí was at the Cosmopolitan hotel here today on his way to Saltillo, bearing the Washington administration's proposals for a settlement of the troubles in Mexico, which were being sent to General Carranza over the heads of his representatives in Washington, who rejected them.

It was reported Urquidí telegraphed the terms of the latest proposal to Carranza last night and that Carranza sweepingly rejected them.

It was said that Urquidí hoped, however, to induce him to change his mind.

QUEEN ANNE VI WILL BE CROWNED RULER OF FAIR IN GLORY

If Sun Shines Coronation Ceremonies Will Be Held on Court House Lawn

CHERRIANS TO ESCORT HER ROYAL HIGHNESS

Floats Arriving and Everything Is Practically Complete for Opening

TOMORROW'S PROGRAM.
10:30 a. m.—Crowning of the Queen. Presentation of folk dances conducted by Miss Merriam.
1:00 p. m.—Automobile and floral parade.
2:30 p. m.—Street sports.
7:00 p. m.—Burlesque circus east of court house.
8:00 p. m.—Dance at armory.

Owing to the leaky aspect of the skies today it is announced by King Bing that the Coronation exercises for the crowning of Her Majesty Queen Anne VI may be held either at the Hotel Marion or at the Ryan building. It all depends upon the weather tomorrow, however, and should it clear, the exercises will be held upon the court house lawn as originally planned.

Despite the rain, though, they will be held, and the Cherrians are commanded by King Bing, to be on hand promptly at 9:30 at the Hotel Marion to act as royal escort to her majesty.

Every Salem citizen is prophesying good weather for the Cherry fair regardless of the occasional showers and the electrical floats for the illuminated parade are nearly all completed. The Artisans float, which won the Grand prize at the Portland Rose festival, arrived over the Oregon electric this morning and will be seen in the Cherry Fair parade. Also the Newsboys float which won the prize for the most unique float in the Rose show parade arrived on the same car and was being mounted on the trucks this morning.

The Carnival attractions are being put up today and the decorators promise to have the Ryan building finished by tonight. The program of motorboat races and other aquatic events is practically complete and will be pulled off rain or shine as no amount of rain will damage the river for the boat races. The only feature of the rose show that might be hurt by the rain is the motor cycle races but as they are not scheduled to start until Friday afternoon there is plenty of time for the fair grounds track to dry off and the present indications are that the rain will even prove a benefit.

The weather men, official and otherwise, say that there must be good weather but anyway the 1914 Cherry Fair will be the biggest ever attempted in this city and the best one. Stanley Barton, now that he has his electrical parade idea under way, is devoting his time to the society circus and claims to have signed up an aggregation of equestrian stars that are unexcelled under canvas today. His trapeze performers have performed before crowned heads in various parts of the globe and the other features of the complete two ring circus are all first class.

Entries have begun to filter in for the numerous street sports and the baby show will assume unusual proportions from the early interest manifested by the mothers of the city. The eugenic contest in that it is a fore-runner to the big contest to be staged at the state fair this fall is attracting numerous entries and Miss Margaret Wishart, who has charge of the Eugenic contest has all the details arranged.

It is not necessary to enter the babies in the Eugenic contest before the date set for examination. The mothers may bring their babies on Thursday and Friday between the hours of 2 and 5 p. m., and will be presented with score cards and the babies will be examined by the physicians in charge.

JURY PROBE IS ON HEAD IS CRUSHED

RINGO SECURING EVIDENCE IS FOUND DYING ON STEPS

Alleged Gambling and Liquor Selling in Salem Will Be Carefully Looked Into by Jury Session of Grand Jury.

The grand jury which is investigating a number of cases that are to come up for trial in the July term of court is in session today. The last session of the grand jury cleaned up most of the cases and there are few to come before this body at this session.

Among the cases being investigated are:

State vs. H. H. Gilman, charged with passing a forged check on the Hotel Marion. Gilman is now in the county jail.

State vs. Albert Quartier, charged with burglary. The defendant made a confession implicating William Arin and Asa Tindall as accomplices. At the trial in the justice court he repudiated the confession and testified in behalf of the defendants.

State vs. Richard Schutte, charged with a criminal assault upon Mrs. Anna Vacator, who resides on a farm near Gervais. Andrew Vachter, husband of the complainant, hired the defendant to work for him on a farm. They were in Gervais at this time and it is alleged that they imbibed too freely before going home. Mrs. Vachter took a lantern to show the defendant where he was to sleep in the barn, and it is alleged that before getting to the barn he made the attack and then fled.

State vs. Martin Johnson, charged with shooting "Fighting Bill" Smith with intent to kill. The trouble arose over the ownership of some pigs in the neighborhood where the parties reside east of Silverton.

It is reported that there will also be some investigations of alleged gambling and illegal liquor selling in Salem and some reported sales of intoxicating liquor to minors by liquor dealers outside of this city.

Prosecuting Attorney Ringo has been collecting evidence in connection with the above cases and lining up witnesses who are being heard before the grand jury.

BLOODY FOOTPRINTS IN ROOM

Evidence That Body of Wealthy Stamford Resident Was Dragged From Apartment of Rich Widow.

Stamford, Conn., June 24.—Waldo Ballou, a wealthy resident of Stamford and a member of the city council, was found dying today at the door of an apartment occupied by Mrs. Helen Angel, a rich widow. He died soon afterward. His head had been crushed in with a heavy instrument.

From the steps in front of the fashionably Ripawan apartments, where Ballou was found, bloody footprints led to the woman's door. There also was evidence that the body had been dragged through the hallway and down the stairs from a point near Mrs. Angel's room. Mrs. Angel, who was arrested, denied all knowledge of Ballou's death. When she called to the door of her apartment after the body was found she professed to be greatly surprised. Beyond saying that Ballou left her home at 10 o'clock last night, Mrs. Angel refused to talk. She was held for the coroner's inquest.

Ballou's hat, smashed and bloody, was found in Mrs. Angel's apartment. The police also found a waist and a shirt, both covered with blood. The bloody prints, made by bare feet, were carefully measured. Bath Ballou and Mrs. Angel moved in the best society of Stamford, and his attention toward her was known to everyone.

By Alice Boha.

Stamford, Conn., June 24.—The bloody footprints leading to the door of Mrs. Helen Angel's suite in the fashionable Ripawan apartments here from the steps in front of which Alderman Waldo Ballou was found late Tuesday night, so badly injured from a blow on the head that he died soon afterward, were photographed microscopically today.

They were the prints of bare feet, small and with the marks of the balls and heels so plainly marked as to indicate that the person who left them was carrying a heavy load.

throned and that she will reign an efficient and gracious consort of King Bing there remains no doubt.

Miss Priscilla Fleming, who stood second in the Queen contest will attend as maid, and Miss Marie Bolinger, who presided as Queen for Salem's last Cherry Fair will be the other attendant, Miss Craig, who was asked to fill this position, being unable to do so.

The Queen's gown has been chosen, and was ordered by the U. G. Shipley Company from Portland. The foundation is of panne velvet, with long court train, the skirt displaying a front panel and inserts about the hem of beautiful Duchesse lace. This same lace also embellishes the bodice which is formed of the velvet and crepe chiffon. Brilliant garniture the bodice and combined with emeralds form striking ornaments for the front panel of the costume. The royal erwin is being constructed at the Meyers store, and the same robe that was worn last year will again be used.

FIERCE STORM TAKES TOLL OF LIVES IN GREAT MIDDLE WEST

300 Canoes Float Bottom Side Up After Tornado Travels Over Lake

MANY PERSONS ARE BELIEVED TO BE DEAD

Enormous Property Damage Is Done and Many Crops Are Ruined

Minneapolis, Minn., June 24.—Two persons were known today to have perished two were reported missing and it was feared there was a much larger death toll as the result of a tornado which struck Lake Calhoun last night.

In Minneapolis and its vicinity dozens also were injured in the storm. Property damage estimated at $100,000 was done.

The storm swept the lake at a time when 300 canoes were on its surface and after it passed many of them were found floating bottom upwards, waterlogged and empty or strewn along the shores. Of their occupants it was feared a considerable number were drowned.

Misses Esther Munson and Loretta Grams, whose bodies were recovered, were among the canoeists. Miss Grams' brother and a young woman named Kelly were unaccounted for and it was believed they perished.

Few Details Received.

St. Paul, Minn., June 24.—Enormous damage was done by the storm which swept northwestern South Dakota and Southern Minnesota Tuesday night. The telegraph service was so badly disorganized, however, that few details had been received today.

It was known, however, that many persons were hurt in the storm swept territory. At Watertown, S. D., it was said three of the injured would die. At Albert Lea, Minn., also three were badly hurt by falling trees.

St. Cloud, Rochester and Redwing, Minn., were among other towns which suffered severely.

Besides the persons injured all reports agreed that the damage to buildings and crops would run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

WILL NOT FORCE ISSUE

Judge Benson Is in the City Today and Declares He Is Several Votes in the Lead.

Judge Henry L. Benson, who is having the race of his life with Justice McNary for the nomination for the nomination for supreme judge on the Republican ticket arrived in this city today to check over the tally sheets of the primary election. Judge Benson says that with the counties of Harney, Malheur and Wallowa yet to be heard from on the recount that he is one vote ahead of Judge McNary after conceding his opponent 10 votes in error in Multnomah county. Judge Benson says he is willing to let matters work out in their own way and will not force the issue. He found the Marion county vote to be correct according to the official count.

In Salem precinct number 1, however, he found the three instances reported by County Clerk Gehlbar in which six marks had been marked in the squares and counted as five. One other was reported in Salem precinct number 13 and one in number 17. This would make five votes in favor of McNary if these instances were counted as six but Judge Benson says that there are 12 of these same instances in the Multnomah county tally sheets and that if they are counted in both cases that it will increase his lead seven votes. The judges of election, however, count each square as five and assume that where there are six marks in one square that the oblique mark was put on by mistake after five votes were counted.

Grand View, Wash., June 24.—Notified of his good fortune while working as a farm hand on the ranch of William Sayre, William McKenzie is en route to Wales today to claim an estate of $500,000 to which he fell heir.

Newberry and Sykes have purchased the barber shop formerly owned by Mr. Ivey.
