

Society

BY MOLLIE RUNCORN.

CLIPPING all other events of a social nature given in connection with the Cherry fair will be the Cherry fair ball, which will be staged on Court street, between Liberty and High streets, Saturday night.

The pavement will be put in splendid condition by the use of various preparations, and the inclosed space will be brilliantly illuminated with hundreds of electric lights arranged in clusters and in streamer effect.

A number of prominent society matrons have consented to be patronesses for the affair, their names and presence assuring substantially in assuring success for this event.

Their royal highness, King Bing and Queen Ann will lead the initial number, which will be either an old-fashioned quadrille or grand march. This will be participated in by the Rosarians of Portland and the Berrians and their ladies and members of the royal party, for whom the first few dances will be reserved. Later a welcome will be extended to all who wish to take part, music being rendered for the newer as well as the more conservative dances.

The Salem military band will assist in furnishing the musical program.

Miss Charlotte Geiger, of Portland, is the guest of Miss Mary Schultz during the cherry fair.

Miss Elsie Finlay, of Seattle, is visiting Mrs. James McEvoy for a few days.

Mrs. E. D. Phillips, of Silverton, spent Thursday in Salem.

Mr. Alvin Finlay, of Corvallis, spent Thursday in Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Apperson, daughter and son, of Corvallis, were guests of the Frank W. Durbin Sunday.

Charles Correll Saturday joined Mrs. Correll, who had been visiting relatives in Corvallis the past week. The family will reside in Corvallis.

Miss Jessie Kemp of Corvallis is the guest of relatives and friends during the Cherry fair.

Mrs. G. A. Nye, of Salem, was in Corvallis on an over-Sunday visit. She was the guest of Mrs. Billings.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Law to Mr. William S. Gulvin was celebrated at high noon yesterday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. E. M. Law, Rev. Carl F. Elliott, of the First Presbyterian church, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Boles, of Philomath, celebrated their forty-ninth wedding anniversary Sunday, surrounded by their children and grand-children. A musical program was enjoyed. Mrs. Ella B. Jones and Mrs. Elbert Thompson of Salem played a piano duet, Liszt's Second Rhapsody. The decorations were La France and Caroline Test-out roses. The party went out in autos in the afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Boles moved to Oregon in 1878 from Kansas. Surrounded by their children in their beautiful bungalow, they call Philomath "Jerusalem." Those present were: Mrs. Ella B. Jones of Portland; A. M. Gray, wife and sons, Donald, Alex and Joe; Manly Underhill, wife and daughter, Diana; John Underhill, B. H. Boles, wife and sons, Edwin and Herbert; Albany; Guy Frink and son, Virgil; Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Thompson, Salem; A. H. Rowe, wife and daughter, Kathryn, Salem; Arthur Boles, Philomath.

Commencement exercises will be concluded at Chemawa tomorrow with the meeting of the Chemawa Alumni association at 2:30 p. m., and the Alumni reception and banquet which will be given at 8 o'clock.

A number of small folk called at the home of Mrs. E. S. Budlong Monday afternoon, completely surprising Irene Thompson, of Turner, who is visiting her. Juvenile games were enjoyed and light refreshments served.

In the presence of a large number of friends and relatives, the wedding of Elton R. Bradley, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bradley, to Miss Gretchen Calkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Calkins, was solemnized last Tuesday night at the Ashbury Methodist church in Hood River. Miss Gretchen Calkins, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, while the bridegroom's sister, Miss Pearl Bradley, was bridesmaid. Mr. Bradley was accompanied by Waldo Mills, of Salem, who was best man. The ushers were Fred Bell, Clifford Ross, Carl Hollingsworth and J. B. C. Oakes, the latter two of Portland.

Rev. A. A. Moore entertained the small members of the First and Second grade classes of the Sacred Heart Academy Monday at St. Joseph's Hall. Dinner was served, by older girls of the school, and the time was pleasantly passed with games and general merrymaking.

Miss Ethel Thompson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Thompson, pioneers who resided in the Waldo Hills was married at high noon Wednesday, to Chester H. Wilks, at the home of the bride's brother, Harris Thompson who resides near Pratum. Rev. P. S. Knight performed the ceremony in the presence of thirty relatives and friends. Mr. Knight officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents thirty-eight years ago.

After a wedding dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Wilks left for their farm home nearby.

MRS. HELEN ANGLE IS WITNESS AT INQUEST

Woman Still Hysterical and Sobs on Witness Stand in Effort to Tell the Story of Bloody Footprints in House.

By Alice Robe.

Stamford, Conn., June 25.—Mrs. Helen Angle, from whose suite in the fashionable Bipsawan apartments a trail of bloody footprints led to the doorsteps on which Alderman Waldo Ballou, a rich Stamford citizen, was found dying from a wound in the head Tuesday night, was the principal witness at the inquest today.

She was still in so hysterical a state that it was difficult for her to testify. She declared sobbingly, however, that she wanted to tell everything.

Mrs. Angle was held without bail. She was so nervous and hysterical that it proved impossible for her to testify, however, and finally she was excused, to be recalled later.

In prison, where she was held without bail, she grew calmer later and gave out the following statement:

"Alderman Ballou came to see me in response to my request, by telephone. During the evening he left my suite for a time and when he came back said he had had a drink. I swear I did not drink anything.

"When, at last, he bade me good night, I went to my room and had taken off my shoes and stockings preparatory to retiring. After I had done so I heard the sound of a fall. Running into the hall, I saw Alderman Ballou at the foot of the stairs.

"I ran to him, thinking at first that he ought to have fresh air, for I did not realize that he was fatally hurt. In the effort to get him into the air I carried or dragged him through the front door.

"Then I went to pieces. Something snapped inside of me. I remember nothing definitely.

"It is a cruel falsehood to say another man was involved in it. How could it have been a case of jealousy?"

"Waldo Ballou would turn over in his grave if he knew they had put me in jail. He was my best friend in the world."

Charges of Deceit and Misconduct Are Made Against Lawyers--May Be Disbarred

Two complaints were filed in the supreme court this morning by the grievance committee of the Oregon bar association, asking the disbarment of two members of the bar for conduct unbecoming as attorneys and unprofessional conduct. One is against C. W. Garland of Portland.

The grievance committee is composed of John McCourt, of Portland; John H. McNary, of Salem; O. P. Coshov, of Grants Pass; Loring K. Adams and Alfred Hampton, of Portland.

It sets out in its charges that said Garland, who is a member of the Oregon bar, has been guilty of deceit and misconduct in his profession, and specifically charges that he was appointed special attorney for the state of Oregon in proceedings brought to escheat to the state the property of Charles Scheller, deceased, then in process of administration in Multnomah county. That as such attorney and representative of the state he received from F. S. Fields, county clerk of Multnomah county, a check on the Merchants National bank, of Portland, payable to him, for the sum of $709.57, the same being money arising out of the escheat proceedings and belonging to the state of Oregon. That he deposited the same in the bank in his own name and corruptly converted the same to his own use. That he refused and still refuses to turn the same over to the state. That he was given an opportunity to explain his actions by the grievance committee and appeared before it but wholly failed to satisfactorily explain his conduct. That these acts constitute flagrant and willful misconduct on the part of said Garland, and that by reason thereof he has forfeited all rights to appear before this or any other of the courts of Oregon and that he should be cited to appear and show cause why he should not be disbarred from practice in this state, and the record purged of his name.

The other complaint is against Robert G. Smith, a prominent lawyer of Grants Pass and an active politician. He was a few years ago a member of the legislature from that section. The complaint charges that Smith in October, 1905, as attorney for the Cleopatra Development company, a mining company, falsely represented that the sum of $575 was necessary to pay for advertising in connection with procuring title to certain mining claims, and that said sum was sent him by James D. Lacey for the company. That the said sum was not needed nor was any sum greater than $60 so needed. That Smith sent Lacey a receipt for the money purporting to come from the paper in which said advertising was done, when in fact no advertising of any kind had been done. That on the fifth day of September, 1906, Smith represented to Lacey that the filing fees would be $250, which sum was sent him, but that said fees were in fact only $10 and that Smith converted the remaining $240 to his own use. On the eighth day of November, 1906, Smith notified Lacey that the sum of $275 was needed to pay the purchase price of said claims which he sent him. That Smith took no proper steps to perfect title to said claims, and failed to perform any services for said company, but converted said $275 to his own use, and still refuses to account therefor. Later suit was brought by the company against Smith and by stipulation judgment was taken for the sum of $4,130 against Smith and in favor of the company, with the understanding that if Smith paid the sum of $2,500 before October 30, 1913, the judgment was to be cancelled. This has not been paid. The committee asks that Smith be cited to appear and show cause why he should not be disbarred.

NOTED MAN IS DEAD.
San Diego, Cal., June 25.—Stricken with apoplexy at the wheel of his automobile on the National City Dyke at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, L. C. Miles, 58 years old, organizer and first president of the Good year Rubber company, for many years chairman of the Ohio republican central committee and for the last few years a director of the San Diego chamber of commerce, died today at the Agnew hospital in this city.

ROOSEVELT CONFERES WITH PARTY LEADERS

Politics Is Subject of Discussion at Sagamore Hill--Colonel Feels Well in Spite of Fever Attacks on Trip.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 25.—Colonel Roosevelt, George W. Perkins and Douglas Robinson, the colonel's brother-in-law, concluded a conference at Sagamore Hill early today which was continued uninterrupted from late Wednesday.

It was considered a foregone conclusion that politics was a topic of their discussion.

Despite the two attacks of fever from which he suffered on the steamship Imperator, which brought him into New York yesterday, the colonel professed to feel and looked in much better health than when he left to attend his son Kermit's wedding in Madrid.

SALEM HEIGHTS HAPPENINGS.
Miss Mamie Carlton of Jerome, Idaho, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. F. A. Thompson.

Mrs. M. Richardson, of Portland, and Mrs. J. Whitehead, of St. Louis, are visiting at the Sawyers.

A meeting will be held at the hall, Wednesday, July 1, 2:00 p. m., to arrange for a neighborhood picnic July 4. Those interested please be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Pascoe and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Morris spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. Heckman of Rosefield.

Mrs. Hunt of Portland is spending the week with Mrs. J. A. McClain.

Mr. Victor Minkler has returned to this neighborhood from Washington. The young folks welcome him back--especially the young ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Lafountain and children, of Deer Island, are visiting relatives.

The young ladies gave a linen shower for Miss Ethel Law last Thursday at the home of the Misses Martha and Olga Wikberg. The rooms were beautifully decorated with wild orange blossoms. Those present were: Misses Ethel Law, Leora Morris, Doris Sawyer, Ruth Woodard, Josie Himsley, Gail Smith, Martha Wikberg, Nellie Tachudi, Martha Woodard, Olga Wikberg, Clara Miller, Alice Riens and Maggie Tachudi.

The Ladies' Aid met with Mrs. F. A. Thompson in her charming home. The afternoon was spent in sewing. After a dainty lunch, they adjourned for four weeks to meet with Mrs. Fred Thompson.

EVIDENCE SHOWS THEFTS AMONG MILITIAMEN

Preliminary Hearing of Former Quartermaster Michael Schuh Brings Out Fact That Others Involved in Thefts.

Portland, Ore., June 25.—Several additional arrests of members of the state militia were expected late today or tomorrow as a result of evidence brought out in the preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner H. Drake of Michael Schuh, quartermaster sergeant of a company of the Third regiment, O. N. G., charged with embezzling government property, and involving others in a series of thefts of army equipment.

Schuh was arrested Saturday and at the same time J. G. Lee, a farmer living near Hillsboro was taken into custody charged with receiving stolen government property.

Accoutrements of nearly every local national guard company which is loaned to the state by the war department is missing to a more or less extent, the experts showed.

EXPERTS TO STUDY SYSTEM.
Portland, Ore., June 25.—Every phase of the telephone business is to be studied by experts of the Washington and Oregon railroad commissions and of the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph company, according to indications from a conference between members of the two commissions and representatives of the company which opened here today.

The relation of one exchange to another of business and residence telephones, of local and toll property and of expenses, including original cost, and telephone rates, are among the items to be considered.

CLUBS MUST CEASE SELLING LIQUOR AFTER 1:00 O'CLOCK
Seattle, Wash., June 25.—Chief of Police Austin Griffiths today served notice on the principal clubs of the city, including the Press club, Rainier club, Arctic club and Elks club, that the practice of selling liquor after 1:00 a. m. and on Sundays must stop at once.

Griffiths believes the clubs will take action and stop the practice on their own accord. If they won't, he says he will take steps against them.

At present it is easy for even non-members who have friends in the clubs to obtain a drink at any time of the day or night.

FOUR SALOONS ARE CLOSED.
Rainier, Ore., June 25.—Four of the five saloons in Rainier closed their doors today as the result of the city council's action recently in refusing them licenses.

The Cramer saloon secured an injunction from Judge Gatenstein restraining the city council from interfering with his business and will continue in operation pending further developments.

The Markets

There is a little trading in wheat as farmers are beginning to accept the reports of tremendous crops and the meeting the expected lower prices. The trading, however, is still light for the season. A good part of the buying reported is in Yamhill county, where sales of club are reported on a tide-water basis of 80 cents. There is some demand for Oriental delivery, but the market is unsettled and light, and will remain in that condition for some time yet.

There is a strong demand for Oregon hop contracts at 15 cents, but growers are disposed to hang off, and there is but little doing. The spot market is blocked. A California wire reported 15 1/2 cents offered for Senonans. Crop conditions in the state are up to the average and with warmth and sunshine a good yield is assured. Onion prices are advancing and a number of California buyers are reported as seeking contracts in Oregon.

New potatoes are coming in plentifully and steady at 2 cents. Old potatoes are quoted at 50 cents, but are in fact not quotable, being practically out of the market. The poultry market is strong with light receipts. Hens are quoted at 14 1/2 to 15 cents and broilers at 20 cents. Eggs are going up, 23 cents being the ruling price, with 25 cents for candled.

Villa having taken Zacatecas, it was argued, the rebels were extremely likely to consider that their cause was won and that it would be better for them to push on with their campaign and take everything than to make even slight concessions.
Indeed, it did not appear that the "A. R. C." mediators had received definite assurances from Carranza that he would send representatives to the work from his negotiations were at a standstill.
"If the constitutionalists do come," said Brazilian Ambassador Da Gama of the mediation board, "mediation will be a big success."

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Usefulness Of Knowing How to Swim.

DADDY thought that all children should learn how to swim when they were very young. Then they would never be afraid of the water afterward. He had a story to tell the children that proved his point.

"You must begin your swimming lessons," said daddy to Evelyn.

"and Jack will help you, for he really is a fine swimmer."

Jack looked very much pleased to hear that, for he had only learned how to swim the previous summer.

"I heard," continued daddy, "about a little girl who yesterday saved her smaller sister because she could swim."

"This little girl's sister had gone with another small friend of hers to look for wild strawberries. They had wandered along through a field and had found a great many. The two children thought they would like to go down by the bank of the river where they had heard there were a great many berries."

"They found just as many as they thought they would and were having a beautiful time when they decided that they would take off their shoes and stockings and go in wading. This they did and enjoyed the cool water and standing on the slippery stones."

"Now, although this river was very narrow and looked very shallow, there were one or two places where there were deep holes, and for that reason both children had been forbidden to go in wading, but they thought it would be all right 'just for once'."

"Alas, one of them, the sister of the little girl I am going to tell you about, slipped from one of the stones and fell right into one of the deep holes."

"Luckily her sister was with another friend in the field of strawberries. When she heard her little sister's voice calling for help she went down the bank in a jiffy."

"Quickly she jumped into the river and with two good long strokes reached her little sister just as she was about to go down for the third time."

"And back to the bank she swam with her. Of course it was only a few strokes' work, but still she was able to swim, and so she saved her little sister's life. The other little girl had stood on the bank, screaming with fear, not being able to do anything."

"Other sports are lots of fun, but not much more fun than swimming. It is one of the most useful of all sports because of the safety it assures."

"Yes," said Jack, "and we will teach Evelyn to swim. We will not try to scare her, so she may learn more quickly. Oh, Evelyn, you will simply love it!" added Jack, with great enthusiasm.

MAN AND WOMAN DISAPPEAR—WARRANT IS OUT
Oakland, Cal., June 25.—A warrant was out today for R. B. Moody, manager of a local advertising device company, making a statutory charge against him in connection with a woman who was said to have disappeared with him.

According to Mrs. Moody, who swore out the warrant, she has known for months of the relations between her husband and his alleged affinity, who, she declared, was an advocate of free love and insisted that it was proper for Moody to continue intimacy with two women.

While Mrs. Moody, a college graduate, apparently acquiesced for a time in such arrangement, she finally grew doubtful of its propriety and appealed to the police.

Inspectors Kyle and Wallman spread a net for Moody, but, according to their report, his wife weakened at the last moment and warned him. She was quoted to the effect that he believed implicitly the "other woman" is his soul mate, whom he met in a previous spiritual existence.

HIGH WINDS CAUSE FAILURE.
Lone Pine, Cal., June 25.—High winds in the upper air made Aviator Silas Christofferson fail today in his attempt to fly over Mount Whitney. He fell short by a margin of about 1,500 feet. He said he would try again, however, hoping to establish an American altitude record.
