WAR CORRESPONDENT MAY BE SHIPPED OUT

Wrote a Story About a Naval Squad from American Fleet Being Killed Under Mexican Law, "Ley de Fuga"

Chicago, July 10.—A story he wrote stating that the "Ley de fuga" was applied by a naval squad from the American warships during the battle at the occupation of Vera Cruz, was the cause for the arrest at the Mexican port of Frederick I. Boalt, correspondent of the Newspaper Enterprise association, who was held today technically under arrest, "in quarters," according to an announcement by the war department.

Boalt called as that the information for this article was given him by a number of naval officers. As far as known it has not yet been charged that the article was false, but under regulations governing correspondents, the war department may arrest and deport any one publishing matter that does not meet the approval of the American authorities at Vera Cruz.

JUMP OFF JOE PART OF PUBLIC HIGHWAY

The state land board has ruled that the barren rock called Jump-Off Joe is on the state highway and hence comes under the jurisdiction of the state officers. Hence District Attorney Stewart of Lincoln county may proceed on the authority of the state land board to remove present advertising and prevent any more being put on.

A man's faith in his judgment gets a rebuke every time he steps up a step that isn't there.

The county clerk's office is mailing out the warrants for work done on the roads and bridges of the county today. In all, some 1300 warrants will be sent out and the sum of $25,281.68 expended for road work during the month of June.

H. F. McInturf, Albert Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. E. Collins, who have been fishing and camping on the Big Xotueca for the past few weeks, have returned to Salem. They arrived in the city yesterday evening and reported they had a pleasant trip on the coast. Plenty of fish and fresh air made the outing ideal.

Mrs. Edith Tozier Weathered, who is doing work for the Oregon State fair, accompanied by Mrs. M. E. Shafroth, chairman of the child's welfare committee for the State fair, called on Secretary Frank Meredith this afternoon at the fair grounds. Mrs. Shafroth has a splendid program planned for the child's welfare department of the fair. She returns this evening to Portland, while Mrs. Weathered will remain in Salem several days.

Attorney James G. Heltzel of Salem has returned from a trip to Eugene, where he appeared in a suit for damages against the chief of police for Eugene. Damages were asked against the chief for $10,000 for malicious arrest without cause in arresting the proprietor of a lodging house and breaking into the rooms occupied by guests.

Jim Chung, patriarch among the Salem Chinese, is engaged in varnishing the floor of the auditorium of the promotion department of the Salem Commercial club. He is also engaged in doing cleaning up work in general. Jim bends his back like a veteran painter and fancy decorator.

Ralph Moores, secretary of the promotion department of the Salem Commercial club, has sent 69 letters to all parts of the United States in reply to inquiries sent in by persons interested in securing Willamette valley land, a location here, and the business conditions in general. The letters were bona fide inquiries from potential settlers who were feeling about for a permanent location. The inquiries were answered by personal letters from the secretary and by literature descriptive of the valley and city. These letters and the replies sent are open to the inspection of the real estate men of the city. By the use of the files the dealers in land are able to secure a line on possible purchasers.

The Capital Journal office brightened visibly this morning when an old-time Salem boy, "Johnny" Cochrane, let the light of his countenance shine for a minute in it. He was with the Oregonian a long time after leaving the Capital Journal and is now in the county clerk's office in Multnomah county.

A marriage license was issued today to A. Roscoe Tartar and Mae E. Horner. Mr. Tartar is a railroad employe of Corvallis and Miss Horner is a resident of this city.

To find out where the cheap lands of the Willamette valley are located, the officers of the promotion department of the Salem Commercial club are beginning an investigation and listing all lands that are comparatively cheap and within the reach of the man of moderate means. The purpose of this work is to put into the hands of arrivals in Oregon a list of places through which they can secure suitable locations.

There will be a meeting of members of the Wisconsin association at the office of D. Webster, in Murphy block, on Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock. Let there be a good attendance. Daniel Webster, president.
An order was issued today by Judge Bushey, appointing N. C. Kauffry guardian of Edwin and Irene Kauffry, minors. The children have an estate valued at $541 and are aged 11 and 9, respectively. The father, Harry Kauffry, is deceased, having died in the state of Idaho some years ago.
The Oregon Electric Railway company has filed some new rates on coke and coal into the Willamette valley, which carry a substantial reduction over the old rates. These rates are in force between the coal mines at Fairfax and Wilkinson, in eastern Washington, and Willamette valley points. The rates go into effect on August 6. The rate on a long ton of coke to Salem under the new rate is $2.55, or 34 cents per ton lower than formerly. To Albany the rate is $2.95, a reduction of 37 cents; to Eugene $3.55, or 22 cents lower. The rates on coal are practically the same except that coal is carried by the short ton, or 2,000 pounds. The reductions in the rate on coal are proportional to the reductions on the rates on coke.
An argument favoring the eight-hour law for women wage workers was filed with the secretary of state today by the Eight-hour league. This argument will be printed in the pamphlet to be distributed among the voters of the state before the next election. Each of the proposed initiative measures will probably be accompanied by arguments for and against. Another argument favoring the proposed one-fourth of a mill tax to maintain the Ashland normal school was filed today.

Saturday. She has been at Mount Angel about a week.
After the rush of travel over the Oregon Electric during the Fourth of July, the Rose festival and Cherry fair has quieted down somewhat, it has been found that the travel records for this year during the same period shows a material increase over the same period last year. The increase has been gratifying to the railroad authorities and shows the popularity of the electric road. The freight department is also showing an increase as the months go by and is correspondingly greater than last year at the same period.
Frieda Spitzbart, bookkeeper at the Rodgers Paper company, leaves next week for a vacation period at Newport. She expects to be absent from the city about two weeks. She will be accompanied to the beach by her sister, Esther Spitzbart.
Loganberries of the finest quality ever raised in the Willamette valley are coming in to the Salem Fruit union. While the quality is first-class the quantity for several reasons is not as large as usual. One of the reasons is that the vines have not borne the usual number of berries, and this condition is due to the warmth of the season, which prevents the growth and development of the baby berry. With cooler weather the berries could grow larger and fuller.
From Sequim, Washington state, comes a letter to the Salem Iron works asking information concerning the loganberry industry of Oregon, and the marketing and cultivation of the berry. The letter, which was from Keeler & Mortland, asked particularly about a berry dryer that the iron works is manufacturing. It said that the Sequim country was great for raising berries of the black and logan varieties, and wanted to get onto the methods of the Oregon people in regard to its cultivation.

State Forester Elliott returned today from Portland, where he was present at a conference of railroad and government officials to talk over the matter of patrolling the railroad lands now under litigation. There are 1,800,000 acres of these lands to which the title is now pending in the courts. They were formerly patrolled by the railroad company but since the ownership is now questioned and the decision of Judge Werten holds that they are the property of the state, the railroad company has discontinued the fire patrol. The matter is now before congress. The senate has already appropriated $25,000 for patrolling the lands and until the matter is threshed out in the house the officials will maintain a watchful waiting policy.
Miss Gertrude Tasto, who has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Britzski, for the past week at Mount Angel, is expected to return to Salem

The Depot Hotel, half a block south of the Southern Pacific depot, will be opened for business Saturday, under the direction of Mr. F. J. Goodenough, a hotel man of much experience.
