SEÑOR MOHENO TO TELL ALL HE KNOWS

Is Going to Enlighten Bewighted America As To the True Situation in Mexico—One of Huerta's Cabinet.

(By William G. Sheperd.)

Vera Cruz, Mexico, July 10.—Mexican ex-Foreign Minister Moheno, on board the steamship Espagne in Vera Cruz harbor today denied that President Huerta was to blame for the late President Madero's death.

"I know who killed Madero," he asserted, "and as soon as I reach New York, I will tell about it."

Moheno declared also that while in the foreign office, he learned Colonel Roosevelt "has a secret plank in the progressive platform providing for Mexico's division into four or five parts."

He insisted that the democrats and republicans believe in the same principle, adding: "Francisco Escudero, Carranza's foreign minister, showed me letters from America proving Roosevelt has such a secret plank."

"Carranza's revolution has triumphed," went on the fugitive ex-minister, "but America will soon learn that while it may put him in power in Mexico, it can't keep him there."

"While President Wilson has been occupied with high ideals ten thousand Mexicans have been killed in the past six months. Figure out the cost of idealism. I am going to New York to tell the public about this through books and lectures."

"The American government is sorry it ever landed troops in Vera Cruz. Why are American soldiers there? It isn't because Mexico did not salute the American flag. No, it is because politicians of all the parties in the United States are planning to control all of Central America to the Panama canal and to divide Mexico into small, easily controlled republics."

"Huerta is defeated and Wilson has conquered—but the end is not yet. Bandits will foment another revolution which Carranza will have a terrible time in quelling. I am not going to start a revolution myself. It will grow of its own accord."

THIRTY THOUSAND ELKS IN RE-UNION

Capture the Inspector and Declare They Will Hold Him Until Food and Water is Provided for Them.

Vancouver, B. C., July 10.—The 332 Hindus on board the steamship Komagate Mar declare they are famishing with hunger and thirst, and this morning they sent a letter to their counsel, J. Edward Bird, pleading for food and water.

Late yesterday afternoon, Chief Inspector of Immigration Malcolm R. J. Reid went on board with several immigration officials to hold a board of enquiry, when the Hindus became uncontrollable and began rioting.

In desperation the irate Hindus surrounded Reid and told him they intended to keep him on board as a pledge that they would be supplied with

Daddy's Bedtime

Bad Dreams Story — That Happen Under Bedclothes.

DADDY had always told both Jack and Evelyn that they must never put the sheets or blankets over their heads after they went to bed. For it was very dangerous, and they might get suffocated in their sleep that way.

He had heard a story about a little child who really did have a pretty bad time of it once just because she had the habit of covering up her head after she went to bed and then falling asleep that way.

"You know, children, I have always told you how dangerous I thought it was to cover up your heads in bed?" said daddy.

"Yes," both the children quickly replied.

"Well," continued he, "today I was told a story which I certainly must tell to you.

"There was once a little girl who used to cover her head when she went to bed. Her daddy had often told her that he thought it was very dangerous and that people could get into the habit of doing it.

"She used to do it a great deal, but after she got to sleep at night her daddy would always pull the sheets off her head.

"One night, though, after her daddy had left the room, she pulled the sheets over her head.

"And then came the dreams. Oh, such dreams as they were! Awful creatures came to her, shook their fists and told her what a bad little girl she was. She was so frightened, and she felt as if she had been glued to something and could not run away from the awful creatures.

"Then the creatures began playing ball with her, and she could hardly catch her breath, they seemed to be throwing her so very, very quickly.

"Oh, it got to be really dreadful! The awful creatures did just as they wanted with her. They played ball with her, and she always seemed to be underneath, having all the breath knocked out of her body and putting for breath without being able to help herself, when suddenly a lovely cool fairy seemed to come and take all these awful creatures off and to leave her in peace.

"She was very, very tired from her wretched time, but once more she felt like a little girl instead of a hunted, tortured sort of animal.

"The next morning she told her daddy of what had happened. She assured him, too, that she would never again pull the sheets over her head, for she had never had such a dreadful night in all her life. And, too, the fairies were not always around. They might be having a party any night, for fairies must play sometimes, although they do so much good too."

provisions and water. Reid objected to being held as a hostage, and Inspector Hopkinson, getting as interpreter, attempted to pacify the Orientals. He was unsuccessful, however. Howls from the ringleaders fanned the flames and some of the rioters drew revolvers and many flourished sticks and rusty swords. For several minutes there appeared to be abundant chance of serious trouble on the steamship, but the coolness of the white men assuaged the turmoil but did not restore order until the city police were aboard the vessel.

Many have been grateful to the Journal Want Columns for the return of lost articles of value.

A PERSISTENT FIREBUG.

Eugene, July 10.—After apparently having been set afire four times in 24 hours by unknown incendiaries, a small dwelling near Fourth and Pearl streets was totally burned yesterday, entailing a loss of about $500. Today's fire for a time threatened the Booth-Kelly lumber yards, immediately adjacent.

The house was discovered on fire two times yesterday and again at midnight last night. The owner was awakened during the third fire by the crying of his baby and found the flames crackling above him. Each of the first three fires was extinguished with a garden hose. Today the house was totally destroyed.

TREATHS FRIGHTEN TROTT.

San Francisco, July 10.—Threats of death or bodily harm brought to him in a letter, following assaults on the street, today drove Gilbert E. Trott to the police for protection.

Three times recently, Trott said, he had been assaulted by thugs, though he has no enemies and has wronged no one.

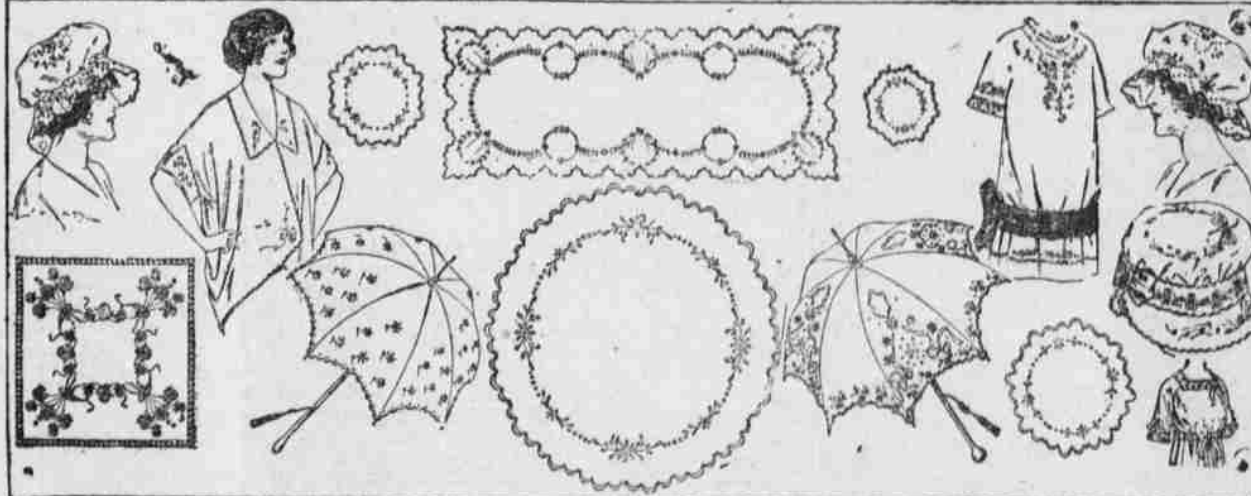

The letter Trott received, read in part: "The first time I see you I will beat your head off. Any man who will get the best of an innocent girl ought to get his head knocked off. So get ready for a good beating."

A case of mistaken identity, was the only solution Trott could offer.
