IT IS AN OFF YEAR FOR ALL THE LEAGUES

Expert Says One Reason of This Is There Was Too Much Flowery Baseball Talk During Winter.

TAIL-ENDERS AND LEADERS BUNCHED

New York and Cleveland Wages Hot Fight for Cellular Championship—Carpenter 5 to 4 Favorite.

(By Hall Sheridan)

New York, July 14.—Entering the last half of the big league baseball season a general survey of the field today confirms the belief that this is an "off year" for the National past time. Four of the highest races in baseball history—the National, American, Federal and Pacific Coast—are not producing the returns which ordinarily might be expected from such keen competition. At least five clubs have a chance to win the pennant in any of the four races, and six are in the running in all but the National and Pacific Coast. Boston and Oakland, respectively, are generally agreed to be out of it this year.

Several reasons are attributed. Too much baseball talk in the winter months is one. The raids by the Federalists kept the fans interested for a time but they soon wearied of reading about the fancy salaries offered to players and immense profits made by the magnates. They began to feel that baseball was too highly commercialized, and that there was no longer any such thing as a "home" team.

Each Has a Chance.

Every club in the American league has a chance at the pennant except possibly New York and Cleveland, which latter are putting up a desperate battle between themselves for the cellar championship. The Cubs are close on the heels of the Giants in the National; only about a dozen games separate the leaders and tail enders in the Federal league, and in the Pacific Coast league every club except possibly Oakland has a chance. Less than 100 points separate Sacramento, next to last and Los Angeles, the present league leaders.

Los Angeles club had rejected an offer from a big league magnate of $12,000 for his sensational young pitcher, "Boy Bob" Ehmske. Cal Ewing said he had seen a telegram making the offer.

"The offer came for immediate delivery, however," Berry said. "I could not afford to lay myself open to criticism by selling Ehmske in the middle of a hot fight for the pennant. It would hurt the game and people would say I was simply out for the money."

Berry admitted that it was practically settled that Ehmske, if he continued to develop, would go to the Washington Americans in the fall.

Want Drafting Stopped.

San Francisco, July 14.—President A. T. Baum of the Pacific Coast league, and Frank Leavitt of the Oakland club were at work today drafting a resolution demanding that the major leagues cancel their right of draft from the Coast league. This action was authorized at a full meeting of the league directors late yesterday and Baum and Leavitt were named as a committee to draw up a resolution for the elimination of the draft privilege as a preliminary step toward final recognition of the Coast league as a major organization.

Attendance Is Light.

All the directors of the league were present as follows: W. W. McCredie, Portland; Henry Berry, Los Angeles; Hap Hogan, Venice; Harry Wolverson and Lloyd Jacobs, Sacramento; Frank Leavitt, Oakland, and J. Cal Ewing, San Francisco.

According to President Baum, the adoption of the resolution was the only business transacted at the special meeting. He said the executive session which lasted from noon until after 4 o'clock, simply discussed "general business," but what this "general business" was no one would explain. Doubtless, however, financial matters were threshed out. It is no secret that the attendance at the games all over the circuit this year has not been up to expectations. If any plans were outlined for improving conditions, they were carefully guarded.

San Francisco, July 14.—As an aftermath of the special meeting of Coast league directors here, it developed today that President Henry Berry of the

CLATSOP TO MAKE A SPLENDID EXHIBIT

Many Leading Firms Make Public Their Intention to Put Astoria's Products Before State Fair Visitors.

Astoria, Ore., July 11.—Astoria and Clatsop county will make a full exhibit of their industries at the State Fair held at Salem, September 23 to Oct. 3, inclusive.

G. W. Stubblebine, manager of its Manufactures and Food Products exhibits reports a full representation of Clatsop county exhibits and is delightedly surprised at the spirit in which the commercial club and the individual manufacturers and food producers cooperated with him to make a creditable showing of Clatsop county's resources.

Reporter Is Found Guilty of Extortion

Newspaper Correspondent Blackmailed German Contractors, Is In Turn Blackmailed by Japs and Finally Lands in Jail.

Tokio, July 14.—Andrew M. Pooley, an Englishman, former correspondent here for Reuters Telegram company, the big British news gathering agency, was found guilty today of extorting money from German contractors accused of bribing Japanese naval officers, and sentenced to two years imprisonment. He appealed.

VETERAN TWIRLER OF THE "ATHLETICS," WHO IS AGAIN ABLE TO PITCH

"Jack" Coombs, veteran twirler of the Athletics and idol of the fans, has at last been permitted by the club physician to take a regular turn on the slab. This is not only good news to fandom, but also to "Connie" Mack, whose present pitching staff is none too strong.

Warren (Lam) Co., of Warrenton will make an exhibit of its minced clams and clam nectar. Captain Sigurdson is enthusiastic over exhibiting his famous Razor Brand clams. He has already won several medals, one at St. Louis fair and one at the Lewis & Clark fair. This cannery is the oldest of its kind in Oregon.

The Booth Fisheries company will make an exhibit at the fair that will be a credit to this company the county and state; the nature of this exhibit remains a secret for the present.

The Hammond Lumber company, the largest lumber manufacturing concern in Oregon, will present an exhibit as only this company can. This company represents and means much to Astoria and the state.

There are still a few industries that should be represented at the fair, to make Clatsop's exhibit complete. Mr. Stubblebine will close his allotted space Saturday and if any one still desires space he should communicate with Mr. Stubblebine at once, at the Weinhart hotel.

MEDIATION ALONE CAN PREVENT STRIKE

More Than 150,000 Miles of Railroad Will Be Tied Up Unless Settlements Reached Through Mediation.

Chicago, July 14.—A committee representing 80,000 employees of western railroads was scheduled to serve on the railroad managements today an ultimatum involving a number of demands, among which higher pay and shorter hours were known to be the most important. It was expected the railroads would appeal to Secretary of Labor Wilson for mediation under the Newlands acts. The understanding was that this would be satisfactory to the employees. In the event, however, of an unqualified rejection of their demands, without a mediation proposition, the men were prepared to strike, tying up 150,000 miles of railroad.

Sloughing off its parasites continues to be one of society's chief occupations.

By A. M. Corrigan.

Red McGhee says:

By all the rules of ol' man Hoyle a feller by the name o' Doyle should make a hit with me. There's somethin' 'bout that good ol' name that sounds as if it might a come from somewhere near McGhee, since a big Dan Brouthers saw him go in Springfield seven years ago he's been a Giant star. His first year up he turned right to an' showed 'em he knew what to do to push his stock 'hoop par. He's captain now an' 'goin' great—a vet, b'gosh, at twenty-eight—the infield keystone man. Day in, day out he does good every time almost, with Mr. Timey Soice. He's got the power behind his stick to turn the two an' three base trick—this port-side son of elout. The rep he's made can't ever spoil, we'll joff our bids to Larry Doyle long after Time yells: "Out!"

PITCHER IS MISSING.

San Francisco, July 14.—The whereabouts of Pitcher Elmer Koestner, purchased from Cincinnati by the Venice club, was a mystery today. Several telegrams sent to Koestner remained unanswered, and Manager Hogan, before leaving for Los Angeles, admitted that he feared the Federalists were flirting with his newly hired man. However, if Koestner fails to report, Hogan will not lose anything financially, as it was stipulated that no money would change hands until after the player reports at Venice.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 14.—Charles E. Divilbiss and Leslie Reagan, his son-in-law, are dead today, victims of the anger of Reagan, who had come from Arizona to see his sick wife and attend a birthday party in honor of his 7 year old daughter.

Reagan shot and killed Divilbiss late yesterday following a quarrel about financial matters and then shot himself.

Mrs. Reagan said to be near death, lay in an adjoining room when the shooting occurred.

ALL BETS ARE OFF AS SHE WILL MARRY NO MORE

San Bernardino, Cal., July 14.—Firm declaration that she will never marry again was made here today by Mrs. Martha J. Adams, aged 71, following the granting of a decree of divorce from Thomas B. Adams, whom she married 40 years ago.

"I've had the married life I want," Mrs. Adams added.

Before a superior court judge Mrs. Adams testified that her husband had abused and neglected her and finally left her.
