FOUR TONS OF GOLD HAULED ON TRUCK

First National Bank of Portland Moves Pile of Gold to Its New Location—Tons of Coin Yet to Move.

Portland, Ore., July 23.—Guarded by uniformed patrolmen, plain clothes men and bank clerks in large numbers, $2,400,000 in gold coin was removed yesterday from the vaults of the First National bank in its old building at First and Washington streets, to its new quarters in the Corbett building with the Security Savings & Trust bank, which is to be merged with it next week.

The gold, four tons of it, was all transferred in one wagon load. The hauling was done in an ordinary large furniture van. Though the canvas sacks which held the money made a layer that didn't quite cover the floor of the van, the three horses strained mightily at their collars to move the precious load.

After the coin had been loaded aboard the van, three policemen, a couple of plain clothes men and about half a ton of bank clerks piled in after it. Ed Shearer, another of the bank's employes, climbed on the roof of the van and rode there.

Though all the bank clerks were not armed, some of them were, for the butt of a big revolver stuck out of one man's coat pocket. Except for the unusual spectacle of blue coated policemen and so many bank clerks riding in a furniture van, the load of gold would not have attracted any attention as it was drawn through the streets on the six blocks' haul to its new quarters.

The loading of the gold on the van at the old building and its unloading before the vaults of the Security Bank was a simple enough operation. The van was backed to the sidewalk, in front of a side door, leading to the vaults of the First National. A dozen bank employes, working under the direction of John W. Newkirk, the veteran cashier of the First National, who is to retire on three-fourths pay for life after the merger becomes effective next Monday, formed an almost continuous line from the vaults to the van. Each man carried a couple of sacks of gold coin. Policemen stood by the door and at the opening in the van and kept the crowd of interested bystanders from getting too close.

This operation was repeated at the unloading. The whole transfer didn't take more than an hour.

There is still between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 in gold and silver coin in the First National's vaults. Of this, about $1,000,000 is the regular business supply of each. It is all to be moved to the Security vaults next Saturday. At that time also the bank's furnishings will be transferred. The First National Bank and Security Savings & Trust company will open as the First National bank at the new quarters at 10 o'clock next Monday morning.

Most of the gold transferred yesterday was part of the gold reserve of the First National Bank, which is required to be kept on hand.

BECKEY AFTER RECORD AND PANKHURST LAURELS

New York, July 23.—More than seventy hours without food and still going strong was the record today of Beckey Edelson, on hunger strike in Blackwell's island prison, following her arrest in Union Square here several days ago for inciting a riot during an I. W. W. meeting.

Dr. Katherine David, commissioner of corrections, said unless the prisoner consented to take food in the meantime she would be forcibly fed tomorrow.

WILL GIVE BOALT CASE A FAIR SHAKE

Reporter's Statement Must Be Fully Investigated, Says Secretary Daniels—Probably Nothing in His Story.

Washington, July 23.—Charges by Correspondent Frederiek L. Boalt of the Newspaper Enterprise association that he was unfairly treated in the recent naval inquiry at Vera Cruz which declared unfounded his allegation that American forces fired upon fleeing Mexicans during the military occupation of Vera Cruz, were in a fair way today to be thoroughly investigated by the navy department.

Secretary Daniels ordered the judge advocate of the navy to consider Boalt's statements regarding the conduct of the naval board of inquiry. The judge advocate also was directed to secure copies of stories sent recently to the United States by Boalt charging unfairness.

Today's developments were regarded as indicating Secretary Daniels' determination that Boalt's side of the case shall receive full consideration.

The Vera Cruz naval board investigated a story sent to the United States by Boalt that the American occupation forces employed the Mexican "law of flight" against the natives. Boalt testified that his article was based on information secured from Ensign William Richardson, U. S. N. Richardson denied this, and the inquiry board accepted his denial.

CAUGHT UNDER AUTO NOT FATALLY HURT

Roseburg, Ore., July 23.—When the brakes slipped while descending a steep grade about 16 miles south of Roseburg yesterday, a touring car occupied by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Ely and children of Willow, Cal., left the road and dashed down a steep embankment for a distance of 35 feet.

Mr. Ely was pinned beneath the car but was later extricated by his wife. Neither were seriously hurt. The 3-year-old daughter, Nina, sustained internal injuries and may die. Late tonight she had not regained consciousness.

The 7-year-old son escaped unharmed. The machine was badly wrecked. The family was en route to Peaslee to visit friends when the accident happened.

PYTHIAN SISTERS PICNIC

As a number of our local physicians, photographers and undertakers will be among the merry-makers, a graphic account of the affair with full particulars of any possible mishaps will surely be reported.

Team Work Essential to Good Service

THE switchboard operators help each other in handling telephone calls, by good team work.

Not only at the switchboard, but all along the line, co-operation is the keynote of good service.

In the Bell system there are more than 130,000 employees. They take care of 14,000,000 miles of telephone highway. They keep in running order the complicated terminal apparatus in thousands of exchanges. Their co-operative effort keeps 7,500,000 telephones ready for instant use and they daily handle 26,000,000 telephone talks, quickening and expanding the social and business life of the nation.

BEE STORE HONEY IN CITY BUILDING

Attracted by a swarm of bees on Commercial street, just off Court street, passersby traced their flight and discovered that one of the corners of the Hay L. Farmer hardware building is their home. Through the windows of hooded and Mrs. Queen Bee, the drones are east out of the swarm. That is demonstrated in this case by the array of "dead ones" along the sidewalk. Without hindrance from drones, bees or others, the honey-storing goes on above the busy street. Some surmise there is a wealth of sweetness lodged in the cornice of that business building. Just how to dislodge them and capture the honey is a question that is making the small boys think real hard.

BURNS WANTS HIM PARDONED.

Washington, July 23.—Detective William Burns made a personal appeal to President Wilson today to pardon Herbert S. Hoekia, one of the iron workers convicted at the Indiana dynamite trials last year and now serving a term in Leavenworth prison.

Burns told the president that Hoekia once saved his life. The filing of the application for Hoekia's pardon confirmed the belief, openly expressed at the Indianapolis trial, that Hoekia aided Burns materially in placing responsibility on the McNamara brothers for the destruction of the Los Angeles Times. During the dynamite trials at Indianapolis, the other labor leaders who were defendants ostracized Hoekia, and it was generally agreed among them that he had turned informer.

ARE DEADLOCKED ON WATER QUESTION

Just What Territory Is to Be Exempted From Operation of the Home Rule Bill Cannot Be Agreed Upon.

London, July 23.—Liberal, labor, Irish and conservative party leaders conferred again at Buckingham palace today, this time for two hours, on the home rule question, and again adjourned without having accomplished anything.

It was generally believed the conference were hopelessly deadlocked concerning the extent of the territory to be exempted from the operation of the home rule bill.

Sir Edward Carson, the chief anti-home ruler, was known to insist that all of Ulster be exempted. John Redmond, the Irish leader, would not consent to the inclusion of Counties Tyrone and Fermanagh, which, though Ulster counties, have large Catholic populations in the exempted territory.

The country was intensely excited over the conference and there were increasingly persistent reports that the outcome would be a national election. Premier Asquith had a short talk with King George after today's session of the conferees but its nature was not made public.

On their way to the palace the party leaders were followed by a suffragette, screaming, "Votes for women!" She was arrested.

He needed them for the concern's defense against the charge by Auditor L. B. Reynolds of the state railroad commission of an unaccounted-for deficit of several million dollars in the railroad's treasury. Lilienthal said frankly that he thought they had been de-

IN STERLING LIVES A GIRL

Who Suffered As Many Girls Do—Tells How She Found Relief.

Sterling, Conn.—"I am a girl of 12 years and I used to faint away every month and was very weak. I was also bothered a lot with female weakness. I read your little book 'Wisdom for Women,' and I saw how others had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and decided to try it, and it has made me feel like a new girl and I am now relieved of all these troubles. I hope all young girls will get relief as I have. I never felt better in my life."—Miss BERTHA A. PELOQUIN, Box 116, Sterling, Conn.

Massena, N. Y.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I highly recommend it. If anyone wants to write to me I will gladly tell her about my case. Two doctors called it 'Anemia and Exhaustion,' and said I was all run down, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me out all right."—Miss LAVERA MYERS, Box 74, Massena, N. Y.

Young Girls, Heed This Advice.
