HENRY CLEW'S WEEKLY FINANCIAL LETTER

New York, July 18.—This market has been contending for weeks against most discouraging conditions, and with better success than might have been expected. The drastic report of the interstate commerce commission regarding New Haven affairs was a fresh blow to confidence in the financial district. Coupled with the rumors that the commission will next undertake the examining of the Vanderbilt lines and the Rock Island, the impression was created that the commission is becoming a highly inquisitorial body with pronounced anti-railroad proclivities. Originally the commission was intended to be of a judicial rather than prosecuting character. Its actions and policies of late, however, have created widespread distrust, and there is in consequence much concern about the forthcoming rate decision. Once more it should be remembered that the railroads have been obliged to pay much higher prices for all the equipment and plant which they required, and that they have made very liberal concessions to labor in the form of higher wages; but have not been allowed to recoup themselves in any degree for these increases in expenses by higher rates. At the same time, the roads have been obliged to endure a somewhat serious decline in traffic. Severe economies have been introduced,

RYAN MARKET TO BE OPEN TOMORROW

He Will Probably Start a Coffee Club in Connection With It—Is Specially Arranged.

R. R. Ryan's public market building will be opened tomorrow morning for the farmers and gardeners to display their products for sale and the housewives of the city to make their purchases direct from the producer. Over half the stalls have been completed and will be in use tomorrow, rent free for the first three or four weeks. The market will be open on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at the beginning, and the other open days will be regulated by the traffic later in the season when it gets fairly started.

Everything that the farmer or the gardener grows will be for sale, and even a meat market will be run in connection with the market. The school children are invited by Mr. Ryan to bring their products and to place them on sale, and the ladies of the various church organizations are especially invited to place their goods on sale at the market building. "Everything that grows will be for sale, and anything that is eaten may be bought," said Mr. Ryan in summing up the scope of the market. Canners are placed for the arrangement of the display of wares, and each stall is divided off so that it may be shared by several people. Mr. Ryan says that if the patronage of the market warrants it, that a coffee club will be installed with a reading room for men, a rest room for women and a smoke room upstairs, but the installation of the coffee club depends upon the interest taken in the new market.

THRASHING WILL BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Thrashing will begin next week in nearly all parts of Marion county. The grain in the Waldo Hills has ripened faster than in the bottom sections of the country, and the hum of the separators will begin about Tuesday in these hills. S. T. Cupp and Son and Donker and Eastburn will begin on that date in the section around Aunsville. Most of the thrashing machine men are in town this week-end selecting extras and supplies for the harvest season, and when the machines start it is likely that they will be able to continue throughout the season without any wait between the fall and spring runs. The last few hot days have ripened the grain rapidly, and the standing grain has begun to shatter a little in some places, while that which has been cut has dried much faster than usual in the shock. A good yield of wheat and winter oats is reported in nearly all parts of the county.

JURY BLAMES BOTH.

Portland, July 24.—Both Henry Wank and William Heinrich were to blame for the collision in which Wank received fatal injuries on July 17, according to the verdict of the coroner's jury yesterday. The verdict blames Wank for riding his motorcycle at an excessive rate of speed, and Heinrich for driving his motor truck on the wrong side of the street. "The jury finds that the driver of the motor truck," reads the verdict, "was on the wrong side of the street, and that the deceased was driving his motorcycle at an excessive rate of speed." "Therefore, they were both to blame for the accident which resulted in the death of the deceased."

Wank was injured when his motorcycle collided with a motor truck owned by the Baggage & Omnibus Transfer Company, driven by William Heinrich, at Front and Harrison streets. He died at St. Vincent's hospital a few hours later. He was a stenographer at the Portland Commercial club. The members of the jury were: Henry Nans, John P. Hart, F. J. Holland, J. M. Dunningan, Edward Cavanaugh and J. J. Brown.

EIG NEW YORK FIRM FAILS.

New York, July 24.—Another big failure occurred today when Bonssnecht, Brosel & Company, importers and dealers in dry goods, made a general assignment. Liabilities were placed at $1,250,000. Assets, it was said, would exceed this sum. Curtailment of foreign credit was responsible for the failure, according to the firm's attorneys.

NO AGREEMENT FOR ULSTER.

London, July 24.—Premier Asquith reported to the house of commons to-night that the Irish home rule conference at Buckingham palace had failed to agree on the territory to be excluded from operation of the home rule bill.

SPELL WILLSON WITH TWO 'L'S IS CORRECT

Donors of Donation Land Claim Where City of Salem Stands Used Double Letter in Their Name.

A donation land claim of 615 acres was taken up by William Henry and Chloe A. Willson of Oregon territory in 1856. On part of that property the city of Salem now stands, and there is but one family here now who spell their name as did the pioneer family "Willson."

Modestly our own Jim Willson, resident of the Willamette valley for 40 years and of Salem for 20, said that he thought his father, Sam Willson, resident of Salem 30 years ago, was a brother to William H., as he recollected a claim of uncleship attached to the pioneer Willson.

The interesting data sprang from a desire to learn the correct spelling of Willson as applied to the local park. It was learned that that land, with 89 other blocks, were dedicated to the present city of Salem in the 50s by William H. Willson and his wife, Chloe. Willson park takes its name from the donors. According to an affidavit, the correct spelling is with two "l's". J. K. Gill, the bookman of Portland, said recently: "I knew Chloe A. Willson, wife of William H. Willson, and I knew the family of William H. Willson. I am married to their oldest daughter, and I know them very well. William H. Willson died before I knew the family. I know the manner of spelling the name of Willson; I further say that the patent of the government to them for the land on which a portion of the city of Salem is situated contains the name of "Willson," spelled with only one "l"; that was an error on the part of the government in spelling the name. The deed in March, 1856, in which the name of Willson was spelled with two letters and signed William H. Willson and C. A. Willson was the deed of the grantees in said patent. Mrs. Willson sometimes wrote her full name, but frequently signed it "C. A. Willson."

TO PROPERLY TREAT OBSTINATE WRINKLES

Particularly where wrinkles are long and deep, the massage devotee is apt to rub too hard and too frequently. This loosens the skin, causes muscles to sag, aggravates the wrinkled condition—just the opposite result from that sought. Better than massaging, or anything else, for the most obstinate wrinkles, as well as the finest lines, is a formula well-known in England, which you may readily avail yourselves of, as you will have no difficulty in procuring the inexpensive constituents from druggists in this country. It is this: One ounce powdered salixite, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathe face, neck and hands in this.

The effect is really marvelous, not only as to wrinkles, but also in cases of baggy cheeks and chin. Marked improvement is noticed after the very first application. The lotion is cooling and soothing, tending to relieve fatigue and remove "that tired look."

ISLAND IS SINKING.

Brisbane, Australia, July 24.—Ships were on their way today with offers of rescue to the population of Aoba Island, in the new Hebrides, which was reported in danger of being swallowed by the ocean as a result of a series of violent earthquakes and a threatened volcanic eruption. Its inhabitants number about 3000.

LINN CO. THRASHING STARTS

Albany, Ore., July 24.—Thrashing began in Linn County yesterday. That is, the first few outfits to do any thrashing in this county this season started, however. Several more machines will begin work next Monday and by the middle of next week practically all of the thrashing outfits of the county will be running.

It is human nature to want the sun to shine on both sides of the street at the same time and then kick because we have to carry a parcel.

The Daily Thought

"Every man is my master in some one thing," says Emerson.

Wise men are ever alert to acquire knowledge, for in knowledge comes power.

Men and women who have no other desire than keeping up to date are active readers of the advertising in the daily news papers.

They realize that it gives them information to be had nowhere else.

It keeps them in touch with progress—makes them a part of the world's work.

Advertising is one of the most enjoyable educators we have today.

THINK BECKEY'S FAST IS "PSYCHOLOGICAL"

New York, July 24.—That Beckey Edleson, the girl I. W. W., in prison on Blackwells Island charged with inciting a riot recently in Union Square here, who declared a hunger strike some 90 hours ago, was eating and drinking slyly was the opinion expressed today by Dr. Catherine Davis, commissioner of corrections.

The girl was, at any rate, persons who had examined her said, in perfect physical condition. They were certain that she had been drinking water for two days. She had not been seen eating, but she did accompany the other prisoners to the mess hall Thursday, and it was believed she smuggled food to her cell. Had Dr. Davis been sure she was still genuinely fasting, she intended to have fed the prisoner forcibly today.

CRISTOBAL MAY LEAD FLEET THROUGH CANAL

Washington, July 24.—The war department had not decided today upon what vessel to confer the honor of leading a fleet of merchant vessels through the Panama canal August 15, when Colonel Goethals announced the big ditch would be open to ships needing not more than 30 feet of water. It was believed, however, that the Cristobal, a war department steamship, would be chosen.

NATURE PAKING.

(Medford Mail-Tribune.) Joseph Knowles has been employed by William H. Hearst to disappear for 60 days in the wilds of Grants Pass and solve the problem which has puzzled scientists, as to how the people of Grants Pass live.

Mr. Knowles recently performed a similar feat in the Maine woods. He demonstrated the fact that civilization had not robbed man of ingenuity to conquer nature and that nature's bounty was sufficient to support civilized man as well as creatures of the wild.

Special writers and scientists accompany Mr. Knowles, who has gone into the hills clad in a breach-clout and will pick berries, dig roots, catch fish and snare birds for the next two months. His every move will be faithfully chronicled by himself and other space writers and every effort be made to manufacture a cheap newspaper sensation out of a humdrum experience. His adventures will lose nothing in the narration and will need considerable "pep" to be kept readable.

There is nothing remarkable in living a couple of months or even longer in the forests. Countless generations of pioneers have done it, not as an easy way of making a living by selling the sensations experienced to yellow journals, but from necessity. The stirring story
