I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all dealers.

WILL BACK HOP GROWERS. THE OLD, BROKEN AUTO.

Sacramento, Cal., July 31.—The Retail Merchants Association of Sacramento has today pledged its support to the hop raisers of the Sacramento Valley, in case any trouble is experienced in getting pickers through the strike of the I. W. W. and labor organizations, the association will attempt, it is said, to stop free speech on the plaza here, where a campaign is being conducted to stop hop picking.

The Housing Immigration committee of the state, in a pamphlet issued today, blames the employers for unsanitary conditions in many work camps in the state, declaring much labor unrest can be traced to this cause. Models of sanitary camps are shown and recommendations made.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.
"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by all dealers.

RAILROADS MUST ACCEPT OR THE STRIKE GOES
Chicago, July 31.—Unless President Wilson induces the western railroads tomorrow to accept arbitration as suggested by the federal mediators, the engineers and firemen will strike August 7.

This, in effect, was the ultimatum sent to the railroad officials today by representatives of the employees.

According to the police, the girl is reported to have been seen in Los Angeles two days ago. Detective Leo Martin and Patrolman Hamm were trying this afternoon to follow this rumor to its source.

MY LADIES' WAISTLINE IS PAST FINDING OUT

About Everything Else About Her Is Frankly Revealed, But the Waistline Is Anywhere From Head to Heels.

By Margaret Mason.
To put his arm about her waist, He yearns, the ardent lover; But just quite where her waist should be He really can't discover; It has its ups and downs, you see, And always under cover.

New York, July 31.—In these fashionable days of frank revelations my lady's waistline seems to be about the only part spot that is left to the imagination. With her bodice cut so low and open to the elements and ornaments and her sheer lace skirts open to criticism the waistline is the only part kept within bounds. Yet an ordinary skirt is as contorted a bit of topography as the River of Doubt.

Here today and there tomorrow the waistline is wont to pursue its free and untrammelled way anywhere from the knee up to the neckline. On one hand we are assured that it is to be done away with entirely like other wastepieces of the earth and then coming the notion for fall that it will still be in our midst and all squeezed up again to erstwhile 18-inch proportions. Indeed, it seems no idle threat that this autumn the glass of fashion will be the hour glass and that the feminine figure will figure as the figure eight once more.

It's the basque that is doing it but at the time of going to press the waistline has resisted all pressure and is yet guileless of any convexity, basque or no basque. In fact quite the newest wrinkle is to have your basque wrinkled as if over an entirely uncorseted figure. In its most approved form the basque of the moment is cut in three or five pieces, buttoned with very obvious buttons from the low cut neck down to its finish, which is apt to be either at the hip line or well down below it.

White taffeta is quite the smartest fabric for the fashionable basque as it is in indeed for the entire approved lingerie frock.

Time was when a lingerie frock meant a washable dress of tub material even as was my lady's veritable lingerie, but since those intimate garments are these days fashioned of Pussywillow taffeta it is only the natural course of events that the frocks deriving their qualities and name therefrom should also be evolved from the soft lengths of white taffeta.

The skirts finishing these white taffeta frocks are full shirred at fairs either set on the basque plainly or with a hip sash of black velvet.

Black velvet pumps worn with the shortest of white silk stockings and one of the new black velvet hats completes this costume which fits you one of immediately in black and white as the last word in up to the minute fashion.

Truly the fully shirred skirt is now the correct thing and the tight affair that has had you so long in its grasp has been forced to relinquish its strangle hold even as an undershirt under the long Russian tunic.

This pretense of a tight undershirt has been frankly discarded and the long full tunic, lengthened slightly, has evolved into the entire and only skirt, sufficient unto itself. Skirts composed entirely of flounces of either lace or silk are very popular with the basque waists and some daring designers are actually showing models of the flounced skirts over small hoops.

Planted skirts are also right on the job in the fullness thereof especially on the dancing frocks. Fashioned from the gossamer lightness of Melrose, lace, chiffon, or net these airy accoutrements rather than a maxixe or hesitation beautifully to the successful tripping of the light fantastic and the mazes of the maxixe.

A perfect gem of a dance frock is a combination of a black velvet basque with a frothy skirt of accordion pleated white net flounces. Of course the basque is decollete and a red, red rose is pinned to the left shoulder. Worn with a high Spanish comb in the hair this costume leads one to expect its wearer to break into a fandango a la Carmen rather than a maxixe or hesitation as a Mrs. Vernon Castle, John Sawyer, Grace Walton, Mrs. Douglas Crane or one of the other 57 varieties of rival modern Terpsichores.
