A FORTUNE FOR LOVE.

SON of one of Pittsburgh's "first families" has sacrificed an inheritance to marry his mother's French maid. Very few of us know what it really means to sacrifice a fortune. But many a man knows what it really means to win the girl of his heart.

Between the girl and the fortune few men in love would find it hard to choose. Only the base, unworthy of both love and fortune, could hesitate.

Why should not a millionaire's son marry a French maid, if he loves her and she loves him?

The chances are that this poor girl who has been making her own living is more worthy than the boy is.

She must be capable, cultured and honest, else she could not have held the place she had.

How many of the doll-brained women of the "400," among whom these money-worshippers might have been glad to have their son marry, are as worthy of love, think you, or as capable of honestly loving, as is this poor girl who has made her own way?

There is nothing quite so disgusting to clear intelligence as a self-constituted aristocracy of money, which despises labor, holds in contempt people who are making themselves useful in the world, and would, if it could, throttle love.

It is to be assumed that these young people who have sacrificed a fortune to marry love each other truly.

If so, the sacrifice is small compared with the gain.

Love, without a penny, is better than all the money in the world, without love.

MONEY TO MOVE CROPS.

THE innovation by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo last year, by which a vast sum of money was made available for crop moving, proved so successful and beneficial that it is to be repeated this year, says the Albany Democrat. According to announcement, $34,000,000 of the government's funds will be deposited in the banks of the great grain and cotton growing states, there to be available for the use of the producers in marketing the huge crops.

The government charges two per cent for the money and the banks are limited as to the rates they may charge for accommodations. As security for the loans to the banks, the government accepts government bonds at par and state, county and municipal bonds and approved commercial paper at 75 per cent of its face. Next year, with the federal reserve bank system in full operation, this method of providing crop funds will be discontinued, or at least its operation put into the hands of the federal reserve board, but it has proven its efficiency and demonstrated that never again need there be any serious difficulty in providing ample funds at legitimate rates for the harvest needs of our great agricultural sections.

The dispatches tell us that food prices have advanced rapidly in New York on account of the war. This shows how quickly the American grafter gets in his work. As a matter of fact the European war should make food prices, if they varied at all, cheaper. At present this country can export nothing to Europe, or, at least, but a trifle compared to the usual shipments. This would tend to congest the local markets and reduce prices, and this it would do were it not for the speculators, or, to call things by their right names, the grafters.

The report from Mexico of fierce fighting at Mazatlan, and that Carranza had absolutely refused to consider the proposition made by President Carbajal as to the basis on which the government would be turned over to him, indicates that the trouble in Mexico may be renewed. Carranza realizes that he is able to take the capital and hence can see no reason why he should dicker as to the terms on which he will accept it. He overlooks the part the United States may take unless a peaceful settlement is reached.

The argument so stridently made by the Strenuous One that big armaments are guarantees of peace and that preparedness prevents war, is getting some solar plexus blows over in Europe. With every nation armed to the teeth, and the teeth sharpened, war was about as easily started as any in history. As a matter of fact, the "preparedness" was undoubtedly the reason the war was so easily started. Every kingly had a new gun, and each wanted to try his.

The newspaper supporters of Dr. Withycombe are trying hard to explain that their candidate for governor did not mean what he said when he advocated a return to the convention system of nominating candidates. If the doctor keeps on making speeches, these editors will probably have to work overtime to convince the voters that they should pay no attention to what he says.

United States Senator Borah, republican, of Idaho, is able, under the archaic rules of the senate, to hold up and possibly prevent the passage of the rivers and harbors bill, because his irrigation schemes are not included in it. This will cause the suspension of all important work on the Pacific coast, and seems to please nobody in this section, except the editor of the Oregonian.

"Under the beneficent sway of President Wilson's 'New Freedom,' Louisiana Democrats have had their splendid sugar industry ruined," remarks the Oregon City Enterprise. And yet sugar is selling higher in this country than it has in years before. The sugar industry, like the wool industry, would stand a whole lot of this particular brand of "ruin."

Pictures of Russian cavalry, Russian artillery, Russian infantry and Russian warships are so plentiful in the newspapers that one is forced to believe the Russians look upon the present mix-up as a moving picture show war.

There is prospect of more fighting in Mexico. This should please the Oregonian and Hearst papers even more than the European war.

The war will probably prevent the international yacht races, and thus spoil a splendid opportunity to advertise Lipton's teas.

JOINING LACE.

Uniting the Pieces So That Overlapping Lines Do Not Show.

Lace is now so popular that it may be convenient to know how to join lace so that the joining will not be visible. Place one end over the other so that the mesh and pattern will exactly correspond and then with a fine sewing thread overhand together, sewing over the threads of the mesh and around the pattern in a diagonal line.

After the lace is joined the rough edges (one on the upper and the other on the underside) are cut close to the diagonal stitching. After the lace is pressed this joining cannot be detected. Corners of lace can be mitered in the same way and the yoke or collar made to look as though it had been woven in one piece. Fold the lace to form the corners, then cut the lace through the center almost to the edge and lap one side over the other; then join by overhanding through the mesh and pattern.

Gold and silver lace for yokes can be joined in this way, using a gold or silver thread to overcast the lace together.

An Old Favorite

I Wandered Lonely as a Cloud

I WANDERED lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host of golden daffodils,
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Plunging and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the Milky Way,
They stretch in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay:
Ten thousand saw I at a glance
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced, but they
Outdid the sparkling waves in glee.
A poet could not but be gay,
In such a jocund company.
I gazed and gazed, but little thought
Of wealth that flows to me but brought
Pleasure that from that day
In vacant or in pensive mood
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude,
And dances with the daffodils.

—William Wordsworth.

For the Children :-

Regamunde.
A city at the bottom of the sea was seen toward the end of October, 1888, near Treptow, in Prussia, when a powerful south wind blew the waters of the Baltic away from the shore, uncovering a part of the sand usually hidden by the waves.

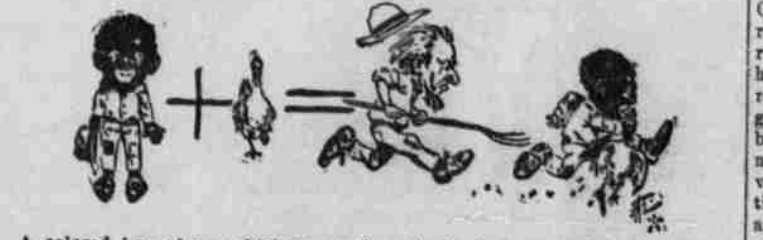

It was the ruins of the city of Regamunde, once a flourishing commercial station, which was swallowed by the sea five centuries ago. The unusual sight was visible for only five hours, when the storm slackened, and the waves returned to cover up the place which had once been the home of human beings.

A Dreadful Scare.
Little Miss Flitterby, aged about two, went with her mother one day to the zoo. And, thinking to scare
The big grizzly bear,
She pointed a finger at him and cried,
"Boo!"

Boy Scouts in Rome.
Companies of boy scouts were recently organized in Rome by Captain Maggiani of the army and were taken to the Goffredo Mameli barracks, where Admiral Bettolo, former minister of marine, received their oath. The text of the oath is the following:
"I swear on my honor to love my country and follow her in any circumstances, to abide by her laws, to help my fellows without discrimination in any danger or need and to obey the discipline of the boy scouts."

A Riddle.
What is the difference between a gardener, a billiard marker, a gentleman and a sexton?
A gardener minds his peas.
A billiard marker minds his cues.
A gentleman minds his p's and q's.
A sexton minds his keys and pews.

Simple Arithmetical Problem.

THE ROUND-UP

The first result of the war so far as Oregon shipping is concerned was the tying up of British vessels in the Columbia until further orders.

Funds for the Red Cross society are being subscribed liberally in Portland.

Petitions are being circulated in Columbia county for the recall of the county judge and the commissioners on account of the disputes arising over the location of the Columbia highway.

On the Ladd and Reed place at Reedville recently the record for hay baling was broken when the crew baled 360 tons and 1317 pounds in 73 hours, or nearly five tons an hour.

Cottage Grove will have a second electric lighting plant, provided the citizens vote the new company a franchise at the special election called for August 20.

A bad forest fire started Wednesday 10 miles north of Belknap Springs and got beyond control. It had burned over 300 acres up to Thursday morning.

More than 200 men employed by the Hammond Lumber company have been fighting fire south of Mill City and Thursday had it under control.

A message was received at Roseburg Thursday night that a fire near Riddle was endangering the Alder Creek Sawmill company's plant and asked for help.

A light shower did much good in the Astoria section Thursday morning.

Work on the new armory at Roseburg is progressing rapidly and the structure will be in readiness for occupancy at an early date this fall.

E. J. Adams, who lives near Eugene, has a fig tree in his yard that is upwards of 10 feet in height and loaded with figs which the Eugene Register says are as well flavored as any grown in California.

Mayor Palmer of Baker reports to the city commission that the city is getting its lighting at $634 a month now, while it paid $801 a month under the old system, and would have to pay $1230 a month for the present lighting at old-time figures.

C. P. Leonard, of Toronto, South Dakota, has bought of Harvey P. Bennett the Canby Irrigator, which Mr. Bennett has owned for three years past. Mr. Bennett, in his valedictory, says he leaves Canby with a great deal of regret and doubts if he will ever be as happy in any other place.

Complimenting a neighbor, the Woodburn Independent says: "Molalla must be getting to be some pumpkin. That thriving town has arranged for a municipal water works system. No longer will it be, in giving the location of a farm in that section, 'so many miles from Oregon City,' but from Molalla."

Town Dogs
This is the season when town pups, which have no private drinking cups, too often must go dry; there are no fountains to produce three fingers of refreshing juice for bow-wows trotting by. Along the blazing thoroughfare they seek in vain, in their despair, for something they can drink; their blood gets heated and their jaws are dripping foam—with ample cause—their eyes turn red or pink. When some one sees a thirsty brute, he "Mad dog!" cries, the peepers shoot, the mob arrives with bricks; they chase poor Carlo through the town, and when at last they run him down, they knock him out with sticks. Not one in fifty dogs thus slain is mad or dangerous; they are merely in distress; if dogs could always have a drink, the "rabies" fable would die, there'd be one scare the less. So let us station in the shade large tubs of wholesome lemonade for dogs which by day, in their own friendly, doggy way, till they are wiserwurst.

WILL PAY THE TROOPS TOMORROW NIGHT
Tomorrow night the members of Company M, O. N. G., of this city, will receive their pay for valiant service rendered at the encampment at Gearhart park. A number of them have already drawn their share paid by the government, but the portion advanced by the state will be paid tomorrow night. The government pays the private soldier 50 cents a day for the time spent at encampment and the state adds 75 cents to this, making the pay of the private $1.25 for the time consumed in sham battles and raising blisters.

The first sergeant receives $1.50 from the government and $1.00 from the state per day. The commissary sergeant, $1.20 from the government and $1.25 from the state. Cooks receive a total per day of $2.00; sergeants, $1.00; corporals, $1.40. The officers receive no pay from the state, but from the government. Second lieutenants receive $4.72 per day; first lieutenants, $5.56; captains, $6.67; and majors, $8.33.

ATTEND THE BRIDGE MEETING MONDAY

Citizens of Polk and Marion County, and of Salem, Will Meet at City Hall Monday to Arrange for New Steel Bridge.

Monday there is to be an important meeting at the City Hall at 1:30 in the afternoon. It is called for the purpose of taking steps to repair the steel bridge across the Willamette by building a new one.

State Engineer Bowley has examined the bridge at the request of the city and county officials and pronounces it unsafe for average travel. Others who have examined it and especially the condition of the steel where it is under the planking and at the piers confirm this report most emphatically. It is undoubtedly in bad condition and must either be replaced or communication with Polk county cut off, unless we are willing to go back to the prehistoric ferry.

The present bridge and its predecessor were built by the counties of Marion and Polk, the city of Salem also standing in and paying one-third of the cost, the counties each paying a third. It is presumed this arrangement can be continued and it is for this purpose largely that the meeting is called. Both the city and county officials urge that property holders and for that matter everyone interested in the welfare of the section served by the bridge be present and make such suggestions as they see fit to offer. It is strongly urged that Polk county be well represented so that some definite understanding may be reached that will be satisfactory to all concerned. Don't forget the time and don't neglect being there, either.

TIMELY BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Times in Europe are exciting just now. Do you know about those countries, the history and development which has led up to the present war? There are books at the Public Library which throw light on the present situation. Some of the best are:

- Andrews—Historical development of modern Europe from the Congress of Vienna to 1897.
 - Lane (Norman Angell)—The great illusion; a study of the relation of the military power in nations to their economic and social advantage.
 - Lavisse—General view of the political history of Europe.
 - Ogg—Governments of Europe.
 - Phillips—Modern Europe, 1815-1897.
 - Robinson—Introduction to the history of Western Europe.
 - Robinson—Readings in modern European history.
 - Schervill—Political history of modern Europe.
- In addition to these there are histories of the individual countries and books of foreign travel giving descriptions of the countries.
- The library has a special shelf with this material on. Come and use it, if you do not find what you want ask for it.

WEST SALEM.

Mrs. Jessie Quirner, of San Francisco, who has been house guest at the W. S. Fitts home for a week, has gone to Astoria to visit her sister, Mrs. Harry Lacey.

Errol Willet, of Portland, has been calling on his friends in this neighborhood.

Brougher Pitts, of sunny-side, Wash., is a guest of his uncle, Walker S. Pitts.

Messrs. G. M. Douglas and John Morgan, of Kingwood, have gone to Newport. They went on their bicycles but took care to have a number of supplies with them for mending in case of breakdowns. They will take in a number of the coast resorts before returning to this burg.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Garfield and family from southern California are at the Wilson home for a time, they having been called here on account of the death and burial of Mrs. Garfield's father, Jesse H. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Donogh and little daughter, Mildred, of Portland, were recent visitors at the J. B. Bedford home.

Mr. Harry Rhodes and sister, Miss Dovie, of Canby, have been calling on friends here on their way home from their vacation at the coast.

Salem Heights Ladies' Aid to the number of 20 trooped in on Mrs. D. Cade in West Salem on Wednesday morning with well-filled baskets of good things for a picnic dinner. Mrs. Cade is a former resident of Salem Heights and member of above mentioned live "Aid," and the party was planned as a pleasant surprise for her and also as a birthday celebration for Mr. Cade and three of the ladies of the company. Mr. and Mrs. Cade and their house guest, Mrs. Jennie Hunt, of Portland, joined the picnickers and all went down to an attractive spot in the maples by the river side, where a bountiful dinner and a thoroughly social time was enjoyed.

The ladies, happy in giving happiness to others, invited as an additional guest, Mrs. Elliot, of West Salem, who, on account of paralysis has not walked for years. She was taken along with the party in her wheel chair and had just as happy a time as any of them.

EVERYBODY NEEDS PURE, RICH BLOOD

Pure blood enables the stomach, liver and other digestive organs to do their work properly. Without it they are sluggish, there is loss of appetite, sometimes faintness, a deranged state of the intestines, and, in general, all the symptoms of dyspepsia.

Pure blood is required by every organ of the body for the proper performance of its functions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood, and this is why it is so successful in the treatment of so many diseases and ailments. Its acts directly on the blood, ridding it of scrofulous and other humors. It is a peculiar combination of blood-purifying, nerve-toning, strength-giving substances. Get it today.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedying. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh.
