HENRY CLEWS' REVIEW OF WORLD CONDITIONS

New York, Aug. 8, 1914.—(Special).—The crisis of the age is on, and the worst is probably appreciated. The result must now be left to the arbitrament of arms. Great Britain's entry into the war will undoubtedly hasten the end; the sheer necessity of the conflict necessarily limiting its duration. For the time being the world's commerce is demoralized. On the continent of Europe the losses will be colossal. Hundreds of thousands of precious lives will be sacrificed, and billions of capital and property destroyed. The horrors that will have to be endured are too dreadful for the imagination. Chaos will rule in European industry and commerce for possibly some time to come. The most that can be reasonably hoped for is some great decisive battle in the early stages of the war, decisive enough at least to open the door for mediation and thus stop this monstrous struggle; the saddest blot on Christendom in many generations.

BRITISH SUBJECTS HOLD MEETING IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 12.—Call for a mass meeting of southern California British subjects will be issued today as the result of a preliminary meeting last night at which the Irish home rule question became an issue that threatened to disrupt the gathering. After blaming the alleged activity of German agents in England for many of Britain's internal troubles, Chairman John Edward R. Guelph mentioned the nationalist party and Ulster in terms to which many of his hearers took exception. The mass meeting, which probably will be held early next week, will discuss plans to aid Great Britain in her struggle with Germany.

THE WHOLE BODY NEEDS PURE BLOOD

The bones, the muscles, and all the organs of the body depend for their strength and tone and healthy action on pure blood. If the blood is very impure, the bones become diseased; the muscles become enfeebled, the step loses its elasticity, and there is inability to perform the usual amount of labor. The skin loses its clearness, and pimples, blotches and other eruptions appear. Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. It is positively unequalled in the treatment of scrofula and other humors, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling. Be sure to get Hood's and get it today. ATTORNEY GENERAL DECIDES TWO QUESTIONS

Right-of-way Over Land Gives User Only Right of Passage—Tax Payments Void When U. S. Held Title.

The title to a tract of land in a forest reserve and a row of apple trees figured in two opinions handed down by the attorney general this morning. G. G. Brown, clerk of the state land board, was informed that repayment for lands purchased from the state and for which the state could not give clear title should be made to A. T. Kelliber. The fact that another man held a number of certificates of taxes paid because the taxes had been declared delinquent did not affect a cloud on the title. It was held that the lands could not be declared even taxable because they belonged to the state or the United States and could not be disposed of.

A. J. Grow, of Hood River, where apple trees are valuable even though they grow alongside the road, was told that his neighbor had a right-of-way across the land in question. It seems that there is a row of apple trees just six inches inside of the right-of-way and the neighbor claimed that he had the right to chop the trees down. It was held by the attorney general that unless the apple trees interfered with the enjoyment of the right-of-way they could not be cut down. That a right-of-way was simply an easement and did not pass for an unincumbered title was also held. The right and privilege of a right-of-way ended with the passage of a stumpy vehicle over the strip of land. It was also held that the neighbor had no right to throw up an embankment or fill in order to grade the road if the bank would form an obstruction in front of the house of Mr. Grow.

GERMAN ADVANCE GOES ON IN BELGIUM

Liege Forts Still Hold Out and Germans Are Bringing Up Heavy Siege Guns—Cavalry Battle Reported.

By William Philip Sims. Paris, Aug. 12.—A general German advance is in progress in Belgium today, the French war office here admitted. It was stated also that a cavalry engagement was raging. The war office did not announce where it was going on, but it was believed to be just west of Tongres, a city 10 miles north of Liege, and south of the city of Louvain.

The Liege forts were still holding out but the Germans had re-established rail communication with their rear and were bringing up siege guns, evidently preparatory to a desperate assault. The Belgian-French-English allies were drawing a strong cord across the Teutonic front in readiness to contest the expected forward movement. The government conceded that "important events impend."

The Brussels defenses were being strengthened in anticipation of cavalry raids. The Germans, from all accounts, were showing much consideration to their Belgian prisoners of war at Liege. Military men were convinced that the latest developments showed the Germans were determined to carry out their original plan of invading France by way of Brussels and Lille, a route by which they would avoid any formidable defenses between the frontier and Paris.

It was reported that the infantry and artillery had joined the Kaiser's cavalry at Tongres. Along the Franco-Luxembourg frontier fighting was still in progress. The Germans were advancing on Longwy and Montmedy and even in the preliminary skirmishing losses were heavy. A desperate battle was expected at this starting point.

The war office maintained the French force which invaded Abscon was holding its position along a line drawn to the westward from Mulsanne to the frontier. Kaiser Vetted Assault. Berlin, Aug. 11.—(Delayed).—It was the Kaiser who vetoed the carrying of the Liege forts by storm, General Von Stein, of the German war office, announced here today.

Impatient of delay, General Von Emmich, German field commander in Belgium, Von Stein said, wanted to resort to the method of assault instead of waiting for siege guns. Learning, however, that the Germans had already lost heavily in their infantry and cavalry attacks, his majesty ordered operations stopped until communication could be restored and siege batteries pushed to the front, where field cannon and already proved inadequate.

The Kaiser was of the opinion, General Von Stein added, that the forts were not of sufficient military importance to warrant the loss of life which a general assault on them would have involved. The general also asserted that Belgian accounts had greatly misrepresented the Liege fighting. In the first place, he declared, the Belgians outnumbered the Germans. He denied, too, that the German losses even approximated the figures given over by the Brussels war office.

The siege guns, he concluded, would soon demolish the Liege fortifications. HARVESTER TRUST ORDERED TO DISSOLVE

Court Holds Combine Is In Restraint of Trade and Orders It Divided Into at Least Three Parts.

St. Paul, Aug. 12.—A majority of the judges of the United States circuit court of appeals here today declared the International Harvester company to be a trust in restraint of trade and ordered it to dissolve into at least three different parts within 90 days. Judge Walter Sutherland rendered a dissenting opinion.

The opinion was prepared by Judge Walter L. Smith, Judge William Hook concurring. Judge Sutherland in his dissenting opinion maintained that the company was not engaged in unreasonable restraint of trade. The majority opinion, however, declared that the company controlled 85 per cent of the trade, but that its treatment of smaller competitors was generally fair and just.

The corporation was directed to dissolve and its properties be divided among at least three companies, so formed as to be about equal in size and without a common stockholder. The courts, corporation lawyers here said, have never gone so far in previous trust decisions.

Will Take Appeal. Chicago, Aug. 12.—Cyrus McCormick, president of the International Harvester company, announced here today that the company would take the decision of the St. Paul court ordering the corporation to dissolve, to the United States supreme court.

The opinion, McCormick said, "acquiesces the company of over-capitalization and unfair or oppressive measures, but condemns the organization as a violator of the Sherman law. The court's conclusion seems to be that the International Harvester company is a good, but illegal corporation."

reported the sound of terrific artillery firing in the direction of Tongres. "The concussion," said the message, "can be felt here."

It was thought the allies had moved to the defense of Koee, Brussels. German aviators flew over the city today and it was thought they located the allies' position.

The London Times' military expert gave it as his opinion that 1,000,000 Germans, with 5,894 pieces of artillery, were in Belgium. This, he said, was the first line of the German strength and did not include the reserves massed in the rear.

The bulk of the Kaiser's forces, he declared, were north of the German province of Lorraine, advancing in the hope of outflanking the French on the north and giving them "a knockdown blow."

He expressed the view, however, that the allies can prevent this. "But it will be the most frightful, the most destructive collision in modern history," he added.

British navy movements were kept secret. It was rumored the cruiser squadron had been sent into the North Atlantic. A rigid censorship prevailed.

Fierce Fighting

Liege, on the road to the French frontier by way of the Meuse valley. Long Battle Line. Paris, Aug. 12.—French and German troops faced one another today, the war office announced, close south through Belgium to the frontier of Luxembourg, along the border between France and Luxembourg to Longwy, and from there along the Franco-German frontier to Switzerland.

Most of the frontier fighting thus far, it was stated, had been between cavalry forces, and it was asserted that in all these engagements French superiority had been shown. French troops, it was added, hold the Vosges mountain passes.

From the foreign office came a denial of the German charge that France violated the
