PASSENGER TRAIN

The train, made up almost entirely of steel cars, rolled over an embankment into a creek and it is reported that most of the victims were drowned. One of the chair cars carried 88 persons and Springfield reports said all of these were missing except 18.

office of the company said it had received no details of the wreck. Conductor Langheim and Engineer Harte were in charge of the train when it left St. Louis. It consisted of two mail cars, one baggage car, two sleepers and two day coaches.

The wreck was said to have resulted from a washout of the trestle over Goodwin hollow as the result of a cloudburst last night. The forward half of the train, containing one chair car is reported to have parted from the rear half when the engine went over the trestle.

One man is reported to have gone insane when he occupied and found that his wife and children had been submerged in the chair car.

SUPREME COURT SUSTAINS GALLOWAY

Holds with Him that Valuation Placed on Land Was Clerical Error—Twelve Other Opinions Handed Down.

The decision of Judge William Galloway was affirmed by the Supreme court today in the case of L. H. Turner and C. A. Davis against E. D. Bray, defendant and appellant. It appears that Bray entered into a contract on October 9, 1912, to sell 450 acres of land for the plaintiffs at $37 per acre and was to receive $2 per acre as a commission. He got a buyer at this price and sued for his commission. The plaintiffs brought a cross bill in the circuit court to reform the contract by inserting the price at $137 an acre and their contentions were upheld in the circuit court.

In recounting the evidence offered in the trial in the circuit court Justice Eakin stated that evidence was shown that some of the land had been sold in 1909, for $70 an acre. In February 1912 some was sold at $131 per acre and in June 1912 more contracted at $135 an acre and at the same time some was placed on the market at $150 an acre. The conclusions from this were that it was never intended that the land should be sold at only $37 an acre. The opinion was concurred in by Justices Bean and Burnett and Chief Justice McBride.

Other decisions were handed down as follows:

D. R. McCann, executor of the estate of Margaret Burns vs. H. C. Burns et al. appellants, appealed from Multnomah motion to strike out amended bill of exceptions allowed.

W. A. Booth, appellant vs. City of Prineville, appellant, appealed from Clatsop, suit involving title to real property, affirmed.

John E. Wicks, appellant, vs. Frank H. Sanborn, appellant, from Clatsop, action for money, reversed.

David G. Smith, appellant, vs. William McDuffee et al. appealed from Grand county, petition for rehearing denied.

Freel H. Perkins, appellant, vs. Ida M. Perkins, appellant, from Croos county, suit for divorce, judgment modified.

Anton Ecker vs. J. D. Casey et al. appellants, appealed from Multnomah, action to collect rent, reversed.

Hattie Roy Smith vs. Algonia Lumber Company, appellant, appealed from Klamath, action for ejectment, affirmed.

J. R. Matlock, appellant, vs. Mary P. Matlock, appellant, from Lane county, suit to dissolve marriage contract, modified.

In the matter of the estate of H. W. McOrnick, deceased, appealed from Multnomah, suit to determine validity of will. Reversed.

M. C. Beaver, administrator of the estate of John Beaver, vs. Mason, Eberman and company, appellant, action for personal injuries, affirmed.

Hyter Elock vs. City of The Dalles, appellant, from Wasco county, Mandamus proceeding, dismissed.

City of Portland vs. Arthur F. Miller et al. appellants, appealed from Multnomah, suit to enjoin the maintenance of certain buildings across Millers avenue, affirmed.

Petition for rehearing denied: Toomey vs. Casey, Multnomah.

PEARL ZINN LEADS IN EXPOSITION CONTEST

Interest Grows Steadily and Thousands of Votes Cast Since Last Count

Many thousands of votes have been polled in the Pacific-Panama exposition contest as shown by the count made this morning. Pearl Zinn made the greatest gain, and leads the other contestants by a good margin today. Mrs. Hibbler is second and Jean McInturf is third. Mildred Atherton made a decided gain, as did several others of the candidates.

Interest is increasing daily in the contest, and there is every indication that before it closes the good-natured rivalry among the candidates will be very keen, since many of them are holding back large numbers of votes to be deposited later in the ballot box. Trade checks from the several firms participating in the contest are coming into the Capital Journal office in large numbers, and are being exchanged for vote coupons by the candidates and their friends.

The trip to the great exposition with its wealth of world-wide wonders, will be the event of a lifetime for the fortunate winner, and the Capital Journal guarantees that no expense will be spared in making it a pleasant one. First class railroad fare, the best of hotel accommodations, and facilities for seeing the great fair at its best will be provided free of all charge by this paper. It will be a prize well worth working for.

The plan adopted by this paper for giving the trip does not require the contestant to sell anything. The only thing necessary to secure votes being to purchase some of Salem's most popular toys. The advertisements of these firms is run in each Friday's Capital Journal. These firms have agreed to give a sales check or receipt to every purchaser for cash or for monthly bills paid until January 1, 1915. The sales checks or receipts from these firms may be exchanged for votes at this office—one vote for every 5 cents of your purchase.

Speaking Directly Into the Transmitter

The transmitter of the telephone is the result of years of study and experimentation by telephone engineers. It is of delicate adjustment and its fullest efficiency can only be obtained through proper use.

The lips should not be more than an inch from the transmitter, and the voice should be clear, not loud.

Speak distinctly and directly into the mouthpiece. This will mean your satisfaction and that of the person with whom you are talking.

LOCAL MARKETS ARE SHY ON SOME THINGS

Local market conditions in regard to many of the vegetables that go to supply the table reveal the fact that potatoes are scarce just at present. This is on account of the early crop being already disposed of and the late crop not yet dug. This puts the present time just between the two potato harvests and consequently they are short.

On account of the hot weather during the past summer the crop of sweetener and cucumbers did not develop and are therefore a scarce commodity in local markets. The housewife's market basket will, accordingly, have to be filled with other food stuffs.

Celery, turnips, and carrots appear to be only popular vegetable that survived the summer's warmth. Of these there is a comparatively plentiful supply. Local head lettuce is a minus quantity or what there is of it amounts to nothing.

Grain markets in Portland are slightly lower than the same markets here and consequently affect the local conditions. The demand for seed is picking up at present on account of the fact that farmers are beginning to seed for the fall crops of grain and hay. The present rain gives them a chance to plow and make their fields ready for planting seed.

ESTABLISH NEW LINE

that the Germans were preparing to make a stand north of the River Aisne, it was asserted at the war office this afternoon that the pause in the retreat seemed to be mainly an attempt to reorganize.

The expert view here was that the enemy could not put up serious resistance to the allies' advance. Most of the fighting since the retirement of the kaiser's forces began, it was stated, had consisted of rear guard actions, covered by artillery.

The allies' pursuit was said to have been extremely swift. On several occasions, by rushing along roads paralleling those taken by the Germans, they had succeeded in getting ahead of the latter and cutting them off, and many German prisoners had been taken.

The crown prince of Germany was declared to be hard pressed. The Verdun forts were all but one said to be holding out, the German attempt to smother them having failed, and it was claimed that the crown prince's forces were being pressed back toward Stonay and Luxemburg.

FRENCH WOULD BUY POTATOES IN IDAHO

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 15.—French soldiers may fatten and grow strong on Idaho potatoes. Representatives of the French commissary have sent to the Twin Falls country for bids on 1000 cars of potatoes, and as yet no offers have been submitted. This information reached Boise Thursday.

This amount would mean about forty million pounds, about one-fifth of the entire output of the Twin Falls tract.

Those conversant with present conditions wonder why France should desire to send to America for potatoes when her ally, Ireland, has a fine potato crop this season, and it would be a simple matter to get them across the channel, while it might prove quite difficult to ship them from America.

The fact remains, nevertheless, that the bid has been asked for.

THE BIG SALE IS NOW ON

The Pacific Coast Biscuit Co. have opened their big Made-in-Oregon Campaign. A movement that all loyal Oregonians should not only cheerfully appreciate but should back it with their most loyal support.

OREGON NEEDS MORE PAY ROLLS

Hundreds of thousands of dollars are being sent east every year for crackers and biscuits. This money should and will be spent here, in keeping our Oregon unemployed busy and happy.

MRS. ROSE JAMES

Is here to demonstrate that Oregon wheat, Oregon labor and Oregon skill will and does produce as good if not a superior article to that we ship in from the East.

A $2.50 box of elegant Chocolates, as well as a tin of good Golden Gate Coffee, will be given away during sale.

Ten per cent in free goods is also given during this sale.

See our Burnette's demonstration. It's worthy of your time.
