

DANDRUFF SOON RUINS THE HAIR

Makes It Lifeless, Dull, Dry, Brittle and Thin.

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will be silky, fluffy, lustrous, soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

LONDON SPORTS TAKE AHEARN SERIOUSLY

Claim Gunboat Smith Sneaked Out of England to Avoid Meeting the Heavyweight Fight Parce.

CLABBY ISSUES DEFI TO MIDDLE WEIGHTS

Herrman Silent As to Federal League Challenge—Abe Attell On Way from New York

(By Hal Sheridan.)

New York, Sept. 18.—English sporting papers are flatly charging that Gunboat Smith ran away from England to avoid meeting Young Ahearn. Jim Buckley, Smith's manager, indignantly denies the allegation, asserting the fight was cancelled when Ahearn was taken down with some sort of an illness. "Gunboat Smith," says the Mirror of Life, "has turned tail and sailed for America, and has pointblank refused to carry out the agreement made by his manager. What a sad pity it is that there is no governing body which could punish Smith as he deserves for his reprehensible conduct. Smith's despicable action is regarded by a vast majority of English sportsmen as the meanest way out of a contest for which he did not appear to have much liking. His Dutch behavior has been freely compared to that of the German fleet—afraid to fight it out. "Young Ahearn has thus been deprived of the opportunity of showing his countrymen just how good he is." Young Ahearn, over on this side of the water, always has been considered a joke heavyweight.

A recent edition of the Boxing World of London said:

"In spite of the war we may rest assured that the boxing game is not by any means dead. The National Sporting club will, I am informed on reliable authority, open its doors as usual early in the month of October. Jack Callaghan also is busy with the new boxing pavilion, which will be known as the West End Stadium."

Clabby Gets Busy.
San Francisco, Sept. 18.—Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, Ind., is out with a challenge here today to meet any middleweight in the world. With his manager, Larry Liebenstein, Clabby returned yesterday from Australia and immediately set forth his claims to the middleweight title. "We feel," said Manager Liebenstein, "that Clabby has the right to rank himself as middleweight champion of the world because of his victory over Eddie McGearty. And as such he stands ready to meet any one in the game the public feels is entitled to a chance. While we want to be reasonable in securing matches here I do feel that if the championship is involved, challengers should agree to meet Clabby at the middleweight limit of 158 pounds. "We are not tied up to any promoter or to any match. I am going to look around here and if the people want Clabby to box the winner of the Chip Murray match, that suits us. I expect to go to Los Angeles in two or three days to look over the field and see what offers there."

On the same boat with Clabby, came Joe Welling, a Chicago lightweight, also under Liebenstein; Milburn Saylor and his manager, Ray Bronson, and Lee Johnson of Oakland.

Herrman Is Silent.
Cincinnati, Sept. 18.—August Herrman, chairman of the National Baseball commission, would not say here today whether he intended writing the challenge of President Gilmore of the Federal league, in which Gilmore asked that the Federal pennant winning team be represented in the world's championship series. "I have nothing whatever to say at present," Herrman said, "but I may issue a statement later."

Kilbane and Attell.
Los Angeles, Sept. 18.—Abe Attell, former featherweight king, is due to start from New York today to prepare for his return engagement with Johnny Kilbane. "This is the chance I've been trying for ever since they took my title away," Abe telegraphed a friend here. "I am going to be on the ground early and you bet I'll be ready when the gong sounds."

Beecher and Dundee.
Los Angeles, Sept. 18.—Willie Beecher and Johnny Dundee, who will meet over the 20 round course on the night of September 28 are today in full swing of training. At the Western Athletic club Beecher, who is taking the match seriously goes through a strenuous daily grind, tearing after his sparring partners in real old fashioned style. He is one of the hardest training camp workers seen here. Dundee will do his first boxing for the coming match today at Doyles camp. From present indications Dundee will enter the ring a slight favorite in the betting over Beecher.

MARTY O'TOOLE

By A. M. Corrigan.

Red McGhee

Prize lances in the last few years are commoner Texas steers, but they ain't quite so cheap. These lances in the baseball mart come high as sin right at the start, and that don't count their keep. O'Toole, of New York, Martin J. has gained a lot of fame that way. He made the Pirates bite. He cost a quarter million dollars, ain't won a dozen games all told, ain't got no right. In a seven game series, Marty shined for Brockton, Mass. He was a find for Cincy's Reds that year. His right arm somehow, though, got miffed. In a night-eight he was cut adrift with no flowers on his bier. No one could ask a better start than "fired from Cincy." He took heart, burned up the A. A. trail. The home folks back in Pittsburg heard that Marty was a fancy bird and hustled for the sale. That bargain, though, was pretty sad. His quarter-million wing went had an one-winged birds fly lame. But Maggy bought an' hopes a hope that Marty will upset the dope an' come through just the same. O'Toole's an optimist. He thinks he'll yet assassinate his jinx an' show the high priest stuff. Far be it from me to play killjoy. You may starve yet, O'Toole, ol' boy, if given long enough.

French Lines Hold.
Paris, Sept. 18.—The battle continues; our lines are holding everywhere, was today's announcement from Paris military headquarters relative to the situation, from the Franco-British standpoint, in northeastern France.

Though the allies' lines were "holding," it was intimated that they had not been able to produce much impression on the Germans.

Fighting was said to be especially desperate along the allies' left, where the German generals, Von Kink and Von Buelow, were resisting a flanking movement.

The struggle progressed in a drizzling rain.

A SALEM INTERVIEW

Mr. Brown Tells His Experience.
The following brief account of an interview with a Salem man several years ago, and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen. P. W. Brown, farmer, 1309 State St., Salem, says: "Three years of millwright work in a damp atmosphere disordered my kidneys. I often had lumbago and soreness across the small of my back. When having an attack, I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a supply. They removed the backache and soreness, together with other symptoms of kidney trouble. All I said recommending Doan's Kidney Pills when I publicly endorsed them before, holds good. I use them occasionally when I have symptoms of kidney complaint and I never fail to get quick relief. Another of the family has also used Doan's Kidney Pills for kidney weakness, and has had the best of results." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Brown had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

MINERS ENTOMBED.
Salt Lake City, Sept. 18.—Rescuers were making frantic efforts today to reach the 12 men entombed late Thursday by a cave-in in the Centennial Entree mines, 1600 foot level. Grave fears were entertained that it would be impossible to reach them until too late.

GRAPHIC STORY OF ZEPPELIN'S NIGHT ATTACK ON ANTWERP

Perfection of Methods Makes Modern War the Refinement of Barbarism

FENCE OF BULLETS BUILT IN THE AIR

Airships Provide Means for Making War on Women and Children

(By William G. Shepherd.)

Antwerp, Sept. 8.—(By mail to New York).—Until the present European conflict began military experts were in the habit of saying that killing appliances had reached such a degree of perfection that war was becoming impossible.

It has not become impossible yet, however. Last night I watched a German Zeppelin dropping bombs into Antwerp and while it was true that the perfection of the method made war a very refinement of barbarism, there was nothing impossible about it.

As I saw the Zeppelin depart it seemed to me that the best argument against war was that it turned men into such merciless demons as the murderers it took with it.

The wildest flights of imagination couldn't approach what happened in Antwerp 12 hours ago.

Watching for Zeppelin. Early in the evening a Belgian captain took me the rounds of his company, stationed in the center of the city. His men were divided into small squads in a dozen streets. They were sitting on the sidewalks while their backs against the walls of buildings, drinking hot coffee which had been brought to them by automobile.

It seemed to me they were pretty well spread out to resist an attack, but the captain said there were 20,000 soldiers scattered about the city in the same way.

Later the reason became apparent. Not until one in the morning did the big red harvest moon sink. It left the streets in pitch darkness. The city was so tranquil and still that the crackle of the dry autumn leaves which had fallen from the eaves on the public square sounded loud. It was chilly, too, and the soldiers on the sidewalks were wrapped in their big overcoats, too-drowsy or too comfortable to challenge.

A Bird of Prey.
An hour and a half later I was awakened by soldiers talking excitedly beneath my window. But above the sound of their voices was another noise—a terrific whirring high in the air.

I jumped to the window and looked upwards. Far away there sounded a terrific explosion—a deep, booming roar.

A moment later a stark white whirring streak in the air like a shooting star, streaked across the sky. It sank into the sky line of roofs and another explosion sounded.

And then, up against the stars, perhaps a mile high, I saw the Zeppelin. There's a sick feeling of utter helplessness which goes with such a sight and with it a kind of fascination at the thought that the thing is not superhuman—that up there in the sky men, human beings, are working, carrying out orders, Germany part of the holiday season together.

King Albert's baby daughter loved the emperor so much, because he played with her, that she cried to go on his lap and was inconsolable when his visit ended.

anything that entered the zone above Antwerp. The big guns in the forts around the city began to boom. Aeroguns mounted on automobile trucks dashed about the streets.

It was a million Fourths of July rolled into one. In the midst of it all there were more of the big bass booms, the voices of the Zeppelins.

To the last, in the midst of the bullets and the superhuman confusion, the men in the Zeppelin had tried to stick in the jobs.

Two of the bombs fell close to the Red Cross hospitals. The others beat a tattoo on the fields around the wireless station, which the airmen evidently were trying to destroy.

The holes in the earth about the station were the size and the shape of cisterns. Ten minutes of firing had made the sky above Antwerp unhealthy. As the last bunch of bombs went over the side of the Zeppelin's ear the big airship rose and sped away.

The firing subsided slowly. Half an hour later the Zeppelin was reported 12 miles away.

Two children, and three women and five men had been injured, and three houses had been destroyed. Nearly all the terrified families in the city had taken refuge in cellars, for a week before the same Zeppelin had bombarded it and killed 12 persons.

The bullets fired by the soldiers came falling from the sky, but aside from breaking skeletons they did no damage. People on their way to work this morning picked up quantities of them to save as souvenirs.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or your urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

INDEPENDENCE NEWS

(Capital Journal Special Service.)
Independence, Ore., Sept. 17.—Mrs. J. S. Cooper, of this city, went to Dallas today to help arrange the local school exhibit at the Polk county fair, which opens in Dallas Thursday morning.

Jess Oakley and Miss Moe were married by Dr. H. Chas. Dunmore, at the Presbyterian parsonage, this morning. The maiden and father of the bride were the only ones present, in addition to the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Oakley will live south of this city.

Hal Hibbs is back from the mountains, where he has been on a hunting and fishing trip. He reports few fish and fewer deer.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Simpson, of Lebanon, motored down from that city the latter part of last week and took their son home with them. He had become sick while picking hops in California. Word was received today that Mrs. David Holt, who underwent a minor operation at the Salem hospital the first of the week, is getting along as well as could be expected, and will probably return home by the end of the week.

Another Polk county exhibitor of fine cattle is Guy Hewitt, a farmer and stock raiser south of this city. Mr. Hewitt has gone to the North Yakima fair, where he will exhibit 13 head of choice cattle this week, and will return for the Oregon state fair at Salem next week. Miss Luella Dugail, of Monmouth, has gone to Lone in Eastern Oregon, where she will teach school this winter. W. J. Miller, of Monmouth, passed through this city on his way to the east, where he will spend the next three months renewing acquaintances and looking over the scenes of his boyhood. Miss Catherine Campbell, sister to President P. L. Campbell of the State university at Eugene, has gone to Terrebonne, in eastern Oregon, where she will again teach school. This is her second year in this school.

VICTORY AT NANCY CLAIMED BY FRENCH

After Attack Lasting 18 Days Germans Make No Visible Battle Gains

Bordeaux, Sept. 18.—A French victory at Nancy was officially reported to the war office today by General Durand, commanding the Gallie forces there.

After 18 days attack, Durand said the Germans had ceased their assault. This was regarded as averting one serious danger.

It was reported that the kaiser spent some time at the front near Nancy, personally directing operations, so important did he consider it to capture the city.

President Poincaré ordered congratulations telegraphed to General Durand and Castelnau. The latter commanded the reinforcements sent to Nancy and his aid.

Following a meeting of the cabinet, it was stated that there were no indications of perceptible German gains on the allies' lines anywhere.

The hardest fighting today was said to be along the allies' left and at their center.

Members of the general staff pronounced the German positions very strong but said the French artillery was proving wonderfully effective against them.
