

Thirty-four Years of Successful Merchandising In Salem

FALL OPENING DISPLAY

You Are Cordially Invited

to attend our fall opening exhibit on Thursday, the twenty-fourth, at which time we will take pleasure in introducing our newly remodeled and enlarged store.

Very latest exclusive styles in Women's Garments will be shown in profusion and the new displays of fall merchandise in the different departments will prove very interesting.

Opening Sale of Beautiful Ribbons Thursday, Friday and Saturday

Grades Up to $1.25 a Yard
Take Your Choice for 47c a Yard

Here's a sale of ribbons that will eclipse any previous sale of a similar kind ever held in Salem. Our buyer bought these ribbons with the intention of having a rousing ribbon event during opening week. He found them in New York and bought them in such a way that we can offer to our patrons unusually beautiful ribbons in all the newest colorings at the astonishingly low price of 47c a yard.

These ribbons represent the season's most popular and much wanted kinds and are in widths up to eight inches. Offered as a special attraction in introducing our new, enlarged store Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Take Your Pick,
Per Yard 47c

A Grand Opening Sale of New Shimmering Silks Thursday, Friday, Saturday

Silks Worth Up to $1.50—
Opening Sale Price 79c a Yard

This great lot of exquisite silks were purchased with Fall opening time in view and we are sure this sale will prove a banner event on account of the excellent quality at such a surprising price.

This splendid purchase includes Poplins, Messalines, Tafetas, Surahs, etc., in brocaded, Dresden, Roman stripe and black and white effects; 24 inches wide. One of the greatest silk values we have ever offered to the women of Salem and vicinity. Attend this event, for such a sale as this does not happen often.

AMUSEMENTS.

BLIGH—State street, between High and Liberty—Motion pictures of "The Million Dollar Mystery," a great story, growing in interest. $10,000 will be given to the one who solves the mystery. See the film at the Bligh and read the story in The Capital Journal. Also comedies.

GLOBE—South side of State street, between High and Liberty—Motion pictures of a Broadway star feature, "Am-Dashed," in three reels, with Francis Bushman, Lillian Walker in a Vitagraph comedy, and Karl Kary in song.

VIOLIN CONCERT—June Reed, violinist of international fame, assisted by local talent, will play tonight in the Christian church.

Roy Phillips and A. C. Smith, both of this city, lost their sons yesterday evening. Each of the youngsters is about eight years old and last evening con- sidered to "go back to the farm," a road east on State street and on out into the country. This morning they were found near the D. N. Motzloff farm, which is about two miles east of the city.

Every "Hoosier" should attend the violin concert by June Reed at the Christian church this evening.

People in Salem who have friends in the East they would like to have the commercial club send literature to will find the officers of the club will gladly receive the names and send the literature and letters. A friend of J. L. Hodges, who is a prominent cattleman of Elk, Iowa, has given his name to the commercial club and literature is being sent him. The name of Judge Frank Doster, of Topeka, Kansas, was also sent in by one of his friends here and he will be sent material descriptive of the country.

Miss Hazel Kennedy, who formerly conducted a kindergarten at Olympia, Wash., has opened a similar school in Salem. For information phone 1075.

Officers of the Salem commercial club are trying to land the University of Oregon-Oregon Agricultural College football game for Salem this fall. The past few years this big intercollegiate game has been held at Albany, but it is believed that Salem is as central a place as Albany and efforts are being made to convince the managers of this fact. Unofficial comment by parties interested is favorable to the proposition and Salem may see this interesting struggle between the rival institutions.

Mrs. A. McCulloch, the optometrist, will move her office to the Hubbard building, October 3. Glasses correctly fitted.

Charles A. Hill, an attorney of Waukesha, Wash., was a Salem visitor yesterday. It was through the suggestion of Mrs. S. J. Dorsey, depot matron at the Oregon Electric depot, that he stopped longer in the city than at first intended, with the result that he met some old-time friends of his. He called up Rev. Porter of the Christian church and the two took a trip about the city. Governor West, who is a friend of Mr. Hill's brother, was visited and when he left he said he was much pleased with his stay in the Capital City.

I do not use drops nor drugs of any kind in examining eyes. My examinations are made by modern, safer and more accurate means, and by scientific methods that give the exact defect of vision and enable me to fit your eyes with glasses that will give you comfort and perfect satisfaction. Dr. M. P. Mendelsohn, 210-211 F. S. Bank Bldg., Salem, Oregon.

A free stereopticon lecture will be given at Willamette University tonight at 8 o'clock in Eaton Hall by Professor Dunn, head of the Latin department of the U. of O. The subject will be Virgil's "Aeneid" and is the first of a series of lectures which will be given this winter to the students and to which the public is invited. Prof. Dunn is an eloquent speaker and well versed in Latin lore and literature. He is a former member of Willamette University and has a host of friends here.

No trace of Paul Meyers, the 15-year-old boy who left home yesterday morning to attend school and did not show up at home afterward, has been found by the police officers although all parts of the city have been searched. Last night Officer Spencer searched the river bank, thinking the boy might have gone in swimming, but no evidence of him was found there. He had enough money in his pockets to pay for the school books he needed. Police Matron Lynch was notified and assisted in the search. His mother, who is prostrated, says he is not a bad boy and is not given to running away.
