EDDIE PLANK, GREAT ATHLETIC SOUTHPAW

Gettysburg Farmer Is Twirler Connie Mack Can Place the Most Dependence on in the World's Series.

That Eddie Plank is likely to duplicate his feat of last year, when he was the mainstay of the Athletics against the Giants, is believed by the best posted critics.
The next issue of the Baseball Magazine will contain the following history of Plank, who is termed "The Crossfire King."
Fifteen years ago Gettysburg College was the baseball sensation of the collegiate world. It was not that the team, as a whole, was so exceptionally strong, but the mighty left arm of a serious country boy brought them the sweets of victory, when oftentimes only the blow of defeat was expected.
Then came the game with Bucknell. The Lewisburg men, led by blonde-haired Christy Mathewson, had brushed by their opponents as easily as had the battlefield collegians and their incomparable Eddie Plank. So the contest resolved itself into a duel between the two greatest college pitchers of their day.
It was not Plank's fault that Gettysburg lost. The cunning of this green southpaw was fully the equal of the wizard skill of Mathewson, but his support crumbled, when steadiness was essential, and his arms wavered under the drags of unexpected defeat.
The unvarying hand of time moved steadily forward. Both Plank and Mathewson, winning major league berths, had risen to fame as the greatest exponents of their particular style or pitching that baseball had ever seen. Several times they had clashed, and on each occasion the "breaks" had fallen in favor of the blonde Bucknell alumnus. On last October, a decade and a half after Matty's first victory over his famous rival, they met again in a test of skill.
A victory for the Athletics would clinch the title of World Champions; one for New York would at least give a breathing spell to McGraw's sorely-tried warriors. And Eddie Plank, swarming up before the Philadelphia Jugout, glanced at the sweater-encased form of the idol of the metropolis, and swore grimly that he would win now, and wipe out at a blow the stigma of those other losses.
The history of that game is too well known to bear repeating. Mathewson, with the gameness that is characteristic of him, struggled desperately against the inevitable. But Plank could not be beaten. Never in any World's Series game had a twirler done so magnificently. Two scratch hits were all the Giant sluggers could earn, and when the dusk of an October night had veiled the Polo Grounds, Eddie Plank had not only brought the greatest title in baseball to Philadelphia, but had conquered the man whom he would have given his share of the series money to beat.
There is something about the great Gettysburg southpaw that irresistibly attracts you. His face is long, with something of the Yankee in its shrewd, kindly contours. There is the tensile strength of a steel spring in that lean length of his body, and when he is out there in the box, shooting his celebrated "cross-fire" across the rubber, every fan leans back in his seat and eagerly predicts a victory.
Plank's actions on the mound are peculiar to himself. He is deliberate, though not with the exasperating slowness of Roy Mitchell or "Slow Joe" Doyle. You see him glance at the outfielders, hitch up his trousers, pull down his cap, then his arm whirrs in a "side-wheel" motion, and the ball breaks in a white streak over the pan.
I was pitching for Gettysburg, and having pretty fair success against various college teams," said Plank, "when Connie Mack wrote me a letter, inviting me to come to Philadelphia for a try-out. It was the first year of the

WILLAMETTE TO GO IN BODY TO CORVALLIS

The Willamette University student body held the first rally of the school year this morning preparatory to attending the O. A. C. Willamette game at Corvallis next Saturday.
Arrangements have been made for securing a special train which will leave here next Saturday morning at 9:00 o'clock for the scene of the contest. The new athletic field at the agricultural college is to be dedicated with this game and the Willamette students will participate in the exercises.
Over 200 students have already signified their intention of making the trip and many of the alumni and local fans are also expected to make the trip.
While the "varsity team is far from the conference team class this year, they still retain the gameness of their predecessors and backed by practically the entire student body will go to Corvallis to put up the fiercest fight of the year.
The meeting this morning was a continual round of speeches in which representatives of all classes and student organizations reported the willingness of their respective bodies to give all possible assistance in making the trip a success. "Meet me at Corvallis Saturday," is the common greeting on the campus today.

PUGET SOUND BOATS THINK THEY ARE AUTOS

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 12.—The British steamship Strathgarry which went ashore on a sand spit in a dense fog, near Fort Townsend Sunday night, was floated at high tide yesterday afternoon and proceeded to Bremerton under her own power. She was not damaged.
In a sudden squall yesterday, the schooner Spokane, in tow, was driven ashore on Protection Island. It is believed she can be floated without damage.
The sound steamer Sioux was hauled off Dungeness spit yesterday with the assistance of two dredges, and three tugs. She proceeded to Seattle under her own steam. She had been on the spit since last Tuesday.

PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION MET

The first of the Parent-Teachers association meetings of the present school year was held last night at the Grant School and between 250 and 300 members were present to listen to the program, and to take part in the discussions which result in a closer cooperation of parents and teachers in the schools. Since the organization of the Grant School district association this body has provided a well equipped play ground for the children of the district and the hearty cooperation of the patrons of the district and the teachers has been furthered. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. E. Fisher, the president of the association.
The address of the evening was made by O. M. Elliott, the new superintendent of city schools. Mr. Elliott outlined some of his plans for the city schools of Salem and then proceeded to give the members present some good advice which his long experience has rendered valuable. The new pastor of the Jason Lee M. E. church also gave a short talk and Dr. C. H. Epley gave a reading. Miss Inez Dennison rendered a solo. A. Lee made a few remarks of encouragement. B. J. Miles delivered an address and Miss Mina Cook sang. After the program refreshments were served and the members departed looking forward to many more successful and helpful meetings.

5 Women Avoid Operations

For years we have been stating in the newspapers of the country that a great many women have escaped serious operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is true.

We are permitted to publish in this announcement extracts from the letters of five women. All have been recently received unsolicited. Could any evidence be more convincing?

- HODGSON, ME.—"I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached and I was so nervous I could not sleep, and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgson, Me.
- CHARLOTTE, N. C.—"I was in bad health for two years, with pains in both sides and was very nervous. I had a growth which the doctor said was a tumor, and I never would get well unless I had an operation. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I gladly say that I am now enjoying fine health."—Mrs. ROSA SIMS, 16 Wilona St., Charlotte, N. C.
- HANOVER, PA.—"The doctor advised a severe operation, but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it."—Mrs. ADA WILK, 166 Stock St., Hanover, Pa.
- DECATUR, ILL.—"I was sick in bed and three of the best physicians said I would have to be taken to the hospital for an operation as I had something growing in my left side. I refused to submit to the operation and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and it worked a miracle in my case, and I tell other women what it has done for me."—Mrs. LAURA A. GRISWOLD, 2300 Blk. East William Street, Decatur, Ill.
- CLEVELAND, OHIO.—"I was very irregular and for several years my side pained me so that I expected to have to undergo an operation. Doctors said they knew of nothing that would help me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I became regular and free from pain. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GARRETT, 7306 Madison Av., Cleveland, O.

ARIZONA NATIONAL GUARD ORDERED OUT

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 12.—Governor Hunt today ordered the First Arizona National Guard to be ready to proceed at a moment's notice to Naco, Arizona, to protect the Arizona border from belligerent Mexican federalists and rebels. At the same time the governor advised the state department at Washington that he intends to protect American citizens at Naco.

EDUCATOR SAYS "LITTLE RED SCHOOL MUST GO"

It Has Done Great Work But Time Has Come for Bigger Consolidated Structure.
University of Oregon, Eugene, Oct. 12.—So far as the country school remains an institution of one room and one teacher it has become an anachronism in American life and must be changed to something different before the education it gives can be made adequate to the needs of the children living in the country today," says Dr. Joseph Schafer, professor of history at the University of Oregon, in an article on rural education which is being widely printed.

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS AND FOOD FERMENTATION

By a Stomach Specialist.
As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal. The real trouble, that which causes all the pain and difficulty, is excessive acid in the stomach, aggravated by food fermentation. Hyperacidity irritates the delicate lining of the stomach and food fermentation causes wind which distends the stomach abnormally, causing that full bloated feeling. This both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—and they comprise over 90 per cent of all stomach difficulties—the first and only step necessary is to neutralize the acid and stop the fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating, from one to two teaspoonfuls of bisaturated magnesia, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrective known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. Be sure to ask your druggist for the bisaturated magnesia, as I have found other forms utterly lacking in its peculiarly valuable properties.—F. J. G.

INDICATES TURKEY WILL JOIN GERMANY

Berlin, by wireless via Bayville, Oct. 12.—That the British ambassador at Constantinople had ordered the warden of the embassy to leave the city immediately was announced by the war office here today.
This was taken here as meaning that the Turks were about to take part in the war at once on allies of Germany and Austria-Hungary.
The Sultan it was stated, had refused the Anglo-Franco-British demand for the dismissal of the German officers in his navy.
A Sofia dispatch was quoted to the effect that a Russian fleet was steaming southward across the Black sea.

MAKES STUBBORN COUGHS VANISH IN A HURRY

Surprisingly Good Cough Syrup Easily and Cheaply Made at Home
If some one in your family has an obstinate cough or a bad throat or chest cold that has been hanging on and refuses to yield to treatment, get from any drug store 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex and make it into a pint of cough syrup, and watch that cough vanish.
Pour the 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 64 cents and gives you a full pint—a family supply—of a most effective remedy, at a saving of 85. A day's use will usually overcome a hard cough. Easily prepared in 5 minutes—full directions with Pinex. Keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste. Children like it.
It's really remarkable how promptly and easily it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals the inflamed membranes in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. A splendid remedy for bronchitis, winter coughs, bronchial asthma and whooping cough.
Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.
Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" and do not accept any other else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction goes with this preparation or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
