OREGON ELECTRIC'S SPLENDID SHOWING

The total operating revenues of the Oregon Electric railway for the year ending June 30, 1914, was $1,181,804.15, of which $1,154,216.18 is credited to transportation revenues and $27,587.95 to revenues other than transportation. The total operating expenses for the year amounted to $804,636.79, a balance of $377,167.45 in favor of receipts over expenses. The ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues was 68.98 per cent or 31.92 per cent on the credit side of the ledger. These figures are obtained from the annual report of the railway company to the railroad commission, received yesterday afternoon, and they speak volumes for the wave of prosperity which continues to sweep over the Willamette valley in a narrow district served by a total of 164.54 miles of railroad lines.

In striking contrast to this display of prosperity for the heart of the valley comes the year's record of the United Railways company, another electric urban branch of the Great Northern system which operates from Portland into the northern part of Washington county for a distance of 33.72 miles, which shows a total revenue of $123,853 from transportation for the year against $205,993 operating expenses, or a net operating deficit of $82,140. The ratio of operating expenses to operating revenues was 166.75 per cent or 66.75 per cent to the bad. This difference, however, is accounted for by the fact that the United Railways line operates through a sparsely settled, rough and undeveloped section of the northern extremity of the valley and the expense of operation per mile of line is much greater than that of the Oregon Electric.

The total cost for road and equipment to date of the United Railways for less than 34 miles of line was $4,341,350 or $127,520 per mile and the capital outstanding of the system per mile of line is $12,974. The total cost of road, equipment and general expenses of the Oregon Electric to closing date of the report was $10,027,142.80 for 155 miles of line or $64,691.25 per mile and the amount of capitalization per mile of line was $29,312.50.

The total capital stock of the Oregon Electric outstanding, June 30, 1914, was $2,550,000 of an authorized capital of $10,400,000, of which $1,850,000 represented common stock, $200,000 preferred stock and $500,000 deferred stock, and a dividend of 6 per cent was declared upon the $200,000 preferred stock amounting to $12,000. The funded debt was $2,900,000 of an authorized $10,000,000 issue and the amount of interest accrued and paid during the year at 5 per cent interest, was $100,000. The amount of mortgage carried per mile of line is $12,942.

The amount of surplus earnings on hand for the Oregon Electric at the close of the report year was $605,287 or a decrease of $55,437.62 in the surplus on hand at the close of the previous year. The total amount of salaries paid was $436,164.40.

DRILLING FOR OIL IN POLK COUNTY

(Capital Journal Special Service.)
Dallas, Ore., Oct. 15.—Drilling for oil at the Whitaker farm near this city, which has been going on for the past several days, is progressing very satisfactorily, the hole having been sunk about 11 feet since the operations were resumed. It is the intention of the company to drill about eight or 10 feet deeper and by that time it is hoped that a good flow of oil will be reached. The well at the present time is about 1200 feet deep and it was around this depth that a good flow of oil was reached in the first well sunk by the Oregon Oil & Pipe Line company, F. L. Kelly, of Seattle, an expert driller, is in charge of the work.

NEW BUENA CREST SCHOOL DEDICATION

(Special to the Capital Journal.)
Quincy, Ore., Oct. 9.—The meeting held at the new school here tonight was an unrivaled success from every point of view and proved conclusively that the spirit of co-operation and good fellowship is strong in this prosperous community.

The name of the new $2500 school is Buena Crest. The name means beautiful view and has reference to the elevation upon which the school stands and which commands an unrivaled view of the surrounding country.

The amount netted by refreshments was $18.50.

County Superintendent Smith spoke in a happy vein, and impressed the thought that great things would be expected to emanate from this magnificent school and that it was all for the children.

Mr. William Egan gave one of the finest talks upon the history of the community and building site that many had ever had the opportunity to hear. His bright, optimistic views filled the large crowd with enthusiasm. Old grudges were forgotten and harmony and good will prevailed.

State Superintendent Churchill delivered a magnificent address. He prophesied that this school would become a social center of great power for good. He said there must be unity and harmony of a high order among those workers or such a fine and thoroughly modern building could not have been erected.

The orchestra from Salem was thoroughly enjoyed. They rendered a number of choice selections.

Probably one of the finest numbers on the program was the splendid song, "Where the River Simons Flows," rendered by Albert Egan in his matchless style and encored three times by his appreciative listeners.

Among the interesting events of the evening was the vote taken upon the proposed name of the school. Among the names suggested were the following: Oregon school, Rose Acres, Willamette school, Quincy-Hopmore school, Middleview, Oakview, Midway school, Union school, Dunway school, Homer Davenport school, Quineta, Quineta, and one was suggested that he called the Tugowear school.

The final selection fell upon Buena Crest, which was thought to be both beautiful and suggestive.

J. C. McFarland, Bruce Jones, Wm. Egan and Albert Egan comprise the members of the board, and they were all complimented by State Superintendent Churchill for their excellent work.

The Misses Eva and Neva Tanquary, of Quincy, are guests of Annaville friends for a few days.

W. F. A. Gellately, sheriff of Benton county, was an over-Sunday visitor at the Tanquary home at this place.

The large Sunday school which meets at the Buena Crest new school, continues to increase in numbers and will no doubt prove of great benefit to the country side, centrally located as it is, comfortably housed and with the addition of the beautiful new organ purchased last week.

John Johnsonburg, the bean raiser on the Frank Ford place, says that his crop of this staple is the lightest the present year that he has ever raised owing to drought conditions the past summer. The quality, however, is of the highest. It is anticipated that the demand for beans will be great this year owing to war in other lands, and this staple product is one of the principle articles of diet of all nations during war.

Mr. Johnsonburg's 32 acres of sweet corn continues to look promising, and he expects to have a fine crop. He will finish the corn for the Oregon Canning Co. of Salem.

LAYS BLAME ON ENGLAND.

Washington, Oct. 15.—That England is responsible for Belgium's participation in the present European war was the declaration today of German Ambassador Von Bernstorff. "England instigated Belgium to go to war," said Von Bernstorff, "and when the time came to protect the unfortunate little country it was left on its own resources. England's denial of an Anglo-Belgian military agreement proves nothing. Documents now in the hands of German authorities will be published fully later. The fact remains that the so-called neutral country concluded its military agreement, England proving it by landing troops on this 'neutral' territory."

SIGNS ANTI-TRUST BILL.

Washington, Oct. 15.—President Wilson today signed the Clayton anti-trust bill. It completes the administration's present program of "big business" legislation.

DOINGS AT SALEM COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Pacific international live stock exposition will be held in North Portland from December 7 to 12. This show has been a prime factor in the upbuilding of the live stock industry in the state. The railroads have made a very large rate covering the attendance of the show, and Mr. O. M. Plummer, manager of the show, expects a large attendance from the Salem territory. The exposition is strictly an educational one and there are no wild west stunts connected with it. There is no admission charge and the show is well worth the railroad fare. Further information can be secured from the club.

Mr. D. C. Freeman, publicity agent for the Spokane, Portland & Seattle railroad, writes for several hundred more cheap land bulletins. He says that the publication is just what the railroads need to let the prospective settlers know the condition of land in the state.

A committee is coming from the manufacturers and land products show in Portland the first of next week to boost for the Salem day. Members of the committee will speak at several public meetings arranged by the club and will give the people an idea of what the show really is. The committee will try and arrange an excursion from Salem to boost in Portland on Salem day.

If anyone having suggestions for boosting Salem at the manufacturers and land products show will communicate with the club we will do our best to carry them out. It is often the little ideas that are suggested that attract the most attention. Help us to originate new stunts for the show.

MAKES FACE YOUNG—TIGHTENS LOVE TIES

A fretful expression, a wrinkled face and a faded complexion, do more to drive the male members from home than is commonly supposed. It was one of my greatest difficulties to appear smiling, fresh and elegant when my dear ones were with me. But I have overcome all that. I have changed my mental attitude and I now find it second nature to look cheerful. Due partly to this, partly to a remarkable treatment recommended by a friend, my appearance has so improved I look fifteen years younger than before.

A simple face lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered salolite in a half-pint witch hazel, proved a wonderful wrinkle-chaser. I still use this occasionally. To renovate my complexion I purchased an ounce of ordinary mercantile wax at my druggist's and before using this up, a marvelous transformation had taken place. It was like removing an unsightly mask, revealing a new face, a youthful complexion of distinctive delicacy, clear, white and velvety. I merely applied the wax like cold cream before retiring, washing it off mornings. Ten days' treatment sufficed.—"Aurilla" in Clubwoman.

One bottle of beer was the men's only sustenance.

They were picked up by the schooner Tillamook, off this port late yesterday nearly dead from starvation and exposure.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wallace, Miss Lockwood and Mrs. George Scott, were in the city yesterday.

W. R. Shinn, from Polk county, is in Salem today, registered at the High.

S. L. Wakefield, a business man of Portland, is looking over the city.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Hubbs, of Silvertown, are in the city. Mr. Hubbs is the proprietor of a sawmill and sash and door factory in Silvertown.

J. L. Course, of Hillsboro, is a Salem visitor.

"Doc" Stewart, the etic diets in thietics of the Oregon Agricultural College, has informed Ralph Moores, secretary of the Salem Commercial club, that he looks with favor upon the proposition to play the annual U. of O. A. C. football game in this city. Stewart estimates, however, that other towns have offered a bonus to be permitted to stage the contest. Moores states that Salem has plenty of advantages to offer, but no bonus.

When a Man's Waist Measurement

Becomes greater than his chest, he begins to mistrust his tailor. That is when the cutter who can draft a pair of trousers that set well, hang correctly, and won't draw when he sits down or steps upstairs, is a real treasure to the big waisted fellow. The coat, too, makes a world of difference when skillfully modeled to tone down that corpulency. My tailoring corrects all of nature's defects.
