CANCER

Positively and painlessly removed in brief time without the knife or money refunded.

Address, Dr. H. B. Bonner, Box 235, North Yakima, Wa., Dept. J.

The success attained at Astoria last Tuesday by volunteer workers on the construction of a road to the top of Coquihem DM was such that many are in favor of setting aside another day, when the highway can be completed.

BRAVES' BACKERS BAGGED BOODLE

Stallings Plays Hunches and Points Out That the Team That Won the Toss in Selecting Place Lost.

FANS TAKE HIS HUNCHES ALSO

Clabby and Chip to Meet This Month for 20-Round Go.

(By Hal Sheridan.)

New York, Oct. 15.—The Royal Roosters of Boston, 200 strong, are said to have cleaned up thousands of dollars by the defeat of Connie Mack's Athletics by the Boston Braves. They got their money down on the first day the series opened and got 2 to 1. The roosters put their money down immediately after their arrival in Philadelphia and following a statement issued to the newspaper men by Manager George Stallings.

"I know," he said, "people will say I am superstitious, and perhaps I am, but I feel absolutely certain that Boston will take the series from the Athletics because we lost the toss of the coin with Mack to see where the opening game of the series should be played. It is a fact that of the nine winners of the toss to decide where the opening games should be played, seven have been losers in the world's series since 1883.

"In 1905 the Athletics won the toss but lost to the Giants, and in 1911 and last year the Giants won the toss but were beaten in the series. In 1909 the Cubs won the toss but they were badly beaten.

"In the next two years the Tigers won the toss but were beaten each time by the Cubs. The Pirates in 1909 won all the way through, and the Athletics in 1910, did, but they are the exceptions to the rule following the toss ups.

"The newspaper boys have dubbed me the 'hunch' manager, and I reckon they are right."

Petroskey and Murray.
San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Sailor Ed Petroskey and "Fighting Billy" Murray will meet here in a 20-round bout about the middle of November, according to announcement here today by Matchmaker Louis Parente, representing Promoter Eddie Graney. A deal with the two middleweights was closed last night, although for a time it appeared they would be unable to get together on the weight question. They finally agreed to make 160 pounds at 6 o'clock.

Strike One for Jimmy.
Chicago, Oct. 15.—Jimmy Archer, one of the star catchers of the Chicago National league club, was out on bail today on a charge of assault preferred by George E. Wolfson, aged 29 years, a rug manufacturer. Wolfson says Archer struck him at the close of Tuesday's game between the Cubs and White Sox. Archer said Wolfson assaulted Mrs. Archer but Wolfson denied the charge.

Clabby and Chip.
San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Jimmy Clabby, of Hammond, Ind., and George Chip, of Newcastle, Pa., middleweights, will meet here the latter part of this month in a 20-round bout. All obstacles were swept away yesterday when Chip agreed to weight in at 158 at 6 o'clock, the hour and poundage named by Clabby. Promoter James W. Coffroth already has wired transportation to Clabby and his manager and was expected to name the date of the bout some time today. It probably will be staged on the evening of the 20th.

Two Scraps Tonight.
San Francisco, Oct. 15.—Two 20-round bouts between lightweights will be staged at Daly City tonight by Promoter James W. Coffroth. In the first "Fighting Dick" Hyland, of San Francisco, and Red Watson, of Los Angeles, will meet in a return match. The last time out they met in a four-round bout and the referee rendered a draw decision, although a majority of the spectators thought Hyland won.

A third bout will follow the Watson-Hyland affair and then Milburn Saylor, of Indianapolis, will clash in a 20-round bout with Eddie Moy. Saylor is said to be of championship calibre and he took on this match with Moy lost to show San Francisco fans what he can

HARVEY'S LITTLE JOKE ON WILSON

Colonel Tells a Canard Story Which Makes the President Roar.

Washington (D. C.) Cor. New York Mail. There are those who would have given no small sum to have been within hearing distance while President Wilson and Colonel George Harvey were conversing in the White House. Mutual friends need to say that it was as good as a play to watch the flashes that sprang from a crossing of those two freest of minds over a luncheon table.

Official etiquette forbids divulgence of presidential conversations, but a friend of a friend of a prominent inmate of the White House says that a little bird told him that Mark Twain's name came up in some connection, and "Colonel Harvey remarked casually that there still lives persons who had never heard of the great humorist. The president found this almost incredible. "Oh, yes," the colonel continued. Only yesterday, here in Washington, I met such a one. He was an officer-sucker. He declared positively he had never heard of Mark Twain. I asked him about Tom Sawyer. No, he had never heard of him, either. Nor Huzza Finn! No, never. Nor Pudd'nhead Wilson! "Oh, Lord, yes," he ejaculated, "I voted for him."

PORTUGAL MAY ONLY HELP IN AFRICA

London, Oct. 15.—Nothing further had been heard today concerning Portugal's plans relative to the war. Should the Portuguese lend their aid to the British, it was expected it would be limited to South Africa, and this, it was said, would not necessarily mean war with Germany, as technically it would amount only to helping in the suppression of a revolt.

Japanese Sailors Perform Daring Feat

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 15.—A story of the daring of three Japanese sailors who braved death to blow up three German floating mines off Tsingtau last month, reached Seattle yesterday, with the arrival of the liner Yokohama Maru, of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha line.

The sailors were from the Japanese destroyer Kaguro, which arriving off Kaguro, found the water heavily mined. An attempt by the vessel's commander to blow up the mines was unsuccessful.

The commander decided to launch a boat, a feat that would endanger his vessel, because of the heavy fire from the German forts.

The three sailors then stepped up and volunteered to destroy the mines. Promptly they leaped overboard, and swimming to the mines in the face of volleys of shots which fell around them, they attached devices which made it possible to explode the mines at long range. They returned to their vessel in safety.

HOW HE SUPPORTED HER.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 15.—After testifying that while her husband, Henry A. Scheidman, now pastor of a church in Pasadena, pursued his theological studies, he "allowed divine Providence to take sole charge of her support," Mrs. Alice Scheidman was granted a divorce here by Judge Sloane. The charge was desertion.

KILLING OF MALES DESTROYS FLOCKS

That the law which forbids the killing of Chinese pheasant hens and limits the daily bag of the sportsman to five China cocks during the open season, designed for the protection and perpetuation of the breed, is slowly but surely working to the ultimate extermination of the male of the species and final extinction of the breed by leaving the state with a big supply of hens, without power of reproduction, is the consensus of opinion of sportsmen all over the state and a petition will be made to the next legislature for remedial legislation. The question will probably come up for discussion at the next meeting of the fish and game commission tomorrow.

The fact that the present law is confiscatory instead of protective in the proper sense of the term is borne out by the farmers of the valley who state that, owing to the rapid depletion of the male birds, hundreds of nests are allowed to rot during the breeding season which contain whole settings of unhatched and unfertilized eggs. The number of unhatched eggs that have been found by the farmers in their fields has been steadily on the increase since the "hen protection" law went into effect until the danger of ultimate and certain extermination has become pronouncedly apparent to all who have occasion to observe the effect of the law.

It is also a fact that, at present, the female pheasants outnumber the males in proportion to about 10 to one and, after the first few days of the open season, the hunter who bags the limit of male birds is either exceedingly lucky or has to resort to the very unsportsmanlike and unlawful practice of "putting" the birds in the fields from the public highway. The conditions have become such that hunters, in disappointed desperation, have begun to throw respect and regard for the law to the winds and shoot at everything that jumps up in front of them regardless of sex or consequences. This is especially true with the farmer who enjoys hunting and has developed epicurean tastes for the deliciously toothsome meat of the China pheasant, and who, although they do not have to pay license to hunt upon their own land, demand their quota of the game which feeds and lives upon their labor.

State Game Warden Evans said the game commission have no voice in the matter, although they may realize the injustice and evil effects of the law, but to see to its strict enforcement until changed by the legislature, but they are being besieged from all sides with complaints and Hicks from sportsmen and farmers alike until they realize that something must be done to relieve the situation before another season opens. They are also offered divers solutions to the problem, all of which are being preserved in the files of the department and in memory for future use in framing their recommendations to the legislature.

BURNED AT LAUNCHING.

Trieste, via Havre, Oct. 15.—The new Austrian dreadnaught which was to have been launched here this afternoon was mysteriously burned today. With it, six new torpedo boats were badly damaged by fire.

Fourteen hundred employees of the shipyard were just engaged in the final work preliminary to the launching when it was discovered that both the dreadnaught's hull and the scaffolding about it were burning. The flames spread with great rapidity and had done their work of destruction before it was possible to get them under control. It was deemed certain that spies started the fire.

Late Yesterday

At Rome.—The pope appointed Cardinal Merry Del Val secretary of the congregation of the holy office.

At New York.—A passenger on the steamship Finland, Miss Christabel Panhurst, the English suffragette, arrived in America incognito.

At New York.—It was announced that the $150,000,000 fund Southern bankers and planters have been raising to finance the cotton crop was assured.

At San Francisco.—It was announced Clarence E. Stone had been appointed general traffic manager of the Great Northern Pacific Steamship company, with headquarters in San Francisco.

At Millville, Cal.—News was received of considerable property damage through no loss of life by a tornado, believed to be Shasta county's first, between Millville and Bear creek.

At Washington.—There being no Italian-American naturalization treaty, the state department held native Italians are liable to military service at home, even though naturalized in this country.

Need Newspapers, They Admit

"Our company can advertise their products nationally until it is blue in the face, but it cannot produce results for the local dealer unless he advises prospective customers where the machines can be bought in his particular territory."

This is an extract from a letter being sent out by a large manufacturer, who believes he is a national advertiser.

He is spending thousands of dollars for advertising and yet he admits that if the dealers do not in turn use their home newspapers it is lost money. The lesson is obvious.

THE DAILY NEWSPAPER IS THE DIRECT ROUTE FROM PRODUCTION TO SALE.

No advertising campaign—national or local—can succeed without the newspapers.

BANKERS ASSOCIATION MAY MEET IN SEATTLE

Richmond, Va., Oct. 15.—That either Seattle or San Francisco will capture the 1915 convention, with the chances favoring Seattle, was the belief here today of the delegates to the convention of the American Bankers' association. Los Angeles also was making a determined effort to secure the convention.

William Law, a vice-president of the association, will be elected president this afternoon. James K. Lynch, of the First National bank of San Francisco will be elected vice-president this afternoon, and will become president of the association in 1915.

The last business meeting of the convention will be held today.
