ROD AND GUN CLUB DOING GOOD WORK

The members of the Capital City Rod and Gun club are regarding their aiming eyes, according to the improvement in the scores of last Sunday's trap shoot over those made at the previous meeting. As the Thanksgiving turkey shoots are approaching the local marksmen are preparing to bring home either heavy winnings or good excuses. In last Sunday's shoot Arvil Wilson and Mark Siddall were the high guns with records of 24 blue rocks broken out of 25 shot at. In the following scores each man shot at 100 birds:

Player	Score
Arvil Wilson	89
Siddall	85
Whorley	83
Mintze	78
Dairymple	70
King	70
Galver	65
Anderson	60
Townsend	58
Howerton	55
Hawthorn	55

WELSH UNABLE TO BEST CHICAGO MAN

In Last Two Rounds White Mauled the Champion Almost at Will

WITWASKEE, Wis., Nov. 10.—The question of supremacy between Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion of the world, and Charlie White, of Chicago, was still undecided today despite their 10-round clash here last night, which ended in a draw. Sport writers of Chicago, White's home town, were asserting today that White was decisively and should be recognized as the legitimate lightweight champion. Unbiased spectators, however, were agreed that the fight was a draw, and, were decidedly inclined in Milwaukee, it is certain that no fair-minded referee would have given White the victory on the strength of his work last night. The first round was practically even, each man feeling out the other, but White outboxed and outpunched the champion in the second and third sessions. From the fourth to the eighth round, however, White was bewildered by Welsh's speed and cleverness. The efforts of the Chicago scrapper to land on the elusive Welshman were ludicrous. White was given a boxing lesson in these four rounds, Freddie pepper him with stinging lefts and rights to the head and body.

Welsh Meets His Match

White, however, woke up in the ninth round and mauled Welsh into a defensive attitude. The Chicagoan brought the blood in a stream from the champion's nose and mouth but Welsh was not seriously hurt and the close of the session found the two men fighting on even terms.

The tenth was White's best round. He jumped from his corner and battered Welsh continuously with a succession of lefts and rights while thousands of cheering spectators pleaded for a knock-out. Welsh was outfought at every angle of the game in this round, but White's margin was no greater than Welsh's in the fourth, fifth and seventh rounds. White rocked Welsh in the closing round with rights and lefts to the head, shifting his attack frequently to the body, and the champion backed up under the punishment he received. Welsh, however, was cool under fire and fought back gamely. The round was White's by a mile, but at no time during the last three minutes of fighting was Welsh in real distress. It must be admitted, however, that White put up a remarkable exhibition in view of the fact that he was out-weighted six pounds by Welsh. His work clearly entitled him to another chance at the title in a longer bout. White proved that he is a splendid two-fisted scrapper and also that he has as good a chance as any other lightweight in the game of relieving Welsh of his title.

COFFROTH MAY GET IN BASEBALL GAME

Knocking Out of Ring Events in California May Turn Him to Ball

(By Hal Sheridan.)
New York, Nov. 10.—What's to become of James W. Coffroth, the world's best known fight promoter, now that the game has been killed in California? Will he locate in New York, Milwaukee or New Orleans, where the game still flourishes?

Coffroth most probably will continue to make his home in California. He is wealthy and does not have to depend on the fight game for a livelihood. "Sunshine Jim" is interested in a number of paying projects in California and he may yet purchase the San Francisco baseball club. The fans of the Pacific coast metropolis are hoping that he does, for they know Coffroth will give the city a winner. He is that sort of a man. Baseball, with Coffroth at the helm in San Francisco, would recover from its present slump, so far as that city is concerned. Coffroth also is a power in politics in San Francisco, and he feels more at home there than any other place on earth. He also feels certain that the fight game will again flourish in California at the expiration of two years, when another election on the prohibition of prize fights may be held. He figures that a reaction will have set in by then and that an amendment legalizing 10-round bouts will carry by an overwhelming majority.

Lovers of the game already are figuring on a way to get around the law and continue to stage four-round bouts. The amendment just passed prohibits a purse of any sort, but the winner may receive a trophy valued at not more than $25. There is nothing, however, to prevent a representative of the promoter buying the trophy for $500 or more. The law is certain to be given a thorough test before the game is allowed to die, although Coffroth may not actively figure in the test cases. He will, however, furnish the sinews of war to make the test.

SMALL-POX IN THE NAVY.

The recent revelations of an outbreak of small-pox on the battleship Ohio must have seriously embarrassed the medical interests that are known to be back of the propaganda for a federal department of health.

During the past few years vaccination has been rigidly enforced in the army and navy by the government medical authorities. Enlisted men who were opposed to vaccination have been court-martialed and sentenced to imprisonment and dishonorable discharge. The plea of the sailor that he had a right to refuse to permit disease germs to be injected into his healthy blood, was overruled by the federal physicians on the ground that vaccination was an established preventive of small-pox and that the goal of the service demanded that every sailor be satisfactorily inoculated. The anti-climax of this campaign to illustrate the value of vaccination as a preventive remedy, came a few weeks ago when a small-pox epidemic occurred on the battleship Ohio. Twenty-eight sailors who had previously been vaccinated were attacked by the disease, five of the number dying.

There has developed within the past few years a marked public sentiment against what appears to be an insistent attempt to create state medicine in the federal government, by means of which through bureaus and departments, has been able apparently to force the treatment of this school upon persons opposed to its theory and practice. Those who hold these views insist that the small-pox epidemic on the Ohio does not prevent small-pox, or the government medical service was unreliable and faulty in the matter of vaccine inoculation.

Those who oppose the rapid increase in departments, bureaus and permanent boards in government, on the ground that they tend to undermine democracy, point to this as a typical illustration of the claim that bureaucratic rule is always liable to become arbitrary and discriminatory and in time to become inefficient. Whatever may be said in justification of this tendency, on the grounds of efficiency, in departments of the service where there are no contending theories striving for recognition, it would seem apparent that sweeping or autocratic power should not be delegated to bureaus or officials of one school of thought.

HAUSER BROS. TEAM DEFEATED THE ELKS

The Hauser Bros. bowling team won from the Elks team in the city bowling league last night in a hotly contested game on the Club alleys, the Hausers taking the first two and the Elks the last game. Blanchard, of the Hausers, rolled the high game, 199, and also maintained the high average, 187.

The next game of the series will be between the Printers and the Grocers, who will bowl tonight on the Electric alleys. Both of these teams are tied for last place in the city percentage column and the game promises to be a thriller.

The games of the city league have aroused considerable interest in bowling in this city and all of the teams are rolling better scores than at the first of the season. The Willamette valley league teams are more evenly matched than was thought at the opening of the season and the competition for the bowling pennant has brought out some of the best talent in the valley.

Though bowling is an ideal sport in the mind of Art Lafar, a well-known local bowler, it is as uncertain as the colored war news from the front. When the Electric team went to Corvallis to play the Corvallis Juniors, the Electricists took the first game with ease. Lafar considered the contest won and the doubt arose in his mind as to whether it would be necessary to roll more than two games to decide the match. He accented "Pop" Weyman and asked him if the boys should finish the match. Corvallis finished the next two games straight, and now Lafar says he will express an opinion until he reads an account of the game in the newspaper the next day.

The scores of last night's match are:

Player	1	2	3	Total	Avg.
Hauser Bros.	178	187	135	500	167
L. Price	190	160	161	511	170
Donaldson	144	167	148	459	153
Key	129	153	164	446	149
Blanchard	182	180	199	561	187
Totals	823	847	770	2440	163

Player	1	2	3	Total	Avg.
Skiff	153	157	158	468	156
Frank	177	147	129	453	151
Ralph	166	122	132	420	140
Hussey	151	191	140	482	161
Pratt	135	169	196	500	167
Totals	802	747	778	2327	155

The standing of the city league team is as follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Per.
Watt Shipp	8	1	.890
Globes	6	3	.667
Elks	6	6	.500
Hausers	6	6	.500
Printers	2	7	.222
Grocers	2	7	.222

THOMAS CALLAHAN OF CORVALLIS VICTIM OF APOPLECTIC STROKE

Corvallis, Ore., Nov. 10.—Thomas Callahan died of apoplexy Sunday afternoon at his home in Corvallis. In the morning he attended a meeting of the board of directors of the Benton County National bank and to all appearances was in perfect health when the board adjourned at 11 o'clock. Deceased was born in Vancouver, Wash., July 9, 1860. Twenty-six years ago, November 15, he was married to Ida Barnett, daughter of Judge John Burnett of Corvallis. For some years Mr. Callahan attended the public schools of Portland. His family moved from Portland to Albany while he was a boy, at which place George Chamberlain, now senator Chamberlain, christened him "Pete," by which name he had since been designated. His twin sister married J. M. Nolan. Mr. Callahan had been associated with Mr. Nolan in business for the past 30 years, 31 years of which was in Corvallis as J. M. Nolan & Co. About four years ago he withdrew from the firm as a partner and had since remained as one of the employees of J. M. Nolan & Son. Mr. Callahan had represented the city of Corvallis in many ways.

U. S. WOOL MEN WANT AUSTRALIAN BAN ENDED

Washington, Nov. 10.—Representatives of the National Wool Manufacturers' association appealed to the state department today to ask Great Britain to modify the Australian embargo on wool to all countries except the mother country and to permit shipments to the United States.

They contend the manufacturing industry in this country will be badly crippled for lack of wool from Australia, which furnishes almost half of the raw material used here, and that Great Britain should be urged to allow exports under a guaranty that none of the wool would be re-exported to Germany or Austria or where it might fall into the hands of Great Britain's enemies. State department officials promised to take the question up with the British ambassador here.

GETS-IT," 2 Drops, Corn Vanishes!

The Only Sure Ender of All Corns.

Desperate, are you, over trying to get rid of corns? Quit using old formulas under new names, bandages, winding-tapes and cotton rings that make a fat little package out of your toe.

This is the Grip of the Hearty Cornless Footiety of "GETS-IT."

Quit punishing your feet by using too-cutting knives and ointments.

To use knives, files, saws and razors, slicing and hacking at a corn, only make it grow fatter and bigger. It also brings danger of bleeding and blood poison. The new way, the new principle never known before in corn history, is "GETS-IT." It's a liquid — 2 drops on a corn does the work. Pain goes, the corn begins to shrivel and out it comes! You apply it in two seconds. Nothing to stick, nothing to hurt, and it never fails. Try "GETS-IT" tonight on corns, calluses, warts or bunions.

"GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

SUPREME ASSEMBLY OF ARTISANS CLOSES

Portland, Ore., Nov. 10.—Barely a score of delegates to the supreme assembly of the United Artisans sufficed to transact the business of the quadrennial session of that order which closed its deliberations at the Imperial Hotel Saturday. But it was a duly authorized body and as its final task related H. S. Hudson supreme master artisan; F. S. Aikin, supreme inspector; C. L. McKenna, supreme secretary, and J. W. Mills, supreme treasurer. Officers newly-elected were: Supreme superintendent, H. M. Smith; supreme conductor, Ivan Martin; supreme junior conductor, Edes Kirk; and supreme warder, E. E. Van Alstine.

These officers will hold for four years, or until the next quadrennial assembly.
