Katharyne L. Couper has filed a suit for divorce against her husband, George R. Couper, alias George R. Tabler, or Romeo Tabler, in the circuit court of this county. She alleges that he deceived her as to his being a man of means and a prosperous lawyer before their marriage and that he even failed to state his right name. They were married in Salem, July 26, 1913. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant appropriated certain property of hers to his own use of the value of $1000. She is the widow of George L. Clarke and asks that her name of Katharyne L. Clarke be returned.

N. D. Elliott, secretary and acting treasurer of the Marion county republican central committee, today filed the expense account for the campaign just closed. The report shows that the sum of $494.80 was expended, mostly for the advertising of mass meetings, handbills, ball rent and the distribution of pamphlets. None of the other political parties of the counties has filed an expense account to date.

The Studebaker Corporation of American today filed a suit against Davis Rees in the circuit court of this county. The plaintiff alleges that goods, wares and merchandise to the value of $1000.92 were delivered to the defendant and of this sum $149.92 yet remains unpaid. This amount is claimed to have been due on January 1, 1914, and the plaintiff asks for interest on this sum from that date in addition to the principal and court costs.

A suit for divorce was filed in the circuit court today by Bessie R. Smith against John E. Smith. The couple were married in Kansas in 1911. It is alleged in the complaint that the husband refused to work after he became a bankrupt and that the couple was obliged to live with the bride's parents. After the birth of a son, the plaintiff alleges that her husband refused to live with her, and made his home apart and refused to come with the family to Oregon. She asks for a decree of absolute divorce and the custody of their 18 months old son, John Wesley Smith.

GOOD WORK DONE AT STATE SANATORIUM

Report From Dr. Bellinger of Tuberculosis Sanatorium Is Encouraging

"Everything possible should be done to encourage those who come here to remain until all danger to society is past and every possible effort should be put forth to reach cases now mulling in public as a constant menace. Our plain duty in public service is to remove the source of infection from the social body of the state and yet maintain a discipline of personal hygiene and sanitation that will make the sanatorium the safest of public places," says Dr. G. S. Bellinger, superintendent of the tuberculosis sanatorium in his biennial report to the state board of control, which was received yesterday.

Dr. Bellinger's report is of a most encouraging nature and the success of the treatment during the past two years, considering the serious nature of the malady, has been most flattering. The statistical report shows that of the total number of patients under care and treatment during the past biennium, admitted and re-admitted, for pulmonary tuberculosis, fully 42 per cent have been discharged as cured, arrested or improved, and the success with standing that 50 per cent of the total number of patients under treatment for pulmonary tuberculosis was in the "far advanced" class.

Many Helped, Some Cured. "This institution is looked to as a source of scientific and practical information concerning tuberculosis and I hope we may be able to furnish the people of this state with such information, so that it will ultimately show results in a lowered death rate from this altogether too prevalent disease," says Dr. Bellinger. "I am asking that sleeping porches be provided for employees, especially the nurses. This could be done by lowering the third floor, which is now used as sleeping quarters for employees, with but small expense. It seems to me that it is an obligation we owe the nursing staff who have so patiently administered to the sick here, and at the same time it would net as a strong point in the education of the public to fight against this great white plague."

The daily population of the institution has increased from 41 to 60 during the past two years, the greater percentage of increase having been during the past year, and the per capita cost of maintenance has decreased from $42 to $30 during the past year in keeping with the increased population. The past year, according to the report, also shows a much larger per cent improved, arrested and cured, though Superintendent Bellinger says, "the number of late-stage cases received is still so high as to give us altogether too large a number of deaths."

Of the $50,000 appropriated for maintenance for the biennial period ending December 31, 1914, but $42,601.33 had been expended up to the close of the report period, September 30, leaving a balance of $7,398.67 to run the institution for the remaining three months. In making allowance for the gradual increase in population, the state board of control will recommend a biennial appropriation of $55,800 for the ensuing two years, $8,900 increase over the last period, and $10,200 will be recommended for providing more space and for repairs and improvements which the sanatorium is very much in need of.

Dr. Bellinger is much pleased with the generous treatment he received at the hands of the board of control and feels that, if the sums recommended are allowed by the legislature, he will be able to make a much better showing for the ensuing two years.

John F. Daws brought suit today in the circuit court against Nels O. Tokstad, charging in his complaint that the defendant unlawfully withheld possession of a strip of land seven feet wide at one end and 16 at the other along the west side of the plaintiff's property. On this account the plaintiff alleges that he is damaged in the sum of $150. On account of a previous suit over the line fence he claims that he was damaged to the extent of $200 by the alleged refusal of the defendant, Tokstad, to remove the fence, and Daws seeks damages in the aggregate of $450 and the costs of the action.
