Social and Personal Notes

By Mollie Runcorn

Salem's contribution for the big Christmas ship which sails for Europe on the 22nd of this month, was liberal and enthusiastically made. The effort originated locally by Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Spencer, of the Leslie M. E. church, spread rapidly until interest was general all over the city, and had it been suggested earlier the shipment, which was completed today, would have equalled any sent by cities of similar size throughout the United States. People from all parts of Salem responded promptly, and one neighborhood gathered in afternoon sessions for several days, fashioning clothing and dozens of articles of wearing apparel. Mr. Spencer states that the articles received were of the best quality, and that both he and Mrs. Spencer feel very grateful to all those who have assisted them in making this most worthy movement a success in Salem.

Mrs. (Dr.) E. E. Fisher will entertain the members of the Grant school Teachers' association at her home tonight. Although a social hour will be enjoyed the meeting is called principally to discuss business of importance to the association. Meeting will be called at 7:30 o'clock.

In celebration of the seventh birthday of her beautiful little daughter, Ellean, Mrs. Oscar Johnson entertained a group of small folk Saturday at her pretty suburban home. The rooms were gay with floral decorations, where the merriment of juvenile games were enjoyed. Mrs. Clyde Johnson and Mrs. Joseph Peery assisted Mrs. Johnson in entertaining the following: Louise Heren, Virginia Dorcas, Pauline Newberry, Pauline Johnson, Oleta Peery, Josephine Brass, Maude Brass, Kenneth Robertson.

Mrs. E. L. Lantz, of Bay City, and her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Lantz Pettys, of Portland, were week-end guests of Salem friends. This was Mrs. Lantz's first visit to Salem for some time, and during her stay she was claimed for informal afternoon and dinners by many of her friends.

About eight hundred and fifty students of Salem high and Eugene high schools participated in the jolly-up given at the high school building Saturday evening, following the brief but interesting program, which opened with a talk by Frederick Deckabach, president of the student body. A response was made by the president of the Eugene student body. Principal Nelson and Principal Hogg, of the two schools, followed with a few remarks, and Miss Helen Hogue delighted with a vocal solo, in which she was accompanied by Miss Ruth Schultz at the piano. Girls of Miss Miriam's physical culture class, as a German dancing class, under the direction of Harry Mills, as a German instructor, furnished one of the most pleasing numbers on the program, which closed with a well-contested tennis match between the two schools. Refreshments were served by members of the domestic science class in the gymnasium. Previous to the football game, Salem students escorted the visitors on tours of inspection to the various state institutions and places of interest about the city.

Miss K. R. Maurer, who is in charge of the immigration bureau at Angel Island, Cal., just returned from Washington, D. C., and is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. V. Buggs, of 528 South Nineteenth street. Miss Maurer will deliver an address at Albany next Sunday on her way to San Francisco. Miss Maurer is with the Dearborn Home in the latter city.

Miss Bessie Foster, of Portland, was the week-end guest of Mrs. Mildred Robertson Brooks, coming up Friday afternoon. She is one of the most popular teachers in the public schools of Portland, and was formerly an instructor in the Lincoln school, and has many friends here.

Rev. Carl F. Elliott will speak in the chapel (Walker hall) of Willamette university tonight on the "Poetry of Philanthropy." The lecture will begin at 8 o'clock and is free to the public. Poetical selections will be read to illustrate the subject, and it will be made especially interesting throughout.

Members of the Parent-Teachers' association of the Grant school were furnished a delightful evening's diversion Friday, when Mrs. Luella J. Walsh entertained with an old-fashioned quilting party. Everything from the quaint costumes of the guests to refreshments of sweet cider and doughnuts added a suggestion in keeping with the occasion. Old-fashioned games were revived and pastimes almost forgotten were participated in.

The gardens surrounding the hostesses' residence are quite noted for their beauty, and splendid floral specimens were used profusely in ornamenting the rooms. Dahlias and chrysanthemums in the rich tones of gold and browns were most attractive in the living-room and a large bowl of golden-centred marguerites were much admired as a table centerpiece in the dining-room.

Those who were hidden as guests were: Mrs. J. N. Shantz, Mrs. E. E. Fisher, Mrs. J. B. Shank, Mrs. Edward Jory, Mrs. David Trester, Mrs. Roscoe Salyer, Mrs. J. Stubblefield, Mrs. John Tade, Mrs. W. Melvaine, Mrs. M. B. Balmore, Mrs. Lee Marsh, Mrs. S. Yates.

Mrs. Charles Leist, Mrs. E. A. Thompson, Mrs. P. L. Finster, Mrs. C. S. Richardson, Mrs. George Brassfield, Mrs. Fred Brassfield, Mrs. Victoria Hohler, Mrs. F. L. Purvine and Mrs. O. A. Davidson.

About 130 were present at the dancing party given by the Elks' lodge, in their hall Thursday evening. Flags and floral decorations, carried out in the lodge colors, purple and white, made an attractive setting for the dancers. The Elks' orchestra furnished the music. This was the first affair of the kind to be given by this organization this year, and ushered in the regular monthly dances, which are featured by this lodge each season.

The young men's and young women's classes of the Jason Lee Memorial M. E. church will meet in their church parlors tonight and give a basket social. A short program will be given, and all young people of the city are invited to be present. All young women are requested to bring baskets.

Among the season's elaborate and brilliant affairs in Portland last week was the debut reception at which Mrs. Thomas G. Hailey presented her charming and clever daughter, Miss Genevieve, Saturday afternoon. Hundreds of Portland's smart set thronged the Hailey residence. Although the fair debutante has really "been out" for one season, she has never had a formal debut until Saturday. She is a remarkably clever artist, and has but recently returned from a seven months' trip to Carmel, Cal., the colony of artists, where she studied with William M. Chase, a well-known New York artist, who was summering there.

Miss Hailey is the daughter of the late Judge Thomas G. Hailey, and the great-granddaughter of Hon. John H. Hailey, one of Oregon's first pioneers. Among the assistants at this affair were Mrs. George E. Chamberlain and Miss Carrie Lee Chamberlain.

The marriage of Miss Pearl Vercler, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Vercler, to John Bennett, came as a surprise to her friends. The ceremony was quietly performed yesterday afternoon at the First Christian church parsonage, Rev. F. T. Porter officiating. The young couple will make their home on North Twenty-third street. Mrs. Bennett is a talented young violinist and a sister of Mrs. Thomas Holman (Viola Vercler), of San Francisco.

NEW MAPS COMPLETED BY STATE FORESTER

The Big One Is 10 by 10 Feet and Drawn on a Scale of Three Miles to the Inch—Shows All the Boundaries, Roads and Tracts in the State.

State Forester F. A. Elliott has received and has mounted upon the wall of his office the latest and most accurate, if not the largest map of the State of Oregon in the State. It was compiled by Theodore Lovland, one of the best engineers and draughtsmen in the state, under the direction of Mr. Elliott and is one of the first, if not the only map in existence which shows the county lines absolutely accurate and up-to-date.

It is drawn upon the scale of two inches to the township, or three miles to the inch, and is about 10 by 10 feet square. It is known as a "roads and trails" map and shows every road and trail throughout the forested sections of the state. This map, and another which is drawn upon the scale of one and one-half inches to the township and will be known as the "pocket map" showing the roads and trails of the forests, was produced at an approximate cost of $10,000, the lithographing work alone upon the big map approximating $8,000. The lithographic plates, however, are the property of the state and reproductions of the two maps may be procured from the State Forester, as soon as they are printed, at about $25 each for the large size, and about $1.50 each for the "pocket map."

Mr. Elliott is also daily expecting to receive from the U. S. forestry department at Washington, a map in colors showing the location and boundaries of the national forests in the state, which will be upon the same scale and the same size as the smaller edition of the roads and trails map. This map is printed in colors to show the status of the timbered area within the forest reserves. Green will represent live standing timber; yellow the burned over area in process of restocking; red the burned over area not restocking; purple the logged over area restocking; blue and logged over area not restocking; and brown the brush and rocky land. Copies of these maps will also be for sale by Mr. Elliott as soon as a supply arrives, at about $5 per copy.

Mr. Elliott furnished the forestry department at Washington with the state map as a foundation upon which to indicate the location and boundaries of the forest reserves. The roads and trails map will be valuable to tourists, hunters, timbermen and all who have occasion to travel through the forested regions of the state and the forest map will be of great value to timber men, speculators, etc.

Three plans are suggested. The coast association have been tentatively worked out by the California associations, which launched the movement, but all of them contemplate the forming of a state organization to be separate and distinct from each other so far as local conditions are concerned, but all to unite and transact all business, such as the handling and selling of the product, collection and dissemination of information, purchase and distribution of supplies at the

MILL CITY WOMAN KILLS HER HUSBAND

Albany, Ore., Nov. 15.—Claiming that she shot in self defense, Mrs. Frank Grier is under arrest today facing a probable charge of first degree murder as the result of the death of her husband. Grier was shot through the abdomen with a 22 calibre rifle Saturday and died Sunday. Following the shooting Mrs. Grier took refuge in the house on the farm near Mill City where the shooting occurred, and, armed with the gun refused to submit to arrest. The house was watched by Mill City officers who feared to attempt her capture because of her known ability to shoot accurately. Late Saturday night, however, she eluded their vigilance and surrendered to the Albany sheriff. Mrs. Grier had recently filed suit for divorce.

THE INNES WILL NOW BE SENT TO GEORGIA

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 15.—Charged with the larceny of $4,000 from Mrs. Eloise Nelms Dennis, Victor Innes and Mrs. Innes, of Oregon, arrested near Eugene, several weeks ago, announced here today that they would not resist extradition to Atlanta, Ga., where they will go to trial. Innes and his wife were overjoyed at the prospect of leaving the jail here, where they have been held in connection with the disappearance of Mrs. Dennis and her sister, Miss Beatrice Nelms. A charge of murder against Innes and his wife will be dismissed because the district attorney here says no evidence has been submitted to substantiate the belief that Mrs. Dennis and her sister are dead.
