SALEM GOLF COURSE INITIATED SUNDAY

For the first time in the history of this city golf was played yesterday at the links of the new country club and about 30 Salem golf enthusiasts pounded the little white pellets over what is pronounced to be one of the best courses in the Northwest. That it is a course to try the metal of the keenest expert is attested by the fact that "bogies" for the course is 11 strokes and the best score was considerably more than 41 and some of the golfers took as many as 100 strokes to complete the nine-hole course.

Advantages of the course, and says that it should become famous as soon as the greens are in better shape. On account of the short time in which the course has been laid out it has been impossible to put the greens in first-class shape, and as this work progresses the scores of the players will be lowered materially. The course is 3075 yards long and is full of surprises and disappointments.

Mr. Eddy will be at the course on Thanksgiving day to explain the game to the beginners and to render all assistance possible to the new players. Mr. Eddy has been in the hospital with the grippe, but did not have typhoid fever, as was thought at first. The country club grounds are easily reached from the Oregon Electric railway station at Elmer. A club house will be erected at some future date and it is expected the country club grounds will become one of the most popular places of recreation near the city.

STOCK EXCHANGE OPENS

Chicago, Nov. 23.—The Chicago stock exchange reopened its doors today. Business was about normal, and predictions that heavy selling was sure to follow proved groundless.

The stock exchange committee fixed a minimum price at which stocks might be traded in. This minimum was the closing price on July 26, last, many dividends which had been declared since that date.

LETTER WRITTEN FROM THE WAR ZONE

Gives Insight Into the Way German Women View the War Situation

Many of the friends of Mrs. I. K. Page have expressed their desire for her to have published the following letter, which she received Monday from her sister, who lives in Hanover, Germany, and which was written Oct. 23: "Your first written letter reached us today. It was on the way seven weeks. Your other two came a few days ago, written on later dates, so the first came last. You see by that that mail reaches its destination very irregular. You wondered if I had written before. I had not; friends telling me it would only be lost. Therefore, I thought best to wait until I heard from one of you before I wrote or sent papers. We are certainly being tried very, very hard now. How much heartache, worry and sorrow this war causes will never be known. We feel so sorry for the people of every country who live near the border, for they are the ones who suffer most. They are obliged to flee for safety and leave all their belongings, be it much or little of this world's goods, behind them. I can not express to you how sincerely I pity those who have to leave the battlefield—the injured, the crippled—there are so many of them—and to think of the suffering they must endure! Yet, were they to get well and could have their choice they would enter into a battle today, tomorrow or at any time to help save their country. They do not mind scars, wounds, the loss of eye or limb, a shattered chest or shoulder. To you or me their cheerful answer would be: 'If I have only been of some help to our fatherland (country). All around us is the enemy; power after power has declared war against us, and yet it is said those great powers who so readily and jointly declared war against us had no intention of doing so. If they had no such intentions how could all these great powers declare war in such a short time? What have we done! Can you or are you able to answer this question? What have we done to them? They wanted war and drove us into it, our father only wanted to long before declaring war. Had we fought at an earlier date it would not have been entirely different. Surely, the Kaiser has shown himself to be a friend, an intrepid leader (peace loving emperor). You remember well when he became Kaiser. We were both yet at home in June, 1888. I am sorry we are now so far apart and hope we will see you as soon as all becomes quiet here.

The Kaiser, joined by all of his family, attended religious services, and partook of the sacrament (the Lord's supper) two days before the mobilization (mobilization); set a good example to the military who were to go to the battlefield, the whole army, he advised and wished them to do likewise and prepare and be ready, each one in his own religion. Millions obeyed, and churches of all denominations were crowded to overflowing from August 1. The confession chairs in the Catholic churches were occupied day and night, and I believe most every German soldier went to the front prepared to die not only to meet his God. In most all churches saw special services being held. We must pray, pray, pray; we need lots of prayer.

"We began rightly and hope it will have a good ending, but it is terrible to know what loss of life and property, how much sorrow and pain it brings in to our peaceful homes and not to know where there will be an end to it; it all seems so dreadful.

"We live close to a truppen verbandung place (including what, or where the embarkation of troops takes place). Thousands upon thousands passed our home during the first four weeks of war. The soldiers' coats and guns had been decorated with flowers by loving mothers. Men, horses and wagons of the army were also decorated with bouquets and wreaths of flowers. They had a beautiful living picture, though the soldiers were singing patriotic songs while marching and riding by. We could not help but weep bitterly. Over two million freiwillige (volunteers) offered their services, their lives, for our fatherland, and many more than that number would step forward in a very short time were they needed. They have not drawn the younger nor the older men, none over 45 years old. Brother Albert and his husband are both over 50 years of age therefore will not have to go to war. My son, Leo, who is 21 years old and a volunteer, is being developed and fitted out for a soldier now, and will join a regiment in about two weeks, to go to Russia or France. Not many of the younger 'Freiwilige' are tall, only those of good size and good constitution. I cannot now dare not to let him go at all; it seems to break all up whenever I think of it, and think some parents have found of six fighting at the front. Some of my acquaintances have fallen, some are sick and badly crippled and many are fighting bravely and well for our fatherland (dear fatherland). Please pray for my son, so he may be at all times prepared to go should it be the Lord's will. Oh, Lord, they will be done.

"Handover is more centrally located than our home town in which we were born and reared. We do not hear the guns and see the greatest suffering. We are free here to live and do as we please. Our house, where our old home is, in which you were born, which Brother Albert still occupies, is close to a border—the Belgian border. They no doubt have seen and heard more, but they are also well protected, and when they hear from them they were well.

"Please send this letter to one brother and other sisters in Iowa and Nebraska, so I will be spared to write so much and so often. Give them all our love, and everyone remember we need your prayer. Your sister, 'ALWINE'.

This letter was sent from Hanover October 21, and arrived in Salem November 16. Mrs. Page was born in the house where her brother, Albert Step-

THE TROOPS HAVE LEFT

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Nov. 23.—The evacuation of Vera Cruz by American troops was completed late today. With the sailing of the army transports, with the Kansas in the lead, Carranzalistas forces started entering the city, preparatory to taking charge. The transport Christobal served as General Funston's flagship. The Christobal, the last transport to leave, joined the rest of the fleet outside the harbor. The last American soldier boarded the transport at 1:30 o'clock. Forty minutes later the constitutionalist army arrived at the city hall and took charge.

FARRAR'S TEAM WON THE TURKEY DINNER

Y. M. C. A. Winds Up Both the Financial and Membership Campaigns—Reds Won Over the Blues and J. P. Read Got the Gold Watch.

The Y. M. C. A. membership campaign was wound up Saturday night with a total of 169 new members for the local association. John Farrar's team triumphed over the Richardsons and as a result will partake of a turkey dinner at the expense of the losers. In the boys' contest, Charles Huggins' team won out over the blues by a good margin. J. P. Read, with 17 members and a total of 19,000 points, won the gold watch offered by T. B. Kay to the individual member securing the greatest number of points. Chauncy Bishop won second prize of a silver watch offered by Dr. B. L. Steeves, with 17,500 points. Bishop also secured 17 members, but Read collected the most money. The third prize of a gold watch for was won by Joan Farrar.

Now that the financial campaign and the membership campaign are both completed, the affairs of the local association will be turned over to the committee of management that the association is a valuable asset to the city in a number of ways. Work will be started in the recently organized Leaders' club, now Bible classes will be organized, the open Sunday meetings will be put under way and a commercial basketball league will be started.

On each Sunday or on alternate Sundays a speaker from outside the city will address the open meetings at the Y. M. C. A. The association has at its disposal many well-known speakers who will visit the city. This coming winter, one each month a mixed open meeting will be held. The 'open' meetings held last year will be continued, at which some suitable speakers will make a short talk to the various groups. It is proposed to make the meetings live and interesting to all members and all stereotyped methods will be avoided.

The Commercial Basketball League will be made up of not more than six or less than four teams, each representing some business house of the city. The schedule will be started in about three weeks. All members of the league must be members of the Y. M. C. A. The manager of the team to be selected by the business house which the team represents can be made a Y. M. C. A. member. As the contest grows in interest a small admission fee will be charged and the proceeds of the game will go to a fund to provide for individual relief for the winter and for a large banquet at the end of the season.

Stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp—At Once

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid paraffin from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you value your hair, you should get rid of dandruff at once, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, streaky, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it.
