A suit to foreclose a mortgage on real estate was filed in the circuit court yesterday afternoon by Rutha K. Pratt against Elma Kitterman, Alex Kitterman, Anna Voget and Julius G. Voget. It is alleged in the complaint that Mr. and Mrs. Kitterman gave their promissory note for $1500 to the plaintiff and this note was secured by a mortgage on certain real property. The property was afterward transferred to Anna Voget and Julius G. Voget.

Special prices on table linens and silverware this week. Buren & Hamilton.

The "Bide-a-Wee" tea tavern is the name of the latest business enterprise to enter Salem. It is to be located in the basement of the United States National bank building, at the corner of State and Commercial, and the opening date is set for next Saturday. The proprietor is Miss Ethel Peterson, late from Seattle. The place is being nicely fitted up for the entertainment of the public. Business men's lunch will be served from 11 to 2, and a special supper later.

Three complete suits of clothing, each bearing the price tags and the labels, were brought into the sheriff's office yesterday afternoon by J. Voorhees, who found the garments in the strawstack on his farm between Woodburn and West Woodburn. The suits have never been worn and the officers believe that they were stolen from some store in the valley. The sheriff will communicate with the clothing manufacturers whose labels the goods bear to find out to whom the numbers were sold.

F. L. Kent, of Portland, field agent of the bureau of crop estimates, of the U. S. department of agriculture, is checking over the livestock assessments in the county assessor's office today. Mr. Kent is making a list of the large livestock raisers in the state to be able to communicate with them from time to time to collect statistics on the diseases of livestock in the state, the mortality rate and other information of value to his department. He has already covered the counties of Clackamas, Linn, Newton, Polk and

PATRONS COMPLAIN OF TELEPHONE SERVICE

Complaining that the service at present rendered the public is inadequate and unreasonable, J. W. Donnelly, Claude C. Clarke and H. W. Lang, of Arlington, Gilliam county, have filed a complaint with the railroad commission asking that the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph company be required to keep its long distance telephone office open at all hours of the day at Arlington. The petitioners claim that the office hours now in force by the telephone company during week days, from 8 in the morning until 8 in the evening, and that, on Sunday the hours are from 8 to 12 in the forenoon and 5 to 6 in the evening, which, they contend, are unsatisfactory as they frequently have occasion to hold outside communications by telephone in connection with their respective businesses, when the telephone exchange is closed.

Washington, and will cover the entire state on this trip. Mr. Kent was formerly connected with the dairy department of the Oregon Agricultural college.

The Salem postoffice will be closed all day tomorrow and practically all the employees will be given a holiday.

Dr. Virgil W. Knowles, in charge of the demonstrational and educational hog-cholera work in Oregon, being carried on by the U. S. board of agriculture and the extension service of the O. A. C., will spend the week beginning November 30 in Marion county, with Luther J. Chapin, county agriculturalist, giving a series of demonstrations and lectures on the prevention and cure of hog cholera. Meetings will be held at Mt. Angel, Silverton, West Stayton and Salem. Farmers who are interested in learning the best methods of hog management should attend one of these meetings. Any other locality in Marion county wishing one of these meetings may secure it by addressing the county agriculturalist.

Notice. It is the pleasure of the executive board of the Salem Business Men's league that the merchants of Salem will close their places of business Thursday, Thanksgiving day, not later than 12 o'clock noon.

Dr. Utter, dentist, phone 508, Salem Bank of Commerce building.

Attorney General-elect George M. Brown, of Roseburg, who is in the city in search of a home for himself and family during his four-year term of office, says that he expects to move to Salem some time between now and the first of the year, but does not want to take his children out of school at Roseburg until the holiday vacation period, which will mark the end of the first semester. He will not resign his post of district attorney until near the first of the year, as he says it will take him nearly all of that time to finish up the work he has in hand, and he does not want to leave the office until the state is clear for his successor. As the office of district attorney will not be vacant until Mr. Brown assumes his duties of attorney general, Governor West has not announced the appointment of his successor as yet.

Special meeting of Salem lodge No. 4, A. F. & A. M., this evening. Work in the M. M. degree. Visiting brethren welcome. Refreshments.

A suit to collect $6.34 alleged to be due for a grocery bill was filed in the circuit court today by Ward K. Richardson against David Lane and Rosa E. Lane. A lot in the Riverside addition to this city was attached in connection with the suit.

Dr. Mendelsohn, specialist in fitting glasses correctly. See him at once if your eyes bother you. Your sight is priceless—just how much so you will never realize, until it is gone. Preserve it while you can. The doctor has had more than 31 years' practical experience in his profession and you furnish just the glasses that you need. He uses neither drops nor drugs, all his work. Dr. H. P. Mendelsohn, Doctor of Optics, 210-211 United States Bank building, Salem, Oregon.

If the city of Salem engages in any sewer work this winter it is probable that it will make application to come under the provisions of the workman's compensation act. The final action in the matter is up to the city council, but City Recorder Elgin has made inquiries today and was informed by the state industrial accident commission that the city could come under the provisions of the act at any time by making formal application. Sewer work is considered hazardous and it is likely that the workmen in the employ of the city on sewer work would be willing to contribute their share to the commission for the protection of the act.

Business will be suspended in practically all of the stores and banks of the city tomorrow, upon the occasion of the celebration of Thanksgiving day and the day will be given over in all of the churches to special services in keeping with the spirit of the day. The schools throughout the city will be closed tomorrow and Friday in order that the children may observe the day with their parents and that those who live in the country may go to their several homes for the big feast and week-end visit. The programs of services to be held in the different churches of the city will be found in the social columns of today's issue of the Journal.

OPEN FORUM Pastors Endorse Welsh Editor Journal: We, the members of the Salem Ministerial Union, being fully convinced of the ability of J. T. Welsh, and having received definite written assurance from him regarding his position on matters of vital concern to the moral welfare of our city, hereby endorse him unreservedly for the position of city marshal, and bespeak for him the support of every voter who believes in a safe, clean, orderly Salem. (Signed) F. T. Foster, President. J. C. Spencer, Secretary.

PLACE MADE VACANT FOR HARMONY'S SAKE

The state board of horticulture, this morning, voted to remove A. H. Carson, horticultural commissioner for the Southern Oregon district, for the good of the service and his successor will be decided upon at a future meeting of the board, following a thorough investigation of conditions and the needs of the district.

About two weeks ago the board received a petition signed by several hundred of the fruit growers of Jackson and Josephine counties asking that Mr. Carson, who has held the position for the past 15 years, be removed on the ground that he was not progressive and neglected the duties of his position and that a more aggressive man be appointed in his place. The board gave Mr. Carson a hearing and postponed action pending an investigation and the order of his removal of today was thought best for the interests of harmony and the protection and promotion of the fruit industry of the district.

LACK OF EQUIPMENT BLAMED FOR DEATH IN BOLINAS WRECK

The vessel striking the reef. "But I cannot understand the statement that the Hannel's supply of powder for her life-saving gun was insufficient," Bulger said. "The vessel was inspected a few weeks ago and at that time her equipment was perfect in every respect. I also want to be assured that the vessels that responded to the calls for help did all that could have been done. If possible I shall start the investigation tomorrow morning. I hope to have Captain Currier's statement at that time. The other survivors will be summoned to appear at the earliest possible moment."

A Heroic Fireman. Many pathetic incidents and thrilling stories of heroism were told by the survivors here today. Willes Operator Lovejoy stated that Oliver J. Kennedy sacrificed his life to save those of two women.

"After the Hannel had broken up," Lovejoy said, "Kennedy swam to a raft only to let go his hold when he saw a woman struggling in the water. He assisted her to the raft and then dropped back into the surf. Kennedy a few minutes later assisted another woman to a log which was strong enough to support both. Weakened by his efforts, however, Kennedy could no longer cling to the log. Bidding the woman whose life he had saved farewell and God speed, the gallant fireman dropped back into the waters and sank from sight."

Mrs. Val Franz, of San Francisco, a survivor, was heartbroken today over the loss of her 15-month-old son. "When I was launched into the water," she said, "I held my baby in my arms. Then I grabbed a tie and projected little Val on it. Every time a wave drenched me I had to lift the baby back on the tie again and wipe the oil off his face. Then I noticed Val was growing weaker and weaker and the shore and help seemed just as far away as when we first struck the water. I, too, was growing weak, but I was determined to save my boy at all costs. My hands were nearly frozen and as a last resort I took the baby's little gown in my teeth. For two hours I kept it up. Then I lost consciousness. I remember nothing until I regained my senses aboard the McCulloch. Little Val was gone. An inquest over two bodies of victims was held yesterday at Bolinas. Captain Carey of the Hannel told the first story: 'We passed Point Reyes at 10:07 o'clock Monday. After sighting Duxbury reef we ran into a heavy fog. I gave orders to heave the lead and went aft. 'Just then we ran into heavy breakers, lost our rudder and the waves drove the Hannel high on the rocks. I used the usual precautions for the safety of the passengers, but every effort to save them was unavailing. I came ashore on a piece of wreckage.'"

The Known Dead. Following is the list of known dead: Passenger—Mrs. Denis P. Ahearn, San Francisco. Alice Brown, San Francisco. Mrs. M. E. Cotterill, widow, Sacramento.
