BOXING WILL END NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

Red Watson and Eddie May 20-Round Bout Will Ring Down the Curtain

(By Hal Sheridan)

New York, Dec. 15.—Friday night will mark the close of boxing in California for at least two years.

This much was made certain Sunday night when Secretary of State Jordan announced the signing of the anti-boxing bill by the United States.

The law becomes effective five days after it is signed by the secretary of state.

San Francisco fight promoters, however, are not going to let the game die without a fight. Two test cases already are planned and if they are successful the four round game will continue as usual but no effort will be made to revive 20 round fights for two years.

Promoter James W. Coffroth will remain in San Francisco for at least two years. If the fight to continue the four round game is successful he will enter that field. In the meantime, however, he will work diligently in behalf of a measure, which will be submitted to the voters in 1916, permitting ten round bouts, regulated by the state boxing commission. Coffroth believes that boxing will be restored in 1916 and will retain control of his two fight arenas one at Daly City and the other in San Francisco.

Promoter Thomas McCarney has made all arrangements to leave Los Angeles for New Orleans, where he will enter the fight game in opposition to Promoter Dominic Tortorich. McCarney plans to attack Willie Ritchie against either Freddie Walsh or Joe Manier early in February.

Coffroth will ring down the fight game in San Francisco Friday night with a 20 round bout between Red Watson and Eddie May, two promising lightweights. Watson is one of the hardest hitters the light weight game has ever produced, while May depends upon his cleverness to bring home the bacon.

SALEM HIGH TO PLAY WASHINGTON HIGH

Portland, Ore., Dec. 15.—The Washington high school basketball quarter will play its first practice game of the season Friday night in its gymnasium against the crack five representing the Salem, Ore., high school.

Conk Festermaier, of the locals, has three of his first squad players back this season, but only one was a regular player last season.

The outlook for a winning team, however, is very good. Among the players showing up well in practice are: Gorman, Rath, Turfslatt, Peterson, Parsons, Blake, a former Grants Pass player, and Lapham.

A FARMERS EXCHANGE AND RENTAL BUREAU

A Farmers' Exchange and Rental Bureau has recently been established in connection with the County Agriculturalist's office.

The purpose of the Bureau is to bring together the man who has something to sell or a farm to rent and the man who wishes to buy or rent. The plan is as follows: A farmer having a pure bred calf or pig or some choice seed or any other commodity for sale writes the principal facts to the Bureau. A card file of all such items will be made and as soon as a request for such goods is received both the prospective buyer and the owner will be notified.

The service is free, no commission is charged, no money is handled, no guarantee of quality of articles or responsibility of individuals is made. It simply brings the prospective buyer and the man with something to sell together.

As soon as a sale is made the Bureau should be notified and the article will be withdrawn from the list.

The list of things "for sale" and "wanted" will be published from time to time in the county papers, but no names will be given.

A DOUBTFUL STORY

Petrograd, Dec. 15.—The Russian forces which checked the advance of General Frenck's Cossack army from the direction of Minsk through northern Poland toward Warsaw were pursuing the Kaiser's troops back to east Prussia today.

Why Johnson Quit

Washington, Dec. 15.—Explanation of why he jumped to the Federal league was given by Pitcher Walter Johnson today in a letter to Washington newspapers.

"I left the Senators," Johnson wrote, "because Manager Clark Griffith refused to pay me more than $12,500 annually. At one time Griffith offered me a five year contract at $16,000 annually but later reduced it to three years. Still later, Ben Minor, president of the club, reduced the figure to $12,500. He took this step after Pitcher Jones had withdrawn an offer to me of $20,000 annually."

KING GEORGE OF ENGLAND AT FRONT—NOT SINCE 1743 HAS A BRITISH RULER BEEN IN ANY ZONE OF WAR

KING GEORGE, OF ENGLAND... PHOTOS © 1914 BY AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

King George is at the western battle front in France. His presence among his soldiers on active service in a foreign country is an event of historic interest. The last occasion on which an English sovereign played a part in actual warfare was when King George II, with an Anglo-German army, fought the French, under Marshal Noailles, in the battle of Dettingen, showing personal courage during the fighting, but poor generalship. Since then the old practice of an English monarch leading the forces in the field has been abandoned. Although the kings have been kept aloof, members of the British royal family have, however, been at the front in a good many of England's recent wars. Thus the Duke of Cambridge was at Sebastopol in the Crimea, the Duke of Connaught commanded a brigade in the first Egyptian war, and both the Prince of Wales and Prince Arthur of Connaught are now on Field-Marshal Sir John French's staff. With the appearance of King George V at the front all of the rulers of the warring nations except Francis Joseph—the Kaiser, King Albert of Belgium, President Poincaré and the kings of Montenegro and Serbia—have been in the field.

DETERMINED TO END COLLEGE HAZING

San Diego, Cal., Dec. 15.—College fraternities and societies are to be assimilated and legislation to regulate them asked at the meeting this week of city and county school superintendents of the state at Riverside.

As the result of recent hearings and similar "status" on the part of the fraternity and society members, County Superintendent of Schools Hugh J. Baldwin will introduce a resolution calling upon the state legislature to amend the present act which prohibits fraternities in public schools to include colleges and universities. The amendment, as planned, will provide that college fraternities and societies will be allowed to exist only under the control and jurisdiction of the faculties of the institutions.

"This is a matter that demands attention," said Superintendent Baldwin today. "Recent acts on the part of the college students have resulted in serious injuries to students, and it is high time the legislature took a stand in the matter."

Donald Wilde, son of Louis J. Wilde, local banker, was recently injured at the hands of fraternity members at the University of California. This is one of the acts referred to by Baldwin.

Of course, figures are not available, but we are strongly inclined to believe that the armored automobiles in Europe have not killed as many people as the unarmored ones in this country.

IMAGINARY SHIP BOMBARDS THE FORTS

Berlin, by wireless via Sayville, Dec. 15.—Bombardment of Sevastopol by the Turkish cruiser Sultan Javus Selim formerly the German cruiser Goeben, was announced in a statement received here today from Constantinople.

No details were given.

Earlier Constantinople messages told of the bombardment by the same vessel of the Russian Black sea port of Batum, setting fire to the city and itself escaping damage from the fire of the Shars' shore forts.

Other dispatches from the same source said it was authoritatively reported that 20,000 armed Russians in the Caucasus, all of them Mohammedans, had joined the other Moslems to fight the czar.

SHIPS WILL BE SENT IF THEY ARE NEEDED

President Discusses It—Says He Has No Interest in Election of Speaker

By John Edwin Nevin.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Assurance that there would be no break between the members of his cabinet over Colonel George W. Goethals' request for two torpedo boat destroyers for use at the Panama canal to preserve neutrality was given today by President Wilson. He said he saw no cause for alarm. Secretary of War Garrison strongly favored granting the request, but Secretary of State Bryan and Secretary of the Navy Daniels opposed the plan.

President Wilson said he had requested a complete report from Colonel Goethals. If the report shows that the United States' neutrality proclamation can be maintained only by the presence of the destroyers, the president said they would be sent forthwith to the canal zone.

Mr. Wilson said he considered himself a clearing house for any jurisdictional disputes that may arise within his cabinet and that he expected to settle the present question without friction.

President Wilson denied that any nation had protested formally against Arizona's anti-alien law. England and Italy, he said, had made some inquiries, but the president said he did not believe there was any discrimination in the Arizona act which would make it similar to the California anti-alien law pending which caused the controversy with Japan.

The president also intimated that he opposed the literacy test in the immigration bill. He said he did not consider the suggested test a real way to determine the quality of prospective citizens.

Concerning conservation laws brought before the present session of congress, President Wilson said he believed the bill already passed by the house includes all that is necessary in connection with water power development.

Mr. Wilson flatly denied a report that he was opposed to the election of Representative Kitchin of North Carolina as the democratic leader of the next house. He said he did not consider it any of his business whom the house elects for its leader.

The president declared he hoped to nominate the members of the federal trade commission by New Year's.

Mr. Wilson also announced he would personally discuss the Colorado coal mine strike situation with Governor Ammons late in the week. He said federal troops would remain in the strike zone until then.

Thrift item in Hood River Glacier: "The sawmill of the Oregon Lumber company at Dec closed for the winter Saturday night. The employees visiting the city Monday cashed checks amounting to more than $3500. The loggers of today are said to be a great deal more thrifty than those of several years ago. Some of the men are reported as having saved their earnings for several months before cashing in."

The Merchant Who Anticipates

To anticipate is to think and to act ahead.

It is not only looking to the future—it is acting before the future happens.

The clever retailer is the one who anticipates the wants of the consumer.

In this city there are thousands of consumer wants created by advertising in these columns.

On the shelves of every store are products that will fill these wants.

To bring the consumer and his wants together, the merchant who anticipates new business and caters to the best service of his present customers keeps his advertisements in The Journal, where the greatest number of the buying public see and read them.
