GERMAN CAPTAIN IS VERY POPULAR

Captain Von Muller of the Cruiser Emden Given High Praise by Austrians

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 21.—(By mail to San Francisco.)—Captain Von Muller, of the now defunct German cruiser Emden, undoubtedly is the most popular Teuton in Australia.

Australians are, of course, very glad that the Emden has been destroyed and particularly proud that it was demolished by the Commonwealth's cruiser Sydney. The stories told of Captain Von Muller's considerate treatment of the crews of British ships he sank aroused a lively sentiment of sportsmanship toward him, however, and there was sincere rejoicing at the news of his survival.

Captain Isdale, of the steamship Ribera, one of the merchant men sent to the bottom by the Emden, said, when landed at Colombo, that the cruiser's officers vividly realized the probable shortness of their craft's tether.

Asked what they would do when finally overhauled by a British warship, one of them replied to Captain Isdale: "We will run like the devil—we are not built for fighting."

The Emden did fight gallantly, however, and in the early stages of the fight put the Sydney's range finding apparatus out of action. Later the Sydney's fire completely smothered it, wrecking its steering gear, funnels and foremost mast, one after another.

Captain Isdale related that when his ship was captured he was asked by the Emden's boarding officer if there were any women on board. The negative reply he received sealed the Ribera's doom, but if Mrs. Isdale had been with her husband the vessel would have been spared, as Captain Von Muller spared the Gyrfalcon, whose captain was accompanied by his wife.

Captain Tulloch, of the steamship Tynaria, another of the Emden's victims, said relative to his experience: "The wife and I were put into the petty officers' room and a guard was placed over us. We were treated very well.

"The Germans seemed short of provisions, apparently living on what they took from the ships they capture before sinking them.

"We were allowed no light at night, but the officers gave us a pack of cards to amuse ourselves with during daylight. A young lieutenant also loaned us books to read. For luncheon we were allowed whiskey and soda.

"One sailor, who, I judge, had been in the United States, for he spoke with a nasal twang, said in good English: 'Gentlemen, what will you have for breakfast this morning? All we have got is panacas and ham!'

Captain Tulloch added that a number of the crew seemed pretty tired of the roving life they were leading, together with the lack of food.

BOOKS BY JOHN MUIR

John Muir the eminent naturalist who recently died, is a subject of interest to all nature lovers, and especially to those on the Pacific coast. His best-known books are "Our National Parks" and "The Mountains of California." The book "In American Fields and Forests" contains an interesting chapter written by him. These books are to be had at the Public Library.

Many a man would never be heard of were it not for his obituary notice.

CANADIANS KILL AMERICANS

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 28.—Fired on by Canadian soldiers as several boats, containing the Canadian shore today, Walter Smith was shot and instantly killed, and Charles Dorsch was fatally wounded. Both men were residents of Buffalo.

Details of the shooting are lacking, but a recent order prohibiting the transportation of fire arms into Canada was believed to have been the cause of the clash. The firing occurred in Canadian waters. The soldiers opened fire, it was said, without making any questions.

Smith and Dorsch engaged two boats from Metz Brothers here this morning, saying they were going duck hunting. Both were warned at the time, it was said, against taking firearms into Canada.

Late Yesterday

At Cambridge, Mass.—Five inmates of the Cambridge city home perished in a fire which destroyed the institution.

At Berlin.—The official press bureau reported an anti-British riot at Alexandria, Egypt, in which 85 Arabs were killed.

At Troy, N. Y.—Grand Master Arthur MacArthur, of the Grand Encampment Knights Templars of the United States, died of apoplexy.

At Washington.—Announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Genevieve Clark, speaker Clark's daughter, to Editor James M. Thomson, of the New Orleans Item.

RUPPERT'S LEG IS VERY HARD TO PULL

New York, Dec. 28.—The New York American League club still remained unscathed today. Frank Ruppert, principal stockholder of the club, was scheduled to meet Colonel Jacob Ruppert and Captain T. L. Harton, the prospective purchasers, at noon today, but so far as is known they did not meet.

Colonel Ruppert said that Farrell would telephone at 11:30 o'clock and complete arrangements for the meeting. At 12:45 o'clock no word had been received from Farrell and Colonel Ruppert said he did not care whether the meeting was held or not.

Probably no woman ever hated a man for being in love with her, but many a woman has hated a man because he was indifferent to her charms.

CITY NEWS

The city fire department responded to an alarm at 9:25 this morning, turned in from Mrs. White's residence at Twentieth and Marion. The cause of the alarm was a fire fire, but no damage was done.

The hearing of the case of Gertie Miller, the 14 year old girl of Marion, who was arrested and brought to this city Saturday afternoon by Sheriff Eech was set for this afternoon but as Judge Bushey is occupied with the Northcott case, of Turner, it is not likely her case will be disposed of this afternoon. The girl lives with her father on a small tract of land near Marion and has refused to go to school and her father is said to be unable to control her. The girl's mother is dead. Juvenile officer Hattie Jackson has charge of the case.

ANOTHER OREGON PIONEER PASSES

William Henry Weed, an Oregon pioneer of 1852, and at one time chief engineer of the Portland volunteer fire department, died Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. A. Jackson, 433 East Sixth street, North Portland. Funeral services were held today at 1:30 o'clock from the residence and burial was at Greenwood cemetery. Rev. W. G. Elliot, of the Church of Our Father, officiated.

Mr. Weed had suffered from paralysis intermittently for the last six years, and the last attack, which came on last summer while he was at Long Beach, proved fatal.

Mr. Weed was born at Richmond, O., February 27, 1836, and was a member of the party of pioneers, now prominent in Oregon history, who crossed the plains in 1839. Mr. Weed was chief engineer of the Portland volunteer fire department and he was one of the early members of the Pioneers' society.

NO ONE KNOWS WHY HE EXPLODED THE BOMB

San Francisco, Dec. 28.—The eight persons injured yesterday when Louis J. Vavra exploded a bomb at the feet of Swami Trigunatita in the crowded Hindu temple here, were reported this afternoon to be doing nicely. All will recover.

Various theories were advanced today to explain the act which resulted in Vavra's death and the injury to eight others. While some of the disciples of the mystic cult declared that Vavra had been driven mad through his inability to master the teachings of his Oriental cult, there were others who advanced a different theory. The latter contended that Trigunatita had been identified with a movement to start a revolution in India against British rule and that Vavra was the birchling of an anti-revolutionary organization.
