WHITE AND SHUGRUE IN TEN ROUND BOUT

Fine Contest Certain and Winner Will Be Matched with Champion Welsh

By Hal Sheridan.
New York, Dec. 28.—Fight fans here will be treated to a regular ring contest here tomorrow night when young Shugrue and Charlie White meet in a ten round bout at Madison Square Garden. Both men hold newspaper decisions over Champion Freddie Welsh, and tomorrow night's winner will be matched with Welsh for a 20 round battle in New Orleans.

Betting on Tuesday night's bout is at even money. Chicago fans, who believe that White is the coming light weight champion, sent several thousand dollars to betting commissionaires here to be placed at the prevailing odds. Shugrue's home folks are flocking to his support, and it is probably that he will enter the ring a slight favorite.

Both men were reported in tip top shape, and each was confident of victory. White went so far as to predict that he would win by a knockout. "I have met Shugrue twice," he said, "and both bouts were practically even. I have improved fully 50 per cent however, since our last meeting and Shugrue will find that he is up against an entirely different proposition this time. I expect to knock him out. Then I will take on Welsh for the title."

Shugrue grinned when told of White's threat to knock him out. "The man of my weight doesn't live who can knock me out in ten rounds," he said. "I will have a much easier time with White than I had with Welsh when I was given the decision by the sport writers. White is a hard hitter for a little man but he could not knock me off my feet in a hundred years."

To Scrap at Milwaukee.
San Francisco, Dec. 28.—Mid-weight Billy Murray and Lightweight Red Watson, accompanied by their manager, are on their way to Milwaukee where arrangements have been practically concluded for Murray to meet Eddie McGoorty January 11 in a ten round bout.

Satisfactory terms were received by Kearns and the California middle weight will begin training for the bout as soon as he reaches Milwaukee. Kearns also has accepted terms for a six round bout between Watson and Willie Beecher at Columbus, Ohio.

After the Heavies.
Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 28.—Having cleaned up all the heavyweights in the Pacific northwest, Joe Bonis Tacoma's clever and hard hitting boxer, is preparing today to invade New York and take a whiff at the ten round game there. Bonis' latest victim was Jack Swinton, whom he put away in eight rounds at Astoria, Christmas. A few days before he should Al Norton, the California heavy, in a four round affair here.

Bonis will try to get a match in New York with Gibson Smith, Battling Laskusky or Tommy McGarry.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 28.—Bob Burman claimed today to be the fastest Offroad driver on the automobile track as a result of their match race at Ascot Park yesterday, in which Burman covered 50 miles in 45 minutes and 34 seconds.

Burman drove a Peugeot car and Old field a Stutz, having been compelled to shift at the last minute from his Fiat, which he had intended to drive because of engine trouble. Burman won by a big margin.

TURKISH BATTLESHIP WHIPS WHOLE FLEET

One Turkish Ship Tackles Russian Fleet of 17—Sounds Like a Vision of Hashish

Constantinople via Berlin and London, Dec. 28.—Turkish victories over the Russians, both by sea and by land, were claimed today in an official statement issued by the government here.

"The Ottoman fleet, including the battleship Hamidieh passed through the Black sea and returned unscathed," said the report. "One of our warships met a Russian squadron consisting of five battleships, two cruisers, ten torpedo boats and three mine layers December 24. This meant one Turkish ship against 17 of the enemy. Nevertheless that one ship attacked the foe, bombarded the battleship Rostislav and sank the mine layers Oleg and Athos. Two Russian officers and 20 marines were saved and taken prisoner."

"Simultaneously other parts of our fleet successfully bombarded the Russian port of Batum."

"Two of our ships tried to force the Russian fleet into battle December 25 but the Russians preferred to flee to Sevastopol."

"Our army continues its victorious advance along the Transcaucasian front."

The report concluded with a denial of the Russian claim that the Hamidieh had been torpedoed off Sevastopol.

THE FOREST PATROL SERVICE BUILT UP

Compulsory Patrol Law Has Done Much Toward Fire Prevention

Through the operation of the compulsory forest patrol law, which went into effect during the first season of its enactment, 1913, the forest patrol service of the state has been built up from a few scattering associations of timber owners with a limited membership in 1910 to a large and steadily growing affiliation of associations which embraces all of the larger holdings of timber land in the state and the great majority of all others, and has been made a most effective means of protection against forest fire devastation to which the great timber wealth of the state was subject under former conditions of disorganization.

NEWS OF DALLAS

Compulsory Patrol Law Has Done Much Toward Fire Prevention

Under the provisions of the compulsory patrol law those owners of timber in the state who do not belong to the associations and pay their proportionate share of the expense of forest fire protection have the costs assessed against their properties in the same manner as other taxes are levied, to be collected by the tax collectors of the several counties and such costs, or patrol tax, and applies as a lien against the property which can be sold for nonpayment of the patrol tax in the same manner as other property taxes are collected. The results of the operation of this law, according to State Forester Elliott, have been very beneficial to the timber industry of the state, and the danger of loss by fire has been reduced to a minimum.

"The results and influence of the compulsory patrol law, both direct and indirect, on the forest protection work, is more clearly brought out by a comparison of acreage data," says Mr. Elliott, in discussing the subject. "In 1912, the year before the enactment of the law, the owners of 2,500,000 acres contributed toward forest protection expenses, either through association or individual patrols. During the season of 1914 the cost of such service was borne by the owners of 6,277,700 acres, an increase of 175 per cent.

"The former figures represent timber lands owned by timber men who voluntarily joined associations or maintained individual patrol, and the increase between 1912 and 1914, or 4,377,700 acres, comprises the acreage now contributing towards the protection of their property because of the provisions of the compulsory patrol law. Were it not for the enactment of this law it is obvious that timberland owners 26 per cent of the assessable timber acreage, with what little assistance the state could give, would still have to pay practically the entire cost of the protection work.

"Two years' experience with the law has produced most excellent results, and its provisions should be continued unless we desire to go back to conditions prevailing in 1910, when numerous fires were allowed to develop into conflagrations resulting in damage amounting to $1,040,007.70, merely because no common agencies existed whose duty it was to promptly subdue fires in timberland districts before they obtained dangerous proportions. The patrol law is the greatest single factor in continuing and strengthening such agencies."
