WOULD ABOLISH HOME FOR GIRLS

Legislators Think Institution Too Expensive For the Good It Does

By unanimous vote, upon the motion of Representative Wesley O. Smith, of Klamath county, the joint committee on ways and means last night decided to cut the wayward girls' home out of every cent of appropriation asked for in the budget for the biennium 1915-17, amounting to $56,000, including $20,000 for another new building and $36,000 for salaries and maintenance and will turn the new $34,000 building which has been erected for the use of the wayward girls' home over to the state board of control to make such use of it as the occasion demands within the next two years.

Two years ago the legislature made an appropriation of $50,000 for the establishment and maintenance of a home for wayward and incorrigible girls, $34,000 of which was to be expended in the construction of a new building southeast of the city. During the two years the institution has been in existence, according to the information in the hands of the ways and means committee, an average of about eighteen girls has been cared for in the school and all of the appropriation for salaries and maintenance has been exhausted. The new budget is based upon an estimate of fifty inmates and ten employees for the next two years and the committee saw where this was another advantage that was being seized by persons prominently identified with the work to hold up another expensive institution to be foisted upon the taxpayers and they concluded that the best way to cope with a situation of that nature was to nip it in the bud and before it assumed such proportions that it would make its abolition a waste of state money.

While all of the committee was in favor of cutting the infant institution out entirely none seemed to have the nerve to take the initiative and it remained for Representative Smith to take the lead in the matter which he did without a moment's hesitation and the motion was carried without a dissenting vote. Of course, it is the intention of the committee to make some provision for taking care of the wayward girls and will recommend some appropriation but it is diametrically opposed to giving it any encouragement for building up an institution such as has been planned upon. The new building, which has not been occupied, will accommodate about 40 girls, and the records show that there never has been more than 20 in the institution at any time and the average has been about 18 with a full corps of officers and employees. It is expected that the confederate action of the committee will bring a horde of supporters of the institution up from Portland Monday morning to lobby against its action.

At the conclusion of last night's work the ways and means committee had passed upon other claims and institutions, appropriation bills which will be introduced either today or Monday, in which reductions amounting to an aggregate of $247,379, bringing the total amount eliminated from the budget by the committee to date of $488,000, or nearly a half million dollars. The institutions passed upon since yesterday when a total of a quarter million had been clipped from the budget for contemplated improvements, repairs, etc., were the State fair board fund, from which a total of $150,000 was eliminated including $123,000 for a new livestock coliseum, the deaf school, tuberculosis institute, supreme court building and grounds, the capitol building and grounds and the executive, administrative and educational departments, in all of which latter no reductions were made.

The ways and means committee has not passed definitely upon the reform school budget and will not do so until the institution has been visited with Governor Withycombe who has worked out a plan which he intends trying out at the institution. The total estimates which have been passed upon by the committee to date, amount to $1,766,013. Of these the state fair board gets $35,194; deaf school, $54,055; tuberculosis institute, $61,400; supreme court, $58,650; executive department, $23,700; education department, $29,984; special agents, $7,000; state department, $61,000; treasury department, $26,300; capital and supreme court building, $67,915.

HE GROWS CORN.

D. Kauffman, a well known farmer of Hubbard, Oregon, is among those who is making a success of corn growing. His crop of 1914 was larger than any previous year, and his matured corn now at his farm is a proof that corn can be grown in Oregon with success, provided the plants are given proper attention. Mr. Kauffman has raised this corn for the market, as well as for his own use on his dairy farm in Clackamas county.—Western Stock Journal.

Open evenings until 9 o'clock.

WOULD PUT LABOR COMMISSIONER DOWN Among the bills introduced the house was that of Wentworth, of Multnomah county, which contemplates taking the duty of factory and workshop inspection entirely out of the hands of the bureau of labor, where it has been since the creation of the labor bureau and placing it in the hands and under the control of the industrial accident commission. If this bill should become a law it would strip Labor Commissioner Hoff of all of the duties which devolve upon his office under the law which created it with the exception of collecting and compiling labor and industrial statistics and the enforcement of the labor laws, and would leave him without assistance even in the performance of these duties with the exception of one stenographer.

It is declared that the French abandoned their efforts to gain ground on the Belgian coast after several violent assaults had failed. More than 300 dead Moroccan and Algerian soldiers were left on the field.

French night attacks southeast of Luneville have been repulsed and the French have evacuated the village of Angonnet, northeast of Badeviller.

Three Great Russian Armies. Petrograd, Jan. 30.—Three great Russian armies are now marching against Konigsberg, capital of east Prussia.

The advance of the third army was indicated in dispatches today. It is striking at the German lines south of the railroad running from Insterburg to Konigsberg.

The new force has not been recorded in official reports heretofore. Today's dispatches show, however, that it is endeavoring to cross the Angerap river at Daikmen, about 20 miles south of Insterburg. A bridge across the Angerap at that point has been heavily shelled by Russian artillery. No details are offered regarding this movement.

One other Russian army in east Prussia is advancing from the west north of Insterburg and still another from the northwest. The latter army is now near Tilsit.

A STATEMENT FROM THE MANUFACTURERS OF PIANOS THROUGH THEIR AUTHORIZED REPRESENTATIVE NOW IN CHARGE OF THIS SALE.

My name is Lucore. I am the factory representative. I secure an order for the manufacturers I represent for three pianos every time I sell two. I do not care for retail profit or even wholesale profit. My manufacturers have accumulated a surplus stock. Everyone knows that export trade, particularly in musical instruments, is now at a standstill. If you expect to buy a piano in the next ten years, you are doing yourself an injustice if you do not see me within the next few days. Your own terms can be had. I will make the first payment for you, the balance can be paid as best suits you. A little every week or every month.

ASSOCIATION OF HOP GROWERS MEETS

Hear Report of Stock-Selling Committee and Complete Organization

The Oregon Hop Growers' association met today at the Salem Commercial club rooms to hear the report of the committee which has been selling stock in the association, to discuss the best plans for completing the organization and to give new members a chance to align themselves with the corporation. The committee reported that they had taken in over $70,000 in cash and that they have $150,000 worth of stock to dispose of, they consider the prospects of a speedy conclusion of the work of the committee is certain.
Over 400 hop growers in the state have signed up with the organization and the Oregon branch of the Pacific Coast hop growers promises to become a flourishing organization. Letters were also received from the headquarters of the California and Washington associations reporting good progress in those states.
The principal interest in this afternoon's session outside of the regular business of the growers was the speech of Governor Withycombe. Phil Sloan, of Portland, and Hector MacFhearson, of O. A. C., were also scheduled for short talks.
The committee on finances also submitted a report showing that the affairs of the organization were in good shape. The members of the committee soliciting stock subscriptions are: J. H. Near Arras the French shelled a German artillery camp, killing most of the gunners and wrecking several ammunition cars. These results were observed by French airmen hovering over the scene and signalling the range.
There have been no important developments anywhere else in the western battle zone.

"The One Hundred and Fifteenth French infantry regiment apparently has been annihilated in the Argonne," the statement says. "Five hundred dead were found after the enemy had retreated. We captured 12 officers, 731 men, 12 machine guns and 19 small arms."
Violent fighting continues west of LaBasse, says the statement, the Germans having taken two British trenches, commanding a strong position of the enemy. Sixty British are declared to have been captured there.

Is Chiropractic "Only Osteopathy Adulterated?"

Read the following sworn testimonial, proving the positive value of modernized Chiropractic as used by Dr. W. H. Reynolds, of Salem:

"I, Jennie Benson, being first duly sworn on my oath, claim that I am a resident of Glenwood, Minnesota. That about a year and a half ago I took two months treatment from an Osteopathic Doctor, who was a Graduate of the American School of Osteopathy of Kirksville, Mo. That he did not give me a particle of relief. I was troubled with what medical doctors call nervous dyspepsia and diabetes. I was in such a condition that for two years I was unable to hold a solid food on my stomach. About a year ago I commenced taking what is called Chiropractic Adjustments from W. H. Reynolds and within ten days I began feeling very much better and was able to eat almost any food. After two months of adjustments, was pronounced well and have remained so since. I was terribly bloated when I commenced taking adjustments, but lost fifteen lbs. during the time of taking treatments and have remained normal since. People told me not to try Chiropractic as it was only Osteopathy adulterated but I found out differently. Dr. Reynolds did not use one movement that the Osteopath did, neither did the Osteopath use one movement that Dr. Reynolds did. The Osteopathic Doctor told me there was a bone in my back which he could not move and Dr. Reynolds told me he could adjust that vertebrae in one second, which he did."

"It is my opinion that Chiropractic and Osteopathy are two entirely different sciences."
"Subscribed and sworn before me this 18th day of December, 1905."
"E. T. THORSON,
(Seal) Judge of Probate, Pope County, Miss."
