By MOLLEN KUNOERN

Luncheon hall again showed signs of activity this morning when students, who had been home for the week-end, following the examinations for the first semester, returned to resume their studies. Miss Elma Ohling passed this period with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Ohling, in Albany; Miss Winifred McBride, of Corvallis, spending the week-end the guest of her sister, Miss Mildred McBride, at the hall.

The past matrons of Chadwick chapter No. 37, order of Eastern Star, will entertain the visiting members of the order in the city, and the members of the chapter Tuesday afternoon, February 2, from 2 until 5 o'clock, in the beautiful parlors of the Masonic temple.

A Parent-Teachers' meeting was held at the Hayeville school house Friday night. A splendid program was given by the school children after which County Superintendent Walter M. Smith gave a very interesting talk on "Industry." Light refreshments were served, the money from which is to be used in securing play ground apparatus for the school.

The meeting was in every way a decided success, and it is hoped by the Hayeville people that others will be given during the term.

A most pleasant gathering took place Friday evening, when the neighbors and friends of Morningside and Salem Heights numbering about forty met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Law. It was a well planned and successful surprise. A delicious luncheon was served later by Mesdames Robinson, Reeves, Hulsey, Peck and Henderson, who were hostesses.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peck, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Thery, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Voria, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruch, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hulsey, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Paris, Mr. Ellis Bennett and daughter, Miss Ella, Mrs. O. M. Reeves and daughter, Miss Vera, Mrs. O. G. Robertson, Mrs. J. R. Pennington and daughter, Rosina, Misses Lois Bason, Ruth Robinson, Orpha Elliott, Susie Bennett and Alena Roberts, granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Law; Mesdames Edwin Robinson, Claude Robinson, Ernest Bennett, George Elliott, Loyal Henderson, Wayne Voria and Kinsey Hulsey.

The progress and activity of the Mothers' club of the Highland school is most encouraging to those who are responsible for its recent organization. Fifty mothers and friends gathered at the school building last Tuesday afternoon in their regular session. Dr. J. N. Smith spoke on the "Health of the Child," giving most pertinent information. Mrs. Victor Stewart gave two piano solos, and Mrs. O. E. Cooney gave an enjoyable reading. At each meeting the room in the school having the largest representation secures the large picture, donated to the school by the Mothers' club. Miss Hazlett's room, being the most largely represented, secured the picture for the coming several weeks.

Mrs. Mack McAllister is entertaining her mother, Mrs. H. M. Finley, of Corvallis, and her sister, Mrs. John Buchanan, of the same place. They arrived last Thursday and will remain for the remainder of the week.

A pleasing bit of news comes from Stockton, California, in the nature of an announcement of the marriage of Miss Ora Goodrich, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Goodrich, of this city, to Charles Jory, grandson of Mrs. Mary Jory, of South Commercial street, and a former Salem resident.

The marriage was quietly celebrated in San Francisco last Monday, immediately following Miss Goodrich's return from a three-weeks' visit to her relatives in Salem.

The young people will make their home in Stockton, where Miss Goodrich has been working for several years, and where Mr. Jory is interested in the Stockton Pool Works.

Several complimentary affairs were given for the holidays during her stay, her sister, Mrs. Claire C. Simeral, and a number of her school friends giving her a linen shower on January 22.

Hobbs' "O' Salutaris" was beautifully interpreted by Flecker McIntire at the Sunday morning services of St. Joseph's church, it being given as an offering selection. Although practically a new singer publicly, Mr. McIntire's work is receiving much complimentary criticism, his tone and phrasing being excellent in the extreme.

Friday afternoon at two o'clock at the first Presbyterian church the anniversary of the death of Mrs. Lovell.

WITNESS AFTER WITNESS IN SALEM

Such Evidence Our Readers Cannot Dispute.

As we take up the Journal we are struck by the hearty, unmistakable way in which witness after witness speaks out as Mr. Hill does here. If these people were strangers living miles away, we might take little notice of them. But they are not. They are our neighbors, living among us. Their word is too easily proven to admit of any doubt. They speak out in the hope that their experience may be a guide to others.

C. W. Hill, wagon maker, 1339 N. Front street, Salem, says: "I had more or less backache and my kidneys were disordered. Doan's Kidney Pills have always relieved me in a short time. I know of several other people who have taken Doan's Kidney Pills with good results. You may continue publishing the statement I gave before recommending them."

usual business meeting of the Missionary society will take place, at which time officers for the coming year will be chosen. Usually at this time a program is given. None will be given, however, this year, the business being hurriedly passed upon owing to the meetings being held at the Tabernacle.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Ross were at home to the members of the young women's and young men's classes of the Highland Friends Sunday school Friday evening at the residence of the Coles. Mrs. Cole and Mr. Ross are teachers of these classes, respectively, the girls, who also form a Tri club, meeting frequently for social sessions, asking the members of the young men's class to be their guests at this gathering. Decorations were carried out in the three colors of the club, pink, green and white, the refreshments also displaying these colors.

A most enjoyable evening was passed with informal diversions, it being decided to make this a final entertainment until after the series of meetings at the tabernacle.

Those present were: Miss Lena Struss, Miss Laura Connors, Miss Edna Cameron, Miss Gladys Scott, Miss Madelyn Owens, Miss Anna Gibson, Miss Lucille Tucker, Miss Hazel Tucker, Miss Anna Gorman, Miss Deva Mooreman, Miss Edith Frasier, Miss Winifred Frasier, Miss Florence Frasier, Miss Faye Biehe, Miss Vera McMillan, Miss Inola Smith, and Messrs. Salem visitors in Portland, whether artists or not, will enjoy seeing Professor W. L. Bennett Knowles' original oil painting, "Christ, the Light of the World," which will be on view at the First Methodist church, Twelfth and Taylor streets, Portland, today and Wednesday evening.

Mr. Knowles is quite well known in Salem, especially among artists and art patrons. The particular picture is valued at $3500, and is a beautiful and an original conception and delineation of the personality of Christ. The picture has been most favorably passed upon by eminent critics, and is unique in that it differs from the sad and pessimistic portrayals so often painted of this subject. Mr. Knowles' work suggesting the true character of the Messiah as revealed in the New Testament.

Professor Knowles is a member of the Central Art Association of America, and has been prominently identified with artistic efforts both in Europe and America. During his most recent visit to Salem he intimated that he might exhibit his work here sometime during the winter. Should he do so, the display would undoubtedly be the most noteworthy event of its kind taking place in Salem.

The local Knights of Columbus will give a banquet in St. Joseph's hall tonight beginning at eight o'clock, at which the visiting Knights in the city will be honored, including the legislators and their wives.

Mrs. Claud S. Knight returned to her home in The Dalles Friday, after passing a month as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fawc.

The most recently formed club is at Riverside Acres, just south of the city, and is composed of a number of women of that section, who meet regularly each week on Thursday afternoon for social gatherings, entertaining the husbands of the members on the evenings of the last Thursdays of each month.

Next Thursday the club and their guests will meet at the Rice home, at which time an interesting program will be given. The members are: Mrs. B. A. Reynolds, Mrs. Lesley Rice, Mrs. Orville Rice, Mrs. Everett Park, Mrs. Paul Summs, Mrs. Ernest Foster, Mrs. Clara Hatch and Miss May Johns.

She was before her marriage to Mr. Lovell who is secretary of the state tax commission, Miss Louise Stutesman, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Stutesman. ## PRUNE GROWERS WARNED BY COUNTY INSPECTOR

Brown Rot May Throw Goods Out of Market During Coming Season

The following letter from C. O. Constable, county fruit inspector, is of vital interest to the prune growers of this section.

It shows that the prune growers will have to exercise greater care than in the past and that the man in the prune growing business will have to watch his orchard closer than has been the custom in the past. The letter is as follows:

"From the present attitude of the packers and others, everything points to the fact that there will be a most rigid inspection of the prune dryers and orchards during the coming season and I am of the opinion that the grower will find it very difficult to market his crop if infected with brown rot. I would suggest and urge that unusual care be used in pruning with a view of getting as much sunshine and air on the fruit as possible. I believe in addition to pruning that it will be necessary to spray from time to time to control it.

"The Agricultural College recommends for brown rot to spray with Bordeaux Mixture 4-4-50 or Atomic Sulphur 10 pounds to 100 gallons water. Spray first about one week after the petals fall; second application about the middle of June. Third the last week in September.

"I would like to add, that I believe the time has come when we will have to use more care in marketing better prunes, and not expect to take a crop year after year as we have in the past with a small amount of pruning and cultivation. I would not be at all surprised that in the future we will be compelled to spray our prunes for brown rot as the apple men do for Colton Noth, especially the old orchards."

ST. PAUL CREAMERY

The business men of St. Paul celebrated the successful opening and operation of the new creamery by giving a dairy luncheon to the patrons and stockholders of the institution at the annual stockholders' meeting, held last Saturday. A very interesting program was rendered, beginning with a selection by the orchestra, followed by luncheon and speechmaking. The mayor formally turned over the keys of the city to the president, W. L. Gooding, who announced that everybody could go as far as they liked. The local business men, attired in white aprons and caps with the creamery label, "Mission," printed upon them, acted as ushers and waiters. At the conclusion of the program the entire company adjourned to the creamery and thoroughly inspected the plant. Mr. Colts, the buttermaker, giving an impromptu lecture on the methods employed, explaining the uses of the various machinery, etc. At 2 p. m. the stockholders' meeting was called and the following directors elected for the coming year: W. L. Gooding, L. Harris, E. B. Boyer and D. L. VanHiele were re-elected, and J. N. McKay was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Henry Zorn. Short talks were made by D. L. VanHiele, W. L. Gooding, Judge Brentano, L. Harris, Mr. Colts and A. Keber at the conclusion of the luncheon. The creamery has made an excellent showing, having turned out over 1600 pounds of butter in five shiftings, the last being double the first. It developed from the secretary's report that the financial condition of the institution was in good shape and the stockholders expressed themselves more than pleased at the progress made and feel confident of future success.—Woodburn Independent.

STRONG PROTEST VOICED AT MEETING THIS NOON

Women Up in Arms Over Movement to Abolish State Industrial School For Girls.

True to expectation a large delegation of women, representing different religious, charitable and other organizations, appeared before the state board of control this morning and entered strong protest against the action of the joint committee on ways and means of the legislature in its vote to abolish the wayward girls' home. The board of control voted in favor of the retention of the institution and enlisted themselves in the cause for its support and maintenance. A meeting of the joint ways and means committee is in session this afternoon to listen to the presentation of the board of control and the fate of the girls' home ways in the balance.

The action of the committee in voting to abolish the home was actuated by the belief that it was too expensive in its maintenance and that the appropriation which it was asking for at this session, $56,000, was out of proportion to the size and demand for the institution. Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin, of Portland, and Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, of Salem, members of the board of supervisors of the home, presented to the board of control that the institution was in its infancy, which explained the heavy cost of administration and establishment, and that the state of Washington had appropriated $126,000 for the support of its girls' home without a murmur.

The present terrible earthquake that has devastated central Italy approaches at first report in the number of killed and wounded and property damage the great earthquake of Dec. 28, 1908, at Messina and other towns, scenes of which are here shown. In that devastation the total number of killed was placed at nearly 77,000 and injured and many more thousands are injured and countless thousands are homeless.
