

Wm. G. Shepherd Under Arrest, Writes From Dunkirk, France

By William G. Shepherd. (United Press Staff Correspondent.) Dunkirk, France, Jan. 28.—By mail to New York.—Dunkirk is forbidden ground and I am under arrest in a hotel as I write this. My jailer has orders to take me down to the train at noon and start me off for Calais. His name is Theodore Hootens, and Seattle is his home, though he came over here for the war and was assigned to the secret service of the French army. At this blessed moment his wife is in Deadwood, South Dakota, and Hootens wants her to have a copy of this story addressed to her, in care of general delivery. He's glad to be a jailer for an American. In fact, I think I should have spent last night in jail, where two English newspapermen were languishing, had not Hootens told the chief of the secret service that he would vouch for my not running away. But friendly as he is, Hootens has to escort me to the train and put me on it. Hootens has his own troubles, too. "I'm worried about my father," said Hootens. "He lives in Armentieres, and he is 83 years old. The roof of the old home there was blown off by a German shell and he had to get out. He went to live with neighbors and their house was unroofed and so dad moved from there to a cedar in the house of another friend, but I can't get him to move from the town. He says he's lived there all his life and that no Germans can drive him out."

WEATHER MAN YIELDING TO DEMANDS OF MUTS

Sunshine Expected When the Trainload of Portlanders Arrive Tomorrow. It looks as though the Muts' boast that they have the weather prophet secured into submission will make good. The weather so far since U. S. Forecaster Beals was taken in charge by their committee on "weather medicine" has been all that could be expected, and if it continues all will be well, but if he slips up on his incantations he'll be a sorry Mut. A wire was received by J. E. Crowe, Mut 574, from C. F. Berg, Imperial Tel. Co. this morning, repeating the warning to prospective Muts to be on hand. Mut Scout 542, Will F. Spencer, wishes to have all members of the organization now in Salem be at the siding on Commercial street to meet the Special on its arrival at 11 o'clock tomorrow. This is of importance. A call has been made for the Cherrians to assemble to meet the visitors. It is expected that everything will be carried off as planned, and that the different events will be disposed of in time, that is providing the "jitters" lines which the president of the Salem Jitney Transportation Co. has placed at the disposal of President Franklin T. Griffith, of the Portland Railway Light & Power Co. will permit, an expert chauffeur has been engaged and a corps of trustworthy repairmen will accompany the private car—so it is hoped it will manage to pull through—at any rate it is expected that those who stay off the streets will be safe. It is believed that the legislative session will be of great benefit to the members of both houses, and it is to be hoped that the kindly assistance so freely offered by the Muts will be duly appreciated by the regulars, as they may never have another opportunity to observe how a real legislature should be conducted. Spectators will be admitted but upon the first indication of risibility on their part they will be turned over to the pitchfork brigade. In the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the Muts' band will render a concert on the west steps of the state house, the weather permitting, in case of rain, however, the concert will be postponed. Admission will be free. This will be a treat to the music lovers of Salem. The following program will be rendered: "The Boys of the Old Brigade"; "March"; "W. Paris Chambers"; "Musical Jokes"; "Grand Potpourri"; "The Firefly"; "Selection from Comedy Opera"; "Rudolf Friml"; "William Tell"; "Overture"; "G. Rossini"; "Maryland Variations for Different Instruments"; "T. V. Short"; "Ballet Music from Faust"; "C. H. Gommg".

ORDUNA FLYING THE AMERICAN COLORS

British Steamer For Some Purpose Displayed Stars and Stripes at Sea. New York, Feb. 10.—Passengers arriving here today on the Cunard liner Orduna, from Liverpool, declared that vessel the American flag for nearly 24 hours. On January 31, while in the Irish sea, the flag was hoisted by orders of Captain Taylor after the Orduna left the Mersey and it was kept flying until Monday morning. Passengers said the change of flags followed the receipt of a wireless message from shore. It was not known whether the message was from the British admiralty or from officials of the Cunard line. Attention was called to the fact that it was on January 31 that the German submarine U-21 sank three steamers off the coast of the British Isles. The Ben-Cauchin was sent to the bottom about the time the Orduna sailed. Then came the wireless message to the Orduna and the change of flags. The American flag remained on the Orduna's mast until the vessel was off Queenstown where the British flag was substituted. When the pilot was dropped the American flag was again raised and remained aloft until the vessel was well off the Irish coast. Members of the crew told several of the Orduna's passengers that the captain had been warned by the British admiralty that a number of German submarines were off the Irish coast and to use every precaution to protect the Orduna and her mails. Henry Winter, assistant general manager of the Cunard line, issued the following statement this afternoon: "As usual, the Orduna was flying the American flag from her foremast and the Union Jack from the taffrail when she left Liverpool. She was flying the same flag when she entered New York harbor. The colors forward indicated her destination and those aft the nationality of the vessel. "There is no truth in the report that Captain Taylor switched the colors and placed the American flag where the British flag should have been." Despite Winter's assertion, H. T. Strong, of New York, a first cabin passenger, said he saw the American flag flying aft. His statement was corroborated by James Ford and others. Officials of the Cunard line insisted that the passenger "must have been mistaken," or had "started the story for a joke."

Famous Artists At Armory, Friday

Scotsman, June 22, 1914.—A complete artistic absence of mind is recorded of Miss Gluck's song recital yesterday afternoon. Miss Gluck's voice is a well trained soprano, possessing considerable flexibility, and particularly good in the upper tones. In a well chosen selection of songs, the recitalist showed her capacity to enter into and bring out their varying sentiments, and among the more notable items one might mention her interpretation of Schubert's "Du bist die Ruh" and Handel's "Oh Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me," for their air of absorbed calm, and in a lighter vein the three songs by the French composer "Cherubinet," and interesting excerpt from Pergolesi's old Italian "La Serva Padrona." Mr. Zimbalist, the well known violin virtuoso, filled the office of accompanist with singularly unobtrusive taste, besides contributing forward as a composer with a Russian peasant song, which most sympathetically rendered by Miss Gluck in that language, proving the bit of the afternoon, the audience refusing to be satisfied until it had been sung a second time.

The Globe, London, May 18, 1914.—A violin concerto shorn of its interest, yet so good, an artist is Mr. Zimbalist that the reading he gave of Max Bruch's G Minor Concerto at the Queen's Hall on Saturday afternoon contained all that was attractive, so full of life and romance was his playing. He expressed himself with the full knowledge of what he was going to say, and the best way of saying it, obvious of anything else. Bach's G Minor Prelude and Fugue for violin alone, was a good test as to the command this year violinist has over his instrument.

QUINABY NEWS NOTES

(Capital Journal Special Service.) Quinaby, Ore., Feb. 9.—Miss Leona Girod of Salem was an over Sunday visitor at the home of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Girod. Mrs. N. E. Ginnair returned to her home in Salem Sunday after a week's visit with friends here. Gustave Girod has been quite ill from La Grippe the past month, but is now much improved. During his illness he has been at the home of his son, Arthur Girod. Mr. Worley severely cut his hand the other day with an axe, his thumb being laid open by a misdirected blow. Mrs. Marie Harold has been confined to her bed for the past two months, her trouble being rheumatism, coupled with the infirmities of age. Mrs. Gus Harold of Stayton, who is well known here as a Post-hall hospital, where her health is improving. Mrs. Harvey Evans who recently underwent an operation in a Portland hospital is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pugh at Chemawa. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Croten will be interested in the announcement of the birth of a son to them at their home in Alderwood, Canada, January 17. Mrs. Croten was formerly Miss Jennie McEwen. Rev. Guy Stover preached at the Quinaby school house Sunday morning, and announced services for next Sunday evening at that place, to be conducted by Captain Slover, former chief of police of Portland, who is living on his farm at Clear Lake. A campaign is to be started to secure funds for the erection of a church at Quinaby, where the Evangelical Association already has a fine open air tabernacle and a beautiful park for camp meeting purposes. Throughout the summer Sunday school was held in the tabernacle but it is not suited to winter weather and the Sunday School has met since then in the school house. While this building is adapted to school purposes, it is a poor make what for a church as the seats are too small for adults, and the seating capacity inadequate. Unless the new building is placed at the village of Quinaby, it is said that another church organization plans to erect a church there to care for the great number of nearby residents who do not enjoy church privileges.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Don't Look Old! Try Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded, Lifeless Hair. That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and straggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold. Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

THEY ALL DEMAND IT

Salem, Like Every City and Town in the Union, Receives It. People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve, but do not cure. Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results to thousands. Here is a salient evidence of their merit. L. N. Ridgeway, 438 S. 22nd St., Salem, says: "I had pains in the small of my back and my back ached at night. I tired easily, was languid and had headaches. Sometimes my sight blurred. There was sediment in the kidney secretions. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me greatly and I publicly recommended them at that time. Nothing has occurred to change my high opinion of this remedy, in fact, my confidence in it is greater than ever for I got a permanent cure." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Ridgeway had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

WILSON ANNOUNCES DECISION TO CALL SPECIAL SESSION

(Continued from Page One.) Effort to break the administration's strength. Good Caused Wrangle. Washington, Feb. 10.—Representative Good, of Iowa, precipitated a wrangle in the house today when he charged that President Wilson had influenced the interstate commerce commission in its decision to grant a 5 per cent increase to eastern railroads. During the debate a motion to strike from the sundry civil bill an appropriation of $5,000,000 for fixing a physical valuation of railroads was offered. It was defeated. Representative Gordon of Ohio said Good was the first member of the house who dared openly to say what the republicans had been whispering among themselves. Gordon said he had heard of the charge, and had talked the matter over with the president. "Mr. Wilson told me," said Gordon, "that he would as soon think of trying to influence the supreme court as he would the interstate commerce commission." Good, however, repeated his accusation and declared that all recent interstate commerce commission appointments favored increasing railroad rates. He said that Commissioner Daniels, who has gone to Chicago to take evidence in the rate hearing to be held there, would recommend an increase of 5 per cent for the benefit of the railroads west of the Mississippi river. "And," added Good, "under the pressure of the president, the commission will grant the increase."

HOUSE APPROPRIATES FOR REFORM SCHOOL

Attempt Made to Place Rider Giving Appropriation to Girls Industrial School. When the ways and means committee measure carrying an appropriation of $65,275 for the maintenance of the boys training school for the ensuing Biennium came up for consideration before the house in committee of the whole yesterday afternoon an attempt was made to amend an appropriation of $49,300 for the maintenance of the wayward girls' home through a rider, with the result that the house was plunged into a wordy war which bordered upon a sectarian riot. The final result, however, was that the proposed appropriation for the girls' home was referred to the ways and means committee with instructions to bring in a bill embracing the accounts asked and it will be fought out on its merits. The appropriation for the training school was passed without opposition. After having spent nearly two hours in debate the house yesterday morning voted down Representative Smith's (Klamath) measure amending the law creating and regulating the accountancy department, the bill was reconsidered yesterday afternoon, and after another half hour's wrangle, it was passed with 24 voting against it. Also after exhausting hours of the people's

Brown of Harvard Is Interesting Show

While we are awaiting the arrival of more pictures of the various local stars who will shine next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings in the big Artisan production of the famous comedy "Brown of Harvard," so that we can give them the separate and individual notices they deserve, we would like to call your attention to some general facts concerning the play. "Brown of Harvard" is a comedy, an uproariously funny comedy with a tremendously exciting plot. That is a combination which may be rather rare to imagine, but that's just what "Brown of Harvard" is. It is a scream, a riot, a deafening crescendo of laughter and a terrific succession of thrills. There is a punch in every line, a roar in every scene, and the periods between punches and roars are filled to overflowing with delightful giggles and the melody of roiling college songs. Here are some more facts about "Brown of Harvard": "Brown of Harvard" ran for two full seasons at the theatre in New York City, and has smashed the box office records in every big city in the country. "Brown of Harvard" has been proclaimed by the leading critics to be not only the best college play on the stage, but the greatest American comedy ever written. "Brown of Harvard" will be produced here by special arrangement with the author and owners, and the privilege of producing it, which the Artisans have secured, carries with it the highest royalty ever paid for an amateur production. "Brown of Harvard" will be given the most elaborate production of any play ever put on in Salem. The "proprietor" calls for several hundred special pieces of property, and the play will be staged with scenery built and painted especially for it. The cast for "Brown of Harvard" contains the most notable array of Salem talent ever seen on the local stage at one time. "Brown of Harvard" will be played at prices which every one can afford to pay. All the seats in the house will be reserved, and the prices will be 75c and 50c—no higher. The seat sale for both performances opens next Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Police Court News

Otto Peetz, of Moro, Sherman county, is in the city visiting his cousin, J. L. and E. N. Peetz. Mr. Peetz is county assessor of Sherman county. Time in debate over the merits of the Forbes bill to ratify the lease of the right to develop the mineral resources of lakes Sumner and Abert, in Lake county, entered into between the state and board and J. C. Moore, and after former Governor West, Secretary State O'Leary and Treasurer Kay had spent in about an hour's time in going over all of the details of the transaction, the house finally passed the bill with only nine dissenting votes.

FATHER CONFERS MASTER MASON DEGREE ON SON

Largest Assembly of Masons Here in Many Years Attend Special Communication Last Evening. One of the largest aggregations of Masons that has assembled in Salem for some time were in attendance at the special communication of Alpha Lodge No. 50, E. & A. M., last evening to witness the raising of "Mem" Pearce to the Master Mason degree, his father Past Grand Master Lot L. Pearce having charge of the work and conferring the degree. Mr. Pearce, a prominent merchant of this city, is recognized as one of the leading Masons of the state and the leading attendees representing lodges all over the state was a rare tribute of the high esteem in which he is held by the Masons of the state. The master of the lodge Glen Niles turned the gavel over to Mr. Pearce for the evening and he selected the men for different parts of the work. Past Grand Master J. C. Moreland, acting as senior warden, Past Grand Master H. B. Thibault acting as junior warden, Past Grand Master George H. Burnett acting as chaplain, and Past Master P. N. Redfield and Past Master Oscar Hayer, stewards, Rev. James Elvin, chaplain. The degree team was composed of Chas. McCarter, S. Z. Culver and Fred A. McIntyre of Salem Lodge No. 4, and W. A. Erickson, Hal B. Bulum and William Wood of Pacific Lodge No. 10. The communication in the lecture of the preceding degree was conducted by Russell R. Brooks. Besides a large number of past masters who attended, there were present seven past grand masters, J. C. Moreland, H. B. Thibault, Let L. Pearce and George H. Burnett of Salem; James F. Robinson of Portland, who is at present grand secretary and David P. Mason and W. B. Bilyeu of Astoria. Under the able direction of Glen Niles, master of the lodge, elaborate plans had been made for the entertainment of the visitors and following the lodge work a banquet was served in the banquet hall, with Supreme Judge George H. Burnett as toast master. Short talks were made by J. C. Moreland, Dr. J. L. Hill, of Albany, representative W. P. Lafferty, of Corvallis, and Oscar Hayer, of Dallas.

SIDE LIGHTS ON THE LEGISLATURE

Can you beat it! Day before yesterday the justice branch of the legislative assembly made a record for itself by passing intelligently and expeditiously upon an aggregate of 40 measures within the comparatively brief space of seven hours. Yesterday this same body of statesmen squandered a full five hours of the people's time in argument over the merits of two measures, one of which was rejected in the making to be reconsidered, reargued and passed in the afternoon, and the other was finally passed with only nine dissenting votes. That it happens that a mere handful of sense a half dozen men can tie the hands completely of a working body of 60 well-meaning men simply because of the rules governing parliamentary usage which guarantees to every man the right of courtesy and a hearing upon any subject which presents itself for consideration before the law-making body. And the members of the house who are almost invariably involved in time-killing forensics may be counted on the fingers of the two hands. By dint of a little cunning and a policy of "watchful waiting," Miss Towne yesterday afternoon managed to get by Representative Eaton, who has taken it upon himself to object to the introduction of any more bills during the session, except they be upon matters of grave importance and appropriation bills, and introduced another bill in the house yesterday afternoon. She waited until Mr. Eaton had left the hall, and then, between peeks around the huge pillar which stands between her desk and that of the house "watch-dog," she roily asked unanimous consent to introduce her bill, and she got it without a word of protest. Her gut bill seeks to make indemnity insurance companies party to suits when defendant is protected by such insurance.
