One of the last members of a notorious robber band, whose unparalleled career of crime during the civil war and the unsettled period that followed kept the people of a dozen states in terror, Frank James had been living the life of a quiet farmer for more than 30 years.

Woodhouse Anxious For More Government Aircrafts

New York, Feb. 19.—Henry Woodhouse, governor of the Aero Club of America, in a letter today to a United States senator, said the army and navy have but twelve aeroplanes fit for war service. He urged an appropriation of $7,500,000 for an aeroplane service, asserting that the defenses in the Philippines, Hawaii and the Panama canal zone were without air craft of any sort.

SUGAR FAMINE IN FRANCE AVERTED

Correspondent Relates Story of Rise in Price With Scarcity of Commodities.

(By William Phillip Simms.) Paris, Feb. 3.—(By mail to New York)—A sugar famine in France has been averted and the price which went from seven cents a pound to eleven cents, will probably not go very much higher. At the beginning of the war there was what might be called a food panic; people, with the memory of rats, cats, horses and other household animals fresh in their minds associated with meals eaten during the siege of Paris in 1870, made a rush for grocery establishments. Salt and sugar were the things they asked for first and soon it was noted about that no more sugar was to be had, at least for the time being.

After a while things loosened up somewhat. Sugar was to be had at an increased price but, with the German invasion of the principal sugar-producing provinces and the confiscation by them of the best crop, a second sugar panic was caused. Things really did look serious. Most of the sugar in France came from the Nord, Pas-de-Calais, Aisne and Somme departments and the Germans had invaded these. What was still worse, three-fourths of the best seeds came from Germany, the other fourth from the invaded French districts. With little sugar on hand and apparently no means of planting more sugar beets for a future crop, the outlook was dismal.

Jitney Bus Station Established at Eugene

(Eugene Guard.) According to an announcement made today it is proposed to make Eugene the night stopping point for Pacific Coast jitney service which is in process of organization. This service would be, if the plans of the promoters mature, an overland service from Seattle to the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco. The present plans are to inaugurate and to continue it until the end of this coming summer.

L. H. Griffith, of Seattle, representing the Pacific Highway Tour and Hotel company, was in Eugene last night, leaving this morning for Seattle. He employed Jack Rodman, an Eugene realty dealer to find him forty acres of land in or near Eugene for the erection of 1000 tents and for parking as many motor cars. The proposal is to have equipment in Eugene to handle 5,000 persons a night.

A meeting of the fair board will be called tonight to consider a proposition to lease the property during the summer for the Eugene headquarters for the company. If this is obtained, the exhibit pavilion building will be used as a huge dining room for the tourists, and the other parts of the enclosure, including that within the race track for the erection of tents and the parking of the cars.

The project means the expenditure of thousands of dollars in Eugene, according to the promoters. The feeding of 1,000 persons a day, with the necessary purchase of food from local dealers, in addition to the same spent by the tourists at stopping places, will be very important items, it is stated.

Under the plan the motor buses will leave Portland in the morning, make Albany a stopping place for lunch, and Eugene the night stop. Roseburg and Medford will also be night stopping places. One of the features of the trip to be advertised to tourists is the camping out plan. Hotel arrangements will be made, however, for those who do not care to use the tents.

Elks Visit Albany To Observe Anniversary

With a brass band, skyrockets, Roman candles and red lights greeting them, the Salem Elks made a grand entry into Albany when 125 members of the local lodge arrived in that city to celebrate with the Albany boys the 32nd anniversary of the founding of the Elks order and the 18th of the Albany lodge. Arriving in Albany at 8 o'clock, the boys were marched to the lodge rooms and after the preliminary greetings of old friends, a big banquet was served, over 300 visiting Elks enjoying the hospitality of the Albany lodge. Governor Withycombe, who is a member of the Albany lodge, made a short address in behalf of the home lodge, welcoming the Salem brothers. An original "poem" was read by P. H. D'Arcy, and Kola Neis told the boys all about his experiences in the German army and his troubles with the Kaiser. Geo. G. Le Snyder, secretary of the local lodge sang in preference to making a speech and M. L. Meyers, exalted ruler of the Salem lodge made a short address, thanking the Albany boys for their efforts and entertainment of the visiting Elks. It was a big event for not only the visiting Elks, but for Albany boys who proved themselves such generous entertainers.

LADIES! LOOK YOUNG, DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody can Tell. Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold. Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops the scalp itching and falling hair, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears. After another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger. Local Agent J. C. Perry.

The house voted to relieve Jesse Applepie from a judgment obtained against him by the state, he being one of the sureties of Sam E. May, ex secretary of state. It was at the 1874 session that H. J. R. No. 29 by Chambers was introduced and passed establishing the orthography of the word Willamette. On Thursday, September 24, 1874, C. A. Reed, house member from Marion, started something" when he introduced a resolution containing the signature of 1200 men and women asking for a change in the Oregon constitution, permitting women to vote. He certainly "started something." Wright of Union moved to refer the petition to the committee on retrenchment and reform. Lost. Fidler moved to refer to committee of the whole. Lost. Reed moved to refer to special committee of three. Carried. Chair appointed Reed of Marion, Lame and Bradshaw. The committee on October 1st returned a majority and a minority report. The majority report was signed by Reed and Lame who favored the petitioners, while Bradshaw, the minority, claimed that the relief prayed for was in conflict with Article 2, Section 2 of the Constitution of the State of Oregon. Extracts from that minority report read as follows: "The minority of your committee would therefore recommend that the prayers of said petitioners be denied. The minority of your committee would furthermore recommend that the female portion of said petitioners be respectfully requested to retire to their respective homes, and there faithfully and honestly discharge the duties enjoined upon them by the laws of their creation and of civilized society, that they will, in the future desist from petitioning for or meddling in matters that de-

Jellied Veal.—Soak one tablespoon of granulated gelatin in one-fourth cup cold water and dissolve in one cup boiling water; then add one-fourth cup each sugar and vinegar, two tablespoons lemon juice and one teaspoon salt. Strain, cool and when beginning to stiffen add one and one-half cups cold cooked veal, cut in small cubes, and one and one-half cups pimento, cut in small pieces. Turn into mold and chill. Remove from mold, cut in thin slices and serve. Candied Cranberries.—Of all the ways of serving cranberries this is one of the prettiest and most delicious. It is especially good to serve with fowl. Take one quart of berries and put them in baking pans so that the berries are spread evenly on the bottom and the berries will not be on top of each other. Sprinkle over these, covering them, ten cups of sugar (to one quart of berries) and then add water enough to come about one-third the height of the berries, and bake slowly until the berries are tender; but they must retain their shape. Then carefully pile them on a glass dish. They should look like candied cherries, with a small amount of thick syrup, and should be a scarlet color. Mince for Pies.—Half pound raw beef, one pound suet, one pound tart apples; chop each finely and separately. Half a pound of currants well washed and dried, half a pound of raisins seeded, half a pound of citron cut into small bits, half a pound of brown sugar, half a pint of milk, one ounce of nutmeg, one ounce of mace, one ounce of salt, one ounce of pepper, place in roaster and cook with slices open until it sings, then add enough water to just cover bottom of pan, close sides and cook according to taste, rare or well done. The roast being small, greater care must be taken that it does not get too brown or crisp; it should be tender and moderately rare after counting 15 minutes for each pound. A sliced onion can be placed
