WILLAMETTE WILL PLAY WASHINGTON TOMORROW

Star University Quintet From Seattle to Contest With Local Team

The Willamette university basketball team will take on the hardest contest of the season tomorrow evening when they lineup against the undefeated stars from the University of Washington.

The W. U. boys have been working long and hard in preparation for this event but are somewhat disheartened over the news of last evening's contest in which the O. A. C. quintet was only able to score two baskets.

The team is crippled by the absence of Flegel, who has played at guard for the past two seasons. He was recently taken sick and is now at his home in Portland. In his absence Bagley will drop back from center to the guard position and Adams, a sub of last season, will fill the center position.

The lineup will probably be Shidler (captain) and Jewett, forwards; Adams, center; Crawford and Bagley, guards.

Preceding the contest the faculty and the seniors will play their annual game. This contest is expected to arouse as much interest as the big contest for the spectators presented by the dignified professors attired in gym suits is always a big drawing card.

The line-up for tomorrow evening will include Professor Thompson, athletic director; Walter H. Bohra, principal of the academy; Florian F. Van Eechon, head of the science department and member of the city council; Morton E. Peck, professor of zoology, biology and kindred subjects; Robert B. Walsh, professor of foreign languages; I. A. Morton, professor of psychology and philosophy, and A. V. Swarthout, registrar of the university.

The first game will be called at 7:15 and will consist of two short halves.

SILVERTON BASKETBALL.
The basketball game last Friday evening between the Astoria high school boys and the locals was indeed a good game and well filled with surprises. Right at the start the Silvertown boys seemed to have a clinch and the visitors were unable to connect the sphere with the basket. At the start of the second half, however, Astoria took quite a brace and Silvertown fell down, and when the whistle sounded it was

NEW YORK BOOKMAKERS ARE BADLY WORRIED

Arrest of Betting Fans in Washington Recently Causes Nerves of Bookers to Shake.

(By Hal Sheridan.)
New York, Feb. 23.—Just how far they can go without police interference is worrying the bookmakers, who already are laying their plans carefully for a bit of under-cover betting when the New York racing season starts on May 20. Last year there were a few raids, and this year, according to word which has gone out in the shape of a tip to the racing fraternity, strictness will be the rule.
The arrest over in Maryland a few weeks ago of a hundred Washington betting fans, among them a congressman or two, has made the puny-follower here a bit chary. There has been a bit of betting on the Q. T. throughout the winter, but the old pool room days are far in the discard—at least the police say so.

The stewards of the Jockey club, who met here the other day, tentatively picked May 20 as the date for the start of the racing season hereabouts. It is by no means certain that the Westchester racing association will open the sport here, for there is talk of reverting to the Aqueduct track. Jamaica, which had to split its dates last year, may be in line again. Maryland tracks will open in April, and, one thing is assured; that when once the sport begins there will be racing every day in the vicinity of New York until the exodus for Saratoga.

A boxing fan who came from Washington the other day says that American ring bugs are flocking into the state department building looking for passports assuring them they will not spend a few days in a Mexican prison when they go to Juarez to see Jack Johnson and Jess Willard mix.

Although the Villistas are not believed likely to pinch anything except the Americans scatter in Juarez, the fans are working on the safe side by getting passports.

found that the score was tied. This necessitated a resumption of hostilities, the agreement being that the first team to make a field basket should be declaratory winner of the contest. During this time both quietists tried hard, but the visitors were the winners before many minutes had elapsed. Even if they did lose, the home boys put up a mighty good game, especially when it is remembered that Astoria was making a tour of the Willamette valley taking on such teams as Mt. Angel college and a few of the stronger school teams.—Appeal.

Portland Heaver Finally Accepts McCredie's Terms

Portland, Or., Feb. 23.—Pitchek Elmer Martinoni, who has been holding out for more salary for several weeks, accepted terms today to play with the Portland Coast League team again this season, President McCredie announced today.

Martinoni did not get the increase. His contract already called for a substantial sum, it is said.

A contract has not yet been signed by Martinoni, but this formality will be attended to when he reaches Fresno, the Heaver's training camp.

Police Court News

D. S. Masterson, who was driving the auto of George H. Jacob yesterday, appeared in police court this morning to answer to a charge of speeding. Masterson stated that he had secured an attorney to try the case and entered a plea of not guilty. His trial was set for the latter part of the week on account of the number of speeding cases already set for trial.

Ad Whorley, charged with fighting with R. Bette, in a downtown pool hall, was discharged this morning by Judge Elgin. It appeared from the testimony of witnesses that the fight was forced upon Whorley and that he had not begun the fracas. Bette did not appear in court this morning as he is now on his way to San Francisco. He accordingly forfeited $5 bail put up to insure his appearance in police court.

Albin Forward, well known in this city, where he formerly practiced law, appeared in police court this morning to answer to a charge of drunkenness. He entered a plea of not guilty, and Officer Ernstman, who made the arrest, was sent out to collect his evidence against the man. Forward stated that he came to town on the late train and denied that he was drunk when arrested.

William Kantleberg this morning swore out a complaint in police court against Eric Kantleberg, his brother, charging him with striking him and using profane and abusive language. William Kantleberg told Judge Elgin that because he refused to give his brother a smoke the latter struck him over the head with an umbrella, called him bad names and chased him around the yard with a dangerous weapon. William Kantleberg said that he could produce witnesses to the affair and was given until this afternoon to produce his witnesses in court, when the trial will be held.

Firm of Josse & Moore Dissolves Partnership

L. U. Josse and W. W. Moore, two of Salem's well known business men who have been engaged in conducting a furniture store under the name of Josse & Moore, at 367-371 Court street, for the past five years, this morning dissolved partnership. Mr. Moore has bought out Mr. Josse's interest and will continue the business under his own name. Mr. Josse will remain in Salem and will engage in other lines. The store was established about twelve years ago by Mr. Josse and has always been one of the leading factors of the city's commercial life.

About a month ago Mr. Moore bought a lot fronting on Court street, near the Brewer drug store, and within a few days a year will build thereon a modern four-story brick building especially adapted to the storage and display of furniture. Until the new building is ready, Mr. Moore will maintain at the present location on Court street, between Commercial and Liberty.

Mr. Moore is highly optimistic regarding the future development of Salem and he is planning to do his share in assisting in its growth. As a director in the Salem Bank of Commerce and as a merchant, he has made many friends here.

Are Women Naturally Despondent?

A prominent writer so claims. Women are constituted with a delicate organism and in nine cases out of ten mental depression may be attributed to an abnormal condition of the system, which expresses itself in nervousness, backache, headache, causing constant misery and as a result despondency. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a simple remedy made from roots and herbs, is the one great remedy for this condition. It goes to the root of the trouble and overcomes despondency.

JACK JOHNSON AT HAVANA.

Havana, Cuba, Feb. 23.—Jack Johnson, negro heavyweight champion of the world, who is scheduled to clash with Jess Willard in a 45 round bout at Juarez on the afternoon of March 6, was still here today. He said that if no vessel sailed for Mexico within the next day or so, he would charter a vessel himself.

"I expect to arrive in Juarez before March 6," said Johnson, "but I may ask Promoter Corley to postpone the match for a week. I really believe that I do not need the additional time, as I am confident I can beat Willard even in my present shape."

RATE INCREASE NECESSARY

FARMERS' UNION OFFICIALS THINK RAILROADS ARE ENTITLED TO MORE REVENUE.

Products of Plow and Farmer Who Lives at Home Should Be Exempt From Increase.

By Peter Radford, Lecturer National Farmers' Union.

The recent action of the Interstate Commerce Commission in granting an increase in freight rates in the eastern classification of territory; the application of the roads to state and interstate commissions for an increase in rates, and the utterances of President Wilson on the subject bring the farmers of this nation face to face with the problem of an increase in freight rates. It is the policy of the Farmers' Union to meet the issues affecting the welfare of the farmers squarely and we will do so in this instance.

The transportation facilities of the United States are inadequate to effectively meet the demands of commerce and particularly in the South and West additional railway mileage is needed to accommodate the movement of farm products. If in the wisdom of our Railroad Commissions an increase in freight rates is necessary to bring about an improvement in our transportation service, and an extension of our mileage, then an increase should be granted, and the farmer is willing to share such proportion of the increase as justly belongs to him, but we have some suggestions to make as to the manner in which this increase shall be levied.

Rates Follow Lines of Least Resistance.

The freight rates of the nation have been built up along lines of least resistance. The merchant, the manufacturer, the miner, the miller, the lumberman and the cattleman have had their traffic bureaus thoroughly organized and in many instances they have pursued the railroad without mercy and with the power of organized tonnage they have hammered the life out of the rates and with unrestrained greed they have eaten the vitals out of our transportation system and since we have had railroad commissions, these interests, with skill and cunning, are represented at every hearing in which their business is involved.

The farmer is seldom represented at rate hearings, as his organizations have never had the finances to employ counsel to develop his side of the case and, as a result, the products of the plow bear an unequal burden of the freight expense. A glance at the freight tariffs abundantly proves this assertion. Cotton, the leading agricultural product of the South, already bears the highest freight rate of any necessary commodity in commerce, and the rate on agricultural products as a whole is out of proportion with that of the products of the factory and the mine.

We offer no schedule of rates, but hope the commission will be able to give the railroad such an increase in rates as is necessary without levying a further toll upon the products of the plow. The instance seems to present an opportunity to the Railroad Commissions to equalize the rates as between agricultural and other classes of freight without disturbing the rates on staple farm products.

What is a Fair Rate?

We do not know what constitutes a basis for rate making and have never heard of anyone who did claim to know much about it, but if the prosperity of the farm is a factor to be considered and the railroad commission concludes that an increase in rates is necessary, we would prefer that it come to us through articles of consumption on their journey from the factory to the farm. We would, for example, prefer that the rate on eggs remain as at present and the rate on meat bear the increase, for any farmer can then avoid the burden by raising his own meat, and a farmer who will not try to raise his own meat ought to be penalized. We think the rate on coal and brick can much better bear an increase than the rate on cotton and flour. We would prefer that the rate on plows remain the same, and machinery, pianos and such articles as the poorer farmer cannot hope to possess bear the burden of increase.

The increase in rates should be so arranged that the farmer who lives at home will bear no part of the burden, but let the farmer who boards in other states and countries and who feeds his stock in foreign lands, pay the price of his folly.

WORLD AT WAR ATLAS

The Capital Journal has just received a new shipment of the "World at War" atlases. They are of a later and revised edition and consist of 24 large, highly-illustrated pages, printed on heavy enameled book.

The atlas contains splendid colored maps of all the warring countries, with routes of travel and railroad lines; many tables of army and navy and general statistics—in fact, the work is a complete ready-reference library for students of the great war. It is a book which would ordinarily sell for $1.00 or $1.50, but we are having them made up in large lots and buy them at a price which allows us to give them away to subscribers on very easy conditions.

All who pay three months subscription, old or new, back subscription or in advance, in case their paper is delivered by carrier, will receive one of these atlases free. All mail subscribers, old or new, who pay a year's subscription ($3.00), either back subscription or in advance, will also be entitled to receive an atlas without extra charge.

This is the most liberal offer the Capital Journal has ever made.

PROMINENT PIONEER DEAD.

Jacksonville, Or., Feb. 23.—Another tie that bound Oregon to the old romantic days is severed here today with the death of C. C. Beekman.

Beekman, who established the first bank in Oregon and was the first express messenger in the state, was 87 years old. In the early fifties Beekman carried the mail and gold dust over the mountains between Jacksonville and Yreka, Cal.

In 1837 he established the Beekman bank.

FAMOUS GREEK MARATHON RUNNER TO TRY MIDDLE DISTANCE GAME

New York, Feb. 23.—Athletic experts are deeply interested in the announcement that Nick Gianakopoulos, the famous Greek Marathon runner, intends to take up the middle distance running at the marathon and ten mile distances. In the past four years he has participated in 250 races. How Gianakopoulos will fare at shorter distances can only be answered by his future performances, but there are many who predict he will perform in great style at the shorter distances.
