

Aye, Aye Sir!

You may go COATLESS but it would be an unpardonable performance to go SHIRTLESS. Then, why not have a peep at our New Spring Line of

Shirts

They are certainly beauties. Stripes are the big thing, of course; not the gaudy kind, but beautiful, blending shades. Snappy? Say, those silk bosom shirts at $1.40, and those "Hi-Lo" shirts—a combination flat and military collar—well, you just ought to see them!

Buy them, wear them, then go coatless if you like, these shirts will always reflect your good judgment.

Let us show you the BLACK CANDY STRIPE—the very newest in shirts. They are the "noisiest" things the dashing youths will find this season . . . $1.15

Collars of Respectable Standing

SMART SUIT WITH FLARED COAT AND CIRCULAR SKIRT

CHARMING SPRING COSTUME

The smart-tailored gown pictured here will be good style as long as it is at all so conservative as are its lines. The collar and revers are broader than have been shown in the season just past, and the hip length coat is becoming to both stout and slender figures.

ERIC P. BOLT WINNER OF ORATORICAL TRYOUT

Oration "A New Plank" Selected by Judges Best Effort in Contest

Eric P. Bolt, a senior, was awarded first place by the judges in the local try-out which was held in the chapel of W. U. last night to decide who should represent Willamette in the state inter-collegiate oratorical contest to be held in Salem, April 23, in which the eight colleges of Oregon will participate.

The winning oration, entitled "A New Plank" contained the idea that the voting booth is the citizens' professional every citizen must express himself then some political body, hence he should ally himself with a reliable one; in the past fifty years the prohibition party has been a political wash bowl, wherein a man could wash his hands from any responsibility and yet seek important offices.

New parties are not as a rule permanent hence the old line parties must include in their platform new planks of progressive legislation, and the time has come when old line parties must take up as one of their important issues prohibition. The nation is looking to the colleges for coming leaders. When patriotism is recognized as higher than partisanship, self-interests and prejudices; then it will be ready to leave the posterity a heritage consisting of a shameless nation.

Miss McBride, winner of second place with her oration, "The Eighteenth Amendment," developed the thought that freedom has been America's constant aim, it has ever been a progressive freedom, which will never be dominated by interests, that tend to throttle the rights of the nation as individuals. Either the government must divorce itself from the legalized association which it maintains with the liquor interests, or else we must be content with the evils which now exist.

Mr. Nichol, who took third place, had for his oration "Law and Liberty." He showed that the characteristic which makes a great nation progress, yet progress should not vest itself in unrestricted liberty for that is fatal; law must control liberty, the duty of a law is to guide, teach and direct. It is the inherent right of the political party in power to give to every person under their jurisdiction the benefits of righteousness, liberty and law co-related.

The other two contestants, Miss Addie Patterson and Mr. Arnold Hall, each had commendable orations and brought out new ideas along the line of temperance. The program was enlivened between orations by music, an instrumental solo by Miss Gertrude Eakin, and a vocal solo by Mr. B. L. Pfaff. The judges for the contest were: On composition, Rev. Spencer, Rev. Elliott, and Mr. Kirk. On delivery, Mr. W. C. Winslow, Dr. Avison and Prof. Nelson of Salem High.

Fifty per cent was given on delivery and fifty per cent on composition.

How To Make Your Hair Beautiful

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders, Stops Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" is the world's a simple old-fashioned home recipe consisting of plain Ray Rum, Lavona (de Composed), and a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes, work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get your Rum and 1/2 drachm Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Ray Rum and pour in an 8 oz. bottle. Then add the Lavona, shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on soft cloth. Draw this cloth slowly through the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt, dust and excessive oil, and makes the hair delightfully soft, lustrous and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply night and morning. A few days' use and you will not find a single loose or straggling hair. They are locked on your scalp as tight as a vise. Dandruff will disappear and itching cease. You will find fine downy new hairs sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its result.

PORTLAND MAN DEAD

Portland, Ore., March 24.—As the result of being struck on the head by a piece of hardware he was using, "Big" O'Connell, city agent of the Hawthorne Stables, died here today.

As Per Example

Jacky had been asked out to a "grown-up" dinner. Swallowing with pride, he took his seat at the bottom of the table and looked around—slight by awestruck—at the imposing collection of aunts and uncles.

Then his attention became fixed on the ancient relative who was carving an enormous turkey, and his mouth watered as he saw the big helpings being heaped around.

But the carver, who did not know much about little boys, cut off a tiny portion for Jacky.

"Is that the part of the turkey you like, my little man?" he asked, as the servant handed Jacky the plate.

"Yes," he said, "I'll have some of that, please."

A man usually smiles when another man invites him to do so.

Social and Personal

The Woman's Relief Corps of Oregon has been formulating plans for some time for the creation of a home for veterans' widows, army nurses and woman's Relief Corps members, who are deserving of assistance.

The local corps has taken up the work of raising funds enthusiastically, and for this cause the president of Sedgwick chapter, Mrs. J. L. McAdams, will open her beautiful home, 245 1/2 street, for a silver tea, Thursday afternoon. It is hoped by the organization officials that all who are interested in aiding in this noble effort will assist at this time.

Many Students Taking Commercial Training

That vocational training in the public schools is really what the people want, and that it meets with the approval of the students, is evidenced by the fact that out of 800 pupils in the Salem high school 350 are now taking commercial work. In addition to this number, 75 more have applied for entrance to classes in the commercial work, but could not be accommodated for lack of room and time for recitation periods.

Four years ago the commercial course numbered only 35 pupils. The classes have steadily grown until now almost half of the students in the high school are interested in the work.

The commercial course as now taught in the Salem high school includes a four-year course. Penmanship, spelling and elementary bookkeeping are included in the first years of study. This is followed by corporation accounting, cost accounting and national banking.

The last two years of the course also include typewriting and shorthand with office practice. Three years of the course include business correspondence, commercial arithmetic, commercial law and commercial geography. Salesmanship and business efficiency are taught in the fourth year's course.

The object of this course is to prepare the student to take a position in the business world.

For the past four years the commercial work of the high school has been under the instruction and charge of Merritt Davis. Before taking charge of this work, Mr. Davis had been employed 10 years as a teacher in a business college. At present he is chairman of the committee on standardization of commercial courses for high schools in the state of Oregon.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Don't Look Old! Try Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded, Lifeless Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

SEARCH FOR MISSING MAN San Francisco, March 24.—Search was begun today for Louis Fichman, 24, who disappeared after leaving New York January 27 with $10,000, which he planned to invest in a concession at the exposition here.

MUSTEROLE There's no sense in mixing up a mustard, flour and water when you can so easily relieve pain, remove stiffness with a little clean, white, MUSTEROLE.

SEARCH FOR MISSING MAN (continued) Fichman's wife wrote the police from New York that she feared her husband had been robbed and possibly murdered either en route or after his arrival here.
