Upon the petition of Louise Harris, wife of Joseph Harris, who died on April 17 in this city, Louis Lauchman was appointed this morning to be administrator by County Judge William Bushey.

County Judge William Bushey this morning issued a temporary injunction restraining E. A. Thompson from erecting and maintaining a fence across a county road in Mill City, which road, though inside the city limits, because the town is not incorporated, is under the jurisdiction of county officers.

Inefficiency of evidence to justify the verdict rendered by the jury in the case of Alva Bacon against Blasius Grazer, an action for $3122 damage for the death of plaintiff's son, and errors of law at the trial are the reasons given by the plaintiff for asking that the verdict of the jury, which gave the plaintiff only $50 damages, be set aside and a new trial granted.

In the case of H. A. and W. C. Reynolds against B. F. Rowland, an action for default in contract, the plaintiff Saturday was granted until April 29 in which to file an amended reply.

Testimony was being taken this morning in the case of Milbert F. Price, as the Puritan Manufacturing company, against J. N. Haugen, an action for the recovery of money alleged to be due. It is stated in the complaint that the goods, consisting of jewelry, etc., were delivered at Forest City, Iowa, and valued at $90.64, and also for the sum of $101.04 and $40.61, which are alleged not to have been paid.

County School Superintendent Smith is sending out a circular letter to the members of the school boards of Marion county stating that one of the most important things a school board has to do is the selection of teachers. If teachers are not to be re-elected he declares it is high time that the matter should be looked into and the amount of money to be spent on the teaching force estimated.

Roar of Krupp Guns Heard For 30 Miles

Centrated for the attack on the Dardanelles at 20,000. The war office gives no intimation as to the number of men landed outside of the statement that a "large force" went ashore on the peninsula. With reports from Athens stating that the entire allied fleet went into action against the forts yesterday, however, it is generally believed the new effort to force open the gate to Constantinople is now under way.

The Athens reports were confirmed by the official announcement, which declared that the disembarkation of the troops began before sunrise Sunday, "fully covered by the fleet." The Turks entrenched behind wire entanglements, engaged the British, it was stated, but the landing was completely successful.

Again Bombarding Turks. The entire Anglo-French fleet is again bombarding the Dardanelles fortifications. Reports reaching here today indicate that the great squadron, including the vessels of the Queen Elizabeth type got into action early Sunday, opening their attack at long range.

Dispatches today declared the Turkish forts were replying vigorously. No accounts as to the damage that has been done yet been received.

Russians Lose Heavily. Vienna, April 24.—Via Wireless to Bayville, April 26.—Although thousands of men have been sacrificed in attacks made upon the Austrian positions in the Carpathians, an official statement issued here today, covering the operations of several days, declares the Russian offensive has completely failed.

The statement also declares that a withdrawing maneuver in the valley of the upper Carpathians has been halted with the loss of many thousands of Russians killed and wounded.

SEVERELY INJURED. William Barnett was severely injured one day last week when he was thrown from a buggy on the road between Independence and Monmouth. O. F. Cosper, who was with him, was also thrown out, but escaped with only a bad tumble.

Mr. Barnett was injured internally and it will be considerable time before he can resume work. In going around a traction engine the horse fell into a ditch, pulled the buggy after him and the man was thrown out. Mr. Barnett is inclined to believe that the county was at fault in their road-making at this point and should be held liable for his injury.—Independence Monitor.

Letters To Roosevelt Are Read In Court

Hughes for governor was shown in a series of letters exchanged between Roosevelt and the plaintiff in the present suit. This did not seem to disturb the colonel greatly, however, though he heard letters read in which he admitted to Barnes that if the right man arose he believed it would be wise to nominate him over Hughes. He said he believed it would damage the party to renominate Hughes, but would cause greater damage not to renominate him.

"It was the opinion of Barnes that 'barbershop sentiment' was against Hughes. The colonel also assured Barnes that 'whatever my friends do up at Albany I will stand by them.' 'If you, and those like you, fear that I will ask you to cut your own throats, your fears are groundless,' was another sentence read from one of the colonel's letters.

The attention of Barnes' attorneys was directed today entirely to an effort to show that Colonel Roosevelt was not always such a violent enemy of bosses and boss politics as he appears now; that he worked hand in hand with the late Boss Platt and later with Boss Barnes, and began his attacks upon the latter only after they had disengaged and fallen out.

The attention of Barnes' attorneys was directed today entirely to an effort to show that Colonel Roosevelt was not always such a violent enemy of bosses and boss politics as he appears now; that he worked hand in hand with the late Boss Platt and later with Boss Barnes, and began his attacks upon the latter only after they had disengaged and fallen out.

"Do you mean to say you wanted to consult with the boss?" Ivins asked, after reading a letter in which Roosevelt complained that Governor Black wanted to make two appointments which the colonel thought should be left to him after his inauguration as governor.

"The letter speaks for itself," the colonel snapped. Another letter to the "easy boss" from the colonel stated that if Platt was committed or the appointment of a labor commissioner and could not get out, Roosevelt would appoint Platt's man. Roosevelt said, however, that he finally appointed a man who was not backed by Platt.

"Was your action in consulting Platt visible or invisible government," asked Ivins. "Visible—as visible as could be," the colonel replied with a smile. "Did you regard it as evidence as wrong, corruption and unrighteousness on the part of Barnes, Parsons and others who favored another candidate than Hughes?"

The colonel did not desire to answer this question categorically, but upon Ivins insisting, Judge Andrews ordered him to answer. He then admitted he did not so regard it.

The Day in Detail. With the re-opening of court, Attorney Ivins again went back into the history of politics during the Hughes gubernatorial administration in New York. The colonel settled back in his chair for a long session and answered all questions with the greatest decision.

Ivins produced letters which were exchanged between Roosevelt, Barnes and former Representative Herbert Parsons, regarding the re-nomination of Hughes as governor. The colonel listened with interest as Ivins went over this correspondence. A letter from Barnes to Roosevelt, written in August, 1908, read: "I have hung my bridges in this matter. Wadsworth, White, Hinman, Hughes or any straight republican could win. If we nominate such a man the stock will pass the hands of Hughes, and then those who made the fight will be crushed and will have to sneak in the back door or get out of politics. There is no trouble about Taft. Do you want, for heaven's sake, to put the republican party in the hands of misguidance?"

From Oyster Bay, Roosevelt replied: "I have been carefully going over the Hughes matter since I saw you. I appreciate the full force of the arguments you urged against my re-nomination." Continuing, Roosevelt's letter to Barnes said: "It is not pleasant for me to support a man who was wantonly behaved badly to the very men who did the most in securing his election—I would approve his turning down in public interest, but I object to it being done wantonly. Moreover, I appreciate that he has alienated quite needlessly a great many voters, and if we had the right man to put in his place (right from the standpoint of getting votes) I would say it was certainly wise to nominate such a man."

"But once such is in sight, and there does not seem to be the slightest chance of his arising." Under these conditions, it seems to me that while it will do damage to renominate Hughes, it will do greater damage not to renominate him, and that this damage will extend outside the state.

Another letter from Barnes to the colonel said that the "barbershop sentiment" was against Hughes, and this was a good criterion of public sentiment. Another letter from Barnes to the colonel said that the "barbershop sentiment" was against Hughes, and this was a good criterion of public sentiment.

"I am a letter to Parsons, the colonel said. 'You can hardly seriously mean that I am trying to treat you as a puppet. I have written again and again to Taft and Hittchcock not to make open statements. I have not the slightest intention of telling you what to do, and never thought of telling the newspapers you will be told what to do.' The main currents are against

POLITICIANS TALK ON PUBLIC ISSUES

Smoot Criticizes Philippine Bill—Ollie James Eulogizes Wilson and His Policies

San Francisco, April 26.—Criticism of the Philippine bill, praise for President Wilson and predictions of another split in the republican organization were voiced here today by members of the congressional party which is en route to Honolulu on a pleasure trip. The 140 senators, representatives and their wives arrived here today.

Senator Reed Smoot of Utah declared he was dissatisfied with the Philippine bill, which aims to give independence to the natives. Believing that important changes should be made in it, he said he would personally investigate the situation in the Philippines before returning to Washington. At Honolulu he will leave the other travelers and proceed alone to Manila. There he plans to talk with native chiefs, get the viewpoint of the natives and obtain information which he will use in the senate in an effort to cause alterations in the bill.

While in the Orient, Senator Smoot will also visit Japan. He said that his Japanese tour did not have any political significance. Senator Ollie James of Kentucky, who has been conducting an investigation of business conditions in all parts of the United States, declared today he found them good in every quarter.

"The democratic party's prospects next year are very bright," said James. "Business is strong everywhere. President Wilson and his leaders have handled an exceedingly difficult and dangerous situation to the entire satisfaction of all the people. I think Wilson will be nominated by acclamation and elected by an overwhelming majority."

With regard to the statements of Senator Weeks of Massachusetts and others who force an amalgamation of the republican and progressive parties, Senator James said: "It is possible that the republicans and progressives will hold a joint national convention next year. But the progressives will demand a candidate of the calibre of Colonel Roosevelt, while the republicans will want a standpat. They'll have the same old split as before—which is a consummation devoutly to be wished."

"Uncle Joe" Cannon was in his bathtub when approached by a representative of the United Press. Asked if he would dance the Virginia reel at the Panama-Pacific exposition ball to-night, as he promised when congress voted the exposition appropriation to San Francisco instead of New Orleans, "Uncle Joe" replied that he could not tell until after the voyage around the bay today in the tug Slocum. The former speaker indicated that he was more concerned with separating the stains of travel from his person than with the national political situation at present.

The congressional party will leave for Honolulu tomorrow on the liner Sonoma.

SECOND TRIAL OF M'COY.

Frankfort, Ind., April 26.—The second trial of William H. McCoy on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the killing of his wife and of John Byerley, whom he found with the woman, was postponed today. McCoy was acquitted of the charge of killing his wife on a plea of temporary insanity. He is now charged with slaying Byerley. The tragedy occurred December 1, 1914.

HE KNEW PA.

"Suppose, William, your father had $20 in his pocket and I asked to borrow $5 of him—how much would he have left?" "Twenty dollars, man."

Makes Your Stuffed, Catarrhal Head Clear as a Bell

When you wake in the morning plagued with the tortures of head colds and catarrh, head, nose and throat stopped up, air passages clogged with obnoxious catarrhal discharges that have collected during the night and you can hardly breathe—just put a little Hyomel Pocket Inhaler charged with the pleasant healing oil of Hyomel between your lips. Hold it there while dressing and breathe the medicated, antiseptic, germ killing air deep into your nose, throat and lungs with every breath you draw.

By the time you are dressed your head will be clear as a bell, you will breathe with ease and comfort, eat your breakfast with a relish and go about your day's work with a clear brain and steady eye.

This clean smelling, germ destroying air of Hyomel penetrates deep down into every fold and crevice of the membranous linings of your nose, throat and lungs where no liquid spray could possibly get and absolutely kills and drives out of your system every germ it finds there, heals the inflamed swollen tissues and after the very first trial you notice a wonderful improvement. A few weeks' use and every catarrhal germ is killed and driven out of your system.

Druggists everywhere think so well of Hyomel that they agree to give you a guarantee with every complete inhaler set you purchase that if it does not satisfy they will gladly return every cent you paid for it, but if using for the first time be sure to ask for the complete Hyomel Pocket Inhaler outfit as the smaller package does not contain the inhaler. Daniel J. Fry or most any other reliable druggist will gladly supply you on request.

PEGOUD, KING OF AVIATORS, CAPTURED BY GERMANS, AFTER MANY EXPLOITS

PEGOUD, TYPE OF FRENCH ARMORED AIRSHIP.

Pari, April 21.—The populace here is downcast over the capture by the Germans of Adolphe Pegoud, the aviator who introduced upside down flying and has performed all sorts of sensational feats. While on patrol duty near St. Menebould, single handed, he attacked and brought down a German taube. The report of the thrilling encounter says that when Pegoud saw the German approaching he flew rapidly toward the hostile air craft and sent it to earth with a few well placed shots. Pegoud then landed beside the taube and took prisoner the German pilot and observer, neither of whom was injured. Earlier in the same day Pegoud is reported to have driven off three other German 'aubes, one of which had dropped nine bombs on a railroad station. When bulletins telling of Pegoud's latest feats were posted in front of the different Paris newspaper offices there were wild scenes of enthusiasm. The news of his capture caused a sensation.

THE MARKETS

The market is unusually quiet today. Grains are still at the dead level of last week and the quotation of two weeks ago will hold good for today. Eggs hold their own at 15 cents, while hens vary from 12 to 13 cents a pound. Pork is strong and in good demand, prices holding the same as the quotations of the last three days. Chinook salmon is now retailing at three pounds for 50 cents.

Prospects For Short Apple Crop Reported

Seattle, Wash., April 26.—The Northwestern apple crop this year will fall short of the 1914 output which was approximately 14,000 carloads. This is indicated by the similarity of reports coming to the Northwestern Fruit Exchange from the various producing districts. They state that the bloom on the old trees is much less than last year, but that trees coming into bearing will have considerable counteracting effect.

They Talked and Sang For Greater Salem

The Sunday night Social Service at the Unitarian church was well attended, and three speakers engaged in a symposium on what will make a great Salem. Mayor White advocated municipal ownership of light and water and a municipal paving plant. Principal Nelson, of the high school, spoke for the junior high school, that will start pupils two years earlier on the work of advanced public school training.

WELCOME TO THEM.

"Wife—John, the bill collector's at the door. Hobby—Tell him to take that pile on my desk.—Peen, State Proth. No matter how well a fellow is situated he is not contented. Now, most of us feel that if we had no more work so much than a baby we wouldn't spend so much time crying. Better self-love than self-neglect."

Silver Bullets Are Allies' Ammunition

The money goes to German industries and to German workers. Goes Back to People. "The two billions available in April, which will be spent by fall, all go back to the people who gave it. And then, secondly—this is important—the German people, their soldiers and their workers, today have savings bank deposits of five billion dollars. Although many depositors subscribed to the last loan, during January and February, when the subscription was made, these deposits include one hundred and fifty million thousand. Compare this situation with France, our one loan amounted to three hundred millions francs. It was small, a mere drop in the bucket. So France is now paying for her war expense with treasury bills. Together with England and Russia she is borrowing heavily in the United States. France today has a debt of five billion francs against the Bank of France. She also has some billions owing for supplies of all kinds. That is a bad situation."

Cannot Starve Germany.

"Germany cannot be starved. We have enough food now to comfortably feed everyone until September or October. The prospects are splendid for good crops throughout the fatherland this year. If the harvest is not too much below the normal we will have by the first of August enough supplies to last another year.

No Talk of Peace.

"I don't think there can be any talk of peace until there is a successful outcome of the war," he said. Dr. Hoffrich, besides being a noted financier, is also Germany's leading economist. Since the war his book, "Prosperity of the German People," has had an enormous sale, and has come into five editions and is accepted the standard of its kind.
