'THE HEART OF A PAINTED WOMAN' IS GRIPPING ROMANCE

"The Heart of a Painted Woman," a vividly gripping motion picture romance, comes to the Oregon today and tomorrow, with Miss Olga Petrova in the principal part.

Selma, the beautiful daughter of poor parents, leaves her home and secures a position in New York as a painter's model. The artist becomes enamored of her beauty. They fall in love with each other, but later the artist abandons Selma to marry an heiress. Selma, disengaged by her treatment, falls lower and lower in the scale of life, until when she reaches the bottommost strata fascinates young Spendthrift. Spendthrift follows her to her home and offers her wealth if she will be his. Selma declines the honor and tells Spendthrift how differently she would have carried her life had she had him opportunities and wealth, and deciding to give her a trial, he presents her with a huge check. Selma then opens a hospital for crippled children. Spendthrift, in a drunken stupor, falls into the clutches of Wealth, and in order to rescue her Selma goes back to her former life and by seductive wiles extracts a confession from Wealth which exonerates Spendthrift and herself, and together they begin a new and happy

POWER OF ITALIAN QUEEN FELT IN WAR

BY ALICE ROHE.

United Press Staff Correspondent.

Rome, May 21.—By mail to New York.—Behind the diplomatic plots and counter plots which have placed Italy in the most precarious position of its recent history a struggle has been going on which was not chronicled in the nations green book. It was the struggle between a man and a woman.

The man was Giolitti, former prime minister, who at the "thirteenth" hour plunged Italy into a surging sea of neutralism, a coup d'état culminating in his work of nine long months.

The woman was no other than Queen Helena herself—the queen of Italy, the Princess of Montenegro, who has been using all of her influence over the king to counteract the machinations of Giolitti, the neutralist.

All the world knows that to the king of Italy the dearest thing in all the world is this beautiful Montenegrin princess, the daughter of the indomitable King Nicholas. All the world does not know that this same queen and princess of Montenegro has from the first hour of the nations indecision longed and prayed for the moment when Italy would join the forces of the allies. For her country by marriage to take up arms against her father's country to fight against national freedom, to aid the destroyer of Belgium, the would-be destroyer of Serbia, has been a tragedy hanging over the head of the lovely queen.

To just what extent the pleadings of Queen Helena have influenced Victor Emmanuel in the hours when the German-Austro-Italian accord seemed imminent no one knows.

Love of a man has decided the fate of nations many times, and the Italians who realize the perfect love existing between the king and queen of Italy do not believe that Victor Emmanuel could wound her whom he adores most in all the world.
