

A Galley o' Fun!

ON BARGAIN DAY.
Clothing Salesman.—Well, sir, what can we do for you?
Mr. Mainchance.—I want my $7 change!
Salesman.—Why, we don't owe you anything!
Mr. Mainchance.—Yer don't, eh? Ain't you advertisin' your late $12 suits now for $8? Wa-al, this 'ere it is I bought three weeks ago! Whack up yer change!

THE LOST OPPORTUNITY.
Patrick, Jr.—The book says the first flag ever had was made from a petticoat.
Patrick, Sr.—Faith, what a pity it was that the lady wasn't wearing a petticoat.

TOO SUDDEN.

The Slave has just been granted a month's vacation from the office. His wife is on a visit to her mother; the canary is dead; and now he doesn't know what to do with his freedom.

THE WAY TO WIN.
Bronson.—What's the best way to make love to a girl?
Dawson.—The worst way possible. Then she'll think you mean it.

THEN AND NOW.
A playful thing is Phyllis' hair! In youth, as I remember now, The gentle mountain breezes fair Toss'd raven curls about her brow.

I saw dear Phyllis leave her flat. And walk the busy city street. The playful wind which nipped her hat Toss'd curls of gold about her feet!

HABIT.
Friend.—I hear you have some new babies at your house.
Campaign Manager.—Yes, I gave 'em out to the newspapers that we claim seventeen, though, confidentially it is only two.

WIDE AWAKE.
Sammy Mammasboy.—Going to move in May, Tammy?
Tommy Tuffant.—Yep.
Sammy Mammasboy.—Why, how did you know?
Tommy Tuffant.—Aht! how'd I know? Didn't I mother 'em in a cellar window 't'other day, an' didn't say 'nartin'? How'd I know A-a-ah, you!

THE EXPLANATION.
"Ladies and Gentlemen," began the manager of the "Hortense, the Hounded Heiress Co." striking his head through the air in the curtain, "we must ask your indulgence for a short time. One of the stage hands, but inadvertently joggled the ashes from the villain's cigarette and unless someone in the audience can help us out the play will be delayed. The villain, however, has lighted another one, and by puffing steadily will very shortly have made sufficient progress with it to enable him to 'tick' the ladies in the debonair style which has won him unstinted applause throughout the whole circuit."

REAL REASON.
Friend.—I suppose the Bank Examiner comes around to find out what's on hand?
Banker (grimly).—No, more often to find out what's on foot!

THE CIRCULAR LETTER.
The circular letter seems to be designed to pay the annual postal deficit to encourage those whose mail would otherwise be slight, and to fatten the waste-paper basket.

It is called the "follow-up" letter meaning that it quickly follows the envelope into oblivion.
Everybody gets circular letters, and people have been known to read them while snowed in during a hard winter, waiting for trains. There is a business house in Chicago claiming to have sold a $13.98 wood stove on a circular-letter campaign which cost $1,200 besides clerk hire; but this fact cannot be proven, as the customer might have read a magazine advertisement referring to the same stove.
A circular letter is supposed to look just like an original letter, but it wouldn't fool a blind man, even if it wasn't signed in purple ink with a rubber stamp. If it wasn't for circular letters and catalogues, the man who now makes a living by collecting old papers would have to go to work.

Argentina Is Great Market For American Automobiles

Washington, D. C., June 16, 1915. American-made automobiles are steadily gaining in popularity in the Argentine market, their production in the United States having risen from 19 per cent in 1912 to more than 19 per cent in 1913, the latest period for which detailed official returns have reached the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce.
The imports of automobiles into Argentina during 1913 were valued at $5,194,200, supplied chiefly by France, the United States, Germany, Italy, the United Kingdom, and Belgium, in the order named. While France still ranks first in importation of automobiles into Argentina in 1913, the United States made a larger actual and relative gain than any of the countries above named, and increased her rank from fourth place in 1912 to second place in 1913. In 1914, when the world wide depression reduced the value of automobile imports into Argentina to about one-fifth of their normal total, those from the United States also decreased, our total exportation of automobiles to Argentina and other countries of South America in that year being a little over one-third that of the preceding year.

The following table showing the number and value of automobiles imported into Argentina in the periods from 1911 to 1914 with details for principal countries in 1912 and 1913, is from the official publications of that country.

Imports of automobiles into Argentina, 1911 to 1914:
Year	Number	Value
1911	2,461	$2,346,000
1912	4,281	5,199,000
1913	5,115	5,194,200
1914	2,785	1,095,700

Imported from France, 1912, 1,651, 1913, 1,830, value 1912, $2,252,800, 1913, $1,914,800; United States, 1912, 798, 1913, 1,296, value, 1912, $545,000, 1913, $1,083,500; Germany, 1912, 627, 1913, 761, value, 1912, $822,500, 1913, $848,500; Italy, 1912, 422, 1913, 325, value, 1912, $517,200, 1913, $471,800; Belgium, 1912, 235, 1913, 302, value, 1912, $433,500, 1913, $351,300; other countries, 1912, 127, 1913, 89, value, 1912, $125,500, 1913, $111,400.

Note.—Exports of automobiles from the United States to all countries increased from 3,291 valued at $2,833,154 in April, 1914, to 5,316 valued at $8,645,222 in April, 1915. This growth was almost exclusively in commercial automobiles, of which the exports rose from 52 valued at $72,070 in April, 1914 to 2,297 valued at $5,240,481 in April, 1915. About one-half of these commercial automobiles went to France and the remainder chiefly to England and other European countries. In the ten months preceding May 1, 1915, exports of passenger vehicles aggregated 14,441 valued at $12,356,472, as against 23,167 valued at $20,964,180 in the corresponding period of one year earlier; while those of commercial automobiles numbered 8,580 with an aggregate valuation of $23,977,968, compared with 595 valued at $904,330 in 1914-15.

WONDERFUL PICTURE COMING
The Williamson Expedition Submarine Motion Pictures which are to be shown at Ye Liberty theatre next Sunday and Monday are different from any other motion pictures ever made. In this respect they may safely be said to be the greatest attraction in the motion picture world to-day. They have been given pages of unsolicited publicity by the press, the scientific journals and general magazines all over the world. Photographing under water and through water has always been considered an impossibility by scientific men as well as by photographers, but the Williamson brothers by means of their submarine tube, the results of 30 years of experiment and labor, have photographed a panorama of wonders and beauties hitherto under the ocean never before seen by man. And, strange to say, the pictures are as clear as though they had been taken in a studio.

Mr. Bolin went back to work after the operation, but still carries a very painful spot on his right hand.—Tribune.

A QUICK, SURE WAY TO END CATARRH

Catarrh Grows Bred By Millions In Air Passages of Nose and Throat. Just One Way to Drive Them Out.

To stop catarrh for good you must drive from your system the germs that cause catarrh and that are now feeding and growing fat upon the swollen inflamed mucous membranes of your nose and throat.
A splendid means of destroying catarrh germs and overcoming catarrh has long been recognized by physicians in the well known oil of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mey) and it is now a very simple matter for any catarrh sufferer to use it with splendid results at home, by breathing its air through a little hard rubber inhaling device which leading druggists are supplying with each large complete treatment. Just pour a few drops of the oil of Hyomei into his inhaler, place it between your lips and then breathe naturally and the pleasant smelling antiseptic, germ killing air will penetrate deep down into every fold and crevice of your raw, sore nose, throat and lungs and give you quick certain relief, opening up the air passages, making you breathe easily, stopping the inflammation and discharge and driving from your system every catarrh germ that has found lodgment there.

If you want to be free from every symptom of catarrh, are tired of trying one thing after another without benefit go to Daniel J. Fry or any other reliable drug store hereabouts and get a complete Hyomei inhaler outfit, use it every day for a few minutes and if it does not drive the catarrh germs out of your system and give you real lasting relief from Catarrh, your druggist will give you your money back.

Only the players went from here, they were taken over in Mutschler's big Chalmers. There were no startling plays and the six runs that Stayton got were scattered through the entire game. Keech made a trip to Williamson Sunday to inspect the brick plant at that place and to see the quality of the brick proposed for the new Stayton high school. Ground was broken for the site on Tuesday, and the work will be pushed rapidly in order to get it finished for school this fall.—Mail.
