

KANSAS MAN REACHES SALEM AFTER TWO YEARS ON THE ROAD

J. D. Larrick and Wife Travel 6618 Miles In Their Car Over All Roads

After a trip of 6,618 miles in two years' time J. D. Larrick and wife drove into Salem yesterday evening to remain here for a few days before continuing their way to the San Francisco fair. Mr. and Mrs. Larrick left Lenora, Kansas, July 17, 1911, in their Ford to western part of United States and their narrative of the journey indicates that they have thoroughly fulfilled their purpose. Mr. Larrick was particularly interested in the dispatch telling of the tornado which swept West Moreland, Kansas, yesterday killing three people with whom he was well acquainted and injuring two others who were his friends. The peaceful quietness of the Willamette valley he says is particularly soothing after one's temper has been ruffled by a Kansas cyclone a few times.

Woods and trails down the mountains to North Bend, a distance of 24 miles, part of the way the mud reached the axles. The road was fine on to Kirkland, where they loaded the auto on the boat and crossed the lake, a distance of four miles and on into Canada the scenery and roads were excellent. At Vancouver, B. C., some time was spent sightseeing through parks and over the Marine Drive. On the Pacific highway to Lake Samish, where some time was spent in fishing. Then through heavy timber, logging camps, saw mills and shingle mills. J. D. has a complete camping outfit. Front seat folds back and they make their bed in the car on the cushions. Although they carry a tent with them. On account of newly worked roads and so much rain, they were forced to hold up for the winter in Seattle. So their time was spent in sightseeing in and around the city. The Pacific highway is fine for about 80 miles south of Seattle through Tacoma and from there on to Portland very rough and muddy. The rose festival at Portland was the finest of its kind they had seen. Both agree that so far their journey has been a mixture of pleasure and excitement and thrills. After spending a couple of months in San Francisco they expect to winter some place in southern California.

Watching the Scoreboard

Why worry over getting hits when you can get three runs shaved over in one inning by a generous twirler? Martimon forced in three runs for the Oaks in the seventh by issuing passes. Nine bases on balls, nine hits and four errors by the Beavers were responsible for the Oaks' 10 runs. Old nintinning rally stuff won for the Tigers. Henley deserved the victory as he held the Bees to three hits. Outbit eight swats to five, the Angels nevertheless came through and copped from the Seals. The Giants took another beating. The Pittsburg Pirates administered it, evening up the series. Ragan and Dock each struck out six men during their argument staged in St. Louis and struggled along for 11 innings with honors even. In the 20th Ragan ascended. Result, St. Louis 3, Boston 2. Ty Cobb stacked a little more on to his stolen base record by copying three off Washington. He also cracked out two hits and scored two runs. Eddie Collins must be out to show up the Athletics. In assisting in the drubbing given the Mackmen yesterday Eddie stole two bases and mixed in two double plays.

Remarkable Achievement of Buick Organization

In the last issue of the Buick Bulletin the writer took occasion to express the appreciation of the Buick Motor company to the dealers, branch managers, distributors, salesmen and employees whose combined efforts made possible the remarkable achievements of the season just closed.

To sell 44,553 motor cars in nine months is no small task under the most favorable circumstances. It requires a higher grade of salesmanship to sell an automobile than it does to sell most any other kind of merchandise—for the simple reason that the price of an automobile is necessarily a matter of careful consideration, even to those who are independent financially. Any man hesitates before he spends one thousand dollars or more. A thousand dollars is a good-sized sum, and none of us cares to let go of that amount of money until we are reasonably sure that we are getting full value in return. It is perfectly obvious, therefore, that it requires real salesmanship to sell motor cars under even the most favorable circumstances.

During practically the whole of the season just closed the circumstances were not favorable to the sale of motor cars. I do not need to tell you why this was true, for you are all perfectly aware that an unsettled condition of business existed. To say that there was little or no reason for this condition does not alter the fact that it existed.

FIRE PATROL TAXES TO APPLY AS LIEN AGAINST PROPERTY

Tax Commission Says They Are To Be Collected As Other Delinquents

Fire patrol assessments or taxes for the year 1913 are to apply as a lien against the property and collected the same as other delinquent taxes according to the decision of the state tax commission, based upon an opinion of the attorney general to whom the question was submitted recently. Fire patrol taxes, the commission states, should be included in certificate of delinquency issued against real property on which they are declared to be liens. Where there is no delinquency other than the levy for fire patrol, a certificate should be issued for such tax only.

Section 2 of Chapter 247, laws of 1913, states that "the procedure provided by law for the collection of taxes and delinquent taxes shall be applicable for the collection of those fire patrol taxes," says the commission in a circular letter to the tax collectors. "It was evidently the intention of the legislature to provide that the same process should be employed in the collection of these levies as in the collection of taxes generally. No means to compel payment of fire patrol assessments is provided except through the issuance of certificates of delinquency."
