THE MARKETS

The egg and poultry market is showing strength, although today there has been no advance paid by local grocers and commission men. Hens are easily bringing 10 cents and spring chickens 15. Eggs are in good demand.

Grains are all quiet. The live stock market is holding at the prices of last week and butter is holding its level of 27 cents.

Oranges are up 25 cents a box, following a reported shortage in the crop of 1,000 boxes. Watermelons will arrive in the local markets early this week.

There will be something doing here on Saturday, July 3, in the way of a Fourth of July celebration, and judging from the program being prepared by Captain Moshberger and Company, there will be plenty of amusement and entertaining features for the hundreds of visitors expected in this city on that day.

Woodburn has never failed to entertain crowds in fitting manner when celebrating this national holiday, and this year it will be on a bigger, better and grander scale than ever before. All that will be needed to make it a complete success will be good weather on that day.

The celebration will begin with one of the biggest and finest parades ever seen in Woodburn. John P. Hunt will be grand marshal and he will have as assistants. Arrangements are being made for a regiment of Sunday school children, drilled by Capt. Moshberger, and these marching children with banners will be a sight worth coming miles to see. There will also be Company I, the military band, floats, decorated autos, civic organizations, plug uglies and others, making a long and most interesting procession.

There will be cash prizes for the best decorated auto, the auto containing the best-looking girls, for plug uglies and the different sporting contests. There will be band concerts at the City Park and towns in the evening.

The exercises at the City Park will be of especial interest. The music will be in charge of Mrs. O. C. Weller and this insures an array of the best musical talent in the city and an excellent program. There will also be literary numbers, selections by the band and an oration by that peerless orator, Colonel Sam White of Portland, Colonel J. M. Poorman will be president of the day.—Independent.

BEGIN PAVING MONDAY

Portland, Ore., June 21.—The paving of 70 miles of Multnomah county roads at a cost of $1,250,000 will be begun Monday, it was announced today. The contracts were awarded this week.

It was estimated that within a month 2,000 men will have been put to work thus relieving the unemployed situation.
