Weather permitting, there will be a band concert tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 in Marion Square. The program will probably include the overture from "William Tell," grand opera selections from "Carmen" and a nicely arranged list of popular and some classical numbers.

Members of the recently organized D. A. R. have a movement on foot which they are taking up with the committee in charge of the automobile parade of the Cherry fair to have a prize offered for the auto presenting the most patriotic appearance. Coming so close to the national holiday, they feel that it would be particularly appropriate and serve to stimulate patriotism.

Kirk Putnam, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Putnam, of this city, the motorcyclist who suffered a fractured skull Thursday evening in a collision with an automobile in Portland, is still unconscious in St. Vincent's hospital, and the attending physicians offer little hopes for his recovery. Mr. Putnam is 29 years old, and unmarried. He has been in Portland since last spring. The accident occurred at Union avenue and Monroe street.

Captain N. H. Lorenzen, of the Salvation Army, will deliver his lecture on the Salvation Army Sunday evening at Rural Chapel, one mile north of the Fairgrounds. As in all his lectures, it will be illustrated by 150 stereoptical views. Wednesday the same lecture will be given at Liveley. On Sunday, the Fourth of July, Captain Lorenzen will occupy the German Methodist church during the pastor's absence.

The Salem Canoe club met last evening and decided to enter the civic and fraternal parade with decorated canoes, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Several ladies have already entered for the contest in canoe singles, to be held Friday evening. The water sports committee will offer prizes and trophies amounting to $100. The committee wishes to announce that the swimming contests are open to all, and those who wish to enter should notify Dr. B. F. Pound, chairman of the water sports committee.

The vaudeville entertainment given by Mrs. R. G. Henderson, one of the candidates in the big popularity contest being given by Ye Liberty and Grand theaters, at Ye Liberty Thursday night, was a complete success in every respect. The attendance was large and the program given by the junior band of the Chemawa Indian school, assisted by popular vocal soloists, was thoroughly enjoyed. These benefit entertainments, which are given in addition to the regular picture program at no increase in price, are proving very popular.

Through a typographical error in last night's Capital Journal the name of Donald D. Miles was given instead of Robert D. Day in a little encounter with B. W. May. The mistake was corrected later in yesterday's issue, but a few of the papers of the first edition were scattered about town.
