Holt Plunges To Death From Cell To Floor

most important clues which have yet been found in the case involving the shooting of Morgan and the attempt to blow up the capitol. Holt is said to have admitted to the authorities that he did not construct the bomb which he placed in the capitol in a house in Washington, as he first declared. A cottage was found near Hicksville, L. I., where Holt lived apparently for weeks. It was there that he constructed the Washington bomb. He also practiced shooting at a target in preparation for the attack upon Morgan.

Dr. O. F. Sensenbaur, Mrs. Holt's father, to tell her at the tragedy, but she is believed to have been informed of it this morning.

Jerry O'Ryan, the guard who found Holt's body, telling of what he knew of the prisoner's suicide said: "I was sitting near the cell door at 10:45. Holt was apparently fast asleep when I heard a queer noise far down the cell tier. I went to investigate and just I reached the far end of the tier, I heard a crash. I ran back and saw Holt's body lying on the flagging below. He was dead when Dr. Clegburn reached him a few minutes later. Late this morning Holt's body was being held at the Nassau county morgue. No requests for the body have been received from relatives or friends. It will be held for two days, and if not claimed by that time, will be buried in the potter's field.

Dallas, Texas, July 7.—New York attorneys, representing the family of Dr. O. F. Sensenbaur, father-in-law of Frank Holt, were today instructed to bury Holt at Dallas tomorrow.

It is expected to hard surface about a mile and a half of the Pacific highway north and then an equal distance will be laid upon the main traveled roads in other directions from the city. In the meantime the widening drive ways around the court house building will be hard-surfaced and it is expected that the state fair board will soon be prepared to begin the laying of hard surface upon the drive ways and main approaches to the fair grounds. A large force of men and teams is engaged in the road building work since from the crew employed in the operation of the mixing plant and the gravel crushing plant.

HARD SURFACING OF PACIFIC HIGHWAY IS IN PROGRESS NORTH

Marion County Starts Upon Retired Early Last Night and Found Unconscious In Bed By Daughter

Marion county's new paving plant for the mixing of asphalt-concrete hard surface pavement, began actual operations last Monday morning in North Salem and the first pavement of contemplated extensive campaign of permanent road improvement throughout the county was laid on the Pacific highway starting northward from the city limits on the Portland-Salem road. Good progress was made on Monday but the work was somewhat interfered with yesterday on account of the unsettled weather conditions. As soon as the weather settles again the work will be pushed forward to the capacity limit of the plant.

W. F. JONES, MEMBER OF PIONEER FAMILY, DIES OF APPOPLEXY

Retired Early Last Night and Found Unconscious In Bed By Daughter

William F. Jones, one of the oldest citizens of Marion county and member of the pioneer family of 'Sile' Jones, an early settler of 1850, died at his home, No. 792 North Sixteenth street, at 6:30 o'clock this morning, as the result of a stroke of apoplexy, which he suffered while in bed some time between 9 and 11 o'clock last evening. Funeral services will be held at Rigdon's undertaking parlors at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and interment will be had in the Claggett cemetery, north of Salem, at 3:15. Deceased was born in Idaho in 1864, where the family had moved after the big flood had washed everything out in the valley a year or so before, and came back with his parents to Salem in the following year and has resided here continuously since. His father, familiarly known as 'Sile' Jones to distinguish him from another Sile Jones who resided on Mission bottom but no relation, came across the plains to Oregon and Marion county in 1850 and was married to Nancy Sheen in the year 1853. Both father and mother have been dead several years.

CHAUTAUQUA GROWS IN INTEREST WITH GOOD PROGRAM AHEAD

The Chautauqua is growing, not only in attendance, but in the general interest and satisfaction with which each day's program has been received. The Junior Chautauqua, under the care of Miss Griffith, is now under full headway, a larger number of children taking part in the exercises this morning than any other day. Following the joint work of the marriage, special addresses are made by W. H. Head. Yesterday afternoon the famous author and lecturer, Dr. Sewell Dwight Hillis, pleased an audience that filled the big tent to its utmost. Dr. Hillis is really one of the great orators of the country. His address was so appreciative yesterday afternoon that he talked fully two and a half hours and then stated that he was not willing to stop. He rather supported the proposition advanced that in years to come this valley would support 10,000,000 people.

Press Convention Tackles "Strict" Neutrality Problem

San Francisco, July 7.—How to preserve strict neutrality at the International Press Congress in session here was the problem which confronted Walter Williams, director of the congress today. To avoid ill feeling among the foreign delegates, Dean Williams saw to it that all of the honorary officers are from countries not involved in the European war. The president is from Switzerland and the secretary is from the United States. In introducing the foreign delegates today, Williams asked them to refrain from making any reference to the conflict. But all the representatives from the belligerent nations in their introductory talks, asked pardon for disregarding the request of the chairman and then proceeded to defend the position of their countries in the war.

COURT HOUSE NEWS

C. O. Bursell entered a plea of not guilty in department No. 1 of the circuit court this morning to the charge of murder. His trial was set for July 19. Mr. Bursell's wife became the mother of a 12-pound son this morning. Ernest Underwood entered a general demurrer to the indictment this morning through his attorney, Guy O. Smith. The argument on the demurrer will be heard Saturday morning.

The trial of Theo. Larson, who is charged with a burglary committed near Macleay, is set for 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. John D. Turner has been appointed to defend Larson.

John Schultz, who was sentenced to one year in jail for assault with intent to kill committed upon George Brown near Newburg last December, informed District Attorney Ringo this morning that he is shipping out of New York for South America. Schultz was a sailor before he came inland and attacked Brown with a hatchet. He shipped from Tacoma to New York. He was required to report to District Attorney Ringo once a month as one of the conditions of his parole.

A marriage license has been issued to James Paul Daniels, a clerk of his city, and Myra Odell Arnold, also of Salem.

The United States National bank of Salem has brought suit against the Cement Tile Machinery company and David Korb in connection with a controversy over a concrete mixer. It is alleged that David Korb, who is a contractor in this city, ordered a concrete mixer from the company and when it arrived it was not up to specifications and Mr. Korb refused to accept it.

David H. Smith has been appointed guardian of Leta Alberta Smith, a minor, by an order of County Judge Bushy. Leta Alberta Smith is the daughter of David A. Smith and is 16 years of age. She has an interest in an insurance policy of her mother, who is deceased.

The final hearing in the matter of the estate of John D. Rydman was held in the probate court yesterday and an order of Judge Bushy issued approving the final account of Grant Phegley, administrator of the estate. Grant Phegley was also appointed executor of the estate of Ida Rydman, deceased, widow of John D. Rydman, deceased, and guardian of Edith Pearl Rydman and Marie Evelyn Rydman, minor children of John D. and Ida Rydman.

A divorce was given yesterday in the case of A. P. Crawford against C. A. Crawford and the name of the former was ordered changed to her maiden name, A. P. Dunphy. The defendant did not appear at the trial. According to the findings the couple were married in January, 1910, and have no children. Desorption is given as grounds for suit.

A judgment for $113.90 against Mabel L. Campbell and another for $29.05 against D. E. Campbell and Mabel L. Campbell, were given Otto Muehlaupt in department one of circuit court yesterday. Lions claims to be held by Muehlaupt in such case were ordered foreclosed. The amounts are alleged due for materials and labor claimed to have been furnished the defendants by the plaintiff.

Lester E. Thompson was arrested in Portland this morning upon a bench warrant issued by Judge Kelly charging him with non-support of his children. Thompson gave a bond of $500 in Portland and was released from custody. The complaint was sworn to by Mrs. Thompson, who is in this city. Thompson was one of the experts who checked over the books of the county in the employ of the Arthur Herring company.

Action was begun in the state circuit court late yesterday afternoon to clear the flood from title to 22 acres of land situated near Macleay in this county in which P. L. and Ernie Hillis are alleged to be plaintiffs and J. D. Tharp, heirs to Ivan Vogt and heirs of John and Elizabeth House, and others appear as defendants. Plaintiff alleges in his complaint that defendants claim joint title to the land which he claims removed. S. H. Helzel, of Dayton, is attorney for plaintiffs.

Mutual Insurance Company of Portland Investigated If reports received by Insurance Commissioner Wells, to the effect that the Mutual Fire company, of Portland, has been guilty of writing automobile insurance in violation of its chartered authority and its state license to do a mutual fire insurance business in this state, are true, that company stands in danger of having its charter revoked, according to an opinion rendered by Attorney General Brown upon the subject this morning, in which he held that this mutual company has no such authority under its charter and subjects itself to a revocation thereof. Insurance Commissioner Wells is in Portland today in conference with the officials of the company with reference to the matter.
