STEAMERS ARE BURNED.
Wenatchee, Wash., July 9.—Fifty thousand dollars was the damage estimated today to have been done by the fire which destroyed the steamers Columbia, Okanogan, North Star and the Chelan in the river here yesterday. The four boats comprised the entire fleet of the Columbia and Okanogan Steamboat company.

Incendiarism is suspected.
Insurance policies of $40,000 on the vessels were allowed to expire recently.

CIRICILLO'S BAND
THRILLS CROWD AT CHAUTAQUA TENT

Salem People Treated To Skillful Rendition Of Grand Opera

A Salem audience of 1100 was thrilled and delighted last evening with the presentation of selections from grand opera and the remarkable playing of Ciricillo and his Italian band. As the leader of the band, Ciricillo fulfilled all expectations. He had absolute mastery over his musicians and kept them fully under his control as accompanists during the singing of the selections from the opera, Il Trovatore. Ciricillo looked his part as an Italian director, was easy and graceful in his directing and really became excited only during the closing passages of the overture from William Tell and the Torreador song from Carmen.

Evidently the Salem audience approves of grand opera and also approved of the soloists last evening, as they were repeatedly called before the curtain. This evening, Father Patrick J. Mac Gorry will deliver his famous lecture, "The Story Beautiful." Father Mac Gorry is regarded as one of the best speakers on the Chautauqua platform and by the Edison-White management, as one of their leading attractions. During the lecture, 100 views will be thrown on a screen, showing in color many of the famous pictures touching on the life of Christ.

Col. Bain, the aged lecturer, who was billed to speak Sunday evening, will give his lecture on "If I Had Life to Live Over," Saturday evening. Union services will be held in Wilson park Sunday evening at 6 o'clock. The Swiss Alpine Yodlers will also appear Sunday. They really became famous last year, as they appeared on the same Chautauqua program with W. J. Bryan, and was much discussed in connection with Bryan's Chautauqua work at that time.

Superintendent J. C. Herbsman said that he hoped Salem would have a larger and better Chautauqua next year. He said Salem should be the best Chautauqua town in the Willamette valley. It will require a sale of 600 season tickets to secure the better grade of attractions for 1916. Fully 300 were subscribed for last evening.

The program for tonight includes the famous haritone soloist, Ruthven Mac Donald, and the lecture by Father Mac Gorry. The Saturday program is as follows: Morning—Junior Chautauqua, "Old Testament Stories," W. H. Head. Afternoon—Prelude, Gullotta Trio. Popular lecture, "The Man Worth While," Roland A. Nichols. Admission 25c. Evening—Concert, Gullotta Trio. Lecture, "If I Had Life to Live Over," Col. Geo. W. Bain.

ONLY ONE FATALITY IS DUE TO ACCIDENT FIRST WEEK IN JULY

An aggregate of 147 accidents, one of which was fatal, was reported to the industrial accident commission during the week ending July 8, seven of which happened in Marion and Polk counties. All of the latter of which, however, were of a minor nature and include Best Buell, Falls City, employed in a sawmill; Charles Winkler, Salem, shoulder dislocated, employed in a cranery; C. J. Skinner, McMinaville, nail in foot, construction work; Philip Simofin, Falls City, leg bruised, employed in sawmill; Perry Crisp, Salem, hand cut, bottling works; B. W. Bryant, Siletta (Lincoln county), injured in logging camp; Fred Shercock, Mill City, back injured, construction work; O. L. Lewis, Falls City, eye injured, employed in sawmill. The fatality reported was in the case of the drowning of Joseph P. Pollman, of Astoria, who was drowned while working at a sawmill.

Of the total reported 91 were subject to the workmen's compensation act; 27 were from public utility corporations; 21 were from firms and corporations who have rejected the provisions of the act and 8 from other firms and corporations who do not employ labor in hazardous occupations. The following shows the number of accidents by industry: sawmills 31, construction 28, railroad operation 13, logging 12, iron works 6, department stores 7, papermills 5, meat packers 5, draymen 3, electricians 3, mining 3, longshoring 2, milling 2, warehouse 2, and the following one each: housemoving, creamery, brickyard, telegraph linemen, bottling works, rock quarry, auto works, wood saw, saw manufacturing, cash and door manufacturing, express company, railroad passengers, women mills, transportation company, pickle works, ice cream manufacturing, drug company, implement house, whole sale house, cannery, power plant, painter.

German Reply Shows Its Influence On Wall Street

New York, July 9.—European liquidation doubtless influenced prices again today, but apparently the stock exchange was under the influence of the expected German note to Washington. This was partly because of the possibility that the text might be given out between the closing tomorrow and the opening Monday. The perplexity surrounding the whole situation as between this government and Germany's was the real factor causing hesitation, as it was in causing declines during the past few days. But on the other hand experienced financial observers were perfectly aware that owing to the mutual attitude of the two countries there are vastly less belligerent possibilities today than on any previous occasion. The moments when a wave of opinion on one side of the other might have forced the hands of the government are admitted to have passed.

SALE OF ALASKA LOTS.
Ship Creek, Alaska, July 9.—After the sale of lots on the railroad reserve is completed, all persons not owners will be considered as trespassers, according to an order of Lieutenant Frederick Meares, of the railroad commission. The sale began today after being delayed a day, until the steamship Mariposa arrived with additional buyers.

ASHES FROM ALASKA VOLCANO
Seward, Alaska, July 9.—Ashes falling from Katmai volcano forced the steamship Steets Anna to seek shelter in the lee of Kodiak Island for several hours on June 17, officers of the vessel reported on its arrival here yesterday afternoon.

Glittering Advertisements Of Cashier Company

Portland, Or., July 9.—Glittering advertisements holding out promises of 100 per cent return on the investment and declaring the manufacture of machines was only a matter of a few weeks, were read in federal court today by United States Attorney Reames for the postoffice showing that officials of the United States Cashier company on trial for fraud, falsely represented matters to further the sale of stock. In the same ads which were published in newspapers between January 1911 and the latter part of 1912, there appeared several statements in which the company asserted that it owned and controlled patents to several machines which it proposed to manufacture. Attention to the contents of the ads were called when Will Hession, of the Journal advertising staff, identified them as copies of those he carried on the company's files. Later the advertising records of the Oregonian and Telegram will be gone over in the same way. The ads Hession said were secured either by President Meares of the company or from LeMout, sales manager, two of the seven defendants on trial. At no time did they complain that or had been made in the publication of advertisements, he stated. In offering the advertisements, Reames said that he purposed to show by them the appeal which the company made to the public and the suggestions and statements concerning the ownership of "priceless patents." In his opening statement he declared they did not own the patents claimed, nor did they ever pay dividends, nor manufacture their machines in commercial quantities up to the time the cashier company quit business in Oregon in 1914 and removed its equipment to Indiana.

STAYTON MAN BUYS STORE.
A. T. Brewer, merchant at Fall Creek, has sold his business to W. R. Dehport, of Stayton, Oregon. Mr. Brewer took a dairy trip to Stayton in the deal and will move onto the farm. Mr. Brewer is shipping a few head of stock and horses to his new location. He has resided at Fall Creek about seven years and has built up an extensive business at that location.—Eugene Register.

VISITS IN INDEPENDENCE.
Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Conkalin, Miss Mable Simmons and Kenneth Conkalin are on a motor trip to Independence. They were accompanied by Miss Beatrice Wetherbee, and they will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wetherbee.—Eugene Register.

Charles H. Vick left today with a party of six in a Ford for an overland trip to San Francisco. They will be away about one month.

A RARE OPPORTUNITY.
Those who are not attending the "Morning Hour" at the Chautauqua are missing a rare treat. Mr. W. H. Head, the morning lecturer is a man of great dramatic power and ability. This Friday morning, Mr. Head gave the reading "Roach Arden," by Tom Egan. Mr. Head was accompanied by Miss Evelyn De Long, who gave a beautiful interpretation of "Roach Arden," as arranged by Richard Strauss, for the piano. About 300 of Salem's most intelligent and appreciative people have gathered each morning to improve their great opportunity. The morning hour is the best of the Chautauqua, and although all of the best people of Salem are not in attendance, all who attend are of the best people. They listened to the advice, "The early bird catches the worm." A special treat is in store for those who attend from ten to eleven on Saturday morning. Do not miss it.

GRADING ALASKA ROAD.
Ship Creek, Alaska, July 9.—The grade of the government railway will be completed from Anchorage to Matanuska by November 1 and the truck will be laid by January 1, according to Lieutenant Frederick Meares, of the Alaska engineering commission.
