REV. BROOKS WILL STAY IN SALEM UNTIL THURSDAY

Evangelist To Hold Services In Bungalow Christian Church

REV. GREYTON S. BROOKS. Contrary to expectations and to the delight of every one the Chemeketa street revival being conducted by Rev. Grayton S. Brooks did not close last evening but will go on until next Sunday. Prof. Fitz, who has been assisting with the music, departed this morning for Portland and San Francisco but Dr. Brooks remains. He will speak this evening on "Words and Their Influence."

Mrs. Blanche Liston Niemyer will give a reading of rare excellence and Miss Coddington will sing. The music this week will be under the able direction of Dr. Epley. Some of the best musicians and soloists in Salem will be heard at the meetings this week. The services will now all be held in the Bungalow church on Court and Chemeketa streets. Salem people are awaking to the realization that they have in the person of Mr. Brooks one of the ablest evangelists to be found anywhere, a man of highest culture and attainment, whose efforts in a religious way are to be a permanent benefit to the city at large.

Mr. Brooks has found a number of former classmates in Salem. Barton Z. Riggs and Rev. Alvyn Esson, of Albany, all graduates of Transylvania university, Lexington, Kentucky, of the class of '93. James Woodruff, formerly of Salem, and a brother of Mrs. William P. Babcock, is also a former college companion of the evangelist. All the signs Sunday indicated a real revival at the Chemeketa street tabernacle meeting. The building was filled at all the services. There was a record attendance at Bible school. At 11 o'clock Dr. Brooks spoke on "The Possible and Impossible in Salvation." The solos by Miss McAddam and Prof. Fitz were unusually fine. In the evening the sermon was concerning "The Judgment." By special request Prof. Fitz sang "The Holy City."

Oregon Welcomes Bell Noisily At Baker City

Baker, Ore., July 12.—Crowds from a radius of 100 miles, more than ten thousand in all, saw the historic Liberty Bell in Baker this noon, when it stopped for 30 minutes on its way to San Francisco. Every whistle tooted and every bell in the city rang as the special train pulled into the yards. A feature of the celebration was the "human flag" parade of Baker school children. Governor James Withycombe welcomed the bell into Oregon. He spoke in part: "In the name of the people of Oregon, I welcome the Liberty Bell into our state. I welcome it not for itself alone, but for the sacred memories connected with it. This visitation is a distinct honor to Oregon and the inspiration thus given us should make us better in every way and more useful citizens."

PANTS MAKERS MAY STRIKE

New York, July 12.—New York City is threatened with one of the biggest strikes in its history unless 9,000 pants makers are granted an increase in wages. If the strike is declared, 160,000 clothing workers will be affected. City officials are attempting to have the workers conciliate with employers. The manufacture of clothes will be at its height within a fortnight. "The ladies are not wearing pants, at least not yet, so the threatened strike will not affect us," said Benjamin Schlessinger, president of the Ladies' Garment Workers Union here today. Schlessinger denied that the union of which he is head, will join in a sympathetic strike with the pants makers. He added that he thought there was little probability that a strike involving 160,000 workers would be called.

FOOTLIGHT FLASHES

Arthur Aylesworth, who scored a hit as the night clerk when "Over Night" was produced in New York, has been engaged by Selwyn & Company for an important part in Edgar Selwyn's "Rolling Stones."

James Kearney, Frank Kingdom and Susanna Willis are others who have been added by Selwyn & Company to the "Rolling Stones" cast.

Frank Kingdom, a brother of Mrs. Edith Kingdom Gould, who has played Michael Harrington in Rio Cooper Meyers' "Under Cover" while Wilfred Draycott was abroad, was one of the most popular members of the cast of "Allas Jimmie Valentine."

Wilfred Draycott, who returned no-hurt, though full of thrilling stories of narrow escapes, from the war zone, has been engaged by Selwyn & Company for his original role of Michael Harrington when "Under Cover" goes on tour this season.

Ferdinand Gottschalk, who is one of the all-star cast of comedians provided by Selwyn & Company for the first production of Avery Hopwood's new farce "The Mystic Shrine" at Atlantic City tonight, was last seen in New York in the brilliant revival of "Truth," by Clyde Fitch, in which Zella Sears played her original role.

Edgar Selwyn says that being an accomplished stage director is wreck and ruin to a vacation, since he will no sooner have finished the direction of "The Mystic Shrine" than he will have to begin on "Rolling Stones." Mr. Selwyn and James Forbes both belong to the acute minority who believe that an author should direct his own plays.

Margaret Hingston's long play, "The Lie," in which she had a season-long success at the Harris Theatre, and in which she will tour the whole country during the coming year, opens at Atlantic City late in July. She will play several weeks in the seashore cities before she goes into Chicago for a long stay.

HOW "WORMWOOD" SWAYED AMERICAN LEGISLATION

In a recent interview concerning "Wormwood" her greatest work visualized as a notable screen-drama by William Fox, and showing at the Oregon tonight, Miss O'Connell said: "I am glad that as a distinguished American statesman recently remarked, my book 'Wormwood' has resulted in the prohibition of the green poison, albinism, into America. This is a great thing to have accomplished, to have saved a noble nation from one of the most malignant curses of modern times—the most trying evil that exists in France. I have reason to love America for the sake of the many friends my writings have won for me there; friends whose faces I have never seen, but who correspond frequently with me and whom I seem tacitly to know through the kindly written expression of their thoughts. With regard to the present story, which I trust may help to raise public attention to a pernicious evil which is gradually spreading over all the world, I believe most intelligent Americans who have visited Paris will read it with more or less anxious interest. It was, I think, a famous American seaman who quite recently wrote a long and exhaustive practical account of innumerable mischief wrought by the individual I have directed to depict; and if one or two more leaders among thinkers, physiologists and scientists would raise their voices to aid in denouncing this fatal brain-degradation and bringing it well before the consideration of those who are the heads of authority in France, it might be checked in its destructive progress, and, with a little earnest and decisive work, be stamped out altogether, as a disease is stamped out by perfect sanitation. In this hope I have written "Wormwood"; is in this spirit I trust it may be received. Francis Aline returned today from a short vacation at Woomers."
