COLUMBIA HIGHWAY FINE SCENIC ROUTE SAYS THE GOVERNOR

Party of State Officials Who Attended Celebration Returns To Salem

The party of state officials which made the trip to the celebration at Clatskanie yesterday in honor of the formal opening of the Lower Columbia highway returned to Salem last night. Speaking of the opening tour of the Lower Columbia highway, Governor Withycombe said:

"It was a beautiful trip and the enthusiasm along the way was very gratifying. The party received an almost continuous ovation from Seaside to Astoria. Especially prominent were the children. They came with flags, bunting and flowers, and seemed to be greatly interested in the event.

"The road is certainly a splendid engineering achievement, and in some places the views are magnificent, especially on Buggy Heights. The Whidby Loops is a splendid example of modern highway engineering.

"The road, when finished, not only will be a great asset to encourage travel to the ocean, but it will also be a big factor in the agricultural development of the community. There are, unquestionably, immense, latent agricultural possibilities along the route. For nearly a hundred miles the country is practically unsettled, with the exception of a few localities in the lower lying lands. There are hundreds of thousands of acres of logged-off land that some day will be transformed into prosperous, happy, rural farm homes; and it would seem that the Portland commercial bodies would find in this section a splendid field to work out the problems of rural development, if some scheme for financial assistance could be evolved whereby these stump lands could be cleared and utilized for agricultural production. There is no question about the soil and climate; it is simply making the lands available for cultivation. The promoters of this splendid highway are certainly entitled to great credit."

S. H. Friendly Died After Long Career In Business Life

Eugene, Ore., Aug. 13.—Sam H. Friendly, wealthy philanthropist, and for 17 years regent of the University of Oregon, died here early today of heart trouble at the age of 74.

A widow and three daughters survive. The daughters are Mrs. F. S. Harris, Los Angeles; Mrs. S. Wachenheimer, New York City, and Mrs. Dean Hayes, Eugene.

Thousands of students and graduates of the state university were his affectionate friends. Friendly came to Eugene 60 years ago from New York City. The foundation of his fortune was made in the mercantile business and at the time of his death he was proprietor of a large department store here.

AUSTRALIAN BOYS TONIGHT

The Australian band boys will give an entertainment at the Grand tonight. They are highly endorsed by the state press as the following extracts from southern Oregon papers indicate: The Ashland Times says: "The Australian boys, 35 in number, who were guests at various homes in the city and presented an entertainment at the Chautauque building under the auspices of the Civic Improvement club Thursday evening, proved to be interesting young gentlemen and royal entertainers. A good sized audience enjoyed their program of music, hand selections, orchestra and vocal stunts, skits and other numbers. The boys have received fine training and present an entertainment which is worth while."

WOMAN COMMITTED SUICIDE

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 13.—Mrs. Carrie Jenks, said to be the divorced wife of F. W. Jenks, Elgin, Ill., race-track manager, threw herself into the sea at Coronado late Wednesday, while temporarily insane, according to officials who have investigated the case today. An inquest was to be held today. The theory of possible foul play was done away with today with the discovery of the dead woman's pocketbook on the beach at Coronado. Relatives and friends here say that she had been extremely nervous recently, and was subject to periods of mental depression. Mrs. Gus Myers, Jr., a distant relative of Mrs. Jenks, declared today that she did not believe the woman committed suicide but that she became ill and wandered into the water. Mrs. Jenks had been in poor health for some time.

BURTON IN SEATTLE

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 13.—Ex-Senator Theodore Burton, of Ohio, after an address yesterday before the chamber of commerce in which he opposed ship subsidy and ship purchase, scored the seamen's bill, and blamed government inspectors for the Eastland disaster, is today scheduled to deliver a political speech before the Young Men's Republican club.

Industrial Conflict Will Follow Great War

Tacoma, Wash., Aug. 13.—"May we be prepared to fight our fight in the conflict of peace that will follow this war among nations. It will be an industrial conflict with the nations now engaged in war prepared to make every sacrifice to regain trade and markets which the war has lost them. The European nations will enter the conflict with the principles of organization thoroughly understood and learned. If the United States 100 years hence is to stand shoulder to shoulder with the nations of the world, as it does today, it must lighten the shackles upon its own industries."

This spoke James A. Emery of Washington, D. C., counsel for the National Council for Industrial Defense, addressing a large gathering of Tacoma business men last evening.

Colonel George Pope, of New York, president of the National Manufacturers' association, was also the club's guest and made a short address.

These two are visiting all the large coast cities and studying the problems of the various industries. They are accompanied by several heads of western business organizations and will spend several days in this vicinity.

FRUITLAND NOTES

(Capital Journal Special Service.) Fruitland, Ore., Aug. 13.—Mr. Paetsch, of the Bethel district, underwent a serious surgical operation recently in Salem. Mr. Levi Atterbein had the misfortune to lose one of his work horses Tuesday. The animal had been worked up to within a few hours of its demise. Some of the farmers are holding their wheat for higher prices. One for instance, proposes hiring money for present needs and holding his wheat for a better market. He thinks the rise later on will more than pay the interest on the loan. A short time ago Mrs. Coleman in coming down the Williams hill had the mishap to upset the buggy. The lady was not seriously injured. The cherry slog which commonly is found on the leaves eating out the green part, did not put in an appearance this season—at least not yet. Carson Standifer, a lad some 14 years old, has left home and his parents do not know his present location. Wednesday a large "prairie schooner" with a horse and buggy bringing up the rear, passed through this community. The leader of the outfit states they came from northern Montana. He said they were out of money and of anything to eat. They were helped to some necessities by generous citizens. They had a good team of horses in good condition and were offered work but the wages did not suit the strangers and they passed on, apparently preferring begging to work. Charity dispensed to such persons is plainly misplaced. Mr. and Mrs. Wirtz, from Smith county, Kansas, and who have been visiting old neighbors here, are this week visiting friends at Forest Grove. Bert Bressler will soon begin picking his five-acre patch of beans. A Salem canning firm takes the crop. Erastus, last week, the compositor, made me say, "Law is the perfection of success," while the "copy" said, "Law is the perfection of reason." Probably it is the perfection of success to the lawyer as most of them succeed in their chosen profession. What was the matter in the C. J. office? Too much "Loju" or what?

Lieutenant R. B. Sutton Raised In Portland

Portland, Ore., Aug. 13.—Lieutenant R. B. Sutton, who was seriously injured in an airplane accident at Fort Sill, Okla., in which Captain George Knox was killed, is 24 years old and the son of Rose B. Sutton and John Sutton, divorced, of Portland. Mrs. Sutton today stated that she received telegraphic warning several days ago that something would happen to her son through another son who was mysteriously killed eight years ago while attending Annapolis Military academy. The government held that Midshipman Sutton committed suicide but his family always held to the belief that he died as the result of hazing at the hands of fellow cadets. Lieutenant Sutton was educated in Portland and graduated from the military academy in 1913. He was born at Iledendo, Cal.

COMMISSION IN PORTLAND

Portland, Ore., Aug. 13.—Business men representing all lines of industry were presenting the needs of Portland, the country at large to the federal trades commission which is holding a hearing here today. It was believed that 100 witnesses will have been examined by this evening when the hearing concludes. The lumber industry was one of the vital questions discussed.

STOMACH MISERY QUICKLY VANISHES

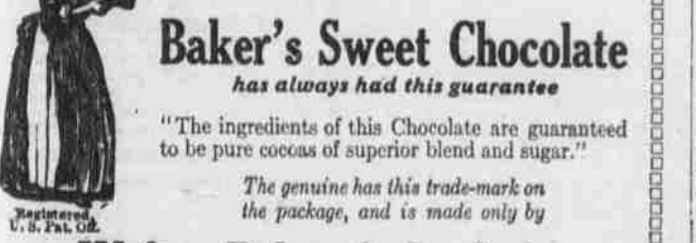

Your money back if you want it is the way in which Danfel J. Fry, the popular druggist, is selling Mi-o-na, the great dyspepsia remedy. This is an unusual plan, but Mi-o-na has so much merit and is so almost invariably successful in relieving all forms of indigestion that he ran but little risk in selling under a guarantee of this kind. Do not be miserable or make your friends miserable with your dyspepsia. Mi-o-na will help you. If it doesn't, tell Daniel J. Fry that you want your money back and he will cheerfully refund it. A change for the better will be seen from the first few doses of Mi-o-na and its continued use will soon start you on the road to perfect digestion and enjoyment of food. Mi-o-na has been so uniformly successful that every box is sold under a positive guarantee to refund the money if it does not relieve. What fairer proposition could be made. Daniel J. Fry gives his personal guarantee of "money back if you want it" with every box of Mi-o-na that he sells. A guarantee like this speaks volumes for the merit of the remedy.

South Bottom News Items

(Capital Journal Special Service.) South Bottom, Aug. 13.—John McElroy, of Portland, who is now in this locality, is very much interested in the effort being made at growing flax in this valley. Mr. McElroy hails from Ireland and knows all about growing flax and the treatment of the fiber before it reaches the linen mills. "Here in America," said Mr. McElroy, "we speak of the hog as being the mortgage lifter. Out in the Old Country we say it's flax that pays the debt. I helped to grow flax on my father's farm until after I was 20. We pulled the flax by hand and tied it up in bundles; then we hauled the bundles to a pond filled with water. We then placed the bundles into the water and weighted them down with sod or stones. In about two weeks or more we would take the flax out, open the bundles, spread the flax out on the sod until dry, then it was ready to go to the scutching mill, where the fiber is separated from the woody portion." Mr. McElroy said he never saw "dew retting" of flax tried in Ireland. He did not think it a practical way of preparing the fiber. He says the climate of this valley is very similar to that of Ireland, and believes if the industry is handled right, growing flax for fiber and manufacturing it into linen fabrics should become an extensive and profitable business. Mrs. Isabel Simon, who was quite ill for several days, is now improving. Several of our hopgrowers are a little frightened because of the persistent attack of aphid on the vines. Those who have been spraying report their yards quite free from vermin and believe that with warm, sunny days from now until the hops are gathered, they may be able to save their crop. A. M. Anderson, the enterprising merchant at Quinby, has built a small storeroom at the intersection of the South Bottom road and the road leading to T. A. Lively's big hopyard. Mr. W. Howard, of Quinby, is now on duty as salesman. The store will be operated until after the hops are all picked.
