Gil Anderson Won National Trophy Race

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 21.—Gil Anderson, driving a Stutz car, today won the Elgin National trophy road race. Anderson drove a remarkable race over the famous Elgin course, which was heavy with mud from the heavy rains of yesterday and last night. His time for the 301 miles was 3 hours 54 minutes and 23 seconds. This was an average speed of 77.25 miles an hour, breaking all records for the event. Earl Cooper, also driving a Stutz, was second; O'Donnell (Rosenberg), third, and DePalma, in a Mercedes, fourth. Stutz cars led throughout practically the entire race. DePalma went to the front of the first lap, but was soon overhauled by Cooper. At the 100-mile mark Anderson passed his teammate, and was never headed. The race was won by $2000 to the winner; $650 for second place and $350 for third. Cooper, who finished second today, was the winner of the Chicago cup race yesterday.

GOVERNOR APPOINTS RAY GOODRICH AS REGENT OF U. OF O.

Governor Withycombe has announced the appointment of Ray Goodrich, of Eugene, to succeed S. H. Friendly, who recently died, as a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Oregon. The unexpired term which Mr. Goodrich fills expires April 15, 1919. Mr. Goodrich is now connected with the First National Bank of Eugene, and is a graduate of the University of Oregon. He has been highly recommended by Lane County people for the appointment.

"While there were a number of men suggested for this place, who would have filled the position with great credit, and whom I would have been glad to appoint," said Governor Withycombe, "yet it seems to be that the just thing to do was to put a Lane County man on the Board in place of that county's deceased representative."

Salem's Taste In "Movies" Does Not Include the Mere Sensational

"Does the taste of the average Salemite in the matter of motion pictures differ from that of the average person of any other similar city?" "In what way does it differ, and is it higher or lower?" "Tastes are as different from one another as individuals. As to 'high' or 'low,' it depends somewhat upon how you look at it. It is a fact that Salem supports a better class of pictures than do many towns of its size and is slower in its approval of pictures of questionable standard." "But after this fact is admitted, and we have stuck out our chests and patted ourselves on our backs, comes a bump. Just when it is least expected—when the picture is exceptionally high grade, the actors capable, the settings beautiful and costly, the photography beyond criticism—the Salem public fails to respond. And there you are with a new job for your thinker." "In other cities the same picture with the same publicity filled the houses where it was shown day after day and night after night. The newspapers raved over it. Even the pulpites joined in commending it. But in Salem—nothing of the sort. One of the theatre's best patrons went to sleep and added insult to injury by snoring." "Nor does the Salem public seem to care greatly for the high-pressure love stuff with its ultra-emotional tricks. This sort of thing will do as a novelty. Salem folks have their share of old Mother Eve's curiosity, but after they have seen the show and have satisfied a moderate appetite for unwise love and crushed hearts and hanks of hair and ruined homes and splashes of gore they drift off in another direction." "Salem people are not given to extreme enthusiasms. We all thought we were in for a howling spell of a certain comedian who is much in vogue in picturedom at this time. Other cities have gone violently insane over him. But so far as can be determined from the general aspect of this field we've pretty well gotten over it already. It is to our credit of course, although it is not necessarily a reflection upon the good taste of a community that it wants something strong to make it laugh, especially when times are hard and laughter is difficult to start. We have all laughed at this comedian, some at one time, others several times. But a change seems to have come over the spirit of our dreams. The kick in the bosom of the trousers, the slip in the face, the jab of the fork, the jerk of the cane, the sit-down on the pavement, all have palled upon our senses and we have set out to look for something else." "Eventually Salem folks all ways come back to the same thing. Sooner or later you will find them packed in at some theatre where the program includes an honest every-day normal love story, acted by people whom their sympathies go out to and whose parallels and precedents they understand, set in scenes for which their hearts have ready response—the houses which are like their own houses, the fields and woods of their own liking. They find permanent enjoyment in this and doubtless somewhat of an uplift. So, to sum it up, Salem's taste may be 'high' or it may be 'low,' but one thing is sure—it averages good."

In words to this effect did Manager Waters of Ye Liberty theatre express himself to a representative of the Capital Journal yesterday.

How nearly Mr. Waters may be right we are not in a position to know, yet it is gratifying to have the assurance that Salem people are not in their showing or in other things straining for the sensational and abnormal.

The moving picture has become the greatest amusement institution in the world. It is impossible to accurately estimate the influence upon the public mind and morals which flows from the theatres where pictures are shown. It is perhaps not unreasonable to say that a people may be accurately judged by the simple method of observing the sort of pictures they favor and what type of actors and actresses they are drawn to.

The Capital Journal trusts that Mr. Waters is correct. It believes he is.

COURT HOUSE NEWS

Notice of an appeal to the supreme court was filed today in the circuit court by the defendants in the case of the Baldwin company against J. F. Savage and others including the state land board. The defendants appeal from the decree of Judge Galloway in the circuit court who held that the defendants have no right to affirmative relief in the form of a judgment against the plaintiff on account of the payment of $601 secured by a chattel mortgage upon the property of J. F. Savage. McNary, McNary and E. M. Page are attorneys for the defendants and W. C. Winslow is representing the plaintiffs.

A. B. Richardson and Mary E. Richardson have brought suit in the circuit court of this county against M. M. Diehl and W. L. Diehl, her husband. It is alleged in the complaint that the defendants sold some land to the plaintiffs the deed of which called for 55 acres of land more or less. The plaintiffs allege that the defendants stated that the land was worth $7,700 and that two lots in Portland worth $7,700 were given in payment by the plaintiffs to the defendants. The plaintiffs further allege that when the land in question was surveyed that it fell considerably short of 55 acres and contained but 44.01 acres. The plaintiffs ask damages in the sum of $1,535 which is the price for 10.99 acres of land at the rate of $140 an acre. Attorney R. E. Swope, of Independence, is representing the plaintiffs in the above action.

Attesting that her husband has been drunk for six weeks Mary L. Mercer yesterday afternoon filed a suit for divorce against Alfred G. Mercer on grounds of gross intoxication. The couple were married in Denver in 1908 and have no children of property rights to be involved in the controversy. The plaintiff alleges that her husband drew $260 of her money out of the bank recently without her consent. She also alleges that she is the owner of lot six block one in Maeloy and also to one-half acre of land in this county to all of which she asks a fee simple title. The defendant is the owner of a merchandise store in Maeloy. McNary & McNary are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Two Railroad Men Killed In Collision

Portland, Or., Aug. 21.—An investigation of the collision between two freight trains at Riverdale station near Portland, last night, in which Conductor H. C. Best, and brakeman H. E. Potter were killed and brakeman J. B. Thatcher seriously injured, was begun today by Superintendent Burkhalter, of the Southern Pacific.

The trains were backing toward each other.

Several cars were derailed by the collision.

The bodies of the dead men were terribly mangled.

Miss Mable Stark.

How would you like to be a wild animal dentist? To extract, fill and doctor the incisors and molars of man-killing tigers and lions? That's a funny profession for a woman to take up isn't it? Yet, that's just what Miss Mabel Stark, whose picture appears above, does for a livelihood. "Wild animal dentist," reads her professional card.

Miss Stark is seen in the picture examining the teeth of her pet tiger, Duke. Captivated by cat animals are subject to toothache of the most violent character, and unless given some attention, will often starve themselves to death. Duke had given signs of distress by refusing to eat his food, and an examination proved that one of his eye teeth was in a bad state of ulceration.

He was ordered placed in the operating cage—a steel barred enclosure equipped with the necessary appliances for just such cases. First a collar was placed around his neck to which was attached a stout chain—a rope wouldn't do, for Mr. Tiger would cut a rope in two in a jiffy with his sharp powerful teeth. Then a net rope was thrown over his body, and in his struggle to free himself, his feet became firmly entangled in its meshes and his body was drawn to the side of the cage and securely bound. His feet were tied with stout ropes, and then, Miss Stark entered the cage.

A piece of iron pipe was forced between the tiger's jaws, and in a few moments the big cat was minus a tooth—not pulled, but sawed off. Duke was a kitten tiger, about three years old, and it was discovered that the aching member was one of his milk teeth, and to pull it would be liable to injure the new tooth just showing through the gums. A small steel-cutting saw did the work, and without pain, for Miss Stark practices painless dentistry only.

Miss Stark, along with her ability to stop their toothaches, is also a proficient trainer of wild animals, and is a member of the training staff of the Al G. Barnes circus. She will be seen here in a thrilling act with a group of Bengal tigers, and will also make a balloon trip with Sampson, a huge African lion, in one of the most remarkable acts known among wild animal trainers.

The Barnes show is dated to exhibit in Salem, Friday, August 27. A great array of novel entertainment is promised, which is given with a troupe of over 600 educated animals—the largest collection of dumb animal actors ever assembled in one lot.

SIX DEFENDANTS ARE DECLARED GUILTY

Portland, Ore., Aug. 21.—The six former officers and salesmen of the United States Cashier company, who have been on trial here for several weeks on charges of conspiracy to fraudulently use of the United States mails in the furtherance of a stock selling scheme, were convicted today in federal court. The jury returned a verdict of guilty in the cases of all six men.

The men are Frank Menefee, president of the company; C. A. Campbell, vice-president and director; F. L. LeMoan, ex-sales manager; O. E. Gerner, ex-assistant sales manager; B. F. Boone-wellwell and H. M. Todd, former stock salesman.

The convicted men face imprisonment for two years or a fine of $10,000, or both.

The jury deliberated for nearly 24 hours.

Arrangements for a new trial will be heard in 10 days.

TO DEFINE DUTIES

Governor Withycombe, with the cooperation of the other members of the highway commission and State Engineer Lewis, is taking steps to bring the controversy concerning the interpretation of the new highway law to a definite conclusion. The members of the commission and Mr. Lewis, at the governor's suggestion, have agreed to institute a friendly suit as soon as possible to get the court's exact interpretation of the law.

UNUSUAL AMOUNT OF CASH

San Francisco, Aug. 21.—The week ending August 20 was the largest week from the point of actual cash received at the gate of the Panama-Pacific exposition since the opening of the big fair according to a statement issued today by Frank Burt, director of admissions. While it was not the largest in attendance it shows that the actual cash per capita has greatly increased.

Kansas City Journal: This is a remarkable war in several respects. None of the belligerents started it and all of them are going to win with God's help.

The dramatic moment is reached in "The Second in Command"—the big Francis X. Bushman production made by the Quality Pictures corporation—on the battlefield in South Africa when a conspiring brother officer reveals he has been false to his friend by using despicable means to separate him from the woman he had won for his fiancée. The events which lead up to this incident show love made possible through seeing a picture of a handsome officer in uniform hanging in a public gallery, the meeting between the counterpart of the picture in life and the girl, their wooing and betrothal, and then the entrance of the serpent in the person of a brother officer also in love with the girl. This officer and the girl's brother conspire to break the engagement and succeed. It is not until the scene on the battlefield is reached, when the conspiring officer is wounded and believes himself about to die, and is being succored by the man he has abused, that the full strength and dramatic power of the play is reached. Soldierly in action, in ambush and on the defensive, with a battalion of cavalry coming to their relief, afford sensational and thrilling moments that prove irresistible. This Quality-Metro production will be on the Metro program at the Oregon tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday for the first time in this city.
